

LET US ASK Ourselves The Following QUESTIONS BEFORE We Vote On Oct. 2

- Will we lose our identity as a community if we lose our school as a center of community interest and activity? If our school becomes the fringe of Mooresville's school district, its facilities will become useful to our community only by permission of Mooresville School Board.
- Will our school as part of the Mooresville system be reorganized to meet the federal guide lines to create racial balance? At present our pupils are drawn from a definite area of southern Iredell County. To meet Federal government requirements the Mt. Mourne children could be bussed to Mooresville's schools. Quoting an editorial in Mooresville Tribune— "Mooresville can not adequately accommodate the elementary grade children it has, it isn't about to bus more into town." This admission leads one to think that Mt. Mourne might serve to relieve this crowded condition. As newspaper accounts relate, the problems arising in school systems throughout the nation that are trying to meet the Federal guide lines regarding racial balance, we need not think that the Mt. Mourne school as part of the Mooresville system will be left in its present status.
- Can the current tax rate of 26 cents per $100 of taxable property valuation be expected to cover the expense to Mooresville of additional busing and buses? With this added financial burden, it is only reasonable to expect an immediate soaring of the tax rate.
- Why did the School Consolidation Survey made back in 1970 by Engelhardt and Engelhardt (Educational Consultants) and calling for a one-unit school system in Iredell County not be accepted by the Mooresville School Board? Was that because they would lose their supplementary tax. We in South Iredell think so. Regardless of how Mooresville felt, let's keep working for a one county school unit in Iredell by voting NO October 2.
- Could Mooresville's real interest be in the revenue from actual and proposed expansion in industrial and residential lake property? As of four years ago the city of Mooresville received $95,000 from supplementary tax and had we voted into the Mooresville system this amount was estimated to have been increased to $125,000. Mt. Mourne, having been wowed and then ejected by the Mooresville system in the past, would do well to look in depth into all considerations of the present "WELCOME MAT" spread out by Mooresville.
- Who could call it wishfull of a Jr. High School at Brawley or at Shepherd when we have 395 students or more now coming from the 7-8-9 grades from Mount Mourne, Brawley and Shepherd School? No school board in Iredell County or else where would go without considering this number as a good start for a Jr. High program. The projected growth in 1970 given by the Engelhardt study was Mooresville less than 5%, rural South Iredell more than 10%. This certainly tells us that some consideration must be given to the children in South Iredell.
- Would it not be more beneficial to all our children to stay in the county and work for the consolidation of the Iredell County, Mooresville, and Statesville systems, thus gaining equalization of educational opportunity for all pupils, equalization of expenditure per pupil, equalization of tax and equalization of services and materials. Work for small self-contained classes where teachers can devote more time to individuals. The quality of any school program is clearly related to the quality of its teachers. Combining classes under the term of "team-teaching" and building of open class room schools is the present fad. This is about as confusing to staff and young children as giving 2 hens one hatching of biddies. Finally, no amount of consolidation, money expended, quality of teachers, and opportunities and services will produce quality education without informed, dedicated parents interested in the educational program.

TAXES TAXES TAXES 26.5% Tax Increase?

If the Mt. Mourne School is merged with the Mooresville School System every taxpayer in the Mt. Mourne School District will pay, under the current rates, 26.5% more taxes. There are many elderly people living on small Social Security income and cannot afford additional tax burdens.

YOU PAY TAXES FOREVER

We Have Seen Repeatedly The Explanation As To How The Mooresville Supplementary School Tax Works, $10,000 Taxable Property, $26 Tax. Why Not Use A More Realistic Figure Of $50,000 Which Is $130.00. Doesn't Look Good Does It? Remember This Tax Is 26.5% More And In Addition To Your County Tax You Are Now Paying.

Save Our School!

If The Mt. Mourne School is merged with the Mooresville Schools, the administration of our school will go to Mooresville. The physical properties of the Mt. Mourne School, land, buildings, etc. will be transferred by deed from the Iredell County School Board to the Mooresville Schools. It is obvious in this case we have lost our school and what do we get in return? A Mooresville Supplementary School Tax of 26¢ per $100 Valuation. VOTE NO.

Lets Keep Our Schools In The County System!

VALUE OF REAL ESTATE

It has been publicized, real estate annexed into the Mooresville School District becomes more valuable by 10% to 20%. What hasn't been pointed out is all the hundreds of acres: farms, pastures, wooded land, and undesirable land that will carry the same supplementary tax at the same rate as the more desirable land and building lots. Suppose your land did become more valuable, the supplementary tax in a few short years would off-set any increased values and the burden of THE TAX WOULD BE WITH YOU AS LONG AS YOU OWN THE PROPERTY.

UF Division Leaders Glum At Tuesday Report Luncheon

UF: At $13,600 And Counting; Industries, As Always, Hold Key

The three-week-old Mooresville-South Iredell United Fund campaign is less than a third of the way toward its $42,262 goal. At the third weekly progress report luncheon Tuesday, campaign Jim Frye said cash and pledges in hand totaled $13,600. "Certainly we're not as far along as we'd like to be at this point in the appeal," the chairman said, "but I understand from people who have been involved in these drives longer than I have that this is something of a trend for our area. We expect the campaign to be really rolling by the end of the week."

Frye's expectations were supported by Ron Johnson, who is chairman of the all-important industrial division. Johnson told campaign leaders at Tuesday's meeting that he looks for 75 per cent of his 16 industries to have final reports in by the end of this week. "Five of the 16 already have 100 per cent of their plant quoties in hand," Johnson said. "The county its landfill equipment, which includes a brand-new $45,000 bulldozer. From the town's point of view, the tractor is no problem; if the town doesn't need a landfill, it doesn't need a tractor to bury landfill wastes. The land is the hooker. The Lord, it is well known, isn't making any more of it. What's left is becoming more valuable as it becomes less."

The present municipal landfill is contained on five acres. Both governments agree to less than 15 acres, 20 to 25 acres if possible, will be required to provide a landfill to serve the entire south end of the county for any reasonable length of time. The existing municipal landfill has a life expectancy of three years. If it were opened to rural use its usefulness would be cut in half.

Town Manager Tate Mills and County Manager John Barber currently are working together to find a new landfill site in this end of the county. As they search, the spirit of cooperation between town and county grows and gives rise to hope of rural South Iredell residents whose only legal dumping ground for solid waste is the county-provided landfill north of Statesville.

The scheduled activities include a twenty-four hour prayer vigil beginning Thursday.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb's preacher dropped by the country store Saturday night to pick up some pipe tobacco. He said he'd been trying to quit the pipe, but he said he'd been thinking about it for a long time. When he started worrying, he started pulling on that old pipe, and it looked like he was doing more worrying than when he was using.

The feller was teasing the preacher about his getting educated. Zeke said he had heard that the more ignorant a feller is the less he worries. The preacher got him right back. He said Zeke ought to be easy, cause he heard when Zeke got promoted from the second grade to the third grade he was so excited he couldn't shave that morning. Zeke said that was a unfounded fact, cause he didn't spend but two terms in the second grade—Tat's and Wilson's.

Serious, the preacher said, a feller needs a few worries to keep him organized. He said some folks have pets that come with their built-in worries, and others have their pet worries. The preacher said worrying about things that need worrying about is a sign of good mental health. And he said figgering out what needs worrying about was one of his pet worries.

For instant, he said, a feller come by the church one morning last week and ask how many folks would the church sleep in case of a emergency. The preacher said he thought

State Law Forbids Septic Tank Work Without Permit

The Ground Absorption Sewage Disposal System Act of 1973 became effective October 1. So? So now it is a violation of state law to install septic tanks without first getting approval of the county health department.

Jack Moore, a sanitarian with the Iredell Health Department, said early this week he and others in the office are making every effort to inform the public of provisions of the new law.

"We can establish pretty foolproof communication through building inspectors, power companies and other agencies that contractors and new homeowners must deal with," Moore said. "The biggest problem is going to be mobile homes. We can reach mobile home dealers in the county, but there's bound to be some misunderstanding among people who pull their trailers into this area from out of state."

Moore said the county health department now must be contacted for an improvement permit before any work can be done on a building site. Once this permit is obtained, a health official tests the prospective construction plot to determine whether the soil will accommodate a septic tank. Tests include a moisture-absorption test as well as a survey of the land, a determination of the water table and the lot's drainage field.

If the lot meets all specifications of the new law the builder then may obtain a zoning permit, and begin installation of the sewage system. Power companies cannot be contacted to the site until the lot is approved by the health department.

Health officials also must inspect and approve the septic tank installation. Provided the work is properly done and approved materials are used, the health office issues a certificate of completion.

Previously, Moore said, no pre-construction inspection was necessary. The health department was, however, required to approve the installation after Kistler's appointment relieved Mills of duties as town treasurer, but Mills isn't looking for work. For several years, he was town clerk, treasurer and tax collector. Then he became town clerk, treasurer, tax collector and administrative assistant to the town manager. Next, he was named town manager, clerk, treasurer and tax collector. Ceremony In Florida Unites Ueltschi-Cornelius Couple

The wedding of Miss Carol Jean Cornelius to Mr. James Tyler Ueltschi was held Saturday, September 15, at eleven o'clock in the morning, at Christ United Methodist Church, By-The-Sea, Vero Beach, Florida. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory jersey. The gown was trimmed at the waist with a beaded pearl belt and the bride's veil of silk illusion was decorated with a matching beaded pearl band. A lovely cascade of orange blossoms, white rosebuds, and miniature ivy was carried by the bride.

The matron of honor was Mrs. James Neel Deaton, sister of the bride, from Auburn, Alabama. Wearing a long pink floral print gown with short puffed sleeves, the matron of honor carried a cascade of pink phalaenopsis orchids. She wore a picture flip brim hat with lavender streamers.

Mr. Albert Ueltschi, father of the groom, was best man. The mother of the bride wore a lavender two piece suit with pearl accessories and accented with a large white butterfly orchid. The mother of the groom chose a sky blue long skirt and blouse. She pinned a small cluster of summer flowers to her blouse.

Reception Fetes Saturday

Bridal Couple

After the wedding of Miss Paula Armstrong and Daniel Beaver on Saturday evening, at the Williams Chapel United Methodist Church, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Armstrong as host.

The bride table was covered with a green cloth and overlaid in white. The four-tiered wedding cake was placed in the center of the table and flanked on either side with silver candelabra arrangements of yellow and apricot flowers with lighted tapers. The cake was decorated in white and accented with apricot colors. The top tier of the cake featured a bride and groom ornament beneath an arch of garden flowers. Cheese roses, decorated fondant mints and nuts in silver containers and trays completed the bridal table appointments.

The silver punch service was on a round table which was covered identical to the larger table. Adding to the beauty of the hall was a gorgeous arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums on the piano and a silver bowl filled with rice was also placed on a table covered in white and arranged with a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Plish, of Mooresville, greeted the guests and directed to the receiving line which was composed of the bride's parents, wedding attendants and grandmothers.

After the bride and groom cut the traditional first-slice of wedding cake, Mrs. Maxine Thompson and Mrs. Lloyd Boat completed the serving of the cake. Mrs. Max Gillen of Stanley and Miss Becky Cashion assisted at the punch service. Miss Cindy Stanley presided at the rice bowl.

Faces of Winter

Chill Factor Dips to Frigid Zones On Flightline of Air Force Bases

Aircraft know no seasons, but the people who service them do -- and, at this time of year, they wear the 'faces of winter.'

Rosy cheeks, rough almost leathery skin, deep set and watery eyes are the marks of aircraft ground crews who spend hours in frigid temperatures.

To the refuelers, the loadmasters, to the aircraft mechanics, and generator, starter, and compressor operators, winter means extended periods of exposure to the wintry blasts, in the sleet and snow on the runways and taxiways where the chill factor at times dips to minus 90.

When the aircraft of the Military Airlift Command -- the C-141 Starliners and the C-5 Galaxies -- are on the ground, they demand the services of a wide variety of technicians, and they demand, regardless of the weather -- 20 below zero or 100 in the shade.

That's what keeps the big birds in the air and, at this time of year, that's what creates the 'faces of winter.'

Col. Collins, Right, Receives Standing Ovation From Senior High Student Body After 7½ Years, Captured Flier Found Only God Had Not Changed

PHIA--post-Hanoi adjustment--is a lingering malady, far less severe than Hanoi confinement. But both Hanoi and PHA are treatable by massive doses of God's love.

That was the message woven through the account James Quincy Collins gave at Mooreville Senior High School Friday afternoon of his seven and a half years as a prisoner of the North Vietnamese, and of his impressions of the America he came home to in January of this year.

Collins spoke during a 1:15 p.m. assembly of the Senior High School student body. His hour-long appearance was arranged by Jack Duffy of Mooreville, an old friend of the Air Force colonel who grew up in Concord.

The F-105 jet fighter pilot told what gave him the strength to bear the tortures and to keep the will to survive during the long years.

"Two things--my religion and my wife and family--gave me that strength to survive," Collins said as he leaned heavily on the podium.

"I needed something besides a Sunday School God and God was there with me," he said. "He gave me the strength I needed."

Shortly after being freed and turned over to American military personnel, Collins told of news that he received that nearly shattered him.

"There was word my wife and I would not be together again," Collins said. "At that moment my whole world crumbled, but then I realized I still had God. Back in prison I had realized that when released, I would be a free man and anything else beyond that would be gravy. I lost it."

Collins, a 1949 graduate of Concord High School, concluded his talk with a charge for the sophomores, junior, and seniors.

"If you want some advice from 'old baldy,'" Collins said as the student broke a long silence with laughter, "you should find out what is important in your life. Stay away from dope. Have enough courage to punch somebody in the mouth if you are offered dope. Be prepared to take the reins of the future."

The POW's only contact with the outside world were new prisoners, the colonel explained.

"The new prisoners would tell us everything about anything that they could remember," Collins said, "we found out about the first man on the moon about eight months after it happened," he added.

Col. Collins told of being in Hanoi when the B-52's started bombing Hanoi last December.

"It was like being inside a fire bomb," the former prisoner said, "but we were happy. We knew it was the only thing that would get us out. The bombing lasted 10 days."

In response to students' questions Col. Collins said that "yes, the things that have been printed about torture are true. When they want something they have ways of getting it."

Collins discussed the bombing of the North, saying that "U.S. targets were railroad yards. It was unfortunate that they made people live there," he said. Errors accounted for the bombed hospitals.

The colonel said that he was not allowed to write a letter until 1969 and that he received only eight letters in seven and one half years, even though many more were written to him.

EMPHASIS SHIFTS FROM STILLS TO FIREARMS

Special ATF Agent Describes Passing Of Era

"It's the passing of an era," so says Bob Martin, special agent for the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms division of the U. S. Treasury Department.

Martin has been with the federal government since 1949, when he joined what was known then as the Alcohol Tax Unit. Martin was a student at Catawba College in Salisbury; and after passing an exam, was awarded the position of an agent. Since then the department has gone through several name changes.

The name changes came as the department evolved from a division of the Internal Revenue Service to its own entity and function. The purposes and aims of the department have also changed with the times.

"In the early years we spent 90 percent of our time in the woods or chasing illegal still operators," said Martin. "Now we spend most of our time involved with firearms and in the cities."

Martin credits the changing times with the passing of an era. He says the moonshiner runners who used to dart out of Wilkes County and other areas in the early morning hours, and high speed chases through winding roads, are now a thing of the past.

"It seems now that the 18 through 25-year-olds have more money and are buying bonded whiskey or are not involved with liquor but drugs. We have also caught the young people are not involved with liquor stills as they used to be. Now it seems the only ones left making liquor are the old heads."

Work Changing

Looking backward, Martin says, in the heyday of still liquor operations, the 1950s, there were 13 federal agents covering Wilkes County, and in one month they peaked at making 50 raids at stills. "Now we have three men for six counties, and we spend more of our time involved with weapon violations, or control, than we do for liquor violations," said the veteran agent.

As the country has moved to sophistication and development, so has the work of the agents. "Back in those days, the '50s, those persons we were involved with were men for six counties, and we spend more of our time involved with weapon violations, or control, than we do for liquor violations," said the veteran agent.

"Years ago," said the agent, "there were acres and acres of wilderness in this area; now it has become developed and there just is no more wilderness like they used to have in the old days. They have also decided not to fight each other, but to work cooperatively," he said.

Martin pointed out while there used to be many small stills serving a community, now "Mafia or syndicate" money is being used to create large distilleries that serve large areas. The officer said operators have found it more profitable to buy ready-packaged liquor from a large operation and to distribute, rather than produce and sell.

Expensive Operation

The officer supports his feeling that today's liquor traffic is large operation and is backed by large underworld organizations by pointing to the high cost of underground operations which are seemingly more profitable than small stills. One of the most elaborate stills found in Martin's district was found several years ago only a little more than a mile from the Statesville city limits. The cost of that elaborate underground unit was placed at over $100,000. "That kind of money has got to come from big money men who finance such an operation and then never see the operation but only get the profits. It's a very difficult to connect them with the operation," said Martin.

Martin said convictions of being involved with a distillery are more difficult now. He said agents must actually see someone involved in making liquor before they can charge the person with operating a distillery. This contrasts sharply from previous times when just being at a still site was sufficient evidence for a conviction.

The officer remembers vividly one moonshiner they caught working a still in Davidson County. It was back in the '60s, and as Martin and others moved in to arrest the operator, the moonshiner fired a single barreled shotgun at Martin. The blast caught the officer in his right hand, knocking his gun out of his hand and his index finger was shot away.

"He ran up to me, took my gun away and tried to shoot me in the head while I was on the ground. Luckily, the blast from the shotgun had disabled the weapon and it would not fire."

"If he had shot one second earlier, the blast would have caught me in the chest instead of my hand. As it was, I had blood all over my chest and the fellow thought he had killed me. He ran away, and as he did so, he left my gun with a fellow operating a tractor, saying he would save the gun for me. I was only 25 years old, and he ran only a short distance before he committed suicide," Martin recalls.

"We could go out almost any night and find a moonshiner. I was in a game they played with us. They wanted a chase and in those days a chase at 2 a.m. or so was just between them and me. There wasn't the traffic on the road that there is now. Today it's just not possible for that way of life. There are interstate and too many people on the road."

The officer recalls one moonshiner "who used to come out and taunt us to chase him." There were many times he got away, but there were many times when we caught up with him. He was one of the best drivers we ever chased."

Martin says that youngsters who build cars to run fast are just like the moonshiners of a decade ago, but now moonshiners are sun-shiners. They drive during the day so as to be seen and with the large volume of traffic.

Martin recalls that when they were involved with the large flow of liquor from Wilkes County, one agent had a Ford with a Cadillac engine. "That thing could really go. It was about the only car we had that could keep up with the really fast cars, although back in those days we used to have people who worked on the engines of our regular cars. Now we drive cars with regular engines." And with air conditioning, of course.

Stills Hidden Now

The changes have also affected the officers involved. "We used to walk many miles a day 'prospecting' for stills. Now, most of the stills have moved indoors away from the woods and streams and hidden away like that, they are very difficult to find, unless there is an informant or we receive reliable information."

"Sometimes we may work two or three months now on a liquor operation due to the size and involvement of the operation. Most of the time, however, we are involved in firearms operations."

The officer explained that ATF agents spend a large percentage of their time licensing dealers who sell firearms or explosives and enforcing Title II of the Safe Streets Act, which involves agents' assisting local law enforcement officials in firearms or explosive cases.

It was pointed out that new regulations provide that anyone purchasing a long gun, such as a rifle, must now be 18 years old, and 21 years old to purchase a handgun. All purchases of explosives must be by someone 21 years old, with the stipulation that the buyer must complete a form for each purchase. Persons or companies who sell firearms or explosives are now closely regulated by the ATF. Detailed accounts of all transactions must be kept by dealers.

Weapons Regulated

Also, it is now illegal for a convicted felon to own or carry any weapon unless he has been granted permission to do so by the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. The assassinations of several national political figures have also been responsible for such regulations; as all imported weapons must be serialized; handguns must have at least a three-inch barrel and be intended for sporting use, and mail order sale of all military types of weapons is prohibited.

Additionally, persons cannot purchase guns out-of-state unless that state borders a person's home state and then there is a waiting period for certification. For example, a person from North Carolina who wished to purchase a gun in Spartanburg, S. C., must wait a form which is sent to that person's home county, where either the sheriff or city police must approve the purchase, and that form would then be returned to Spartanburg. Naturally, the time and effort have been reduced to a minimum those who would make the effort to purchase guns out-of-state.

The new gun regulations became effective in 1968 when certain other military types of weapons became illegal to possess unless the person had the weapon previous to 1968 and the gun was registered. There was a grace period before the new law went into effect, in which a person in possession of such a weapon could register the weapon and maintain it in his possession.

Martin said at least 90 guns were registered in this district, including several machine guns, with most of the weapons being war trophies.

Not only are the officers busy with alcohol violations and abuse of explosives and guns, but the fires are busy working with local police and instructing police throughout the country.

Martin's specialty is in instructing police in the gun control act, dealing with informers, raid planning, and search and seizure procedures. In these efforts, Martin has traveled as extensively as Los Angeles, Calif.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Buffalo, N. Y.; and Virginia Beach, Va.

remain on the board, but Tyner said this week he is not a candidate for re-election. Last week, Frank Fields came out for one of the school board posts.

Campbell is making his first try for elective office. In reaching his decision to declare for the school office, he said his position as a father and his experience as a teacher were "major factors."

"In as much as I now have three children in the Mooreville school system I have a vital interest in the quality of education offered in our community," he said, "and I feel my years in the classroom have provided me with insight into what good schools are all about. If I'm elected, I will do my utmost to put my experience to use."

A native of Mooreville, Campbell is a graduate of Dunbar High School and Livingston College. He is a member of the faculty at North Ireddell High School.

The candidate is a veteran of 15 years Air Force service, during which he saw action in the Korean War. He is chairman of the Trustee Board and secretary at Watkins Chapel A.M.E. Zion Church, and he is president of the Laity of the North Charlotte District of his denomination's Western North Carolina Conference. He is junior warden in Mount Carmel Masonic Lodge in Statesville.

Campbell is a widower. His wife was the former Beulah Watkins. Campbell and his four children live on River Road.

the work was done.

"I would say that in at least five per cent of the cases the system had to be altered," Moore said, "but the present problem has been poor soil that wouldn't accept septic tank operation in the first place."

The sanitation said soil conditions and population density were the major factors in malfunctioning self-contained sewage disposal systems that have become a health problem in some sections of rural Ireddell.

"We have had flare-ups in some areas of our county," Moore said, "but our situation isn't nearly as serious as in other counties, especially low-lying eastern sections."

Moore reminded that the law's intent is to protect the builder and homeowner by determining whether a septic tank can be used—before it is installed, not after it fills the backyard with a foul and unsanitary evidence that it can't.

Violation of the state law is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $200. The county health department is charged with enforcing the ordinance.

97 Per Cent Collected

Mooreville collected more than 97 per cent of its 1972 property tax levy.

Town Manager Tate Mills, who also serves as tax collector, gave the Town Board a report on the collection of the 1972 property tax levy.

The slow-moving commercial division could see $1,000, but chairman Larry Putnam said his workers are making a big push to get their collections completed in the next few days.

The professional division reported $1,070, and $834 has been turned in by the public employee's division. The rural division had $745 early this week.

Kleber reportedly told police that he had planned to ram a few more cars, "dumb" his auto, walk home, and then call police to report his car stolen.

"We've had him in here before for traffic violations," the police chief noted, "but never anything like this."

The industrial division, which is responsible for some 65 per cent of the total UF budget, reported $7,372 Tuesday.

Public schools, still the only division to reach its quota so far, accounted for $2,441 of the total collections.

Tools For Tooting Touted By Mooresville Bandaiders

Mooresville Senior High has a tutor to teach the tooters, but too few tools for tooting.

Mooresville Bandaiders want to help. The band-boosters have issued a call for loan or donation of used band instruments.

"We know there are a number of instruments in homes around town that aren't being used and probably never will be used," said Mrs. C. J. Waggoner, Bandaiders president, "and we would like to give the instruments new life by making them available to children who want to use them."

Willie Beaver, Senior High Junior High band director, pointed out that local schools do not supply instruments. He said some children have expressed interest in participating in band, but they are unable to afford instruments.

Beaver and the Bandaiders asked that persons who have instruments they will make available to the students at the school or a Bandaiders.

'The Return' Planned At First Baptist

A new and unusual film will be featured at a "Film-Remodeling" program at the First Baptist Church on Sunday, October 7, at 7:30.

