Job Opportunities Available For Service Veterans

Some 144,000 new job opportunities for veterans have been developed by the Veterans Administration through a cooperative program with private business firms across the country.

An estimated 59,000 openings will be developed this fiscal year alone, H. W. Johnson, director of the Winston-Salem VA Regional Office, reported today.

Under the agency's job-training "Outreach" program, started in July 1971, VA specialists visit employers to suggest that qualified veterans be placed in the training "slots" to develop skills tailored to their needs.

The VA pays the trainees GI Bill benefits starting at $160 monthly for single veterans, with higher rates for those with dependents. Employers must start trainees with at least one-half the monthly wage the veteran will earn when he completes training.

The training period normally lasts from six months to two years. As the training progresses, VA decreases the veteran's allowance every six months while the employer increases his salary on a regular schedule. By the last full month of training, the employer must pay at least 85 per cent of the wage of the job for which he is training.

Johnson said that 340,000 veterans have participated in on-job training programs under the current GI Bill since the program was initiated in 1967.

During May there were 114,000 veterans in training.

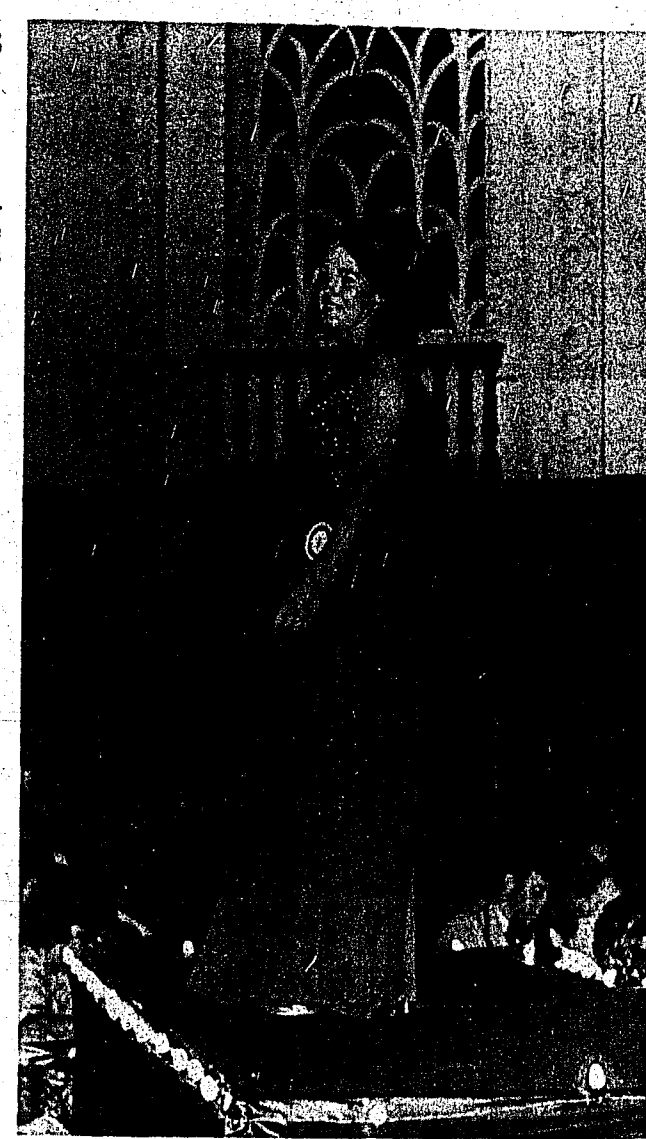

Barnhardt Finishes AF Basic

Aaron Eugene Barnhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Barnhardt of the Shearer's Chapel Road section of Mooresville, route 1, completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., August 3.

He has been transferred to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., for technical training as a jet mechanic.

Barnhardt, 17, is a 1973 graduate of Mooresville Senior High School. He enlisted in the Air Force on June 21.

