

Funeral Rites Held Monday

Mrs. Martha Carolyn Duckworth, 84, of route 1, Mooresville, died Saturday at Davis Hospital in Statesville. She was born May 10, 1889, in Mecklenburg County, and was the daughter of the late William A. and Elizabeth Wilson Pope. Funeral services for Mrs. Duckworth were Monday at 2 p.m. at the Centre Presbyterian Church. Rev. Dwight Barker officiated, and burial followed in the church cemetery.

Lee Funeral Set Friday

Robert E. Lee died at mid-night Tuesday in Veterans Hospital in Salisbury following a week's critical illness. Lee, 47, a Mooresville native, lived at 319 East Gray Street. The family said the funeral will be held Friday, but arrangements were incomplete early Wednesday.

Lee is survived by two sons, Kent and Ricky, of Mooresville; his father, H. C. Lee of 319 East Gray; three sisters, Mrs. Herbert Gibson, Mrs. Maxine Williams and Mrs. Bill Rinehardt, all of Mooresville; and a brother, Ireland, of Mooresville.

three miles north of the college town of Mars Hill. An FBI investigator said it appeared she either fell or was pushed from a moving car or motorcycle, and that her death was caused by three broken ribs that punctured a lung and an artery.

Her death caused Mars Hill College to suspend classes Monday, and to urge students to remain on campus. A memorial service for Miss Moffitt was held Monday afternoon, and the school's fall break, scheduled to start Wednesday, began following the service.

Hutchinson Vice President Of Chiropractors

Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Hutchinson attended the 56th fall convention of the North Carolina Chiropractic Association from October 11 through 14, in the Wilmington Hilton, Wilmington.

The convention was centered around the various insurance programs that include chiropractic. They are Workers' Compensation, Medicare, Medicaid and Blue Cross, plus many private insurance carriers.

The members were honored by having at the closing banquet, the Lieutenant Governor of North Carolina, James B. Hunt, Jr.

Following the banquet an announcement was made that Dr. Faye Eagles, of Rocky Mount, had been appointed to the State Commission for Health Services which was formerly known as State Board of Health. Dr. Eagles is the first chiropractor to be appointed to this office.

The following officers were elected to serve the coming year for the North Carolina Association: Dr. Curtis Turner of Charlotte, president; Dr. Charles Patton, Jr. of West Asheville, president-elect; Dr. B. L. Hutchinson, Mooreville, vice-president; Dr. Earl Barbour of High Point, secretary and Dr. Dennis Hall of Concord, treasurer.

Non-Robbery

told what had happened. L. P. Young, a friend of Caldwell, was in the station.

"I've warned Bobby about carrying money around," Young exclaimed as he telephoned Mooreville police.

Police found the Lige car at Loveless Hospital. He was the driver — and he was excited indeed. The young man with him was Gordon Donaldson, his grandson whom he never had seen before. Sliding above the seat between them was the leg of the crutch Gordon had been using since suffering a foot injury recently.

And lying on the back seat was Gordon's sister, Mrs. Paula Byers. She had become ill at her grandparents' home in Davidson, and the two men had rushed her to the hospital. Gordon had been leaning toward his grandfather — and his "gun barrel" — to reach and comfort her.

So call this the story of a non-robbery with a happy ending. And call Nancy and Sandy West good citizens who earned the gratitude of all concerned for acting to prevent what they thought was a crime in the making.

Patrolman Curtis Brandon of the Mecklenburg County Police, who was on duty at the time, quoted Honeycutt as saying Mrs. Lee's car was in the lane of traffic when he first noticed the car. Honeycutt told the officer that he swerved his rig to the left into Mrs. Lee's lane of traffic. About the same time, it was reported, Mrs. Lee cut back into her lane of traffic and the two vehicles collided head-on.

Mrs. Lee was thrown from her car, according to the investigating officer, her death was instantaneous. Honeycutt escaped injury, the officer reported.

According to the investigating officer, Honeycutt owned and operated his own rig, which was empty at the time of the accident.

No charges were lodged against Honeycutt immediately following the accident, a spokesman for the Mecklenburg County Police reported.

Mrs. Lee was born in Mecklenburg County, a daughter of Mrs. Loin Klutz, Bost of Rockwell and the late Roy Bost.

Surviving, in addition to the mother, are two sons, Kent and Ricky Lee, both of the home; four sisters, Mrs. W. Keith Klutz of Rockwell, Mrs. Paul E. Fagart of Concord, Mrs. Paul A. Welch of Dilworth, S.C., and Mrs. Lloyd E. Dennis of Sanford; and one brother, Conrad Bost of Salisbury.

Mrs. Tucker Funeral Rites Held Sunday

Mrs. Bessie Tucker, 69, of Mt. Airy, died at Lowrance Hospital Friday.