"The Return" is adapted from the book "The Late, Great Prophet," a national bestseller by Hal Lindsey. The 30-minute color film is a beautiful documentary of fulfilled prophecy. Filmed in the Holy Land, it deals with the events of our day and the unfolding of the intricate and incredible plan of which the prophets spoke and reveal that we are standing not at the end of things but where they begin in the literal return of Jesus Christ. It challenges people of a searching generation to pause and give God a chance to provide forgiveness and hope.

"The Return" blends information and inspiration in a unique way to stimulate them to use them.

The public is cordially invited to attend the showing of "The Return."

Rally Day Held Sunday At Fieldstone

Rally Day was held at the Fieldstone Presbyterian Church on Sunday with all-day activities. The Day was sponsored by the Sessional committee on Strengthening the Church.

The Sunday School classes held a joint assembly and at that time many of the classes shared their last year's work in song and word. At the worship hour, all three of the children and youth choirs presented special music.

At the noon hour, a large number of the church members enjoyed a picnic dinner and during the afternoon a hymn singing was conducted. The singing began with Morning Is Broken and closed with Amazing Grace.

Other activities enjoyed during the afternoon were sack races, volleyball and softball, with keen competition between the young and old and male and female.

It was truly a great day of Christian fellowship and probably will be repeated again in the near future.

Rev. Richard Newkirk is pastor of the church.

Pesticide Training Offered

The North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service has been assigned the responsibility for providing training for dealers, applicators and consultants to enable them to qualify for license under the North Carolina Pesticide Law.

The 1971 Pesticide Law requires pesticide dealers, applicators and consultants to pass a written test before they can be licensed to sell, apply or consult on pesticides beginning January 1, 1974. The responsibility for providing this training to dealers, applicators, consultants and others who are interested in taking the training, in Rowan and Iredell counties has been assigned to the Iredell County Extension Service office, D. O. Ivey serving as coordinator.

Information relative to the training has been provided to dealers, applicators and consultants who have registered with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. Those who did not receive such information and are interested should register as once as the training will begin in early October.

A total of 24 hours of training will be given. Each person taking the training will be required to have a Pesticide Training Manual (which is being produced by the N. C. Extension Service) and the N. C. Chemical Manual. Both may be acquired through the Iredell County Extension Service Office.

Those in Iredell County who have not registered and are interested may do so by calling 672-9000 or by visiting the Extension Service Office at 715 Davie Avenue, Statesville.

Information relative to place and dates will be given to all persons registering for the course.

Linda Freeze Interprets For Deaf In Adult Sunday School Class

Southside Deaf Ministry Opening New Worlds Of Church Experience

"He who has ears to hear, let him hear." But what of those who can't hear? Southside Baptist Church is answering that question with its growing ministry for the deaf. "Before, Joseph didn't like church," Mrs. Joseph Fish said of her son, "he thought it was time wasted. Now he enjoys every minute of it." Joseph is 11, and he's deaf. He is among area children and adults with hearing handicaps whose interest and participation in church services and related activities have been expanded by the Southside service. Others who have responded to the Southside call include Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Garrison, whose three children, Rusty, 15, Robin, 12, and nine-year-old Kay were born deaf. They also include Mr. and Mrs. Benny Mann, both of whom are deaf, who moved their membership to Southside in order to take advantage of the services for the deaf. The deaf ministry, now under direction of Mrs. Ronnie Freeze, is in its second year, and it is more vigorous and out-reaching than ever. Mrs. Freeze's contagious enthusiasm figures strongly in the expansion of the service. "This is tremendously rewarding," she said regarding her work in the program, "learning the sign language was an exciting challenge in itself, and to be able to communicate with persons who can't hear makes the long hours of studying the signs more than worthwhile." Southside offers sign-language assistance in its Sunday school, in its regular, separate worship services for children and adults, for its Sunday vespers and for its mid-week prayer service. And now Mrs. Freeze is generating interest in a kindergarten for area deaf children. "The last legislature set aside money for deaf kindergarten," she explains, "and we would like to know of deaf youngsters who could benefit from a kindergarten. We can start a class with as few as four children." "We constantly are trying to reach more deaf people," Mrs. Freeze added, "and we want to be of service to them whether they're interested in coming to church or not." She explained that persons who can't hear, particularly have difficulty coping with everyday situations those without a hearing handicap take for granted. "Like seeing a doctor, or getting a taxi driver to understand where you want to go," Mrs. Freeze pointed out, "and we can help if we just know who needs help."

Although I Disagree With Everything You Say, I Will Defend Unto Death Your Right To Say It
VOL. XXXIX Mooresville, N. C., (28115) Thursday, October 4, 1973 No. 32

Paul Beam Teaches, David Interprets

Four Southside members serve regularly as sign-language interpreters. They are Mrs. Freeze, Cindy Wilson, David Cruse and his sister, Jenny. David and Jenny are teenage children of Mr. and Mrs. Tate Cruse. The entire Cruse family is involved in the deaf ministry to some degree. Other members of the church are learning the sign language. They join deaf persons in a weekly evening training session led by David Cruse. "In contacting persons we learned had severe hearing problems," Mrs. Freeze said, "we found that many deaf people have trouble communicating with members of their own families. Some of those in our training program who can hear want to learn the signs because they have a deaf person in the family."

The Southside ministry for the deaf, which is unique in Mooresville but not the area, is an outgrowth of the deaf ministry at Western Avenue Baptist Church in Statesville. One afternoon in July of last year, Mrs. Fish met with John Hunter, Southside's minister of music and education, to explain to him the work among the deaf that was underway at Western Avenue Baptist. She was familiar with the service there because she had been taking Joseph there for Sunday school and church. Mrs. Fish was and is a member of Southside. She had been asked by Mrs. Jo Sells at Western Avenue to approach Southside leaders with the idea of starting a deaf ministry here.

Southside lost no time taking the lead. Mrs. Sells and her daughter, Dru, led a sign-language class for Southside members that was conducted weekly for nine weeks at Southside High School. In the meantime, Southside members began contacting deaf people in the Mooresville area and inviting them to attend services at Southside, at which Dru Sells served as interpreter. By September, Southside was self-sufficient in its sign-language training and interpretation of services. Calvin Sperling served as deaf ministry director from its beginning until his company transferred him to another town in November. He was succeeded by Mrs. Freeze, a Southside member and Mooresville native who lives in Huntersville.

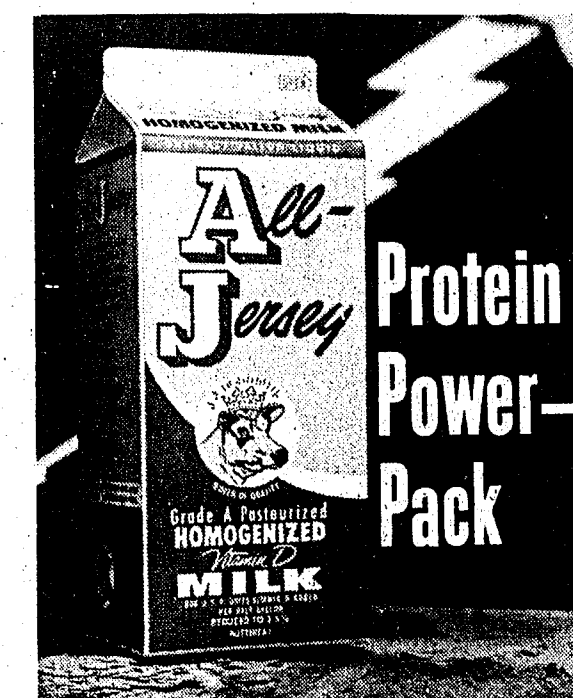

At Southside, deaf children attend Sunday school classes with others in their age group who can hear. An interpreter translates the spoken words for them. During the worship service, adults who can't hear sit together in the sanctuary with an interpreter, and children have an interpreter in separate services conducted for worshippers under 12 years of age.

Troutman's Political Fires Now Have Burst Full-Flame

Troutman's political fires burst full-flame during the past week when three men announced their candidacies for the board of aldermen and one tossed his hat into the ring as a hopeful for the office of mayor.

Seeking election to the board of aldermen are: Jerry Ball, James Alley and W. A. Gibson, while John M. Massey announced he would seek the post of mayor, now held by Loren Powell.

These latest candidates for the board of aldermen bring to four the number of announced candidates for the three-member board.

Fred W. Beaver, Sr., owner-operator of Beaver's Mobile Home Sales and Service, announced his intentions to run for the office of alderman some 10 days ago.

The present mayor, Loren Powell, as of mid-morning Wednesday had not announced his intentions. Neither had the incumbent aldermen—E. O. Wincoff, George Beall and Frank Brown.

Massey, a graduate of Troutman High School, the University of North Carolina and UNC Law School, is associated in the law firm of Pope, Brawley and Doughton in Statesville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack U. Massey of Troutman.

Upon graduating from UNC Law School in 1960, Massey was clerk for Judge Wilson Varick for one year. He then entered the U. S. Army and worked one year. He then entered the U. S. Army and served four years in the Judge Advocate General's Corps as a captain at Ft. Hood, Tex., and in the Pentagon.

Release Denied 66 Iredell Mental Patients

All of Iredell County's 66 mental patients who requested hearings regarding their commitment were denied release by District Court Judge C. H. Dearman in two civil court sessions held in Statesville September 18 and 25.

Hearings for mental patients throughout the state were authorized by the Mental Patients' Rights bill passed in the 1973 General Assembly effective this month.

The hearings have the right to a hearing 90 days after commitment and every 120 days thereafter.

Some of the Iredell patients, represented by local attorneys who had been appointed by the state, appeared in person at the hearings and some had been recommended for release by doctors. None, however, was granted release by Judge

Dearman, and all were recommended.

Local attorneys who were appointed to represent the 66 patients by District Court Judge C. H. Dearman in two civil court sessions held in Statesville September 18 and 25.

Along with granting patients the right to bring civil action, the mental patients' rights bill guarantees and preserves the civil rights of patients unless adjudicated incompetent. The new statute provides the right of patients to "dignity, privacy, and humane care."

Specific rights granted by the legislature include visitation, communication, religious worship, retaining personal possession, consultation with personal lawyer and physician, the right to retain reasonable means of money, right to retain a motor vehicle driver's license, have storage space, exercise civil rights, and the right to obtain prompt medical treatment for physical ailments.

The bill further provides that no right may be limited unless by mental health professionals responsible for patient, and if done, it must be recorded in the patient's treatment plan, and a 30-day notice must be given to next of kin or Secretary of Human Resources.

Another right provided in the legislation is the right of mental patients to be free of unnecessary medication, physical restraints and seclusion, and prohibition of corporal punishment.

N. C. Burial Associations Must Now Pay In Cash

The N. C. Court of Appeals yesterday ruled that burial associations must make cash payments to funeral homes chosen by families of deceased association members.

In its decision the Appeals Court upheld the ruling of Superior Court Judge Thomas W. Seay Jr. of Spencer in an action in Randolph County.

The ruling ended the first appellate court test of a 1971 change in burial association laws that allowed families to select funeral homes.

Before, a burial association in a specific territory designated one funeral home to handle its burials. There could be no cash payments out of the burial policy to any other funeral home unless it was out of state or outside a 100-mile radius of the home of the deceased.

Members of the burial association pay the association a certain amount each month. When they die the association pays a specified amount toward the funeral costs.

Judge Seay in his ruling ordered Orrell's Mutual Burial

Association to pay Cumby Mortuary $200 for the funeral of Mrs. Margie Bange of Randolph County.

Mrs. Bange bought a $200 funeral policy in 1959 and made regular payments until her death in 1971 when her family elected to have the services handled by Cumby. The association refused to pay Cumby.

When Mrs. Bange took out the policy, it specified that no cash transfer could be made as then required by law. However, her policy contained an agreement that the contract could be changed by an act of the General Assembly.

The burial association contended the 1971 passage of the law to require payment to the mortuary selected by the family violated a U.S. Constitutional prohibition against the state passage of any law impairing the obligation of a contract.

The court said that since her contract specified it could be changed by legislative act there was no constitutional violation.

Barely As Tall As Trailer Bed, But Happy In Her Work 'Just Wanted To Drive A Truck,' Says 4-11 Distaff Diesel Jockey

The lives of country newspaperpeople apparently are more sheltered than they realized. The Tribune crew never had even met a lady truck driver until she almost backed her massive truck-trailer rig into our front door one morning last week.

Somebody glanced toward the street and there comes this boxcar-like trailer to within a foot or so of our front porch steps. The driver expertly maneuvers the tractor to get the rig turned around. Rig and driver move across the street and stop at Charles Mack Wholesale. But not before we noticed the driver was much prettier than any we'd ever seen.

We make our way to Mack and we meet Donna Lee Andrews. She stands 4-11 in boots and jeans, and she almost can walk under her trailer without stooping.

She lives in Capon Bridge, W. Va., and she's been driving six months for Michael's Transfer of Winchester, Va. She trained with an experienced driver two months, and she's been making runs all over the Eastern Seaboard for the past four months.

So how come you're driving a truck, we asked the personable 31-year-old who had been jockeying her giant 10-speed diesel since 9 o'clock the night before.

"I want to make good money. I wanted to travel and meet people," she said, taking no offense at what could have been taken as a male chauvinist-type question.

She had been a real estate saleswoman, a drill-press operator. She never had seen the inside of one of the big tractor cabs until she walked into the Michael's office six months ago and announced she wanted to learn to drive a truck. That was it. No big deal.

"Not enough to give truckstops the message," she smiles, "not many have accommodations for ladies. There's one in Troutsville, Va. that has showers for ladies, and I'm hoping to stop there this afternoon."

How about mechanical trouble on the road?

"Run out of fuel once, and some men truckers were real helpful. No big problems."

We came away impressed by cute, 4-11 and very feminine Donna Lee Andrews. In her matter-of-fact way she made a convincing case for people doing their own thing simply because that's the thing they want to do.

Somebody Care To Donate Blood?

Vampire bats at the Houston Zoological gardens are discovering that blood is not only thicker than water but a lot harder to get.

Richard Quick, the curator, had always gone to a meat packer and bought a gallon of beef blood for $3.00. But Phase 4 economies led to the closing of the shop, leaving the blood-thirsty bats with nothing to drink.

Quick said he's thinking about rounding up some other kind of blood — maybe the human variety.

"If we can't use beef blood, we'll have to go back to using outdated blood from the hospitals," Quick said. He expressed the hope that hospitals will donate blood when it becomes too old for human-patient use.

Devils Travel To North Davidson For Important NPC, Division Game

Mooreville's Blue Devils North Piedmont Conference will be seeking their third win in an important Division

I battle at North Davidson Friday at 8 p. m.

The Blue Devils can take a big step toward winning the Division I race and a post season playoff spot by downing the Knights. A North Davidson loss would give every team in Mooreville's division one loss and the Blue Devils would have a 2-0 mark with division opponents North Stanly and North Rowan remaining.

Currently the Blue Devils are in a three way first place in the overall NPC standings. Like Mooreville, Davie County and East Rowan have 2-0 conference records.

North Davidson's Knights will present a tough test for the offensive minded Blue Devils. North will be attempting to rebound from last week's 13-13 tie with North Stanly, a game the Knights were favored to win.

Add the fact that the Blue Devil coaching staff promises North Davidson is always a tough team to defeat on their home field, regardless of the win-loss record.

The Blue Devil scouting report indicates that North is a much improved team over the one the Blue Devils steamrolled a year ago 45-12.

South Iredell's Junior varsity football team, with an impressive defensive effort, downed the Davie County Jayvees, 6-0, in a game at Davie County Thursday.

The Baby Vikings scored the only touchdown of the game in the first period when Tim Mills galloped 70 yards on a quarterback keeper. Tim Menter was credited with the block that sprung him loose.

Defensively, the Baby Vikings stopped Davie County twice inside the 10-yard line, one time on an interception by Brent Sims and the other time on a fumble recovery by Bob Cline.

Although they were unable to score on the series of plays, the Baby Vikings took seven minutes off the clock with an 80-yard drive in the final stanza.

South Iredell's coach, Dean Saffos, had words of praise for his entire defensive unit and

Assistant Roy Thompson reacts on big play. Despite Coaches Barber and Karriker's Calm

PPK Local Champs Advance To Zone Contest

These youngsters won Saturday's Punt, Pass and Kick contest in their respective age groups, and each will compete October 6 in zone eliminations at Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem. PPK is sponsored nationally by the National Football League and Ford dealers. The local sponsor is Mooreville Motor Company. Representatives of the local Ford dealership conducted the local contest on Hood Field. Three winners were determined for each age group from eight through 13 years of age. First-place winners, listed with their age group and score, are, kneeling from left, Stuart McCachern, 11, a score of 219; Marty Light, 9, 150; and Chuck Wilson, 8, 93. Standing, from left, are Timmy Reid, 12, 220; Dereck Harwell, 13, 234½; and Matthew Brinton, 10, who scored 206. The punting, passing and kicking of each boy is judged on distance and accuracy. Trophies were awarded to first, second and third place finishers in each age category.

South Iredell's Vikings kept their record — winless record, that is — intact Friday night when they bowed 15-0 to favored Davie County in a North Piedmont Conference football clash in Viking Valley.

Bill Mayhew's Vikings now are 0-4 for the season, including a 0-3 conference mark. The Davie County War Eagles now are 4-0 and 3-0.

The Vikings will attempt to break into the win column tomorrow (Friday) night when they travel to North Stanley for a NPC clash with the Comets.

In the South Iredell-Davie County battle last Friday night, Davie County broke a 6-4 tie with a third-quarter touchdown. Jeff H. Ward recovered a Viking fumble on the South Iredell 20 to set up the touchdown, which was scored by Jeff A. Ward on a two-yard run. David Dwiggins kicked the extra point.

The War Eagles jumped off to a 6-0 lead in the opening stanza, after stopping a South Iredell drive at the Davie County 25. The War Eagles marched 75 yards for the touchdown, which was scored by Billy Clark on a 10-yard pass from Tom Eames. The try for the extra point failed.

South Iredell's lone touchdown came in the second quarter as Iva Cowan crossed the goal on a three-yard run. Cowan earlier had intercepted a pass in Davie County territory to set up the Viking drive that led to the score. The try for the extra point failed.

The game turned around in the third quarter when Billy Clark threw a 15-yard pass to set up the Viking drive that led to the score. The try for the extra point failed.

South Iredell's Vikings Bow To Davie County

107 for South Iredell. The War Eagles got 145 yards on the ground and 35 in the air, while South Iredell ran for 62 yards and passed for 25.

With the win, Davie County moved into a three-way tie for first place in the 10-team NPC.

Mooreville, 2-0, holds down first place in the conference's Division I, while Davie County and East Rowan are tied for first place in the conference's Division II race. Davie County and East Rowan, like Mooreville, are 2-0 in league action.

Brannon Funeral Sunday

Goley Robert Brannon, 73-year-old resident of 815 East Iredell Avenue in Mooresville, died in the Charlotte Memorial Hospital at 4:30 a.m. Saturday.

Prior to his retirement, he operated the 1100 Grocery, southwest of Mooresville.

Surviving are: the widow, Mrs. Maude Mae McClure Brannon; two sons, Max L. Brannon of Greenwood, S. C., and Frank D. Brannon of Gastonia; four daughters, Mrs. Floyd Collins, Mrs. J. P. Gabriel and Mrs. Paul G. Mills, all of Mooresville, and Mrs. Willis J. Clodfelter of Wilmington; two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Collins of Mooresville and Mrs. D. L. Some Scattered Kernels

Footnotes in history: Tiny girl, five maybe, in her front yard Saturday afternoon. She is wearing a cheerleading outfit, and she is going through the full yelling routine. All alone, oblivious to the world... Fellow in floppy golf hat driving battered old car. He is caught by red light. He whips harmonica from his shirt pocket and gives forth a sprightly tune. The light changes, the mouthpiece is stored and he drives merrily away... which says something about our impatient times and how to fill our idle time. Herbert Hoover once wrote a book while waiting at airports... Headline in Sunday's Salisbury Post: "Greatest Living English Language Poet Dies"—the living and the dead?... But how could you convey that thought? "Greatest living poet dies?" "Greatest poet who was alive is dead?" "Death takes poet who, before his death, was the greatest living poet?" Forget it... The news media is determined to rewrite poor, long-suffering Agnew as the victim of all the cordic circumstances. Talk about a turnaround. But he is, really, after Nixon, and Agnew said they'd be happy to leave their fates in the hands of the courts, both decide the courts are against them. What they want is mercy, not justice. Then poor, Mister Clean (or is it a white tornado) Spiro turns to a Democratic House for help in a move that makes the spider-and-fly parable sound perfectly reasonable... Big weekend for Paul and Doris Armstrong. On Friday their son Alfred and his wife had their first baby, making his parents grandparents. On Saturday, Paula, daughter of the brand-new grandma and grandpa, got married.

When To Fly The Flag

Back in June, Girl Scouts of the Mooresville Neighborhood held their annual day camp. One of the more impressive events during their outdoors week was a late-afternoon gathering during which they destroyed their old and worn Old Glory. They had received a new one, so they used day camp as an opportunity to show the girls how worn-out flags could be dispatched with dignity. I was impressed then by the awe with which the youngsters approached their job. It is significant to note that, before burning, the union was cut from the flag, leaving two pieces of cloth that no longer formed a flag.

Cremation of the old flag came to mind this week when a lady called the paper to ask when she should fly her flag. We knew Old Glory may be displayed on all days in good weather, but we had to do a little digging to find these specific dates on which flying the flag is encouraged: New Year's Day; Inauguration Day, Jan. 20; Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12; Washington's birthday, Feb. 22; Army Day, April 6; Loyalty Day, May 1; Mother's Day; Armed Forces Day; Memorial Day, May 30; Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day; Labor Day; Constitution Day, Sept. 17; Columbus Day, Oct. 12; Navy Day, Oct. 27; election day; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day; Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7; Christmas; and on other days proclaimed by the President.

Two Weeks To Be

You could fill a century with all the "weeks" in a year, and you wouldn't have to dip into the "days" and "weeks" to do it.

October 11 is Pulaski Day, as proclaimed by FDR "in memory of the Polish count who fought bravely for the colonies in the Revolution." And don't forget University of North Carolina Day October 12. And you may rest assured this week and every week contains a Pickle Week, a Love Mother-in-Law Day, and dozens of observances limited only by the imagination of their promoters.

We now come with two "weeks" during the week of October 7 through October 13, and we ask you to take them seriously. They are Fire Prevention Week and Newspaper Week, not necessarily in that order.

Why these two? We received a promotional packet for each the same day, that's why. We have right here in front of us all sorts of justification for appreciating newspapers and being careful with fire. It's all good stuff.

Not interested? You should be, truly you should. Fire is man's most treacherous servant. You shouldn't have to be reminded where fire was before man smacked a couple of rocks together and discovered it. Mind you, man didn't invent fire, he just hit upon it one day. He never has been able to tame fire. Say for fire it is utterly without prejudice. Last year, it took 12,000 American lives, and destroyed property valued at $2.9 billion. At the same time, fire's warmth saved countless millions, and its purifying properties prevented rampaging diseases, just to mention a couple of its services.

The thing about fire is, don't take it for granted. Treat it as you would a wild animal. It may appear domesticated, but remember fire, by its very nature, is wild and subject at any instant to revert to form.

It's easy to connect Fire Prevention Week and Newspaper Week. Words printed on papers aren't the only means of communication, just the best. You may hear a blurb or two on radio and TV about preventing fires, but most of that will pass through you or over you without registering. If Fire Prevention Week is to have any impact, in other words, it must get the support of newspapers.

It's that way with all occurrences of public concern and general interest. Newspapers are the most complete package of information available.

So you think about Fire Prevention Week this week, think a kind thought about how you came to know about Fire Prevention week. We'll appreciate it.

From Russia, With Hope

The latest baldness cure out of Russia could be more wishful thinking.

After all, you recall, the Russians claim to be the first to suggest rubbing alum on the naked noggin. It wouldn't grow hair, the world discovered, but it would draw the sideburns together.

Now we see by the papers the original Reds have invented another miracle called Mival, which, they say, works very well in growing hair on bald guinea pigs. Exactly how and where the stuff works—or why the poor pigs lost their crowning glory, for that matter—aren't covered in the report.

But these are the guys, you must remember, who took us real big on wheat last year. They not only caught us looking the other way on the initial price, they saved another $100 million or so when the dollar was devalued abroad shortly after they made their first payment. Then, to add insult to injury, they sold some of their American wheat to Italy at a 100 per cent markup.

