

Post Office Announces Deadlines For Sending Yule Mail, Packages

As sure as Santa comes every year to bring millions and millions of gifts to all the good people, the post office will be deluged with billions of cards and packages at Christmas time. And, just as Santa has to meet his deadline, the employees of the post office must meet theirs.

December 15—Last day for sending surface mail for all United States delivery including Alaska and Hawaii.

December 14—Last day for sending international greeting cards and air parcels to Africa, the Near East and the Far East.

December 13—Last day for sending Airmail parcels and cards to South America, Central America, the Near East and the Far East.

December 12—Last day for sending Airmail parcels and cards to destinations in the continental United States.

December 11—Last day for sending Airmail parcels and cards to Alaska and Hawaii.

December 10—Deadline for sending Airmail parcels and cards to Canada and Mexico.

December 9—Last day for sending Airmail parcels and cards to Europe, South America and Central America.

Of course, these are the very last days on which packages and cards should be sent to guarantee on-time delivery.

The post office encourages early mailing for early delivery.

And, they advise, be sure to use zip codes.

RUSTIC DESIGN STRESSES OPEN FEELING OPEN COURT A FEATURE

FEATURE HOMES

By W. D. FARMER

A particularly enticing feature of this rustic dwelling is the manner in which the foyer separates the comfortable master bedroom from the rest of the sleeping quarters and living areas and creates a very spacious effect. The two bedrooms immediately to the right of the foyer have some privacy afforded them by short hall and bath between the double closets in each bedroom offer an abundance of storage space. The master bedroom extending from the front of the house features a powder room situated between a generous walk-in closet and a bath.

The occupants of this house will certainly be delighted with the spacious family room comprising a large portion of the 1,984 square feet of living space. It has sliding door access to an open court and features a fireplace and vaulted ceiling.

Could you afford a new washer if prices jumped?

That's why railroads are essential.

We can't promise a price freeze on washing machines. But we can say that shipping by rail remains one of the best bargains you'll find. That's one of the reasons Southern and other railroads are so popular with appliance makers. In fact, 71% of all household appliances are shipped by rail.

And shipping by rail is as dependable as it is economical. Maybe that's why railroads handle twice as much intercity freight as trucks. Two hundred times as much as airlines.

Which is why you need railroads. And why you need Southern.

Tryouts Planned For Theatre's Forthcoming One-Act Plays

"The Creative Arts Center of Woods School is the place to be tonight (Thursday) at 7:30," says Charles Shipman, president of the Mooreville Community Theatre.

At this time, along with a general meeting for all people interested in the theatre, tryouts and readings will be held for the theatre's next production—two one-act plays: "Overtones" and "Sorry, Wrong Number."

"With these two plays, plus intermission entertainment, the Mooreville Community Theatre feels it has a genuinely entertaining production to offer Mooreville in January," Shipman continued.

Gil Nelson is ready to marshal his forces as director of "Overtones," a fascinating play in which the egos and alter-egos of two women find themselves entangled in a delicate confrontation involving the possibility of having a portrait painted by the not-so-famous artist husband of one of the women. Gil feels that the four female roles offered in "Overtones" are all equally rewarding, and are roles any girl would be delighted to get her teeth into.

"Sorry, Wrong Number" was first conceived for the radio program "Suspense" in 1948 with Agnes Moorhead portraying the bedridden Mrs. Stevenson. After its initial radio success, the suspense-thriller was then adapted for the stage, television, and finally, in a movie starring Barbara Stanwyck and Burt Lancaster.

Director Clayton Miller sees "Sorry, Wrong Number" as a mood-atmospheric play in which even the most minor characters are as important as the major characters. Five female roles and three male roles complete the cast.

Donning their Community Theatre directors' hats for the first time, Gil Nelson and Clayton Miller are ready to get started.

"If we can give it a try, so can others. Therefore, we certainly hope we will be joined at the readings and tryouts by a large number of people interested in having an enjoyable time and helping with these two plays."

All members of the Mooreville Community Theatre stress that "behind-the-scenes" people are as essential to a production as actors.

Volunteers are needed to make posters, help construct the sets, obtain props, sell tickets, help with costumes and make-up, etc. These people contribute to the success of all shows.

"Community Theatre and its bringing together a finished production can be a most rewarding experience," stated Shipman, "so everyone of all ages interested in helping in any capacity should attend Thursday's meeting and become a part of the Mooreville Community Theatre."

Kaiser Aluminum un-rustables: for men who have better things to do than paint farm buildings.

It could take all day to paint a building. Or two or three. Why bother? Farm buildings of natural Kaiser Aluminum look fine without paint. And they never rust. Nail holes or scratches can't cause rust because solid aluminum is un-rustable clear through. Maintenance takes time; paint costs money. Save both for more important things. Use the un-rustables—lasting Kaiser Aluminum Roofing & Siding.