She was born July 20, 1904, in Forest City, the daughter of the late James and Stella Grose.

She is survived by two sons, Jack Tucker of the home and Dwight Tucker of Salisbury; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Christie of Mooreville and Mrs. Ieta Watts of Oelawah, Tenn.; four sisters, Mrs. Ocie Harrell, Mrs. Willie Horn, and Mrs. Ollie Harrell, all of Forest City, and Mrs. Myrtle Higgins of Greensboro; one brother, Ralph Tate of Forest City; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mrs. Tucker were conducted at 3 p.m. Sunday at Fairview United Methodist Church with Rev. Louis Woodard officiating. Burial followed in the church cemetery.

Church Of God Youth Week Rewarding

Youth Emphasis Week proved most interesting and rewarding to the Churches of God and to the community last week. The theme of the week was Sharing Jesus.

A special service was held at the Troutman Church of God on Friday and on Saturday, the young people of the Mooreville Church of God gathered at the church fellowship hall and Miss Gaynell Ervin, Christian leader, spoke to the group on witnessing and they wrote letters to the boys and girls of the local church who are in college and in service. The afternoon was spent delivering pamphlets to homes throughout the Mooreville area.

Saturday evening, five young people spoke and gave personal testimonies on sharing Jesus at school, home, college, work and with friends.

The services closed on Sunday morning when the pastor, Rev. James D. Allen taught the young people's Sunday School class followed by the 11 a. m. service which was centered around the church and the sharing of Jesus.

Boosters, At 265, Work Toward 500-Member Year

The Mooreville Booster Club wants it known that its membership drive is still underway! The club has signed up 265 members since August, however that is little more than half of the 500-member goal the Boosters set for themselves.

The purpose of the Boosters Club is to support all phases of athletic activities at the junior and senior high schools. So far this year the club has furnished new cheerleading skirts and equipment for the football chain gang at senior high and a $200 donation to the junior high sports program for a movie camera, a basketball training equipment and other needs.

Dr. Gary Roach, membership chairman, is trying to make it easier for interested persons to join the club or support its activities by buying a $5 Year plaques on Sunday morning during the worship hour at the Mooreville Church of God.

The two outstanding young people received duplicate recognition since they tied in a ballot vote by the congregation on Sunday, October 7.

Dick Ford, president of the club, said that the club is

County Board Of Education Looks At System's Needs

The Ireddell Board of Education will begin immediately to put some building plans on paper in anticipation of the more than $2.5 million, which will be the system's share if the proposed $300 million state school building bonds issue is approved by the voters of the state on November 6.

At its regular meeting last Wednesday night, the board reviewed some of its most pressing construction needs and decided to invite interested architects to appear at a meeting set for October 23 to discuss projects which the board hopes to get underway as soon as funds are available.

Some members of the board were pressing Supt. W. T. Peston to place the projects on a list "to be priority but Peston 'took the fifth' and said he had listed the most pressing needs for board members to study.

It appeared that a junior high school on the West Ireddell High School campus (now under construction) would ease some problems of space at Monticello, Scotts and Celeste Henkel elementary schools when seventh and eighth grades would be moved from these schools to a new junior high school.

Some of the projects also appear to depend upon whether the City of Statesville goes ahead with its annexation plans. These would affect Wayside and East Ireddell elementary schools immediately.

In other business transacted during the brief meeting, the board approved routine pupil assignments and named Billy L. Watts as assistant principal at Celeste Henkel. Contracts were approved for the following faculty members: Mrs. Susan West Durham, Union Grove; Miss Carol L. Gibson, Monticello and Central; Mrs. Priscilla T. Johnson, Troutman Middle; Mrs. Lana B. Medford, Monticello; Mrs. Marie P. Setzer, Monticello; and Miss Rebecca R. Robinson, Scotts.

Bible Given Local Church In Memory Rev. Armstrong

Members of the Mooreville Missionary Methodist Church have purchased and presented to the church a Bible in honor and memory of the Rev. John Armstrong.

Mr. Armstrong served as pastor of the local church on Institute Street for many years, prior to his death some two years ago.

Also, for several years, the Rev. Mr. Armstrong served as head of the Mooreville Christian Mission.

In memory of the beloved minister, Pauline Beaver of Greensboro penned the following poem:

GOD'S MAN
His stay on earth is over,
His journey here complete;
His working days are over
And he rests at Jesus feet.

For his earthly body grew weary,
His steps a little slow;
Yet when some of his people needed him,
He was always ready to go.

He was there to pray for sick ones
Or to comfort a broken heart;
No call was ever unheeded,
He always did his part.

His family and friends all miss him,
But took him out of all suffering,
To his Heavenly home above.

May we follow the footsteps of Jesus,
For the way is narrow and straight;
So we can meet Brother Armstrong
Just inside the Eastern Gate.