So don't dismiss Mival. A poor devil who will pay for lessons on how to comb what he's got left over the bare places surely will plank down a few devalued bucks for an imported promise.

We're surprised, though, that the Mival inventors said it worked on guinea pigs. We baldies are as trusting as we are desperate. We would believe a hairy Russian cueball.

Souring Of Yankee Know-How

America is fighting for its share of international trade in a world market supplied by nations just as smart and oftentimes a good deal more efficient in their production than we are. At the same instant, there are hundreds of bills in state legislatures and major proposals in the Congress of the United States designed to further restrict the legitimate development of practically every enterprise that you can name.

The effect is to increase the cost of American production and decrease the flow of innovation, progress and technical achievement that has been the lifeblood of American "know-how"—something that up to now has been in demand around the world. Federal legislation is proposed that would, for example, establish arbitrary standards for the dismemberment of industrial and business enterprises, if they are considered to be too big, regardless of whether they are doing any wrong. Other legislation is proposed to severely penalize U.S. corporations that operate overseas and own manufacturing facilities. These "multinational" or "multi-industry" companies have enabled the United States to compete in foreign markets. They have made money for the U.S. and created tens of millions of jobs both here and abroad. It doesn't make sense, does it?

What it all boils down to is that we as a people have a second chance and maybe a third. Right now, the United States is becoming a great national laboratory in which observers today and in future years can study the peculiarities of human behavior. Can we benefit from the experience of others? Can we learn from the past in order to avoid mistakes in the future? Can we recognize fact when it is placed alongside fiction? Above all, can logic survive in a democratic society? Can a nation whose policies are shaped by the pressure of popular opinion endure in the fast-moving society?

Colonel Moor's Musings

I see by the papers that progress is coming to Calabash—high-rise apartment, shopping center, the whole kit and caboodle—and the 160 or so folks that live around there don't like it. I would guess Mooreville folks aren't happy about it either. They have to stand in line too long now at those 17 seafood restaurants in the little settlement that soon may be known as the town that flounder built.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER

Well, I see where the wrecking crew is at it again. Somebody came along and wrote a book, "The Ugly American," and tore the country down. Somebody else wrote one on "The Last Days of the Church" and ripped the church apart. Then there was the book "The American Way of Death" that buried our funeral customs. Now this woman has written a book "The Eternal Bliss Machine" and reduced American marriage to ashes.

Writers these days seem to be using a sledge hammer for a pen. Someone once wrote that the pen is mightier than the sword. Today the sword has been replaced by the sledge hammer. I guess the reason so much writing is negative is that the spirit of the times is in reverse gear.

This woman who wrote the "Eternal Bliss Machine" has some pretty strong words about our marriage ceremonies and what follows. (Strong words sell good, which says something about people who write strong words.)

She says the wedding industry represents a $7 billion a year business to the American economy, which means that marriage is just another way of preparing folks for their role in a consumer society. Fact is, she says, "The American Wedding is a ritual event of ferocious gluttonous consuming, a debauch of intensified buying, never again to be repeated in the life of an American couple."

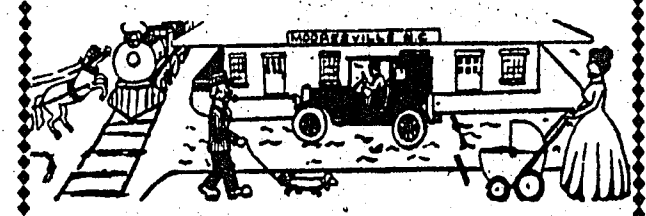

This woman allows as how most of what goes on at a wedding is a carry over from our savage days. The best man and the ushers represent the strong arm force to help the groom kidnap the helpless bride. The bridesmaids are the body guards to help protect the pore hide. The ring is a carryover from tying the girl's hands to take her away into slavery. The father of the bride is present for the transfer of property. The bridal group's round of parties and food is a going back to the superstition that plenty of food will keep the evil spirits away.

Oh, well, you can read the book for yourself. I ain't exactly satisfied with the wedding scene myself, but no matter what she says, I kinda enjoyed our wedding.

Gotta sign off. Tell the little woman hello.

Yours Truly,
Parson Jones

OUR COMMUNITY

IN OTHER YEARS... 45 YEARS AGO

Judge George A. Morrow, of the city recorder's court, is making his regular trip to the big catches in the ever changing season is late. Last Friday afternoon he was accompanied to the Catawba river by Mr. John Shimcock and the two brought forth a 14-pound carp. At other times recently Judge Morrow has caught a number that weighed 5 1/2 to 7 1/2 pounds. The recorder says that cat fish and minnows do not interfere with carp fishing at this season.

Mrs. Hattie Brantley McNeely, widow of the late Carl K. McNeely, died at the Lowrance Hospital Sunday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock after an illness of four weeks. Her condition became alarming on Saturday, November 24th, and gradually grew weaker until the end. Mrs. McNeely was a daughter of the late James and Jean Brantley and was reared four miles east of Mooreville at the old Brantley homestead, having been born in December 1850. Had she lived until the 17th of this month she would have reached her 78th year. After her marriage to Mr. McNeely the young couple lived for a short while at the McNeely home place on the Prosper road and in 1876 moved to the present McNeely home on Main Street, now being in the central part of the city, where she had made her home for more than a half century. She was a woman of lovable traits of character and was held in the highest esteem, being a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families in the county. Six children survive, three sons and three daughters: Samuel S. McNeely of Charlotte; J. Edgar McNeely, of Coolemeade; P. Bruce McNeely, Mrs. D. Elmer Turner, Misses Mary and Bel Forger McNeely and one stepson, D. K. McNeely.

Quite a number of Mooreville and citizens of this vicinity, who formerly were connected in various ways and through earlier home ties with old Hopewell Presbyterian Church in Mecklenburg county, attended the dedication ceremonies at that historic church last Sunday, when the new Sunday school and class room building was turned over to the trustees. The new building attracted several hundred visitors. The new building was made possible by the generosity of Miss Sallie Davidson, a beloved woman of Charlotte, who squared all balances due on the building.

The several schools of the city appreciated the loan of radios by the dealers, in order that each of the schools and the home while schools may enjoy the program rendered every Friday at 11 o'clock by the New York Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Walter Damrosch. The Enterprise is requested on behalf of the children of the schools and the members of the faculty to publicly thank the radio dealers for the loan of the instruments. The music means so much to the pupils in all the grades.

Miss Margaret Davidson, who has been under treatment at a hospital in Richmond, is now at her home in this city slowly improving.

Mrs. R. R. Talbert has arrived from Apalachicola, Fla., where she has lived with her husband for the past two years. Mr. Talbert will arrive the first of the year to resume his citizenship in Iredell county. Mrs. Talbert is a daughter of Mr. M. B. Hager, of route 2. She is keeping house for her father-in-law, Mr. J. A. Talbert.

Rev. T. W. Hager, the new pastor of Broad Street Methodist Church, will begin a revival at his church next Sunday night, November 25th, to continue for an indefinite period. Services will be held each night at 7:30 o'clock. George Hawk, a noted singer of Kannapolis, will be choir director during the series of meetings.

Mr. Leon Sloop has purchased the J. C. Karkker farm of 117 acres which lies near his home place in Rowan county in the Concordia vicinity. The consideration was $3,800. Mr. Sloop will endeavor to bring up the run-down portion of his new acquisition.

Library's Summer Reading Contest Champs

These were the readingest readers among the 346 students in grades one through six in 16 schools who participated in the summer reading program conducted by the Mooreville Public Library. Wayne Phifer was tops among fifth and sixth graders. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Phifer of 303 Hillcrest Drive read 62 books. Kim Webster, center, raced through 153 books to win recognition among first and second grade pupils. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Webster, 437 Willow Street. Champion reader among children in the third and fourth grades was Alecia Nicholson, who read 144 books. She is the daughter of Mrs. Alecia Nicholson of 372 Cabarrus Avenue. In addition to all area elementary schools, children from Detroit, Mich., Chapel Hill, Landis and Charlotte took advantage of adventures in reading here this past summer.

Sunday, all over the world, Christians will unite in Holy Communion.

They won't all agree on the meaning of this sacred act. Nor will they all worship in the same way.

Yet they will draw close to the Lord whose truth and blessing they share. They will come to Him. And in their hearts He will come to them.

No one knows how this communion is possible. Yet each, according to his own faith, believes that it happens. Mystically, symbolically, miraculously, spiritually—men use these different words to express the SOMEHOW that enfathens their hearts.

At a Table that spans the centuries, girds the globe, we partake of the Bread of Life—as ONE.

Larceny Charges Lodged

A 16-year-old resident of 522 West McLelland Avenue—Barry Dale Cornelius—was arrested at 9 p. m. last Wednesday on a larceny charge.

Officer Dean Barnett of the Mooreville Police Department made the arrest after James D. Owens, assistant manager of Mack's Discount-Varity Store, reported he caught Cornelius attempting to remove several items of merchandise from the store. Cornelius was an employee of the store.

The incident occurred, it was reported, as Owens was closing the store for the day and the employees were leaving the place of business.

In another case, Conrad E. Adams, 21-year-old resident of 246 West McLelland Avenue, was charged last Wednesday with felonious breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, and larceny after breaking and entering.

Adams allegedly broke into the 417 Sharpe Street home of Michael Cowan, taking a television and some firearms.

Burning Permits Required

Effective last Monday, October 1, permits are required for brush burning, according to county ranger Kelly Beeson.

Beeson said fall, with its abundance of dry leaves and grass, creates a hazardous period conducive to wildfires. It is especially dangerous when rainfall is inadequate and on windy days.

The permits are required if burning is done between midnight and 4 p.m., and is done within 500 feet of woodland. If the brush is burned after 4 p.m. and extinguished prior to midnight, Beeson says permits are not required.

He noted the best time for burning trash or brush is after 4 p.m. and explained that wind speed usually dips and the humidity rises. Beeson also recommends burning immediately after a rain.

Persons planning to burn brush or trash and have questions are instructed to call the ranger's office at 872-5572.

Burning permits may be obtained at the following locations:

McLain's Grocery, in the central community; Sun and Juice Garage, Harmony; O. C. Gregory's Store in Trinity community; Feimster Exxon Station at Scotts; Barker's Grocery at Fairview; Beaver's Cash Store in Cool Springs; the county agents office on Davie Ave.; Wayside Grocery, route 7, Statesville; Cowards Grocery in the Broadfield community; John's Trading Post, route 2, Mooreville; W. C. Johnson Hardware in Mooreville; the Mooreville Fire Department; Christie Grocery in Mount Mourne; Whitlow Garage in Mount Mourne; J. A. Barker, Love Valley; B. W. Campbell, Union Grove; Honeycutt, Gulf in Troutman; and the county ranger's office in the building behind the old courthouse building in Statesville.

Be Prepared For A Home Fire Emergency

Over 6000 people have lost their lives in home fires this year and approximately 700 million dollars in residential property has gone up in smoke.

No matter how prepared you think you may be for a home fire emergency, UL advises that you first get everyone out of the dwelling and then call the fire department. Then attempt to fight the fire with a portable extinguisher, but always keep an avenue of escape open in case the fire rages out of control.

- Buy only those extinguishers which have been tested by Underwriters' Laboratories and bear the mark "UL Listed."
- Fires are placed in three primary categories: Class A (paper, wood, cloth or plastics); Class B (combustible gases, fats and oils); Class C (electrical appliances and equipment). Though a variety of extinguishers are available for combating each type of fire, the most useful is the multipurpose dry-chemical extinguisher as this is effective on all three fire categories. The extinguisher or name plate is clearly marked as to class or classes of fires on which the extinguisher is effective.
- The size of the fire the extinguisher can stop is also indicated on the name plate. The higher the number, the larger the fire which can be put out. For all-purpose protection in the home look for the marking 2-A: 10-B: C.

The location of your extinguishers is vitally important. Always place them where the probability of fire is the highest: the kitchen; the workshop; the basement; the garage. Make certain the members of your family know the location and proper use of each extinguisher.

Be sure to recharge or replace your extinguisher after use. A dead extinguisher is worse than none at all, since it offers a false sense of security.

The Fire Problem . .

Mooreville will join other towns and cities throughout the United States in observing next week, October 7-13, as National Fire Prevention Week. But, have you really stopped to think just what fires cause? Here's some startling information:

During 1972 more than 12,000 people died in fires in the United States alone. More than half of the fire deaths occurred in homes, and 4,000 of those were children. Another two million people received chipping injuries.

Nearly 7,000 fires occur in the United States every day. Every 46 seconds, fire breaks out in a home. Every 43 minutes, fire claims a life.

The highest death rate by fire is among persons 65 years of age and older. Next is children under the age of five.

Adult one-fourth of the children

Before You Retire

Are you the last one in your house to retire each night? If so, it's a good plan to make the rounds before turning in, the American Insurance Association says.

If you live in a conventional one family house, start at the bottom.

Check the basement. Be sure the heating unit and water heater are functioning properly.

Now go upstairs to the kitchen and check the range. Are all the burners off? Check ashtrays, to be sure cigarettes are out.

Now go into the living room. Check all ashtrays in this room and if there has been a fire in the fireplace, put the fire screen tightly in front of it to prevent any hot embers from popping out onto the rug.

Follow the same procedure when you go upstairs. Double-check all ashtrays, and make sure everything is fire safe.

Be a good loser with Blini, the Maxi-Flavored Milk from SUPERIOR FARM.

Call Fire Department At First Sight Of Fire

If a fire starts in your home, school, or place of business, call the fire department immediately, says the American Insurance Association.

All fires are little ones when they begin, and the first five minutes is the crucial period if fire occurs.

Fire fighting is a job for professionals, the Association adds, and firemen are trained to extinguish fires before they get out of hand.

Not too long ago a man in the northeast found an upholstered living room of his home—someone had dropped a cigarette on one of the cushions. He went to the kitchen, filled a pan with water and came back and doused the flames.

He assumed the fire was out, hauled the davenport out of the house, and placed it on the front porch. Then he retired.

The fire in the davenport should have been out, but there was still a small spark smoldering in the upholstery.

A brisk wind arose, and fanned the ember into a flame.

The result: Before the fire was rediscovered, the whole house was involved and burned to the ground.

"We stand a chance of putting out almost any fire quickly if the alarm comes in fast enough," said one fire chief.

"If you discover a fire in your home, call the fire department at once.

However, remember this: "If you have a fire, first, get everyone out of the house, then call the fire department."

Property can be replaced, but a life can't.

State Zoo's African Section May Open First

The operations manager for the planned North Carolina State Zoo says the African section probably will be the first to open at the zoo site near Asheboro because African animals are easiest to obtain.

"It's also very popular. Everybody likes lions, tigers and elephants," Andy Leuker told a meeting Monday of the North Carolina Zoological Authority.

Zoo Authority members visited Greensboro for the meeting to look at the sixth in a series of proposed site plans for the state zoo.

Zoo Director William Hoff predicted a tourist income from the zoo of $100 million annually by 1978, its third year of operation.

Raleigh architect Lewis Clarke said the plans are leading to a future master plan that will be "five years ahead of its time."

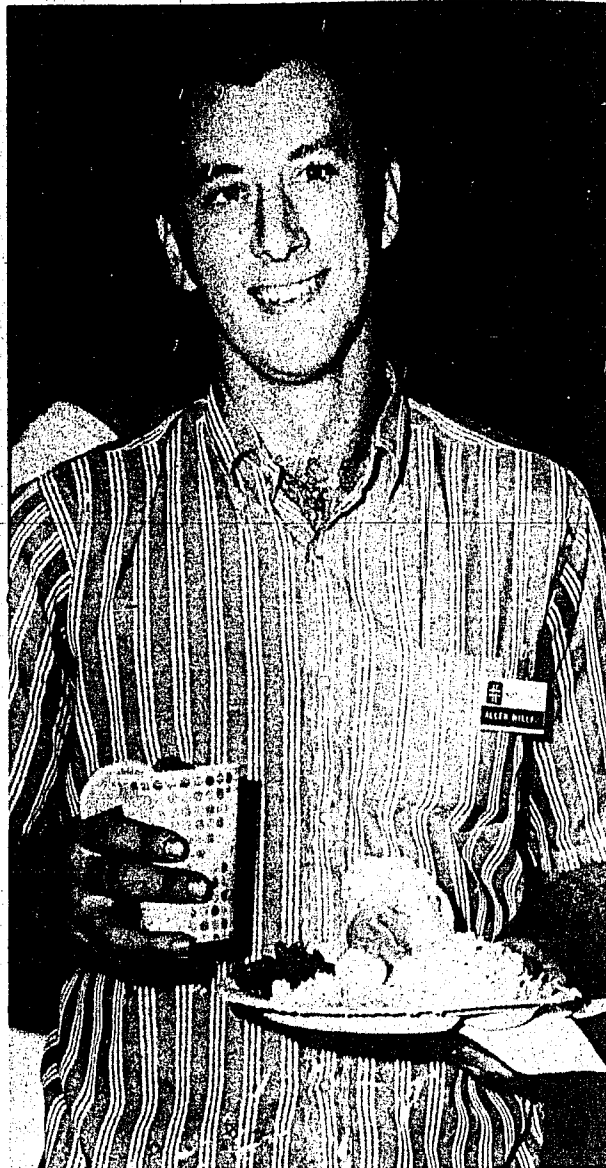

The latest plan shows parking interspersed with exhibit areas on the 1,371-acre site. Present exhibition area building sketches show cave like entrances and animals are easiest to obtain.

Planners mentioned the possibility of needing to acquire more land in the future to "protect exhibit areas from encroachment."

Authority members also were told of an interim zoo being set up in the area that eventually will have maintenance equipment. The interim zoo will accommodate animals acquired before the permanent exhibition areas are prepared.

In other action, the North Carolina Zoological Society announced its major fund raising drive for the zoo will begin in January following an October membership campaign.

Gov. Jim Holshouser will proclaim October as Zoo Month.

The World In His Hands

Well, if not the world's treasure, certainly one of the most valuable resources around these days. The price of food being what it is, Allen Miller is carrying a small fortune. He has reason to smile about his choice of three meats, an assortment of vegetables and sundry desserts served September 26 at Mooreville Mills during the giant plant's employee-appreciation day. A full meal was served to all employees during all three shifts.

Authority members also were told of an interim zoo being set up in the area that eventually will have maintenance equipment. The interim zoo will accommodate animals acquired before the permanent exhibition areas are prepared.

In other action, the North Carolina Zoological Society announced its major fund raising drive for the zoo will begin in January following an October membership campaign.

Glenda Ramsey's rain hat prepares her for April showers, perhaps, but the rest of her sporty outfit hardly is suitable for watching the Livingstone College football team on a cold, rainy autumn afternoon. Miss Ramsey, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Roscoe Ramsey of Mooreville, is an avid football fan. The Salisbury school's photographer, Garland Kelsey, said she is shown "surveying the Bears football turf." A senior business major at Livingstone, Miss Ramsey is a former Miss Kappa Alpha Psi. "And He arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still."—Mark 4:39

As we rode across the sea of Galilee, I read these words above and preached there on the side of the boat looking out over the sea, feeling the great presence of God.

Jesus spoke those powerful words to the sea, as it had been very stormy. The waves were beating into the ship and the wind was very stormy and the boat was full of water. The Bible tells us that after Jesus spoke these words, that the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.

As I write this column, I know that there are many people seeking for peace in their lives and wanting calmness. My friend, I declare unto you today that Jesus Christ is the greatest peace that man has ever known. The Bible tells us that He is the Prince of Peace. When He came into this world as a baby, there were angels hovering over Him singing, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

I ask you today, if you need peace, let Jesus speak those words to you today. Peace, be still. Let the Prince of Peace calm your soul. He loves you!—Amen.

Rededicate Yourself To Prevention

Americans from coast to coast are being urged this week to rededicate themselves to the task of helping hold down the nation's staggering toll of death and destruction by fire.

Stores, Shops Asked To Join In Fire Safety

Stores and shops were urged by the American Insurance Association today to join in this year's Fire Prevention Week activities by throwing out unneeded paperboard shipping containers, excelsior or other packaging materials that may have accumulated.

"Most retail establishments make it a practice to dispose of empty cartons and packaging materials promptly," the Association said. "However, even the best housekeepers sometimes tend to let cartons accumulate, particularly if the store manager thinks they may be of use at some future date."

Lawrence Jones, president of the American Insurance Association, described Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7-13, as "a time when every citizen should pledge anew to think and to practice fire safety throughout the year, when every householder, businessman, manufacturer should make a physical survey of his property and eliminate hazards which might lead to a costly fire."

Jones said fires in the United States in 1972 took 19,000 lives, injured thousands of other persons and caused property damage totaling more than $2.1 billion.

"Three out of four fires are the result of carelessness," he asserted. "Clearly, with concentration and care, many fires could be averted."

The American Insurance Association official suggested that greater attention be given to what he termed "common sense fire prevention measures."

He noted that many fires are generated by the careless use of matches and cigarettes, improperly operating cooking and heating equipment.

"Merely by making sure cigarettes are out, by having heating units inspected at least once a year by a qualified service man by using care in the kitchen while cooking, and by making sure electrical appliances are in trim, we can take a major step toward curbing our shameful fire toll," he said.

Many communities conduct special programs during Fire Prevention Week each year, and Jones urged that persons in those communities try to exact some measure of "positive, personal awareness of the fire prevention message" from such programs.

"Fire prevention is not 'just another crusade' to be taken lightly," he declared. "Unless you practice fire prevention the year around, you or members of your family might well become victims of this peril which is so easily avoided."

People Cause Fire

Matches and smoking, according to studies of official records, are responsible for one out of every five fires.

But don't let us kid ourselves, cautions the American Insurance Association, which points out that the real culprits are PEOPLE—people who are careless with matches or who have less than tidy smoking habits. The Association offers these suggestions to help hold down fires of such origin:

1. After using a match, break it in half before discarding it.
2. Keep plenty of ash trays on hand in every room.
3. Use them.
4. Empty them often, but not into paper bags or other flammable receptacles.
5. Before going to bed at night, empty all ashtrays, preferably into a covered metal container.

Local Firemen Practice Prevent-The-Fire Rule

The Mooresville Fire Department fights fires, sure but what does it do toward preventing them?

Foremost, it is the full-time job of Howard Pender to make and keep Mooresville as free from fire as he possibly can. As the town's fire inspector, he seeks out and eliminates fire hazards, and he advises citizens on fire safety.

He works through the local schools to cultivate a respect for fire among children. He cooperates with builders to try and make each new structure safe from fire. He investigates every fire to try and learn how it was caused—and from such investigations he learns how to avoid fires.

The fire department cooperates with all interested civic groups around town to promote fire safety. Fire Chief Howard Pender says his department is working with the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce again this year to make Fire Prevention Week a meaningful observance.

Chief Pender naturally feels strongly about fire safety. He knows from personal observation the terrible loss of life and property that fire can cause in a few minutes. He also knows that by using a few simple precautionary methods, citizens can prevent most damages caused by fires.

The fire chief, discussing replacement costs, said that, "even in small fires, where the firemen are able to confine the flames to one room, it costs property owners two to three times as much to refurbish the burned-out areas as it did ten years ago." The chief particularly emphasized these points.

Great damage to our city is caused by rubbish fires. If we remove the rubbish from our cellars, attics and closets, fire losses will come down and many alarms will be eliminated.

Basement fires are the hardest to fight. Firemen have difficulty fighting their way in and often do not know what the conditions will be when they reach the basement. If these also were protected by automatic sprinklers, our country's nearly one billion dollars in fire losses would be greatly reduced.

The chief particularly emphasized the large number of fires caused from carelessness in handling matches and smoking.

Check Up On Heat

—There was a feeling of draft in one or more rooms.

—There were cold spots in some rooms.

—You had to overheat some rooms to make others reasonably comfortable.

—It was impossible to make some rooms warm enough regardless of what you did.

—You had one thermostat to regulate the temperature in the entire house.

—Your fuel bills were up over the last two years.

If any of these things were true, it's time for a checkup, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau says.

The checkup should be performed by a qualified heating contractor who will determine whether you need such new equipment as a boiler, burner, controls, heat distributors or thermostat. If you have an old-fashioned heating plant it may be worth your while to have it entirely replaced.

If Fire Strikes Your Home...

GET OUT of the house the minute you discover it or smell smoke!

ALWAYS be ready to use different escape routes from any room in your house!