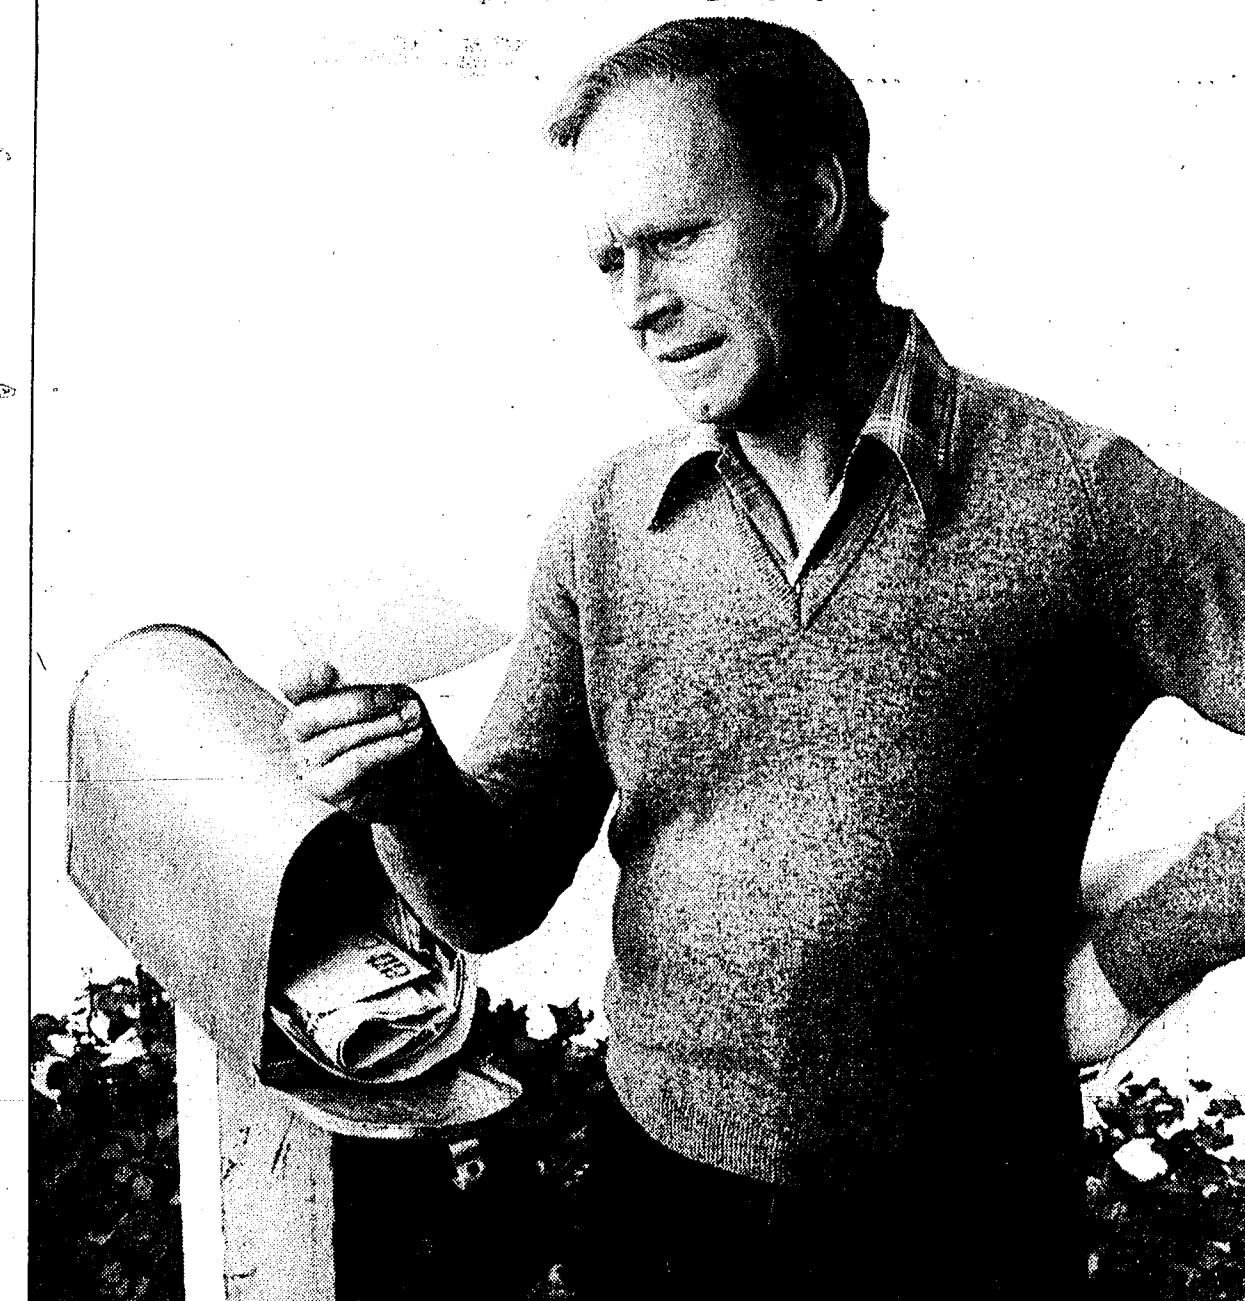

In a letter to Barnhardt's parents, Lackland's commanding officer, Major Gen. Robert W. Maloy wrote: "We are pleased that your son has become a member of the Air Force and we are sure that he will serve his country faithfully and well. He has lived up to your pride in him and we are proud to serve with him."

Mooresville's Contribution To Miss Statesville Pageant

Tammy McConnell of Mooresville did her town proud last week in the Miss Statesville Pageant. The 19-year-old beauty was named first runnerup to Deborah Duncan, the new queen of the county seat. Tammy is shown as she competed in the evening gown division of the pageant staged in the Statesville Senior High School auditorium August 6, and as she received her runnerup trophy from Heather Walker of Hendersonville, the reigning Miss North Carolina. Tammy is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie McConnell of Shinnville. She is a South Iredell High graduate, and she will begin her second year of study this fall at Central Piedmont Community College.

Can your budget stand a big boost in electric rates?

That's why railroads are essential.

Over half of America's electricity comes from coal. And most coal comes by rail. Because rail shipping is especially cheap for heavy items travelling a fixed route.

To take advantage of this, Southern Railway innovated the coal shuttle train. A train is assigned to do nothing but shuttle coal from a coal mine to a power plant. And that saves money.

Which is why you need railroads. And why you need Southern.
