Grandson Of Mrs. Hager United In Marriage To Miss Hayes

The First Baptist Church, of Sanford, was the setting on August 4 for the three o'clock wedding of Miss Susan Carol Hayes and Richard Byron Hager, both of Sanford. The Rev. Bob D. Shepherd, pastor, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The groom is the grandson of Mrs. O. B. Hager of Mooresville and the late Mr. Hager.

For the wedding, the impressive decorations of the sanctuary featured a white opened Bible and a single white candle in the choir loft. A large arrangement of white gladioli, Shasta daisies, mums, and crystal white pom poms framed the beauty of the satin covered kneeling bench. At each side were nine-branched candelabra with candles, interspersed with greenery.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Zack Thompson, organist, B. Peyton Williamson, soloist, presented a beautiful program of nuptial music. Selections by Mrs. Thompson included "Wedding Prelude", Liszt; "Ave Verum", Mozart; "Prelude in C", Bach; "Love Divine", Zundel and "Sarabande", Handel. On the ceremony hour Mr. Williamson sang, "Song of Ruth", Gounod and as the benediction "Wedding Prayer", Dunlap. As the processional for the attendants "Trumpet Tune", Purcell was used and the processional for the bride was "Wedding March", Wagner. The recessional was Mendelssohn's "Wedding March".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had her sister, Miss Linda Gail Hayes as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sheila Ann Castleberry, cousin of the bride, Miss Rhonda Catherine Hager, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Ivey Beth Budd, Mrs. Connie Morris Blue of Alexandria, Va., Miss Karen Jorgensen of Greenville, N. C. and Miss Jan Flanagan of Raleigh. The flower girl was Lisa Kimberly White, cousin of the bridegroom.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Millie Thomas, Miss Maria Thomas, Miss Alexandra Hayes and Miss Christian Hayes.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his father. Ushers were Gregory Lawrence Hager, brother of the groom, George Hampton Kenerly, III, Edward Makepeace Williams, III, Robert Neville Hayes, Jr., Christopher Daniel Hayes and Joel Thurman Hayes, brothers of the bride. Stuart Anthony Hager, brother of the bridegroom was the junior groomsman.

The bride wore for her nuptials a lovely gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta, accented with Venice lace. It was designed and tailored by her mother. The modified empire bodice was fashioned with a scooped neckline, Juliet sleeves and a graceful A-line skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her headpiece was a Camelot cap of matching Venice lace, attached to a fingertip veil of nylon illusion. She carried a cascade of white stephanotis and miniature ivy.

The attendants were gowns of screened multi-colored floral print. They featured a scooped neckline, short puffed sleeves, and an A-line skirt. Plum-colored sashes tied in flat bows encircled the empire waists. They wore plum-colored bows in their hair and carried semi-cascades of Shasta daisies, baby's breath and miniature ivy.

The flower girl was attired in a similar dress of pink dotted Swiss, accented with a brilliant pink bow. She carried a small white heirloom basket used in the wedding of her mother, Mrs. R. A. White.

The honorary bridesmaids wore long dresses in pastel colors and each carried a single red rose.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hayes wore a long dress of fresh green voile enhanced with sprigs of delicate Schiffli embroidery. The dress featured a scooped neckline and waistband of Venice lace accented with a jeweled buckle. She wore at her shoulder a Phalaenopsis orchid. The bridegroom's mother chose a floor length gown of mint green silk with long sleeves. The empire waist ended with draped fullness in the back. At her shoulder was a Phalaenopsis orchid to complement her costume.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neville Hayes of Lakeside Drive, McCracken Heights. She attended St. Andrews Presbyterian college and graduated from Hardbarger Business College, Raleigh. She is employed by the N. C. Department of Vocational and Rehabilitation in Chapel Hill.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Hager of Westlake Valley, Sanford. He is a rising senior, majoring in political science, at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The reception was directed by Mrs. Vernon Isenhour.

For their wedding trip to Florida, the bride changed into an ivory portrait original dress of old fashioned lace.

Upon their return from the honeymoon, the newly wed couple will reside in Chapel Hill.

BITS 'n PIECES

* By NANCY FARMER

MOTHER'S TRINKET CHEST

For as long as I can remember
The trunk had been sitting there . . .
Unobtrusive . . . unmoved . . . dignified . . .
At the end of the carpeted stair.

"I'll clean it out someday," I said . .
('Twas filled with scarfs and things),
But somehow I kept putting it off
For the sadness that memory brings.

So today I delved into the fringed linens . . .
Some of which were Mother's best;
Then I saw the little wooden box . . .
Mother's little trinket chest.

Buried 'neath monogrammed cases and sheets . . .
And towels with crocheted edges . . .
As a diamond found on an acre of ground . . .
Or hidden among tangled hedges.

Inside the lid I read the words . . .
Dimly scrawled, yet plain to view . . .
A birthday gift from daughter Susan . . .
November . . . 1942.

How old was Mother . . . but does it matter?
It only mattered that she cared . . .
Enough to keep it through the years . . .
An emblem of her love . . . oft' declared.

The contents, a jumble of odds and ends . . .
Just trifles . . . one would say;
Yet, little things that a thrifty soul
Would find hard to throw away.

Old ball point pen . . . the letters worn off . . .
A pieced-together ball of string . . .
A few odd buttons . . . a pack of needles . . .
A broken signet ring.

Old letters . . . yellow with age . . .
Written in a farm lad's hand . . .
And beneath all else she's tucked away . . .
Her worn and thin . . . wedding band.

So I shall treasure the little box . . .
Fill it with keepsakes I like best;
And someday my daughter too, shall find . . .
Her mother's little trinket chest.

Junior Garden Club Organized, Officers Elected

The Nature Lovers Junior Garden Club is the name selected by boys and girls who met recently to organize a junior garden club. The club is under the direction of Mrs. Troy Scoggins and Mrs. Charles Morris and the meetings will be held at their homes, as well as in the club members homes by invitation.