TEST doors before opening. If doors are hot, block them with furniture or wet mattresses to keep out smoke and flames. Get out another way!

NEVER jump from upper-story windows except as a last resort! Wait for firemen.

HOLD your breath if you have to make a dash through smoke and flames!

REMEMBER, the stairs are usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled room!

CALL the fire department at once! They know how to fight a fire, unless it's so small you're sure you can control it with the right extinguisher.

DON'T ever go back to a burning building for any reason! Smoke and fire gases from even the smallest fire can be deadly.

GET medical treatment at once, if you're burned or exposed to fire and smoke! Seemingly minor burns or smoke inhalation can have fatal results.

Don't Ever Leave Children Home Alone

Never leave little children at home alone, even for a short time, the American Insurance Association urges.

Fire fatalities in the United States last year totaled 12,200 more than the 11,000 that occurred in 1971. About one out of three were children.

When you go out, arrange for a responsible adult or teenager to stay with the children. Make sure that person knows that if fire should occur, the first obligation is to get everybody outside quickly; the second, to call the fire department.

On the day of the week-long observance, Mooresville Mayor Joe V. Knox urged all residents of the town to wholeheartedly support the week-long observance, and do everything within their power to make Mooresville fire-free not only during the National Fire Prevention Week but throughout the year.

"Our fire department is one of the best in the nation, and the members of the department, paid firemen as well as the volunteer firemen, are always at the ready when need arises," Mayor Knox stated. "However, we hope that the services of the department will never be needed."

If you have an electric coffee maker or toaster in the dining area, it should be an unwritten rule that the last person to leave the area should check to be sure the appliance has been turned off or disconnected. The American Insurance Association.

Care with electrical appliances is just as important in the dining area of an office or an industrial plant as in the kitchen at home, the Association says.

Fire Equipment Has Right-Of-Way At All Times

When you hear a fire siren while you are driving your automobile, pull over to the curb and stop if fire fighting vehicles are coming your way, for the American Insurance Association said today.

By so doing, you will permit firemen to move more speedily in answering an alarm.

Most cities have ordinances requiring private passenger automobiles to give the right-of-way to fire apparatus.

"If you do so, you may be helping fire to spread beyond control."

Keep Gasoline, Out Of House For Safety's Sake

Never use gasoline, benzene or any other highly flammable liquid for any household purpose, such as cleaning, the American Insurance Association said today. These liquids give off explosive vapors, and a single spark could start a serious fire, the Association added.

If you must keep a small quantity of gasoline on hand for a power lawn mower or outdoor motor, keep it in an approved safety can, and store it either in the garage or an outbuilding.

To prevent fires caused by spontaneous ignition, never put oil, mops, rags or cloths saturated with furniture polish, paint or wax in closets or cupboards.

If you have a fireplace in your home always keep a metal screen in front of it.

Mooresville Observing Fire Prevention Week

Mooresville joins other municipalities throughout the United States in observing Fire Prevention Week, under the joint sponsorship of the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce and the Mooresville Fire Department.

Fires Take Heavy Toll In United States

Ignorance and carelessness! Carelessness and ignorance! No matter how you arrange them, they are the two most important factors in the origin of fires which annually claim more than 12,200 lives and more than $2.1 billion in property losses in the United States.

Think for a moment what this means. On an average day, like today, 30 persons will lose their lives; 1,500 families will lose their homes; 30 schools will no longer be open for students; 10 churches will no longer be open for congregations; 100 industries will shut down, and thousands of workers will be without jobs.

All because of fires...and carelessness and ignorance! In an effort to combat the needless death and destruction annually wrought by fires, the National Fire Protection Association, under the joint sponsorship of the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce and the Mooresville Fire Department, will observe Fire Prevention Week, to be observed on Saturday-through-Sunday period in which October nine falls.

The occasion originally marked the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire of October 9, 1871, but it was extended to a week in 1922.

In Mooresville, Fire Chief Howard E. Pender is emphasizing that the best way to fight fire is to prevent it from starting. Pender explained, "It's not our job just to fight fires. We must also make the public aware of the importance of fire prevention. Basically what this means is that if we can inform the public so they will no longer be ignorant of the causes of fire, and if we can get them to use good common sense, then we will have fewer fires to fight."

Fire Prevention Week Message From Fire Chief Howard Pender

Howard Pender, chief of the Mooresville Fire Department, today reminded everyone that this week, October 7-13, is being observed as National Fire Prevention Week.

"Your fire department urges that you take this week to think about fire prevention," the fire chief said.

Last year, fires took 12,200 lives and caused property losses totaling more than $2.1 billion. Many of these lives could have been saved with just a little care, it was pointed out. Too many little children lost their lives when they were left at home unattended and got hold of matches to play with, or otherwise became exposed to fire.

Care with fire in the home is particularly important. Last year more than one-half of the nation's fire fatalities occurred in homes, and more than one-fourth of those who lost their lives in home fires were children.

"Fire-planning fire safety in the home is vitally important. The Mooresville Fire Department urges that every family in our community take time out and have a good house cleaning. Tidy up old newspapers, cardboard boxes, old clothes and trash are places were bad fires start. Also, the misuse of electricity such as using improper amperage fuses, too many plugs in one outlet, frayed or worn extension and lamp cords, and electric cords running under rugs, are also places where fires start. By having a good house cleaning and a fire safety check, you can eliminate most of the fire hazards in your home."

Continuing, the fire chief declared: "You should have an escape plan. If a fire occurs in your home. Get together all members of the family, including children and the older members, and work out at least two escape routes that you can use to get out quickly. You need to figure out two routes so that an alternate route can be used if fire cuts off the other. After you have decided the plan you want to use, you should rehearse it. With a little practice, everyone in the house should be able to get outdoors in less than a minute. Have a certain place outside to assemble."

used flammable liquid, and its use should be confined to that purpose for which it was intended — to drive internal combustion engines only.

The most recent figures represent a change in the number one cause of fires in the U. S. from smoking and matches to electrical causes.

Most fires caused by electrical factors can be traced to misuse, abuse, or both. Every electrical appliance is designed for a specific use, and a specific amount of electricity is required to run the appliance.

Extension cords or other wiring are designed to transmit only so much electricity. When the appliance or wiring system is taxed beyond its limit, the end result is either failure of the equipment or fire or both.

Most residential fires start between midnight and 6 a.m. when most members of the family are asleep and the least prepared for a fire.

A critical factor in the death of many who die in residential fires is the lack of preparation for fire emergencies — no family planning of escape routes, no fire drills, no knowledge of how to use fire extinguishers, no knowledge of how to use fire extinguishers, no knowledge of how to use fire extinguishers.

Fire Prevention Week is a time to recognize that fire is a real and ever-present danger and that everyone's responsibility to remove hazards and to reform bad habits.

The third leading cause of fire is heating and cooking equipment. Most fires caused by heating equipment are due to the lack of preventive maintenance to prevent fires. Installation of the equipment. There are often malfunctions of cooking equipment, but usually the cause of cooking equipment related fires is created, for example, such as dish towel, pot holders, or other combustibles too near the burner.

The fourth leading cause of fires in flammable liquids. Gasoline is the most commonly Pender explained that one gallon of gasoline in the vapor state is equivalent to more than 200 sticks of dynamite.

Fire Rules for the Aged

The aftermath of fire too often leaves the elderly as a tragic statistic. It can be prevented, however, if they are made aware of a few brief rules to follow.

First of all, the aged should be familiar with all exits and know two plans of escape. If possible, they should sleep on the first floor or near an easy way out.

All stairways should be clear of objects to prevent falling.

They should be instructed never to smoke while in bed.

The elderly should wear fire-safe clothing when around an open flame.

They should have easy access to a telephone, with emergency numbers at hand.

Appropriate fire extinguishers, listed by Underwriters Laboratories, should be within reach, and the aged should be shown how to use them.

A Third Of Nation's '73 Textile Grads At NCSU

North Carolina State University last spring produced a third of the nation's textile graduates. And the freshman class entering the university's textiles school this fall is larger by 20 per cent than last year's.

In 1969, State attracted 50 freshmen into its textiles program. That year, State graduates who majored in textiles made up a fifth of the nation's output in the field. This fall, 170 freshmen at State began preparing for a career in the textile industry.

"In 1966 we opened in 1972 we opened our Hatterville office. This office is to be known as the Corneilus—Lake Norman office. In addition to serving Corneilus, it will be the most convenient banking facility to the numerous residents of Lake Norman."

The university says growth of its textiles program is due largely to support the school has received from the North Carolina Textile Foundation. The foundation has backed a robust textiles recruiting program at State.

This year, according to William S. Sattler, director of the school's student affairs, he and five student recruiters will visit conveniences of drive-in windows and the most modern equipment available.

"For more than 57 years, Piedmont Bank has provided banking services to North Mecklenburg and has attempted to locate bank offices convenient to our customers and friends," stated Tate.

The proposed facility will be located in the Southeast corner of the intersection, adjacent to the new ABC outlet. The site was acquired from the Gibson L. Smith Realty Firm of Charlotte and contains more than one acre.

This will be the eighth office for the Piedmont system. The proposed office will be a full service facility offering the convenience of drive-in windows and the most modern equipment available.

"For more than 57 years, Piedmont Bank has provided banking services to North Mecklenburg and has attempted to locate bank offices convenient to our customers and friends," stated Tate.

The proposed facility will be located in the Southeast corner of the intersection, adjacent to the new ABC outlet. The site was acquired from the Gibson L. Smith Realty Firm of Charlotte and contains more than one acre.

This will be the eighth office for the Piedmont system. The proposed office will be a full service facility offering the convenience of drive-in windows and the most modern equipment available.

Letters to the Editor..

U.S. MAIL

Dear Mr. Editor:

We were pleased to see the article in the recent Tribune on new projects being started at the War Memorial. The club for fourth, fifth and sixth graders sounds like it could be lots of fun.

In general, I'm glad to see community center activities expanded to fill needs of the community. I hope there eventually will be a variety of classes taught in areas of adult interest, such as tennis, photography, bridge and so on.

Could a weekly schedule of upcoming War Memorial events be printed in the Tribune to help the public stay informed about what's available? It's a shame to have such a nice community center and not have it used to its potential.

Therefore, as one who loves America and its people, I plead with everyone: Let's start at home doing a better job of dealing fair and just with each other. Give every person the opportunity to develop his potential in equality and good will.

A true friend is one who is with you when you are right, and with you when you are wrong. When you are right he urges you to keep right. When you are wrong, your friend will direct his efforts toward helping you get right. Each of us will have few true friends in this life, and this is good. Knowing friends are such a rare and precious gift, we are careful to preserve them. And knowing true friendship recognizes no creed or color should compel us to look not at the man, but in him. In this way, I believe, God is able to work his will through his children.

May we in this great country find ways for all people to share the good life provided by this good land. May we give thought to the old and the lame, and to the poor of all ages. Let us bear in mind that the aged couple living on $100 a month must pay the same price for food as those who spend that much each month on keeping an assortment of cars on the road.

The more thought we give to the less fortunate among us, the greater opportunity God has to move through us.

The Rev. John E. McKennie, pastor, Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church

He played college basketball at N. C. State University from 1940 until 1942, winning the conference scoring title and making the all-conference team.

Four years of professional basketball were played with the NBA Washington Caps, and two more years with the Boston Celtics. He was all-pro in the 1946-47 and 1948-49 seasons.

McKinney is best known perhaps for his years as head basketball coach for Wake Forest University. While there, he won the 1959 Dixie Classic and the ACC championships in 1960-61 and 1961-62. He was coach of the year in 1961-62 and 1962-63.

From 1965 until 1969, McKinney was director of rehabilitation for the North Carolina Department of Correction.

But, when the Carolina Cougars basketball team was organized, it was McKinney they called to be their first head coach, a position he held in 1969-70. Since that time, he has been with the Cougars' public relations department.

He was elected to the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1971. The McKinney family resides in the Sunset Hills section of Hickory.

In addition to incumbent Harwell and Almond, school board candidates are Henry Campbell and Frank Fields. Noon October 12 is the deadline for filing for the school board.

Almond is a native of Albemarle who has lived in Mooreville four years. He has been active in various community projects, notably through his leadership in Jaycees. He is a graduate of Wingate Junior College and the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science. He served a two-year apprenticeship at Cavins Funeral Home in Huntersville before assuming the position here.

Almond is married to the former Jane McConnell of Cornelius and they have a five-year-old daughter, Samantha. The family lives at 516 Fieldstone Road, and attends First Presbyterian Church.

the first of the year. There will be no charge for the service, the chief said, but it will be unlawful for bicycles to be used on town streets or "any public path for the exclusive use of bicycles" unless they display a registration license.

"The purpose of the registration is to show bicycle ownership," Shumake said, "although at the time of registration an officer will inspect each bicycle, and he will have authority to refuse licenses to machines he finds in an unsafe condition."

The chief also reminded that his department is continuing its efforts to educate bike riders to the rules of the road.

"Bicycle riders seem to have a hard time understanding they are subject to all traffic laws," Shumake said, "and we are having a good bit of trouble in this area, particularly with youngsters riding bikes at night without lights."

Industrial Division Is Rolling

Vital signs of the Mooreville South Iredell United Fund campaign are stable and encouraging. Jim Frye, campaign chairman, said at mid-week that "we're starting to roll, especially in the industrial division."

Ron Johnson, industrial division chairman, supported Frye.

"Our people really are at work now. We're getting some good reports from our in-plant leaders, and where solicitations are complete, we are even with, or ahead of last year's giving."

The industries carry the heaviest UP responsibility. This division alone is responsible for more than 69 per cent of the $42,262 goal.

Frye said all divisions are at work with the exception of public schools, which has completed its work and exceeded its division quota.

The annual appeal began September 17.

Sgt. Shelton Retires After 24 Years

Platoon Sergeant James M. Shelton, a member of the Mooreville unit of the Army National Guard, has retired, following 24 years of military service.

In recognition of his long and efficient service, Sergeant Shelton has been presented a certificate of service from the Helms was quoted as saying he was forced off the road by changing traffic in front of his car.

Tunnel Of Garbage

In working to provide rural South Iredell residents access to a sanitary landfill, the Board of Commissioners is showing signs of uncommon common sense.

True, the board had to be prodded into action. And, true, nothing concrete has been done. Nevertheless, as the Tribune noted last week, there is "a light at the end of the tunnel of garbage" in South Iredell. The light is the spirit of cooperation glowing between Mooresville and the county government.

Contrary to its predecessor, the current county board takes the position that a service provided to some county residents must, in all fairness, be provided to all county residents. This means a citizens in an incorporated part of the county is entitled to all benefits available to those who live in unincorporated areas.

Chandler Bryan, chairman of the county board, put it this way in a recent discussion session between his board and the Mooresville Town Board: "We realize a citizen of Mooresville is a citizen of Iredell County. A landfill used by taxpayers of the county should be paid for by taxpayers of the county."

The immediate past board of commissioners approached the town early last year with the idea of sharing the cost of operating a landfill to serve all South Iredell. The town manager prepared a proposal that called for something like 60 per cent-county, 40 per cent-town financial cooperation. This was submitted to the county and nothing was ever heard from it.

The present board says it is approaching the situation with the idea of assuming full landfill operation. It has asked the town to help secure a 15-to-25-acre landfill site, and to turn over municipal landfill equipment to the county. The town, which bought a $45,000 bulldozer for its landfill last month, would be happy with this arrangement. If the town is relieved of landfill operation, obviously it won't need a landfill bulldozer.

At this juncture, the light is growing brighter at the end of the tunnel of garbage. We applaud the cooperation now evident between the municipal and county governments.

This is not to say South Iredell will live happily ever after. What Bryan said holds true for all the county, not this end alone. The county now is committed, informally at least, to going into the landfill business. Once in it, the county government surely will find demand continually exceeds supply—and all taxpayers, as Bryan pointed out, will be called upon to provide still another public service.

The Straits Of Messina

As North Carolina's "wets" and "drys" recruit soldiers into their separate camps, as each trains and equips for still another confrontation to determine whether man shall drink from a bottle or a glass, the urge to assign good guy and bad guy roles waxed powerful in the land. The closer we get to the November 6 liquor-by-the-lugger vote the more emotional will become the battle cries.

It was altogether refreshing, therefore, to read a recent North Carolina Catholic editorial that makes a case for changing the nature of the conflict from that of God versus the devil into that of a question to be answered in the arena of human rights.

Catholics, the paper acknowledges, have been "rather indifferent" on the liquor question "since the prohibition decade that tried to legislate an issue on moral standards." The editorial adds that "the individual Catholic may in conscience vote one way or the other" November 6, and it expands this thought:

Candidly, we are passing through the moral implications of the fabled Straits of Messina with the songs of two vested interests, the Chambers of Commerce, the convention and industrial centers on one hand and a large number of organized churches of the state. Just as we have moral "hang ups" on abortion, sterilization, and euthanasia, to mention a few, as well as crass pornography, many church denominations in North Carolina see in the "dry forces" a vested interest, which they are concerned to defend. They too see much to be gained, much to be lost in this election, as we felt in the catastrophic decision of the Supreme Court widening the permissiveness of abortion.

The church groups see a better society for all people in the state; fewer highway fatalities; more happy homes; fewer alcoholics; more healthy wage earners and fewer people guilty of crimes; more friendly neighbors.

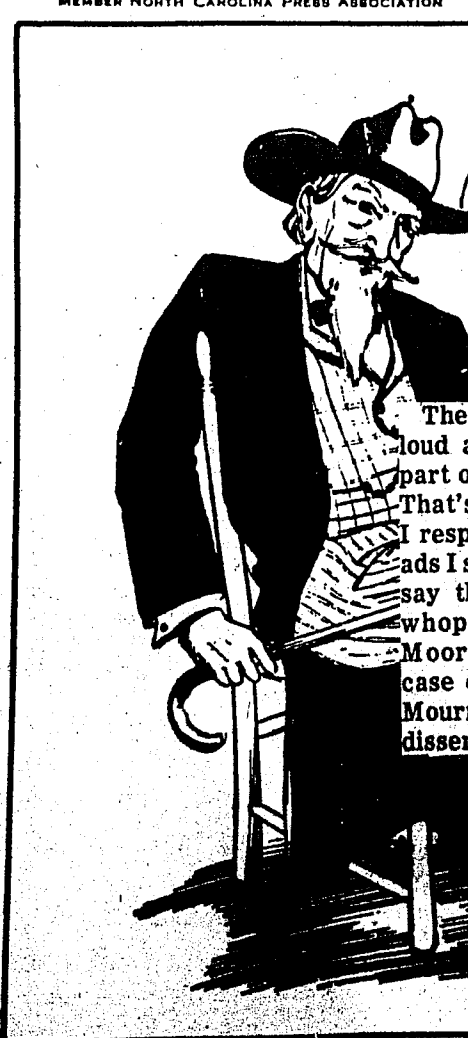

The "drys" as well as the "wets" have their vested interests. The present brown-bagging is an absurd situation, which makes the law a laughing stock to most Catholics. They have had their "temperance societies" and have tried to develop the use, according to right reason, those things that are agreeable to the senses. Among the elements of temperance is abstinence, which limits bodily food for the sake of our spiritual welfare. The other is sobriety, which regulates the desire and use of food and drink. The third deals with modesty and chaste actions. The church teaches us the necessity of moderation, which decries shameful intemperance and a propriety, and makes us desire that which is beneficial in a temperate act.

Without morality in these matters, the uncontrolled appetite that is connected with the sense of taste demands the practice of "killing the bottle," never knowing or realizing that one can put the cork back into the bottle or the top back on the jar. One practical consideration may be that a vote "dry" may keep the scandalous appearance of a saloon on every one of the four corners of the neighborhood of North Carolina, as it is noted in so many places in the North.

The editorial concludes that the question to be answered November 6 is whether basic human rights embrace the assumption the man may take a drink anyway he pleases, "without concern about a choice between good and bad." "The tragedy and travail" of abuse of alcohol, as with all other abuses, are real problems indeed, the paper declared, "but they are not solved by legislation."

Colonel Moor's Musings

The Mount Mourne folks shouted loud and clear: They don't want any part of the Mooresville school system. That's the way democracy works, and respect their decision. But from the ads I saw in the papers, I would have to say the side that turned out to be a whopping majority made a Mooresville-against-Mount Mourne case out of what was a purely Mount Mourne issue, and I think this was a disservice to all concerned.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

This Sunday I'm gonna preach on "the Laughing God." When the Almighty saw Adam in that fig dress He must have busted up. I've believed for a long time that God has a great sense of humor, but lately I've been finding this out in the Bible.

I heard a psychologist speak the other day about laughter. He says that man is the only animal on earth that laughs. He allowed that all kinds of tests had been run to find out why people laugh, but they hadn't found any answers yet. Oh, he threw out a few theories, but they haven't been proved.

One theory is that our mouths are made in a smiling position, and we just naturally smile. The reason people frown is that they've worked at warping the original. Another theory is that smiling is caused by a twitching muscle set off by a gas pain. Then there's the group that says laughing is set off by the angels who pull a little string—kinda like these talking dolls.

As you can see, Mr. Publisher, there's a lot of confusion about laughter. I'm surprised the government hasn't done a study on the subject. Right now, though, the government ain't in much of a laughing mood.

Well, I have made a real break-through on this whole mystery, and I'm gonna live it in my sermon. I'm gonna tell em it's very simple why folks laugh. God laughs—the Bible says so. I saw when things go well, and He laughs when things go bad. He's just a natural lugger.

Now, the Good Book says we're born in the image and likeness of God. If that's so, and I'm sure it is, we're just natural born laughers, it's hereditary. Far be it from me to go against heredity.

I'm gonna tell the people more, but that's the gist of it. It seems to me, Mr. Publisher, if everybody exercised their laughing ability a little more we wouldn't stay down in the mouth so much. So do yourself a favor and let a little of your natural born shine through. Laugh! God does.

Yours Truly,
Parson Jones

OUR COMMUNITY

IN OTHER YEARS... 1924 49 YEARS AGO

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Board of Commissioners was held Monday night. The first thing undertaken was the swearing in of C. A. Mayhew as commissioner from Ward 2 to succeed J. G. Brawley, resigning. The oath was administered by J. A. B. Goodman, notary public. Mr. Brawley has been a member of the county board of education to succeed D. W. Lawrence, who would not stand for re-election.

A. B. Troutman appeared before the board and asked permission to build a warehouse on the lot adjoining that of Mrs. Zebulon D. Brown, Sr. on Broad street, the warehouse to be built of sheetiron with cement floor. The board not having authority to grant the permit, referred that matter to Stacey W. Wade, State Insurance Commissioner.

Mayor C. P. McKnight appointed C. A. Mayhew to serve on the finance, fire and police committees.

A letter was read from J. S. Bergman, representing the Southern Railway, in which the railroad company offers to repair the sidewalks along the depot building. The repairs as outlined in Mr. Bergman's letter were acceptable to the board and the railroad company will make repairs within a reasonable time.

Nothing further was done except the routine business in auditing and the ordering of bills paid.

H. B. Mayhew says he will move into his new quarters on Main street shortly after the first of January.

Miss Elmore Dellinger of Statesville has been secured to teach the school at Hickory Hill, south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Matheson spent last Sunday in Taylorsville with Mrs. W. B. Matheson, Mr. Matheson's mother.

Mr. G. F. Bost last week moved his family from this city to Charlotte, where he has been for sometime engaged in the furniture business.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Fields will leave Tuesday for New York City, Blightman, N.C., to see and Niagara Falls, to be gone eight days during the holidays.

Esquire C. V. Vols as in his possession the pension checks for the Confederate soldiers and widows ready for the Christmas distribution. Those entitled to them are requested to call at his office and get same. Among the names there this year are two that are of interest, these being for Mrs. Ewell and Monroe Templeton, Negroes who followed their masters through the war, and who each get $60 per year.

Hon. Z. V. Burlington, Iredell representative live in the North Carolina legislature, is spending a few days at Raleigh, where he has gone in interest of Representative Pharr, of Mecklenburg, who is a candidate for the speakership at the convening of the general assembly in January.

Mr. J. W. McNeely, one of the good farmers of the Centenary neighborhood, who recently purchased lots from the old Kennerly place on the Prospect road on which he built a handsome cottage, moved in last week and is now within hollering distance of the town limits. We welcome Mr. McNeely and his good family to the "limit."

Medesmes R. H. Morrison, Harry Mott, Bruce Templeton and R. Lee Morrison, of Mount Mourne, were guests of Mrs. Harry Morrow at Statesville last Saturday, the occasion being a dinner given in honor of Mrs. R. Lee Morrison's birthday by her daughter, Mrs. Morrow. Quite a jolly day was enjoyed in the county capital.

Miss Helen Wilson arrived last Friday afternoon from Charlotte to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilson.

Henry Morrison, a student at the N. C. State College, is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Morrison, south of town. Mr. and Mrs. L. Roy P. Burney of "The Berry Schools" at Rome, Ga., are also there for the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Morrison.

Postmaster Jay Shoaf says there will be one delivery of city mail Christmas morning. The window at the postoffice will be open from 8 to 10:30 for the delivery of packages only. Rural carriers will have a holiday and will not make the usual rounds. This will give practically all the forces a chance to enjoy the day.

Mr. G. H. Smithdeal has moved with his family into his new home on Prospect boulevard, just outside of the city limits. Mr. Thomas Rodgers has taken over the Smithdeal farm, a short distance from Prospect Church.

Fire was discovered in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning at the Sunday School hour. The window facing was found to have caught from the furnace pipe, which ran close to the woodworks. The fire was extinguished before any damage resulted.

Liquor-By-The-Drink Campaign Picks Up Steam In Tar Heel

With the liquor-by-the-drink election less than a month away, both sides have picked up their campaigns and the fists are beginning to fly.

The drys are working hard in the East and in small towns all over North Carolina. They feel heavy voting in those areas will defeat the liquor question.

The wets, meanwhile, are spending time and money in the urban areas of North Carolina, trying to make sure the turnout on Nov. 6 in such places as Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Asheville is of great enough numbers to win for their side.

Although they might make public utterances to indicate the contrary, the drys know they have no chance of winning in Mecklenburg or Guilford counties. Their goal is to come as close as possible to splitting the vote in these urban areas, but they would be delighted for their side to win 40 per cent of the big-city vote.

The drys were organized and ready to roll weeks before the wets decided on John J. Ryan of Charlotte to head up their campaign. This is telling now. The drys have been on TV for a couple of weeks, depicting liquor-by-the-drink as an item that will make a very few people rich. The drys also have billboards up in all areas of the state and will have plenty of money to carry them through the campaign.

Even though the drys know they can't win Mecklenburg County, they will spend in an effort to cut their margin of defeat.

As expected, the campaign for and against has involved itself with emotionalism and character assaults.

UGLY OR BEAUTIFUL?

It all depends on whether or not you are a lobster-lover. To those who enjoy this succulent fruit of the sea, a lobster is a thing of beauty. To others it seems incredibly ugly.

Beauty is "in the eye of the beholder," but, contrary to another old saying, it is not skin deep. True beauty often can't be seen at all. It is something you feel, something of which you are aware—not necessarily seen.

Beauty, for instance, surrounds you when you walk into a church. There is something in the atmosphere that you can't quite define. No matter what's been happening to you, in God's Home, you feel a sense of peace, of sanctuary.

Had that experience lately?

17-Year-Old Finds It's Never Too Late For 4-H

BY AMY JOHNSON
West Central Club

Maybe joining 4-H as a junior in high school isn't sound like a good idea. But take it from the voice of experience—it's never too late.

At the age 17, I, Amy Johnson, attended my first 4-H meeting. To my surprise I came home that night as treasurer of our West Central 4-H Club. From that time on, I have been involved in various 4-H activities.

The first projects I attempted were sewing and personal appearance. In April I decided to enter a garment in the dress revue. At our club meeting my club leaders, Mrs. Floyd Harpe and Mrs. Clifford LeVan, encouraged me to also enter in the "Share the Fun" contest.

Because I was in the dress revue, I was among the last to model garments. When they called out my name of a blue ribbon I was shocked. But then I heard it again for third place in the Senior Teen division. I was happy to say the least. But the biggest shock was still to come. I received first place in the "Share the Fun" contest.

In June I attended District Day at East Lincoln High School. There were approximately 40 kids participating in the talent division. I thoroughly enjoyed being exposed to such real talent. That afternoon I received a blue ribbon along with Cecil Dalton and Toyette Rathbone, also from Iredell County.

About three weeks later I received an invitation to perform for the Adult Leaders Luncheon at Club Week in Raleigh. I was very happy to represent Iredell County. There are so many ways to become involved in 4-H. While trying to help Iredell County, the kids are also helping themselves. May I continue to serve as both a member and a leader in 4-H.

Although it didn't win, the fair booth of the Brawley Helping Hands 4-H Club drew quite a bit of attention and was most informative and interesting. John Always keep plenty of clean fresh water before your horse at all times.

Remember these good rules of "horse sense" in feeding your horse, you will be happier and your horse will be much happier too.

Steven Hass Opens Local Photo Studio

Steven L. Hass, owner of the City of Progress Studio on the Wilkesboro Road, north of Statesville, today announced the opening of a photographic studio on the River Road, two miles west of Mooresville.

The Statesville location will continue to serve as both a processing and processing lab with the Mooresville unit being used for photographing only.

Since opening his first studio in mid-1971, Hass has put together a filming company, described as the best equipped in the area, featuring such high caliber names as Nikon, Rolleiflex, and others.

The photographic interview will offer a complete line of still and movie cameras for amateurs and professionals, as well as film, with direct catalog orders at most plus ten percent. Hass will do film processing and printing, and will be available to provide assistance and advice on questions of photography at his shop.

Hass is a graduate of Mitchell College in Statesville and attended Appalachian State University at Boone. The Iredell County native and his wife, the former Vickie Pauline Campbell, reside at route 4, Mooresville.

Mooreville's Robert Randall Head Marine Commission

Robert N. Randall of Mooreville has been named chairman of the Lake Norman Marine Commission for the coming year.

Other officers, selected at a meeting held here in the conference room at C. and N. National Bank last Wednesday night, were: Ted Birkhead of Lincoln County, vice chairman; and Brooks Lindsay of Mecklenburg County, secretary and treasurer.

The three who filled the same positions last year, will be joined by an advisory committee showing few changes from last year.

Ed Easton, representative from the Centralina Council of Governments, was named executive secretary.

Discussion was lengthy concerning the problem of pump-out stations on the lake for boats equipped with toilets or holding tanks.

Bob Hudgins said: "Even with pump-out stations you still have the problem of time involved. If we don't have as many stations as we need, boat owners will get impatient waiting their turn and simply motor out into the lake and dump."

Hudgins reported some 250 boats on the lake and Commissioner John Campbell remarked: "They are emptying somewhere."

Hudgins said a new law effective next July would prohibit building a marina in Mecklenburg County without pump-out stations. Randall, chairman of the board, suggested a mobile unit distributing its time and efforts at all marinas where boats are permanently docked. He expressed the opinion: "We would be lucky to get 75 per cent pumped into a tanker truck or any other mobile unit but we have to start somewhere. This motor out in the lake and dumping beneath the water line is almost impossible to detect."

Hudgins said: "It's a real problem in Mecklenburg and the health department will lower the boom if nothing is planned by next summer."

Hudgins and Campbell, along with James Martin of Lincoln, will serve on a committee to study the problem and report back to the commission.

The commission studied the problem of markers knocked down on the lake. File-driver operators cannot be reached or contracted for the job of replacing the pilings. Ed Easton was authorized to go through proper channels to solve the problem.

The new patrolman for the lake must be employed and trained. Randall said the commission would meet in its entire body rather than try to approach this effort with a committee. He said: "We need the ideas of all concerned in something this important."

Training related to head, heart, hands and health, the four leaf clover with an "H" on each leaf is well known as the 4-H symbol. It is recognized throughout America and many other countries abroad. A study conducted several years ago concluded that the 4-H emblem probably is the best known of all symbols representing various youth groups and organizations. The development of head, heart, hands, and health signifies the development of a well known person.

Through my experience in 4-H I feel my health project has helped me more than any other thing. I have had several projects but they all seem to tie into health. Like gardening as a project, this contributes a great deal to health. It has made a big contribution to family unity which is essential in family health. We get to work together as a family plus we have fresh vegetables and vegetables for canning and freezing.

Personal Appearance is something I think is a must in health. This is another project that I have had which has contributed a lot to my 4-H Health project. Looking at health in general I feel that my community health has played a big part for helping others. Through my club work, helping with the community heart drive, cancer drive, distributing pamphlets on counter-doses in the home, assembling first aid kits, participating in the Governor's Clean Sweep Campaign, passing out fire survey forms, giving demonstrations and exhibits plus many more. I feel like through our 4-H Club that it makes our community more health and safety conscious; therefore, is a better place in which to live.

I think 4-H is great! If a person will just put forth a little effort he can help others and while helping others, he will be learning at the same time. I feel that I have really profited in more than one way through my five years in 4-H.

Baton Artists Paint With Fire

Moorsville Senior High majorettes twirled fire batons to entertain the capacity crowd at the Moorsville-West Rowan Rowan Game. The performance by Debbie Watkins, Mary Martin, Laura Erskine and Starr Coone enabled photographer David Chamberlain to capture these "paintings with light" with time exposures.

Iredell County Sheriff's Department Announces A Number Of Staff Changes

A number of staff changes at the Iredell County Sheriff's Department have been announced by Sheriff LeRoy Reavis.

Recently assigned to the detective division are Rick McLean, William Stamey, Cecil Cook and James Clements.

Rick McLean, a native of Iredell County, holds a bachelor of arts degree in law enforcement and is head of the detective division.

A 1963 graduate of Moorsville High School, McLean spent several years as a salesman for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and Proctor and Gamble Distributing Co. before returning to school. He graduated from Central Piedmont Community College with an Associate of Arts degree in police science and received his B.A. degree from Pfeiffer College.

A week after graduation, McLean joined the sheriff's department as a patrol deputy and then was assigned to the detective division. He had been a special deputy since 1970. He is married to the former Judith Carrigan of Moorsville and they have two children, Gretchen and Abigail.

Stamey, a native of Lincoln

County, resides at route 3, Statesville, and is a former member of the Statesville Fire Department. He joined the sheriff's office in 1971 as a deputy and recently was assigned to the detective division.

He served a four-year tour with the U.S. Army 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg. After discharge, he moved to Iredell County where he was employed with Modern Electric prior to joining the fire department.

The officer is a member of the Fraternal Order of Police, serving as chaplain; and is attending Davidson County Community College, working for an Associate of Arts degree in police science.

He attends Temple Baptist Church in Stony Point.

Cook, a native of Iredell County, has served in some capacity with the sheriff's department since the election of Sheriff Reavis. Although employed then as a salesman with McKnight Pontiac-Buick in Moorsville, he served as a part-time deputy.

He joined the department full-time in October 1972 as a patrol deputy and, as a resident of the Lake Norman area, he has primarily been assigned to patrol in the south Iredell County area.

Cook attended Moorsville schools, served four years in the Navy, and after discharge in 1951 worked at Leonard's Jewelers in Moorsville prior to his car salesman position. In addition to being a member of FOP, Cook is a member of the Statesville Moose Lodge, the Iredell Fish and Game Club and attends Prospect Presbyterian Church at Moorsville.

He has one daughter, Vicki, a secretary with North Carolina National Bank in Charlotte. He is currently enrolled in the Tae Kwon Do karate class.

A former Moorsville policeman, Robert Jones, Jr., has joined the force as a patrol deputy.

A native of Iredell County, Jones attended Troutman schools and then served a two-year tour in the Army. He was sent to Vietnam in 1966 where he worked as an aviation mechanic.

After discharge in 1968 he joined Cavin Funeral Home in Moorsville where he stayed until 1971 when he joined the Moorsville Police Department.

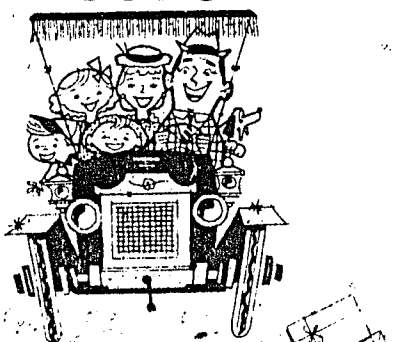

In 1972 he returned to Cavin Funeral Home until recently joining the sheriff's department.

Chief Deputy Warren said the department currently is at full strength with 32 officers.

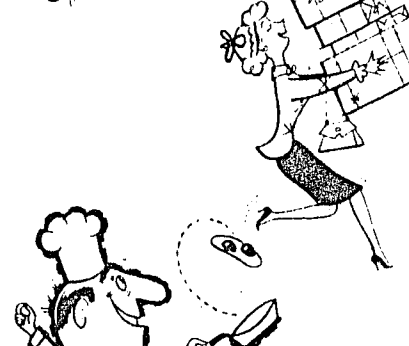

The department has four detectives, four dispatcher-motors, four jailers, two office deputies, Bonnie Taylor and Maxine Curdy; three officers assigned to the civil division; 12 road deputies; one deputy primarily assigned to the Troutman area, C. E. Loftin; one chief deputy and Sheriff Reavis. Warren said part of Loftin's expenses are paid with funds secured from a federal grant for police protection for the Troutman area.

Australian Visitors Spend Four Days Refreshing Friendships

In 1945, Burlington Industries met at his new, distant post was Jack Watkins, a Sydney native who had joined the new Burlington venture. Jack, his wife Zena and the Harmon family became immediate and close friends.

The Harmon family was made up of mom, dad and the four children—daughter Arby and sons Don, Tommy and Neal. Arby became the apple of the Watkinses' eye.

Between those dates the Watkinses packed a whirlwind of activities. They boated, toured Moorsville Mills and other local industries, and, mainly, they talked and enjoyed each other's company. Johnny Walker Scampers Upfield On Long Gain Against Black Knights

Meet Oakwood Here Saturday Imps Fall 14-12 To North

Mooreville Junior High's twice-beaten Red Imps will play their first home game of the season Saturday night, and they hope the home-field advantage will get them back on the winning track.

The sidetracked Imps won their opener against South Iredell, but they've dropped two straight, to D. Matt and to North Iredell.

Saturday's game has the Imps facing Oakwood.

Last Thursday the Imps traveled to North Iredell to do battle with the Raiders. The Imps were edged by the mar-

Templon's West Tops Jets; Bulls-Knights End In Tie

Burlington takes on the Jaycees at 2 p. m. Saturday, and league-leading Templon tangles with Mooreville Federal in the second game of the fourth round of Mooreville Midget Football League play.

The games will be played on the Senior High field in the afternoon because Mooreville Junior High plays its first home game on the same field Saturday night.

Templon's quarterback Billy West provided all the points last week in the Blue Angels' third straight win. West got off a TD dash of 80 yards early in the game, and followed with a 10-yard scoring run to give Templon a 12-6 win over Jaycees.

In the first game Saturday, Burlington and Mooreville Federal played to a regulation game 12-12 tie. In a sudden-death playoff for end-of-the-season rankings, each team was given the ball 10 yards from the goal and given four downs in which to score. Burlington got its six-pointer, but Mooreville Federal was unable to penetrate the Bulls' defense.

The game stands as a tie. Should the teams end the season with identical records, Burlington will be ranked ahead of the Moors by virtue of having made a better showing in the sudden-death playoff.

Mooreville Federal, with a win, a loss and a tie, ranks behind unbeaten Templon in the standings. The Jaycees, which have a win and two losses, are in third place. Burlington, with a tie and two defeats, is in last place in the four-team league.

In Saturday's opening contest, Burlington's quarterback Kenny Bailey, hit runningback

Mooreville Faces Stiff NPC Test Against Davie County Here Friday

Holding undisputed possession of first place in the North Piedmont, Mooreville's Blue Devils will be out to prove their recent high-scoring wins at the expense of conference opponents were not flukes.

The Blue Devils' opponent Friday will provide ample opportunity as Coach Gary Karriker's charges will host a strong Davie County team at 8 p. m. at the Senior High athletic field in a non-division game.

The War Eagles were upset by North Rowan 27-12 last week for their first loss of the season. Davie's record stands at 4-1 overall, identical to the Blue Devils. Mooreville's conference mark is 3-0 while the War Eagles are 3-1.

Coach Bill Peeler's Orange and Black has defeated conference foes West Rowan, North Stanley and South Iredell. A win over the Blue Devils would put the Division II War Eagles back into the running for overall NPC honors.

Making Mooreville's third home appearance of the season more difficult will be the fact that Davie County will remember the Blue Devils coming back to defeat the War Eagles in the last seconds last season, after Davie virtually had the game won for their homecoming.

Mooreville's explosive veer offense that is averaging 30.8 points per contest will face a War Eagle defensive unit loaded with returning starters. Seven defenders are returning while three more were defensive starters last season on offense.

Davie will be led by seniors Larry Driver, Billy Lee and Jeff H. Ward on defense. Jeff A. Ward, Doug Quarles and Tom Eanes will lead the War Eagles on offense, although Eanes sustained an injury in last week's game.

Coach Karriker indicated that the War Eagles would per-

Vikings Nip Comets, 6-0, For Season's First Win

Winless the first four games of the season, South Iredell's Vikings Friday night pushed across a touchdown in the final period to nudge North Stanley, 6-0, in a North Piedmont Conference football clash at North Stanley.

With less than four minutes showing on the stadium clock, South Iredell's Ivan Cowan plunged into the end zone from two yards out for the only score of the hard-fought game.

The touchdown was set up on a pass interception by Roger West at the 10-yard line.

During the first half, neither team was able to do much offensively. The Vikings were limited to 21 yards rushing and North Stanley had only 16.

In the second half, South Iredell kept its stout defense going and limited the North Stanley Comets to 28 yards. The Vikings did somewhat better—111 yards and 12.

North Stanley had a slight offensive thrust going following

DEVIL LINEBACKING ACE BRIAN DUCKWORTH
Thorn In N. Davidson Offense Last Week

Blue Devils Smother Black Knights, 47-14

Mooreville Senior High raised its season record in the North Piedmont Conference to 3-0 Friday night, smothering North Davidson 47-14. The local Blue Devils compiled 516 yards in total offense in the one-sided contest suggested at North.

Johnny Walker, Blue Devil senior runningback, was the hero of the night for the winners. Walker personally accounted for 238 yards rushing, and three of his carries were for touchdowns. One of his scoring gallops was 80 yards, another covered 70 yards, and the third was a 33-yard dash.

David Mullis, hard-driving senior fullback for the Devils, managed only 52 yards for the night. The Black Knights' defense was keying on Mullis, whose output nearly always exceeds 100 yards, and speed-merchant Walker ripped through the defenders to set a Senior High rushing mark for this campaign.

Quarterback Bob Craig, who was hurt in the season opener at Statesville, saw considerable action in the second half, and sophomore signal-caller Roger Lambert came in and directed the steamrolling Blue Devils in the fourth quarter.

Junior quarterback Terrell Rhye directed the Devil attack through the first half, and he was used sparingly in the second half. The three quarterbacks had eight pass completions for 142 yards.

The locals got on the scoreboard early, after the Devils forced the Knights to punt. Rhye was the prime mover in the 46-yard scoring drive and runningback Charles Turner put the ball across with 6:23 left in the first quarter. Mullis' extra point try was good.

Both defenses played hard-nosed throughout the remainder of the first period. After a series of punts by both teams, Walker turned on his speed. He got the ball on his 30, and it was Katie bar the door. Mullis' toe missed its mark after Walker's first tally of the evening.

The Black Knights managed a score in the final minutes of the half. A pass-interference call against Mooreville placed the ball on the Devils' 30, and at this point Knight Bill Jones zipped through the line for the six-pointer. Gary Boyd booted the PAT, and the half ended with the score Mooreville 13, North Davidson 7.

On the second play from scrimmage in the third period, Walker got off his 80-yard romp.

Brian Duckworth and Tony Hager were prominent among thorns in the Knights' side during their next offensive effort.

The home-standing crew was forced to punt. In Mooreville's next series of downs, Walker dashed off a 33-yard scoring carry.

But on the kickoff, Jones again gave the Knight supporters reason to rejoice. He gathered in the kickoff, juggled it, found the handle and outdistanced everybody for an 80-yard TD. The PAT was good, and the Knights were through for the night, offensively.

Jimmy McIntosh, sophomore tackle, gave the Devils the next break in the game. He pounced on a Knight fumble at the North Davidson 38. Three plays later, Mullis bulled in from the eight, Craig threw to Turner for the two-point conversion. Walker got off a 27-yard gallop to set up the score.

Mooreville went into the fourth quarter enjoying a 33-14 advantage, but the Devils weren't content with their showing. They added a pair of TDs for good measure.

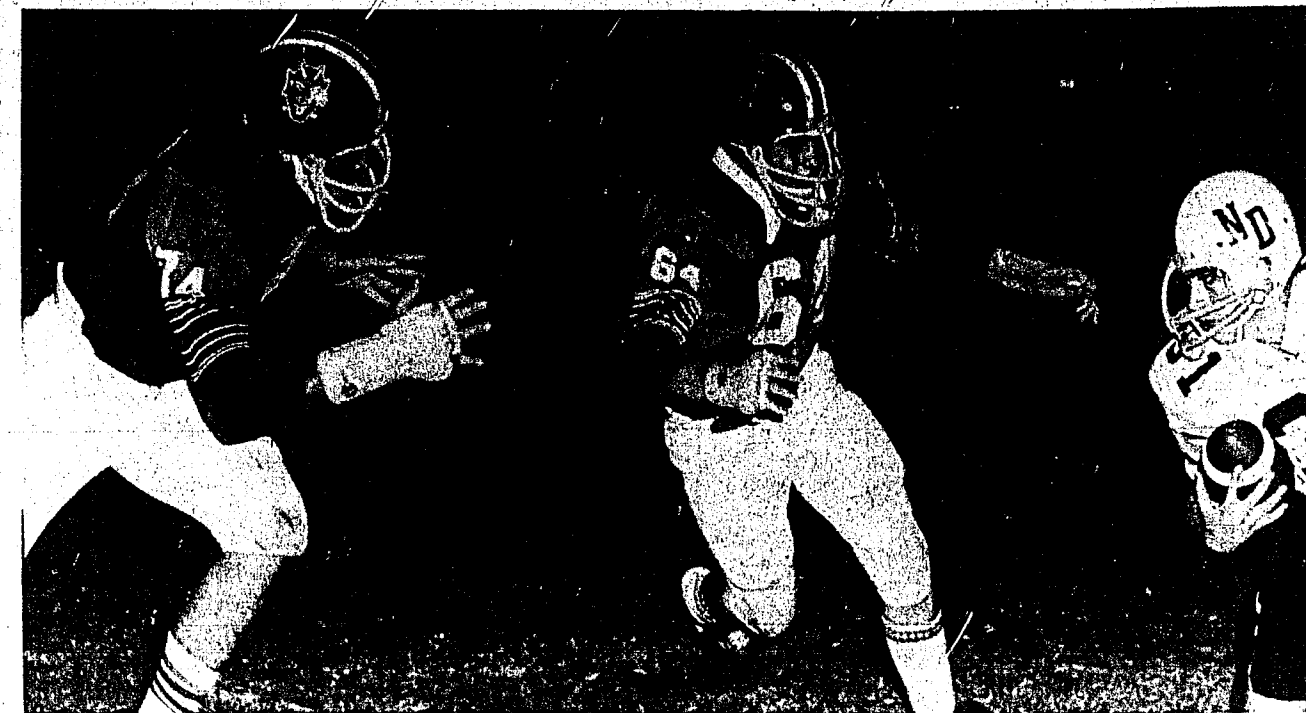

Charles Turner got his second TD with only 35 seconds gone in the period. A Craig pass to Paul Brown was the main play in the drive. Craig threw to Turner for two points.

Sophomore back Robert Gregory got the first touchdown of the evening of offense. Gregory darted down the sideline, took Lambert's perfect pass without breaking stride, and carried the remaining 35 yards in the play that covered 67 yards. Donald Duff and Paul Brown were among the outstanding performers during this scoring drive that needed only four plays.

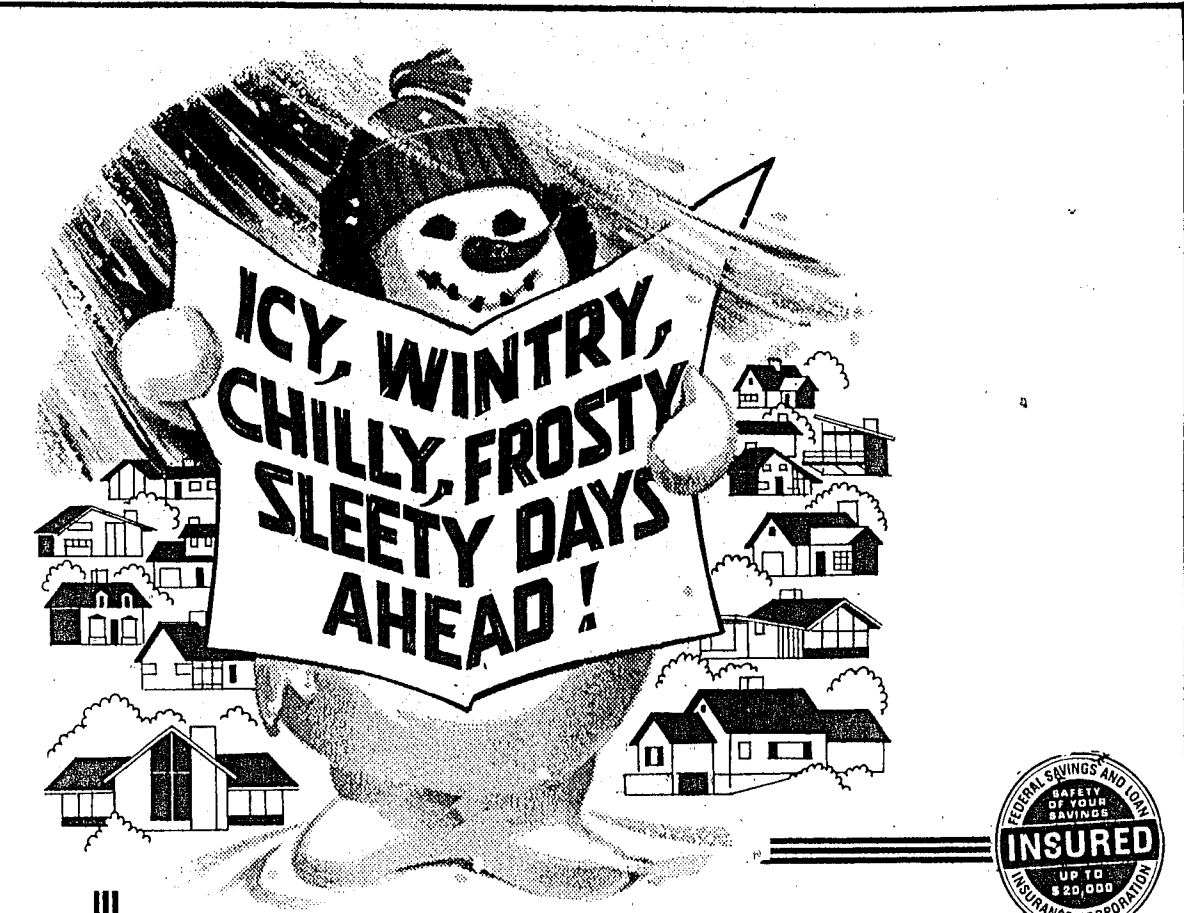

George Daniels of P. O. Box 2133, Davidson, captured the first-place award of $7, while the second-place prize of $4 went to Sandra W. Benfield of Mooreville, route 4, and Charles D. Berg of Mooreville, route 5, won the third-place award of $3.

Daniels guessed the total score at 57, while Benfield guessed the total score at 49, and Berg's total score guess was 35.

Honorable mention goes to Steve Jones of 829 East Iredell Avenue, who also had 10 correct guesses out of a possible 12, but guessed the total score of the tie-breaking game at 29.

Questions and Answers

Q: My 48 year old sister has never worked and has been severely disabled for many years. She has no income of her own and lives with me. Can she receive any Federal payments under the supplemental security program?

A: Your sister may be eligible for monthly payments starting in January 1974. Her payments would be reduced because she lives in your household. She should contact her nearest Social Security office to apply for these Federal payments now.

Q: My 66 year old uncle owns a 1968 Chevy. He is single and lives in a rented apartment. Because of the rising cost of living he has a regular job from which he receives $20.00 weekly. He also receives a Social Security check of $95. Would he be eligible for any additional payments?

A: It surely appears so. Federal Supplemental Security Income payments can be made even though your uncle is working. Part of his wages and Social Security check can be excluded. He should contact his nearest Social Security office for additional information about these payments which will start January 1974.

Q: My wife does some maid work for a farmer in his home. What about her work?

A: Domestic work in the home of a person who is a farmer is considered to be farm labor, and the same rules apply.

4-H Tries To Meet Growing Needs Of Today's Youth

BY WILLIAM C. COOPER

The North Carolina 4-H program is truly trying to "Get It All Together" to meet the growing needs of more and more people. An example of this is Extension Service, through 4-H, is becoming more concerned and more helpful to young people in their personal preparation for the WORLD OF WORK. The 4-H employment and career education program is based on the belief that young people growing up today should become interested in learning about a wide variety of jobs and occupations. This should enable them to make a choice decision about the kind of occupation they will follow rather than fall into the kind of work they do.

Under today's stress, many young people are not sure that they want a so-called "career". Technological advances and other factors cause instability in the economy. Career or employment opportunities go in and out of fashion. In the future many people will change jobs many times. These conditions and past experiences indicate the importance of the 4-H employment education program which is designed to help young people —understand the importance of knowing themselves, especially in relationship to the everyday world of work.

—make acquaintances with avenues of learning about job and career opportunities within and outside their communities.

—choose occupations by deliberate planning.

—learn importance of making decisions relative to improving personal characteristics and the great effect this has on getting and holding jobs or staying in a career.

—understand when a career is chosen a way of life is chosen because one's job influences one's life style.

—know the importance of taking advantage of guidance and counseling services related to education, training and jobs or occupations.

—understand some of the basic elements, mechanics, and procedures associated with getting into the world of work and full employment.

plans an additional six acres in Ladino clover and orchard grass.

The land, he says, provides excellent habitat and cover for animals such as rabbit and quail, as well as fine grazing ground for deer. The trees, meanwhile, offer refuge for squirrels, possums and birds, while the pond provides a source of water for all these animals.

Davis is a part-time farmer and manages a small insurance agency, where he often deals with farmers. He is a member of Ebenezer Grange and Hebron Baptist Church, where he teaches the "young married" class.

According to Simpson, he participates in ASCS, agricultural extension and soil and water conservation programs, and "promotes good conservation practices throughout the community."

"Davis knew exactly what he wanted," said Simpson, "and he went ahead and did it."

Davis is married to the former Stella Ellidge and the couple has four children.

Golden Agers
Enjoy Trip
To Mountains

Twenty-three Golden Agers and their "buddies" boarded the Church of God activity bus about 8:45 a. m. on Saturday to enjoy a day of fellowship on a trip to the mountains. Rev. James D. Allen, pastor of the church, was the bus driver and the group upon noticing his attire wanted to know if he thought they were going on a skiing trip. Normally, the middle of October is the peak of the season for the turning of the leaves in the mountains and the group certainly was not disappointed, although the peak is not expected for another couple of weeks.

The group motored up Highway 21 to Roaring Gap and got on the Blue Ridge Parkway and drove back down to Doughton Park where supposedly a "bag lunch" was to be enjoyed but instead it was a beautiful picnic with an assortment of meats, vegetables, salads, relishes, homemade pies, cakes, rolls, biscuits, coffee and soft drinks. After the dinner, the group boarded the bus and Pastor Allen talked to the group about the wonderful fellowship, dinner and had prayer for a safe return home. The return trip was made down the Parkway to the Wilkesboro exit and on to Mooresville on Highway 115.

The group had a great time viewing the country side, talking together and singing many of the old time hymns of praise.

New Fashion Look Completed For All Girl Scout Age Groups

Girl Scouts of the Mooresville neighborhood now are featuring their new "dressed for action" fashions in uniforms for pre-teen Junior and teenage Cadette scouts.

For girls aged nine through 11 the new Junior uniform gives a choice of 12 individual looks, from a formal dress to casual pants outfits—all official. The interchangeable parts of the new Junior Girl Scouts uniform include a kooky A-line jumper, smooth-fitting pants, cool patch pocket shorts—all in leaf green woven polyester blend fabric—a contrasting forest green ribbed nylon stretch bodysuit, and a crisp white blouse with printed green trefol stripes. Accent colors show up in a bright red V-tie, a shiny reversible green and red belt and matching belt purse.

To proudly display insignia, there's a newly designed narrower contoured badge sash, made to stay in place. The back of the sash may be used for personal emblems. The same perky dark green Girl Scout beret completes the outfit.

For Cadette Girl Scouts, the uniform has interchangeable separates: a smart-looking, easy-fitting A-line jumper, sleek matching pants, all in dark green rib knit permanent press material—a long-sleeve soft yellow blouse printed with lemons trefol stripes, a bright yellow ribbed stretch bodysuit, and a dark green felt vest to take on all official insignia. The back of the vest can be adorned with colorful personal-choice patches. A dark green beret with the Cadette cockade and a dark green V-tie tie complete the picture.

Since 1912, when Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. was founded, Girl Scout uniforms have undergone many changes. Fashions ranged from the original navy middie blouse and skirt, to the 1914 knaki dress and the 1928 introduction of the "greens", plus the various style modifications in the '40s and '50s.

This latest change had its start four years ago when the national organization invited suggestions from Girl Scouts across the country, asking their preferences. A recurrent theme

THIS POSTURE FIRM MATTRESS COSTS YOU ONLY $59.50.

A lot of extra-firm mattresses cost a lot more than the King-O-Pedic Posture Deluxe. And unfortunately, a lot of other mattresses are so hard it's like sleeping on a board.

But the King-O-Pedic Posture Deluxe is different. Along with the extra firmness, it has a thick layer of foam quilted right into the cover.

So you get both the firmness you need plus a sleeping surface with a foam cushion. Which means the mattress won't be too hard on your back.

And when it comes to the price, you can see from the figure below that it won't be too hard on your pocketbook either.

"Behold, I come quickly."—Rev. 22:7

Jesus spoke these words to the Apostle John while he was on the Isle of Patmos. Jesus was declaring that great day that He would return to this earth to gather His saints and take them back to Glory with Him.

As I write this column my heart weeps for those who are not ready, for I know that Jesus is soon coming. Jesus gave His life that every man, woman, boy, and girl might be saved and have eternal life in Heaven.

To me, it is going to be wonderful to go to live where there will be no broken hearts, no more pain, no more sadness, no more broken homes, no more graves, no more tears, no more death, no more heartaches, no more blinded eyes, no more withered bodies, and no sickness of any kind.

I ask you today, are your sins washed under the Blood of Jesus? Are you ready for Jesus to come? If not, bow on your knees right now and ask Him to forgive you and come into your life. He loves you. — Amen

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Miller of Catonsville, Md. spent Thursday through Monday visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Nicodemus.

Each month, Albert Copelan, director of the Mooreville Christian Mission, submits to his directors a summary of Mission activities. This is Copelan's report for September:

Your director and Mission volunteers continue to be thankful for the generous way people of the community bring us clothing, furniture and household items every month. We know a good number of the donors have about given what they have to spare, but there are always others who bring in to fill the gap.

During September we had 273 visits by heads of families who took out 3,491 garments, 20 pieces furniture, and 177 pieces of household things such as 13 pairs of curtains, 21 sheets, 6 blankets, 6 bedspreads, 4 pillows and 9 pots and pans.

We issued 29 food orders that amounted to $253. Every month we have requests that we do not grant for reasons that we think are good.

Also during the month, we provided $61 to help three families pay their power bills, and $16 went to restore water to two families. Another family with five children received $50 in rent payments to avoid eviction. We dispensed several smaller items that amounted to an expenditure of $31.88.

I know it is the feeling of many who will read this that they are thankful to have a place supported by the people in the community—to take care of the needs above.

It's also good for Yokefellow volunteers from local churches to be at the Mission to have a part in supplying these needs.

Hamilton, a sophomore journalism major, was appointed by Tech President Everett Derryberry to serve on the publications and public media committee.

The president of the school at Cookeville appointed members of 17 committees. The students have responsibilities touching on all phases of Tech's operation.

Mr. Colie Sherrill has selected the members of the chorus. There are 82 members in the chorus, and they are practicing selections pertaining to the approaching holidays. A heritage medley will be presented at Thanksgiving, and "Was the Night Before Christmas" will be given at Christmas as a dramatization with the Drama Club.

The Drama Club has elected officers. They are: Kim Beam, president; Diane McPoland, vice-president; and Kelly Austin, secretary. A business manager will be appointed later. Mr. James Palmer serves as the club's director.

This year we have our first football team. Mr. Campbell, the coach, is assisted by Mr. Faulk, Mr. Edwards, and Michael O'Connor, a student at South Iredell.

The cheerleaders, who are directed by Mrs. Jean Brown, provide enthusiastic support of the team. Ginger Thompson is the chief, and Pam Shaver is the co-chief. The other members of the squad are: Cindy Benfield, Anita Hider, Robin Blackwelder, Michelle Oliphant, Beth Barbee, Jeannie Clark, Carolyn Austin, and Ginger Sigmom.

The girls are very proud of their new uniforms. The uniforms are blue hot pants with over-skirts and vests which are ruffled over the shoulders. The girls' names are Yesterday, the American Gas Association reported that proved reserves of natural gas declined in the lower 48 states last year to the lowest level since 1957. It was the fourth year in a row that reserves had declined.

Her death caused Mars Hill College to suspend classes Monday, and to urge students to remain on campus. A memorial service for Miss Moffitt was held Monday afternoon, and the school's fall break, scheduled to start Wednesday, began following the service.

surgeon and a member of the Town Board, has been instrumental in promoting the program here and county-wide.

The program will do what its name suggests: provide professional nursing services in the patient's home. Nicholson said the county initially will employ a registered nurse, a licensed practical nurse, a program coordinator and a secretary to provide the service.

Home nursing will help the patient, and it will ease the strain on the county's medical facilities, ill and invalid patients who can be cared for in their homes will have an alternative to an expensive hospital room. Their doctors can discharge them and order continuing care at home. This should be welcome relief for patients who need a daily dressing change, say, or need specific medicines they cannot administer to themselves.

While inviting the public, in behalf of the local school board, faculties and administrative personnel, Bill Brown, superintendent of the local system, reminded that public education and public support of education is not a one-week-a-year proposition, "it is a year-round responsibility that we cannot afford to take lightly."

"Aside from humanitarian consideration," Brown added, "your school, in today's schools — are everyone's job, and the local school district is the logical place to get involved in the on-going work, because America is a nation of communities."

Merchants

Mooresville's exchange student and the president of the Kanapolis merchants organization before giving the presentation.

Following the installation Jack Duffy made the Merchant of the Year presentation to Morrow for the hospitalized Neil. Duffy said it was an honor to make the presentation to someone who has offered such outstanding and faithful service to the town and association through the years.

Morrow, 65, is co-founder of Morrow Brothers Furniture and Appliance. The business began in fall 1937 and Morrow retired in January of this year. During the intervening years, Morrow was a prime mover in the community's business, civic and church affairs. He is a former president of the local Kiwanis Club, former president of the Merchants Association and a former director of the Chamber of Commerce. Still an active leader at Broad Street United Methodist Church, he is a former chairman of the church's board of trustees.

Lineberger made the gavel presentation. Burrell following McKinney's talk. Burrell in his closing remarks then honored the outgoing president Lineberger with a plaque for his service to the association during the past year.

McKinney, introduced by Walter Jones, didn't take long to get into his numerous humorous tales that covered subjects from his personal coaching and coaching experiences, plus a few contrived quips that kept the audience continuously laughing. A few examples of "ones" coaching:

"I take these new glasses off I wear every now and then. You know, the referees in the ACC gave me these as a gift for some reason. And I gave them white canes too."

On umpiring little league baseball: "I told a smart aleck kid to get in the batter's box and quit fussing about that called strike or I'd bite his head off. He told me if I did I'd have more brains than guts."

On flying 120,000 miles in a year with the Cougars: "Never liked flying. I knew my time was coming but I didn't want to be with a pilot when he came. So I always sat at the back of the plane and kept my eyes on the engine. One night a little old lady sat next to me and told me after an hour, 'Sonny if you need to go to the toilet, I'll be glad to keep my eye on that engine for you.'"

Surviving, in addition to the mother, are two sons, Kent and Ricky Lee, both of the home; four sisters, Mrs. W. Keith Klutz of Rockwell, Mrs. Paul E. Fagart of Concord, Mrs. Paul A. Welch of Dilworth, S.C., and Mrs. Lloyd E. Dennis of Sanford; and one brother, Conrad Bost of Salisbury.

were on U.S. Highway 21. Mrs. Lee was traveling north in a 1966 Buick Wildcat while the 1970 Kenworth tractor-trailer rig was headed south on the heavily traveled highway.

Driver of the rig, according to the Mecklenburg County Police, was 36-year-old Raymond Boyce Honeycutt of Mooresville, route 2.

Patrolman Curtis Brandon of the Mecklenburg County Police quoted Honeycutt as saying Mrs. Lee's car was in his lane of traffic when he first noticed the car. Honeycutt told the officer that he swerved his rig to the left into Mrs. Lee's lane of traffic. About the same time, it was reported, Mrs. Lee cut back into her lane of traffic and the two vehicles collided head-on.

Mrs. Lee was thrown from her car, according to the investigating officer, her death was instantaneous. Honeycutt escaped injury, the officer reported.

According to the investigating officer, Honeycutt owned and operated his own rig, which was empty at the time of the accident.

No charges were lodged against Honeycutt immediately following the accident, a spokesman for the Mecklenburg County Police reported.

Mrs. Lee was born in Mecklenburg County, a daughter of Mrs. Loin Klutz Bost of Rockwell and the late Roy Bost.

Hutchinson Vice President Of Chiropractors

Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Hutchinson attended the 56th fall convention of the North Carolina Chiropractic Association from October 11 through 14, in the Wilmington Hilton, Wilmington.

The convention was centered around the various insurance programs that includes chiropractic. They are Workmen's Compensation, Medicare, Medicaid and Blue Cross, plus many private insurance carriers.

The members were honored by having at the closing banquet, the Lieutenant Governor of North Carolina, James B. Hunt, Jr.

Following the banquet an announcement was made that Dr. Faye Eagles, of Rocky Mount, had been appointed to the State Commission for Health Services which was formerly known as State Board of Health. Dr. Eagles is the first chiropractor to be appointed to this office.

The following officers were elected to serve the coming year for the North Carolina Association: Dr. Curtis Turner of Charlotte, president; Dr. Charles Patton, Jr. of West Asheville, president's designee; Dr. B. L. Hutchinson, Mooresville, vice-president; Dr. Earl Barbour of High Point, secretary and Dr. Dennis Hall of Concord, treasurer.

Non-Robbery

told what had happened. L. P. Young, a friend of Caldwell, was in the station.

"I've warned Bobby about carrying money around," Young exclaimed as he telephoned Mooresville police.

Police found the Lige car at Lowrance Hospital. He was the driver — and he was excited indeed. The young man with him was Gordon Donaldson, his grandson whom the police never had seen before. Sliking above the seat between them was the leg of the crutch Gordon had been using since suffering a foot injury recently.

And lying on the back seat was Gordon's sister, Mrs. Paula Byers. She had become ill at her grandparents' home in Davidson, and the two men had rushed her to the hospital. Gordon had been leaning toward his grandfather — and his "gun barrel" — to reach and comfort her.

So call this the story of a non-robbery with a happy ending. And call Nancy and Sandy West good citizens who earned the gratitude of all concerned for acting to prevent what they thought was a crime in the making.

Church Of God Youth Week Rewarding

Youth Emphasis Week proved most interesting and rewarding to the Churches of God and to the community last week. The theme of the week was Sharing Jesus.

A special service was held at the Troutman Church of God on Friday and on Saturday, the young people of the Mooresville Church of God gathered at the church fellowship hall and Miss Gaynell Ervin, Christian leader, spoke to the group on witnessing and they wrote letters to the boys and girls of the local church who are in college and in service. The afternoon was spent delivering pamphlets to homes throughout the Mooresville area.

Saturday evening, five young people spoke and gave personal testimonies on sharing Jesus at school, home, college, work and with friends.

The services closed on Sunday morning when the pastor, Rev. James D. Allen taught the young people's Sunday School class followed by the 11 a. m. service which was centered around the church and the sharing of Jesus.

Boosters, At 265, Work Toward 500-Member Year

The Mooresville Booster Club wants it known that its membership drive is still underway! The club has signed up 265 members since August, however that is little more than half of the 500-member goal the Boosters set for themselves.

The purpose of the Boosters Club is to support all phases of athletic activities at the junior and senior high schools. So far this year the club has furnished new cheerleading skirts and equipment for the football chain gang at senior high and a $200 donation to the junior high sports program for a movie camera, a basketball training equipment and other needs.

Dr. Gary Roach, membership chairman, is trying to make it easier for interested persons to join the club or support its activities by buying a $5 Year plaques on Sunday morning during the worship hour at the Mooresville Church of God.

The two outstanding young people received duplicate recognition since they tied in a ballot vote by the congregation on Sunday, October 7.

About Those Bonds...

We haven't seen or heard any opposition to the proposed $300 million state bond issue that will be decided November 6. The people, in all likelihood, will give the state government authority to sell the bonds to raise money for building, enlarging and renovating schools.

Lack of organized opposition should not be cause for complacency, nor should it be taken as acceptance of the maxim about holding your nose and voting for bond issues. There's no doubt about this: It's a sound investment, and there are enough people around who always vote against everything to keep the bond referendum from being a foregone conclusion.

State Treasurer Edwin Gill says the $300 million can be paid off by the state through current revenue, and without an increase in state taxes. Gill also has assured Tar Heels that the bond issue will not hurt the triple-A credit rating their state government enjoys.

The bonds have been endorsed by school boards and administrators, to no one's surprise, and they have the blessings of the General Assembly and top state officials.

So much for the bonds on the state level.

Of the $300 million, Iredell County would get $2,621,328, and of this total Mooresville would be allocated $640,457.

The Mooresville school system's first priority is a new elementary school, estimated to cost $1.2 million. The system has $450,000, and it has a timetable. It wants to advertise for bids on the school by January and award contracts in February. If the state bonds are authorized, Mooresville will apply its share to the school project, and we will be out of the woods financially.

If the bonds are not approved, we will be operating on faith in the county commissioners to assign us enough money in the 1974-75 fiscal year to finish paying for the school.

We are committed to building the school. We would breathe a great deal easier—and so would the county government—if we had that $640,000 in hand the first of the year. For that matter, so would contractors bidding for the work.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

It's a fact, truth is funnier than fiction. The other day I went to visit a fellow in the community to invite him to church. I'd met him over at the Grange Hall, but I'd never been to his house. Well sir, I knocked on the door, and I saw him peep at me through the kitchen blinds. Next, I saw him run into the living room and pick up three beer cans and hide them. He grabbed up what appeared to be a Playboy magazine, hid his cigarettes, sprayed his mouth with bad breath killer, and then came to the door.

I saw this comedy through the door window. He was friendly enough, and we had a good visit, but I could tell the fellow was relieved when I left.

As I walked away, I got to thinking how most folks think of the preacher as God's Private Eye. That's the reason cussers stop cussing, drinkers stop drinking and fighters stop fighting when the minister comes around. They think he's gathering information for the chief. I reckon it never dawned on these guilty feeling folks that God has his own set of eyes (prey sharp ones too) and He don't have to rely on hidden microphones, telescopes, bugging devices or even Private Eyes. Because, the Lord wouldn't accept second-hand information from a preacher anyway.

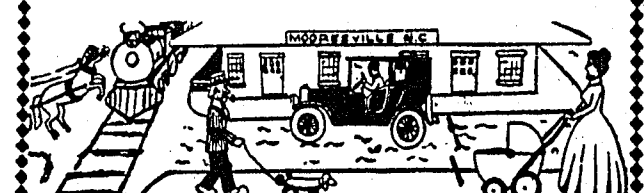

Then, Mr. Publisher, there's some other folks who see the preacher as a private eye in another way. He's supposed to know everything without being told, because of his special bugging equipment.

If someone goes to the hospital he's supposed to know about it without being told. If a man who comes to church four times a year is sick he's supposed to know the reason he wasn't in church was due to illness, laziness and so on. And if a body is upset about something in the church, he relies on the private eye's special skill to figure it out for himself.

Be that what it will, I've gotta be going for now. I've gotta go visit a young minister we're thinking about calling as my assistant. His name is Watson. Presently he is the assistant of Rev. Serlock Holmes. Until next time, stay clean.

Yours Truly,
Parson Jones

OUR COMMUNITY

YEARS... 38 YEARS AGO

Letters were presented to 15 high school boys for attainment in football during this season at the chapel exercises at Central High School Monday morning. The large blue and white letter "M" were presented to each boy earning one, by one of the girls who no doubt has rooted for him, and was pinned on his sweater by her.

The girls were presented by Phillip Mack, manager of the team. Mr. Ward explained that the winning of these letters was based on ability as a player, and also upon regular attendance at practice, and the keeping of training rules.

The boys receiving the letters were Paul Lowrance, Johnny Miller, Ned Honeycutt, Charles Moore, Guy Campbell, Oscar Thomas, George Campbell, Jess Harwell, Harvey Helms, Paul Poston, Harry Brown, Johnston Overcash, W. D. Branch and Harry Sloop. The girls chosen to pin the letters on were Sarah Orders, Mary Lee Oliphant, Eleanor Bell, Marjorie Dickinson, Elaine Cranford, Helen Pharr, Louise Howard, Sarah Taylor, Helen Lyles, Kathleen Mann, Alma Wells, Ruth Orders, Maxine Alexander and Nora Smith.

Miss Frances Turner, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Turner, died at Mercy Hospital early Wednesday morning. She had been ill for the past three weeks following an operation for appendicitis.

Funeral services will be held from the First Presbyterian Church this morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. R. A. White will be in charge of the last rites.

The senior class of the high school will attend the funeral in a body, girl members of which will have charge of the flowers, and a group of boys will act as pall-bearers.

Mrs. Turner has been very ill at the same hospital for several weeks. On account of her condition she has not been apprised of the young girl's death.

Miss Turner was a Senior at Central High School, and was considered by everyone to be one of the most charming and promising young women of the city. She was a talented musician and took part in musical circles, as well as in the First Presbyterian Church. The passing of one so young and of such a charming personality has cast a sadness over the entire community.

Mrs. Daisy Brotherton was given a surprise birthday dinner at her home near Mooresville on the occasion of her fifth birthday. Mrs. Brotherton was getting dinner ready when the cars began driving up, their baskets of lunch hidden out of sight. Much to Mrs. Brotherton's surprise the cars kept coming "til more than fifty people arrived, all bringing well filled baskets. Dinner was served on tables under the trees. Mrs. Brotherton's six children were all present as well as a number of other relatives and friends.

Mrs. C. H. Cornelius, her son, Homer, and her brother, Boone Sherrill, and Lake Myers spent last week touring Virginia and visiting Washington, D. C. Mrs. Cornelius has a son, Keith, who lives in Washington. Mrs. Cornelius told of many interesting places she visited and was very much impressed with the sight of the landing and take off of the fastest plane which runs from Washington to Atlanta. She said that the time from the landing, the passengers getting off and others getting on, the checking of the mail and the checking of the motors, "til the take off was only fifteen minutes.

Betty Lynn Brantley, eleven year old daughter of Mrs. Lynn Brantley, is recovering from an operation she underwent last Thursday when an electric mechanical hand removed a sharp whistle from a passage between her left lung and her stomach.

The little girl swallowed the small whistle while on her way from school Thursday at noon. She reached the house gasping for breath, and was taken immediately to the Lowrance Hospital where an X-ray picture showed that the whistle was lodged in her lung. From there she was rushed to Dr. B. K. Hart in Charlotte, at the Charlotte Ear, Eye, Nose and Throat Clinic. An operation was then performed which removed the whistle, during which the child finally had an appliance with a light attached, probed into both lungs and finally found the whistle in a part of her stomach. It is believed that she partly coughed it up and swallowed it.

Three days later they finally discovered him. He was in the Temple, sitting among the teachers of the Law, discussing deep questions with them and amazing everyone with his understanding and answers.

His parents didn't know what to think. "Son," his mother said to him, "Why have you done this to us? Your father and I have been frantic, searching for you everywhere." "But why did you need to search?" he asked. "Didn't you realize that I would be here at the Temple, in my Father's House?" But they didn't understand what he meant.

Things aren't going too well

Adults see the intensity of a child's emotion—but seldom understand. Our natural tendency is to assume a child is small and his feelings are just "miniatures" of our own.

To the contrary, many childhood emotions are more intense than anything we feel... stronger because the child hasn't yet learned to understand and curb his feelings.

This is the ideal time to begin religious education. Then a child's understanding of himself grows with his perception of spiritual values.

Reintroducing the revolutionary Maytag-Mason for 1896. This just may be America's answer to $1-a-gallon gasoline. It is equipped with a thirty-two-cylinder engine linked directly to a rear-wheel chain drive system that is virtually trouble-free. No steering wheel for this baby; its "joy stick" gives a real feeling of command. It comes complete with no glass to shatter, and its wood-spoke wheels add that distinctive touch on any modern road. Shaw Brown of Mooresville is in the catbird seat. His son Gene came by this nifty number in Maryville, Tenn. and gave it to his dad, who in turn is giving it to Camp Dogwood. Shaw Brown is chairman of a state Lions Club project to raise $100,000 to build a cottage at the Lake Norman resort for blind persons, and he will give whatever he can get for this horseless carriage to the building fund. Brown says the motorized buggy really runs.

The North Carolina Zoological Society, Inc., is launching its first annual county membership campaign in October and November.

October has been designated as state zoo month.

Announcement was made by Joe T. Millsaps of Charlotte, president of the zoo society, a non-profit organization established to raise funds for the state zoo.

County campaign chairmen will be named within the next few weeks to organize and recruit new members around the state. By next October all 100 counties will be actively involved.

The zoo society's statewide goal is 10,000 new members by this coming spring.

According to Millsaps, "We want to involve all the state's counties as deeply as the residents of Randolph County where the zoo is located. North Carolinians should be proud that their zoo will be the largest natural habitat zoo in the world. We might even have the first state zoo if Minnesota doesn't get there first."

Membership levels range from $1 annually for children 12 and under to $1,000 for life members. Emphasis this year will be on the 30 individual membership.

These society members receive a membership card, window decal, zoo newsletters, invitations to special events and lectures, and a discount on merchandise from The Leopard Spot, a gift shop operated by the Zoo Society at the zoological park.

Without bars and cages, animals will live in natural settings both indoors and out. Exhibits will be arranged in geographic groupings. The African area, for example, will feature a wild region with zebras, antelopes, ostriches and other compatible species living together.

A lion grotto and an elephant herd will also be a part of the African section of the park.

Social Security Questions and Answers

Q. I understand that a new Federal program will pay people in need—people with no income and a small social security check. Is this true?

A. Yes, this new program, called Supplemental Security Income, starts in January 1974. It is intended to assure a monthly income to persons who are age 65 or over, or blind, or disabled and in financial need.

Q. I earned over $300 last month. My total earnings, however, will be less than $200 for the year. Do I have to report that I earned over $175 for one month?

A. You do not need to report any of your monthly earnings unless the total earnings for the year will be over $200.

Q. How will my wife's earnings affect my social security payments?

A. Your wife's earnings will have no effect on your social security payments or those made to your children. If she earns over $200 in a year, any payments due her on your social security record could be affected.

I am 66 years old, own a small home, receive a social security payment of $90. I am not eligible for state welfare

Certain Vaccinations Required

Over 250,000 pre-school children in North Carolina are running the risk of serious illness, permanent disability and even death, by not being properly immunized against infectious diseases.

According to John Irvin, immunization program head for the Division of Health Services, six out of 10 children have not completed the basic series of immunizations by age two.

The series includes three or more DPT shots (diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus), three or more doses of oral polio vaccine, as well as immunization against measles and rubella.

"Although 95 per cent of the pre-schoolers have at least one immunization," Irvin said, "it appears that attendance at the physician's offices and county health department clinics stops before the recommended series is completed. It is up to these providers of health care, as well as leaders on military posts in the state, to follow through with pre-school children's immunizations."

Noting that October is "Immunization Action Month," Irvin revealed that six immunization program specialists stationed across North Carolina have been busy working with county health departments establishing a follow-up system. He said about 90 counties are committed to a periodic audit of immunization records for the purpose of recalling children who have fallen behind in their immunization program.

"In order to be effective, however, we will have to depend on private physicians who normally immunize about half of North Carolina's pre-schoolers," Irvin said. "They too should initiate an audit to see that private patients receive the basic series of immunizations."

Social Security Office Will Be Closed Oct. 22

The Social Security office in Statesville will be closed Monday, October 22, in observance of Veterans Day, a legal holiday, according to an announcement made this week by Lewis K. Brewer, manager of the office.

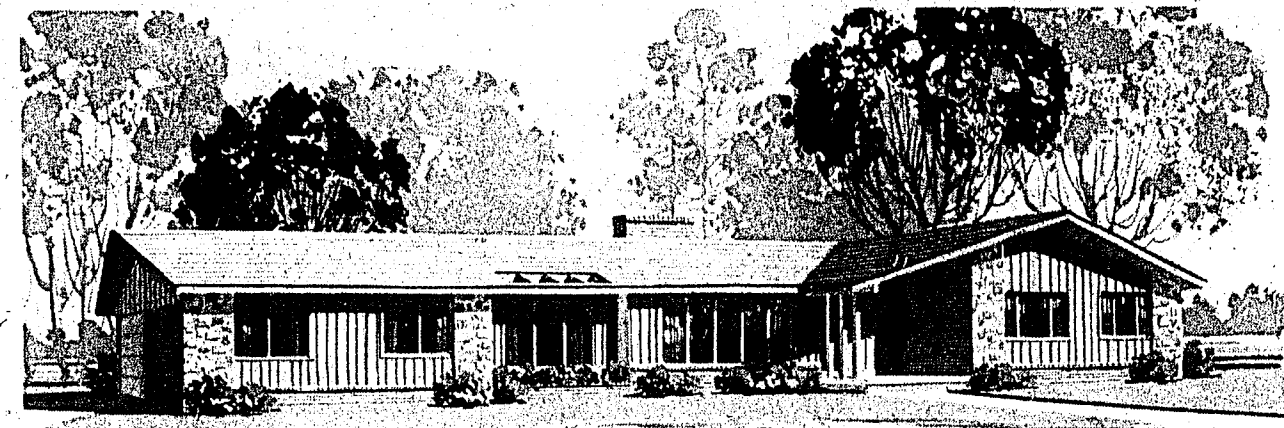

Patrons of the Social Security office are urged to bear this announcement in mind.

The packer will be an addition to municipal sanitation equipment already in use. Worth Keeter was low among three bidders.

Single Story Contemporary Has Large Family Room, Separate Living Room

By W. D. FARMER

There is a very open effect produced in the design of this charming contemporary dwelling with its central foyer which leads directly to a huge family room featuring a vaulted ceiling and fireplace.

The living room off the foyer connects with the dining room separated only by partial dividers. The breakfast room and kitchen is located in the center of the living area providing easy access to the family room, dining room and back screened porch which has skylights and a sloped ceiling.

There is ample storage space in the kitchen and all the modern conveniences include a double oven. There is an entry off the breakfast room offering access to a laundry with washer and dryer connections, a play room with a concrete floor and the spacious garage with its separate storage room.

The sleeping area occupies one entire end of the house and contains three bedrooms. Two of the bedrooms connect to a corner bath with a shower and sunken tub. There is a walk in closet in each bedroom and plenty of usable wall space.

A short hall with a disappearing stair in the ceiling leads to the master bedroom which has a private exit onto a wood deck. A dressing room separates the walk in closet from the bath with its tub and shower. There is also a powder room off the hall leading into the sleeping area.

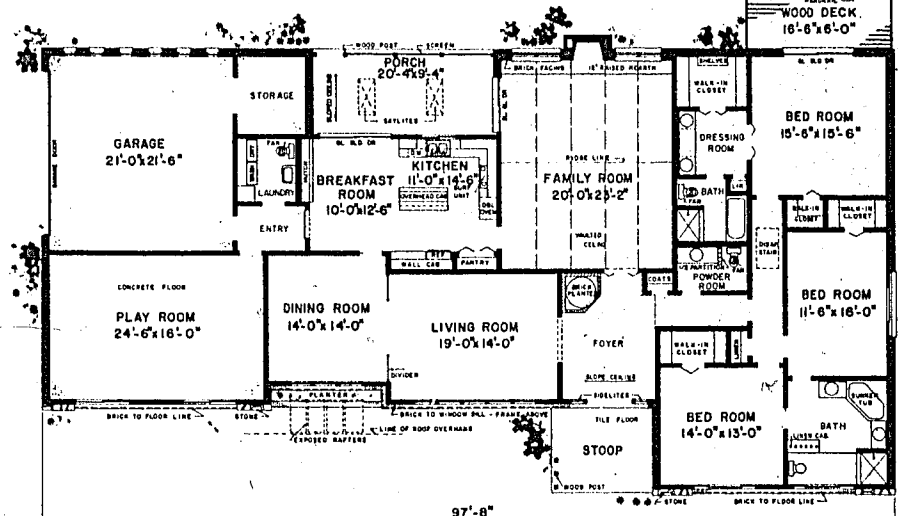

An attractive planter decorates the exterior of the house outside the dining room and contains three bedrooms. Two of the bedrooms connect to a corner bath with a shower and sunken tub. There is a walk in closet in each bedroom and plenty of usable wall space.

There is a pleasing combination of brick, stone and wood siding on the exterior of this dwelling and the covered front stoop adds just the right touch.

There is a total of 3,265 square feet in the house and the garage and storage room contain 573 square feet. The front stoop has 114 square feet and the back porch 189 square feet.

For further information on plan no. 3302 write W. D. Farmer, P.O. Box 49493, Atlanta, Ga. 30329.

State To Get Options On Park Land

Options on more than 500 acres of park land will be turned over to the state of North Carolina on Saturday, October 13, in a ceremony at Hanging State Park.

The options will be given by a not-for-profit corporation set up last March by citizens interested in more parks in the state.

Calling itself the Northwest Environmental Preservation Committee Inc., it has members from Davie, Forsyth, Guilford, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry and Yadkin counties.

The property embraced in the options includes:

—A 270-acre tract adjoining Hanging Rock which contains an 85-foot waterfall, known as the Lower Cascades, and a series of smaller falls along a heavily forested ravine and creek.

—An 85-acre tract, also adjoining the Hanging Rock property, which contains a cave known as the Tories Den, where, according to local legend, the daughter of Revolutionary War lieutenant named John Martin was held captive by local partisans loyal to the king.

—Also, 200 hilly acres known as Stony Ridge about halfway between the river and mountain portions of Pilot Mountain State Park. This portion is considered an ideal camping area for horseback riders and hikers following the five-mile corridor of land connecting the two segments of the park.

The 1973 General Assembly approved $11.5 million for the acquisition of additional parklands, and part of this has been earmarked for Pilot Mountain and Hanging Rock.

Haunted House To Benefit Odell Band

The Frankie Chester family on Davidson Road is getting ready for Halloween. For weeks now, they have been working on the decorations. The large poultry barn and area behind their house is being filled with spooky, Halloween scenes and hundreds of colorful lights strung up. Some of the scenes will be a witch, pumpkin family, ghosts, skeletons, operating table, coffin, grave yard, and a turtle with a human's head. Groans, screams and other sounds can be heard coming from the barn.

Their daughter, Janet and her friend, Libby Rogers, will be dressed as a witch to greet the guests. Libby and Johnnie Motley have spent many hours in helping the Chesters make the decorations and put them up.

The Chesters are donating their time, hard work and expense to help support the W. R. Odell School Band. Donations will be taken at the door.

This is the same family that lights up each Christmas as the Chester-Miller team and their display attracts hundreds. This attraction will be on Saturday night, October 27, from 6:30 till 11:00 and again Wednesday night October 31 from 6:30 till 9:00 p.m.

Everyone is invited to come. Park on the road and walk in. Directions from Mooresville: Down Coddle Creek Road about 8 miles, below Coddle Creek Church, turn right at ball park and service station. This is Davidson Road. The third house on the right.

Shellfish From Inland Sea

Anyone for a clam bake, asks Mrs. Frank Karriker, who holds a fresh-water clam her husband scooped from Lake Norman near their home off Cornelius Road. Karriker said he was fishing with worms, and when he pulled his bait to the surface he saw the worm caught in the clam's shell. The Karrikers were surprised. Bill Adair, a Duke Company environmental biologist who lives on Lake Norman, said the "fresh-water mussels" are native to the lake, and that they are fairly common. He said they usually are seen in silt near the shore after a rather abrupt drop in the lake level.

Bike Safety Interesting 4-H Project

Ours, like no other, is a society that depends on wheels, private automobiles, bicycles, taxis, trucks, motorcycles and buses.

At an early age, youth enter the traffic environment as bicyclists, operators and pedestrians and later as automobile drivers.

Preparing youth for safely entering the wheeled environment is one objective of the 4-H traffic safety program.

Starting at the age of eight, the safety belt activities booklet and safety belt games focus attention on being safety conscious, proper attitudes and behaviors are forming. It is an opportune time to establish good safety habits.

The bicycle care and safety projects for youth from 9-19 years of age incorporate fun into learning bicycle maintenance and safety.

The car and youth and its mechanical operation are projects that introduce the 14-19 year old to the automotive world. The special interest automotive care and safety program provides active learning by doing experiences in what makes a car stop and go, operating cost, record keeping, maintenance and parts identification and safety.

For teens with a driving license, the auto skill driving contest provides an opportunity for display of driving skill and knowledge. Test of the automobile and highway safety.

Detailed information on these 4-H traffic safety projects and activities and assistance in organizing safety programs is available at office of the Fredell County Extension service on Davie Avenue in Statesville.

The auction is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., with the fish fry slated to get underway at 5 p.m. Sponsor of the affair is asking for articles to be donated to the auction, adding that "your junk may be someone's treasure."

Donations may be taken to the Sherrill's Ford Lions Club, the Sherrill's Ford Veterans Fire Department's station house, Ray Drum's garage or Doc Felt's store.

All proceeds will go to the Sherrill's Ford Lions Club's community charities.

If You Failed To List Vehicle, You Better Do it Now

This is a warning to residents of Fredell County who owned motor vehicles as of January 1, 1973 and did not list them when they made their tax returns in January, 1973.

The office of the Fredell County tax supervisor has sent letters to these persons, and many of these persons have since come in and listed their motor vehicles for tax purposes.

However, quite a few persons have ignored the letter from the tax supervisor and, beginning the week of October 22, warrants for the arrest of these persons will be issued, a spokesman for the office of the tax supervisor stresses.

So, if you failed to list your motor vehicle, and have received a letter, you'd better contact the tax supervisor's office in Statesville immediately in order to stay out of trouble.

The Light Over Sherrilltown

William Oates, Johnny Phillips and Frank Lipe were sitting in Bill's car in front of the Oates home in Sherrilltown shortly after 8:30 Sunday night. Johnny's daughter, 10-year-old Crystal, was in the yard near the car.

Suddenly, the inside of the car was filled with light. Crystal was frightened and ran to her dad. Johnny and Frank jumped out of the car; Frank has a broken leg, and he was slower getting out.

Above them at treetop level they all saw "a baseball-size ball of fire." They heard a sizzling noise, like bacon frying. After about a minute, the ball of light began moving up and away south. It accelerated quickly out of sight.

That's it. The wives were inside chatting, and they were unaware of the incident. No one in the several homes near the Oates saw or heard anything unusual.

An other-world reconnaissance? Swamp gas? A UFO? The men aren't making any claims. They didn't see little green men. They saw the light. Certainly it was an object, it was flying, and they haven't the foggiest notion what it was.

A Crook By Any Other Name . . .

All of us were busy getting the mail-out Tribunes ready for the post office last Wednesday. Phil Parker came back from lunch with a portable TV, and the crew was dizzy from trying to keep one eye on the baseball playoffs and one on work. Then came the bulletin about the vice president. It was a stunner, and in the context of the game surrounding the flash, Larry Cook opined that "it looks like of Spiro got caught stealing home."

One announcement led to another, and by the time the morning papers got the story in print, it was clear Agnew's resignation, fine and probation hardly rated as a slap on the wrist in view of the magnitude of his transgression.

Every knowledgeable commentator in the world has given or will give his version of the Agnew business. Judgments are ranging from justice-to-long-coming to the tragic downfall of an upright man caught up in circumstances beyond his control. So what can a country newspaper hand add? Nothing of any consequence, obviously, but I want to reiterate this point:

All day Monday, radio blurbs reminded us that the former vice president of the United States would address the nation Monday night, "and he is expected to discuss how to avoid the problems that ruined his political career."

We need to be told? The inference, whether Agnew's or the news network's, is that the poor devil couldn't avoid the problems because nobody had bothered to tell him about them. Hogwash. The man isn't stupid; he knows right from wrong. He knew seven years ago when the national food chain began providing his family's groceries that something was expected in return. He knew it was criminal to accept what may amount to more than a quarter-million dollars in contractors' kickbacks, and he knew it could not be justified on grounds that it was, as one "contributing" contractor said, "a way of life in Maryland."

For me, these observations sum up the fall of Agnew:

"The simple fact is, he is a crook the country is well rid of."—a Maryland prosecutor

"This is the tragic story of a man who cried out for law and order—and got it."—The News and Observer

O. C. Wants His Title Back

O. C. Stonestreet is in second place, and he doesn't cotton to the idea. He now has only the second-oldest car in town. The title rests, uneasily, with Shaw Brown. We say uneasily because O. C. has done some preliminary negotiation with Shaw.

What Shaw has is an 1896 Magtag-Mason, truly a horseless carriage, because it's a buggy with a motor in it.

Interest in his machine tickles Shaw, because the more he can get vying for the ancient contraption the more Camp Dogwood stands to gain. He plans to sell the machine and apply the proceeds to the building fund at the Lake Norman resort for the visually handicapped.

Better Said Than Read

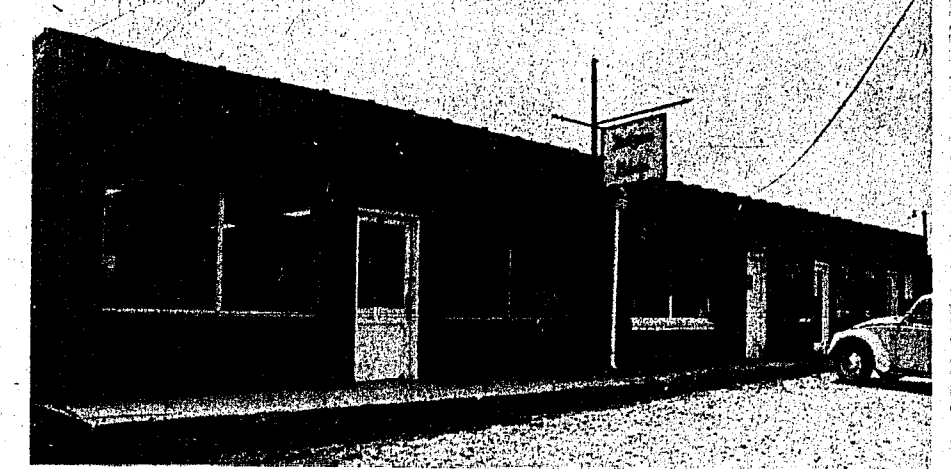

See by the paper that Mitch Miller will do his thing in Statesville this week. Of course you remember "Sing Along With Mitch," and the pun about the guy who went on a hike, caught poison ivy and got stung by a yellowjacket. He had stung along with Mitch.

These sound better than they read. Like this triple pun Father Calvert Brown hit me with the other day: These three brothers left their New York City home for Texas and cattle ranching. They bought a nice spread and stocked it. They noticed all their neighboring ranches had fancy names, and they were stumped on what to call their place. They wrote to mama and asked for suggestions. She wrote back and said there was only one name: Focus. The boys loved their mama, but they couldn't figure the logic of her name, and they told her as much. Her explanation: Check the dictionary's second definition of focus. They found: "Where the sun's rays meet."

WILLIAMS-TO-SWING, CLICKS

Jr. Hi Nudges Oakwood 26-24

Mooreville Junior High's Red Imps, their morale boosted by a win over Oakwood last week, will be hosts Saturday night to always-dangerous Concord. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. on the Senior High field.

The Imps, who opened with a win, then suffered two losses, did not disappoint their supporters in their first home appearance Saturday night. They survived a thriller to turn back Statesville's Oakwood Falcons 26-24.

West Powers Templon To 4th Straight Win

Mooreville midget Football League leader Templon puts its four-game winning streak on the line Saturday afternoon when the Blue Angels take on Burlington in the Senior High field at 2 o'clock in the first game of the season's fifth midget doubleheader.

Mooreville Federal and Falcons collide in the 3:30 p.m. match.

Templon was last Saturday's only winner. The Angels rolled over Mooreville Federal 24-6. Burlington and Jaycees ended regulation play in a 14-14 deadlock. After four sudden-death tries, Burlington pushed across a score to earn the edge in final standings should the two teams close out the campaign with the same records.

In the Burlington-Jaycees contest, Jaycee Willie Houston scampered seven yards to give his Jets an early 6-0 lead. But the advantage was short-lived, as Ken Bates, a drive, drove the Bulls' scoring drive. Quarterback Bailey tossed a pass to back Lonnell Mills, who covered 55 yards to tie the score late in the second period.

The Falcons and Imps switched as leaders throughout the second half. A blocked punt set up Mooreville's next score.

Tony Barker squirmed through the line and blocked and recovered the Falcon punt. Three plays later, Terry Morrow bulled for two yards and the touchdown. The extra point failed, but Mooreville had the lead with 2:37 left in the third quarter.

The Imps watched the Falcon's Long score two consecutive TD's, before getting back on the board. Long ran 33 yards with 35 seconds remaining in third period. Long's third TD came early in the fourth period after a fumble recovery by Gene Holleman. The run was for 20 yards and seemed to plow through the Imp defenders.

Williams cranked his arm and fired a swing in the second game Saturday, Templon crushed the Mooreville Federal Knights under the power of Billy West's run by Holmes, but this run was recalled. However, a few minutes later, the Yellow Jackets made the score 12-0 when Gus Parsons passed 15 yards to Larry Harper for the second score of the game.

In the third quarter, DMT's James Stevenson recovered a South Iredell fumble on the kickoff and the Yellow Jackets moved ahead 18-0 when Parsons scored from four yards out. Later in the third stanza, Stevenson intercepted a pass and went 46 yards for a touchdown. Stevenson also added a twopoint conversion to make the score 26-0 in favor of the Yellow Jackets.

Stevenson scored DMT's final touchdown in the fourth period on a two-yard run.

Holmes finished with 136 yards to lead DMT and Stevenson added 122 yards rushing. Parsons had 46 yards rushing and 75 yards passing.

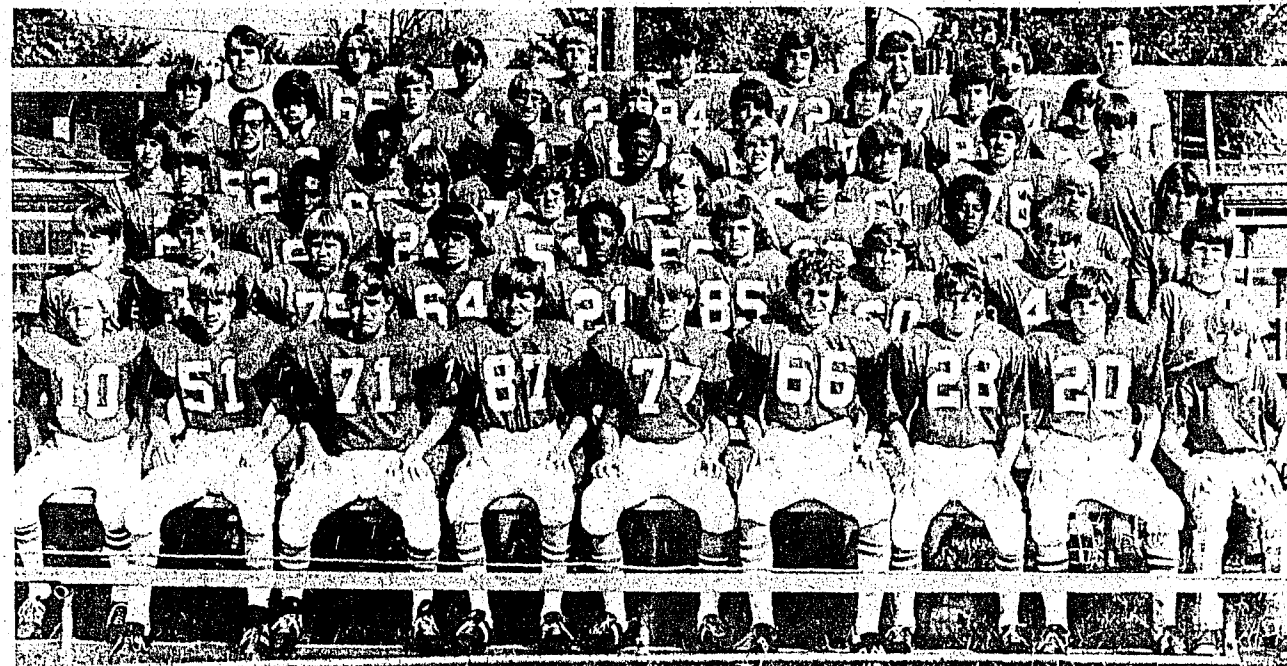

South Iredell's Freshmen Lose To D. Matt

South Iredell's freshmen were defeated, 32-0, by the Yellow Jackets of D. Matt Thompson Junior High School of Statesville in a football game Thursday afternoon.

DMT took the opening kickoff and drove 61 yards for the game's first touchdown, with Anthony Holmes crossing the goal line from three yards out. In the second quarter, the Yellow Jackets scored their second touchdown on a 30-yard

Greyhounds Top Vikings, 20-0

Scoring a touchdown in three of the game's four quarters, Mooreville Senior High's Greyhounds crushed South Iredell's Vikings, 20-0, in a non-conference affair in Viking Valley Friday night.

It was Statesville's second win of the season, the Greyhounds having downed Mooreville in the opening game of the 1973 campaign.

It was South Iredell's fifth loss in six outings, which, to date, has been one of the

Homecoming Queen Will Be Chosen From 17-Girl Court

Festivities will come to a peak at Mooreville Senior High school Friday at the homecoming game against North Stanly.
The homecoming queen will be crowned at halftime and the homecoming court of 17 pretty girls will be presented on the field to give the fans an added treat at Blue Devil game.
The homecoming court is composed of 17 girls, each picked by a senior on the Blue Devil squad to represent him. The queen will come from the seniors in the court and be selected by a secret ballot vote of all team members.
The seniors in the homecoming court are Frances Rader representing Brian Duckworth, Toyette Rathbone representing Len Mackey, Monica Frontis representing Charles Turner, Karen Carson representing Gary Lowe and Jewel Caldwell representing Walter Leazer.
Juniors and sophomores in the court and the football players they will be representing are as follows: Cheryl Coggins for Steve Bowles, Lynda Reid for Tommy Rinehardt, Beatrice Young for Johnny Walker, Kim Crouch for Tony Hager, Donna Beam for David Mullis, Lisa Moore for Bobby Beale, Vicky Beard for Rick Mack, Debbie Becker for Frank Craven, Sherry James for Winston Edmonson, Kim Moore for Ray Beam, Rosalind Lenoir for Donald Duff and Tammy Caldwell for Sammy Jones.

Daughter, Dad Winners

The Buddy Donaldson family of 121 Manor Circle took first and third places in the weekly football guessing game sponsored by Mooreville merchants and this newspaper.
Daughter Diane won $7 first-place money by correctly picking winners of 11 of the 12 games. She missed the Wake Forest-South Carolina outcome. But papa Buddy's third place prize of $3 was harder to come by. He was among nine contestants who guessed right on nine of the dozen games. He also was among three persons who missed the total points in the Mooreville-Davie County game by seven points. He was awarded third place on time of entry. He turned in his contest sheet Wednesday afternoon.
Frank Morrison of Route 2, Mooreville took the $4 second-place prize. He was right on 12 of the 12 games and he guessed 44 points for the Senior High-Davie County game that produced 41 total points.
Tied with Donaldson for third place were Jack Loftin of Troutman, who guessed 48 points on one entry and 34 points on another, each seven points from the total, Roger Martin of Route 5, Mooreville also guessed total points at 48.

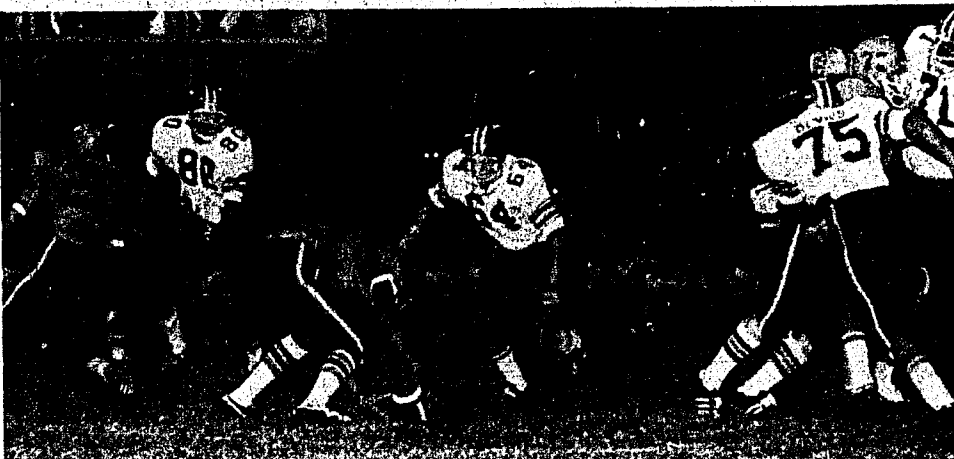

Mooreville drew first blood Friday night after Jimmy Mcintosh pounced on an Eagle TD. Rhye pass, quares dashed 27 yards at their 26. Five plays later, Mullis bulldozed five yards for the TD. Mullis missed on the PAT. The series was boosted by the running of Johnny Walker, who produced 88 yards rushing for the evening. This score came with eight minutes left in the first quarter.
Davie charged back on its next possession. Eanes passes and the running of Doug Quares were keys to the success of the Eagles' drive that began on their 33. Quares

Blue Devils Seek 4th NPC Win In Homecoming Tilt With Comets

The Mooreville Senior High Blue Devils will be out to keep a share of the North Piedmont Conference lead as they host the North Stanly Comets Friday at 8 p.m. in the school's homecoming game.
Amid the homecoming festivities including the parade of pretty girls in the weaker teams in the conference which could compound the problem for us this week.
"But I'll promise that we won't take North Stanly lightly," the coach continued, "because this is really an important game if we are going after the conference championship."
The local charges will be on the comeback trail after losing to Davie County last week 27-14, leaving the Devils with a 4-2 record for the season and 3-1 in conference action.
Mooreville shares the NPC lead with West Rowan, North Rowan, and Davie County who all have conference records identical to the Blue Devils.
The Comets pose a problem for the Blue Devils that coaches usually don't like to even talk about—mental readiness.

"We coaches never have any preconceived notions," commented, "because a lot of times the players don't have their minds on the game with all the other activities going on. And we will be facing one of the weaker teams in the conference which could compound the problem for us this week."
"But I'll promise that we won't take North Stanly lightly," the coach continued, "because this is really an important game if we are going after the conference championship."
The Comets tied North Davidson in a conference game and defeated West Stanly in a non-conference affair. North lost decisively to Albemarle and Davie County but battled South Iredell and East Rowan in close losses.
The Blue Devils trounced the Comets last year at New London 43-14. That was the first win for the Devils over North in four years. Karriker's charges will try to make it two in a row.
Even in defeat Karriker found some bright spots in the Blue Devils' performance against Davie County.
"Offensively our line blocked well," Karriker said, "and Mullis and Walker ran the ball well also. Our problem on offense was that we weren't able to take advantage of the passing room the Davie defense was giving us."
In an effort to improve the Blue Devils passing game Karriker said Bobby Craig, who started and was injured in the opening game at Statesville, will get the starting nod at quarterback against North Stanly.

Tony Hager at defensive end in the Davie game, but that was about the only bright spot for the defense.
"This wasn't one of our better defensive efforts," Karriker said. "We tackled poorly and Davie took advantage of our secondary. Give them credit for having an outstanding passing game, but we could have done a lot better."

Passless, Defenseless Devils Drop 27-14 Decision To Davie

Mooreville's Blue Devils have suffered their first North Piedmont Conference setback of the campaign. They were stunned 27-14 before the homefolks Friday night by an underdog Davie County crew that surprised the locals with a potent offense.
Tom Eanes, quarterback of Davie's War Eagles, directed some beautiful pass plays and found his man 12 times in 16 throws for 191 aerial yards against a lackluster Devil secondary.
David Mullis, a Devil standout in defeat, accounted for 113 yards for two touchdowns in a game that was abetted by two defensive penalties against Mooreville's next offensive effort was stymied by a fumble by Terrell Rhye, who directed the Devils through all but the final four minutes of the contest. The half ended with Davie enjoying a 13-6 advantage.
The visitors jumped to a 20-6 lead midway in the third period with a score that was abetted by two defensive penalties against Mooreville. On a fourth-down situation, the Eagles pulled off a pass play to show footballs take cries, and they were touched for three interceptions.
In total offense, Davie overshadowed the locals, 341 yards to 222. Not once were the visitors forced to punt. Sparked by Eanes pinpoint passing, the Eagles moved with embarrassing ease to the upset win.
A critical handicap for the Devils was their inability to find the handle on the ball. In addition to the three passes picked off by the enemy, Mooreville lost possession twice on fumbles, a sharp reminder of the adage about not being able to win without the ball. One interception led to an Eagle TD; the other two killed Devil drives.
Mooreville drew first blood Friday night after Jimmy Mcintosh pounced on an Eagle TD. Rhye pass, quares dashed 27 yards at their 26. Five plays later, Mullis bulldozed five yards for the TD. Mullis missed on the PAT. The series was boosted by the running of Johnny Walker, who produced 88 yards rushing for the evening. This score came with eight minutes left in the first quarter.

Miss Bramlett And Mr. Ervin Pledge Vows At First Baptist

In a ceremony of beauty at the First Baptist Church on Sunday, October 21, Miss Paula Blaine Bramlett became the bride of Howard Wayne Ervin. The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Reverend Tom Bodkin, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bramlett of 345 North Academy Street, Mooreville. The groom is the son of Mrs. Howard Taylor Ervin of 215 Templeton Avenue, Mooreville, and the late Mr. Ervin.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Roy Creamer, organist. Prelude selections were Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Bach; Vision, Rheinberger; Traumerel, Schumann; Andante Cantabile from Quartet in D Major, Tchaikovsky; A Time For Us from Romeo and Juliet; Theme from Summer of '69, If by Gates; and For All We Know, Karlin.

Miss Page Rasar, vocalist, sang "Wedding Song" and was accompanied by guitarist Roland Maddrey. For the benediction, Miss Rasar sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

The traditional wedding marches, Lohengrin and Bridal Chorus by Wagner were played for the processional and Wedding March by Mendelssohn was rendered for the recessional.

The altar of the sanctuary was beautifully ornamented with a background of brass candelabra featuring an arch, tree, seven and three branched with lighted cathedral tapers. Each candelabra was entwined with smilax foliage. Baskets of talisman gladioli, arranged with yellow and bronze mums and orange pompons completed the setting. A brass kneeling bench was used for the couple to kneel on for the benediction and the pews were marked with aisle candelabra.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an empire style gown of peau de soie. The bodice was

Mr. Hargett Guest Of DAR Chapter

Members of the Mary Stoumb Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met on Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Pearl Sloan, Mrs. W. W. Williamson was co-hostess.

A dessert course was served to the twelve members and four visitors prior to the meeting.

The meeting was opened with the DAR rituals after which Mrs. Sloan introduced David Hargett and his three sons from Matthews. Mr. Hargett shared the heritage of our country's past Indian history with comparison to the North and South American Indian. He displayed a collection of arrowheads and stone tools found mainly in this area by his family.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Richard Barber, regent, and the program concluded with the President General's message stressing the theme for the "They Go From Strength To Strength, Everyone of Them," Psalm 84:7.

Each attendant carried an old fashioned nosegay of talisman roses with orange sherry carnations and bronze pompons.

The groom chose David Mayhew, of Mooreville, as his best man. Ushers were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Alexander, both of Mooreville, Tommy Mills of Boone; and the groom's brother, Ronnie Ervin, of Mooreville, was a junior usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bramlett chose a floor length gown of emerald green polyester with matching accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Ervin wore a floor length gown of mint green polyester crepe with matching accessories. Both of the mothers complemented their attire with corsages of talisman roses.

Grandmothers, Mrs. Roxie Bramlett and Mrs. J. C. Bishop, both of Taylors, S.C. and Mrs. Willie Malcolm of Mooreville, were remembered with corsages of white carnations. The bride's grandfather, J. C. Bishop also, was remembered with a white carnation boutonniere.

For a wedding trip to Beech Mountain and Gatlinburg, Tenn., the bride changed into a brown polyester dress with matching accessories. She added her mother's corsage of talisman roses to her attire.

Mrs. Hanula Addresses Iredell County Democratic Women

Twenty-three ladies from the Mooreville area attended the fall meeting of the Iredell County Democratic Women of Iredell County on Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple in Statesville. The guest speaker for the semi-annual meeting was Mrs. Bernard Hanula, an active worker in state Democratic Party functions.

The dynamic speaker delivered a scathing attack on Democrats who voted Republican, or who didn't vote at all. She told the women, Democrats must take a large share of the blame for the Republican sweep in last fall's elections and that many GOP candidates coasted to victory on the votes of Democrats.

She cited party registration figures and voting totals in Iredell County to show that many Democrats crossed party lines and cast their ballots for Republicans in the presidential, gubernatorial and U. S. Senate races.

But the real danger, she continued, was the people who didn't vote at all, because "they were Democrats."

"We can't say the Republicans turned them off, we turned them off," she added in her chastising talk.

Mrs. Hanula, currently serving as field organizer for the State Democratic Executive Committee, went on to discuss the Republicans now in office on the state and national levels.

She started with President Nixon, labeling him "the man who has put corruption into every form of government."

She said Nixon "took payoffs from two big oil companies" and was also responsible for "the wheat deal" in which he "gave, or practically gave, 440 million bushels of wheat to Russia."

"Taxpayers put up $4,000 a day to store the grain until it was ready to ship, she added.

"I think this will go down as the most corrupt administration in history," said Mrs. Hanula. She credited defeated Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern, rather than Nixon, with bringing the POWs home.

A Woman's Prayer . . .

By Louise Westmoreland

Dear God, Thank you for lifting the drab ugliness of sin from my spirit and flooding it with the bright beauty of Your presence. Help me to look for liveliness, both in the world about me, and in the sometimes-hidden places of the human spirit.

May the warmth of Your love in me reach out to others and draw them toward You, through Christ, in whose name I pray, Amen

Ervin-Bramlett Couple Honored At Reception

Immediately following the Sunday afternoon wedding of Miss Paula Bramlett and Wayne Ervin at the First Baptist Church, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bramlett were hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Farr, of Mooreville, greeted the guests and directed to the register which was placed on a table covered in white and enhanced with an arrangement of mixed fall colors. A feathered pen completed the register table setting.

The bride was covered in white and overlaid with white lace and centered with a beautifully decorated fountain cake. The top tier of the cake was ornamented with a bride and groom figurine. On each side of the wedding cake were two heart-shaped cakes, decorated similar to the tiered cake. A silver three-branched candelabra arrangement of mixed flowers in fall colors of tans, apricot, and green enhanced the table appointments. Silver trays held cheese rosettes, minis and nuts.

A round table, covered identical to the bride table, held a silver punch service filled with green fruit punch.

Garlands of greenery with wedding bells accented the sides of the two tables.

After the bride and groom cut the traditional first slice of wedding cake, Miss Shelly Scott, of Mooreville, completed the serving of the cake. Mrs. John Simmons presided at the punch service.

Missionary To France To Speak At Local Church

The Rev. Kenneth Ware, of Assemblies of God missionary to France, will be guest speaker this (Thursday) evening at 7 o'clock at the First Assembly of God Church, 407 West Wilson Avenue, according to an announcement made earlier this week by the pastor of the local church, the Rev. Fred H. Benfield.

Mr. Ware will relate some of his experiences in France at this special missions rally, to which the public is invited.

Mr. Ware was born in Tennessee, but, after his father's death, the family moved to Switzerland, his mother's homeland. Carrying a dual citizenship with the United States and Switzerland, he began Christian ministry in Europe at the age of seventeen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware received appointments in 1954. He is now the field representative for France. The veteran missionary is also a professor of Greek at the Continental Bible College in Brussels, Belgium, and serves on the college board of regents.

Mr. Ware pioneered the Pentecostal movement in France which has grown to include approximately 30,000 believers. During World War II, he witnessed to the Jewish population and opened his home to Jewish fugitives escaping to Spain or Switzerland. In 1943, Mr. Ware, after learning that he was on the Nazis' wanted list, fled with his Jewish wife and infant son to Switzerland. Five years later they returned to Paris to continue the witness they had begun.

Due to the influence of modern philosophy, religion is no longer a major force in the French society even though 83 per cent of the 52 million in the Roman Catholic Church. To encourage wider study of God's Word, Mr. Ware initiated a daily school program in 1960. He began printing the literature in a bedroom of his home. Since that time, the work has grown to the point that Sunday school offices have been opened and better equipment installed. To further the literature ministry in France, Mr. Ware plans to launch the publication of a weekly Pentecostal magazine in the French language when he returns to the country.

Boy In Small State Grows Huge Pumpkin

A 15-year-old boy from Portsmouth, R. I., has harvested a 191-pound pumpkin from his garden. "It wasn't supposed to grow this big, but I really took care of it. I bled it, I forced it to grow," said the young gardener, Vincent Santo, Jr.

He said he used 20 pounds of fertilizer, 50 gallons of water, and more than 100 hours of tender-loving care to grow the mammoth pumpkin.

One more week to wait. The answer has been made known to us.

For $125 you can get all you can eat at the War Memorial. Usually, the pancake supper breakfast is a Port City tradition held earlier in the fall. People have wondered where it was, but it's back.

Their conclusion, in a petition noted with the CAB, is that the airline baggage service is "unsafe, inadequate, and undependable" and that it is past time for some major changes.

ACA's pressing particularly hard for a broader scope and higher ceiling to the present liability limit of $500, in effect since 1966. Though the limit is $100 back in the early 1950's, ACA contends that the rising cost of living warrants a hike to $1,500 or removal of a limit altogether.

The petitioners point out that only 8 percent of those writing the CAB with baggage problems received full payment on their claims.

Margaret Levy, a University of California law student and one of the ACA's leaders, argues that too many airlines exempt themselves from liability for fragile and perishable items, for the safe transport of live pets, and for valuables such as money and jewelry.

Miss Levy also says she thinks most passengers do not realize that baggage valued at more than $500 can be insured against loss by paying an extra 10 cents per $100 of value. She faults the airlines for not posting this information, as well as liability limits, more prominently.

Spokesmen for individual airlines agree that "kited" (inflated) claims are indeed a problem. "Clothing can go from $10 to $100," says one.

J. C. Penney to Brooks Brothers in a hurry," says one baggage expert who claims he has seen more than one passenger deny that a bag belongs to him because he prefers the dollar settlement.

Attractive Ranch House Features Large Central Activity Room

An entrance with folding doors leads to the dining area of the activity room and the well equipped kitchen features all the latest appliances in addition to the wall cabinets and pantry space. A laundry room adjacent to the kitchen has washer and dryer connections and a wall cabinet and a full size entrance to both the wood deck and the spacious car port with its storage room.

Dellinger Named Iredell's Farm-City Week Chairman

W. R. Dellinger of Statesville has been named Iredell County Farm-City Week chairman for the 1973 observance of Farm-City Week. The appointment was announced today by Miss Margaret Decker of Asheville, state Farm-City Week chairman.

Serving with Dellinger as co-chairman for the county committee is Alvin M. Stanford, County Extension Chairman. Other committee members are Dr. Robert Long, J. T. Alexander, Jr., Maynard Self, Frank Coaninger and Hubert Morton.

Farm-City Week will be observed across the nation on November 16-22, 1973 ending on Thanksgiving Day. The purpose of the event is to help create a better understanding between rural and urban people.

In appointing county Farm-City Week chairman, Miss Decker stated that North Carolina is fortunate to have a fine relationship between urban and rural citizens. "Farm-City Week can help to maintain and strengthen this relationship," she said.

Sherill Williams of Newton Grove is serving with Miss Decker as state vice chairman. This will be the 19th annual observance of Farm-City Week. Last year's observance, according to final reports received at national headquarters, involved the active participation of more than 15,000 communities in the U. S. and Canada.

Farm-City Week is under the direction of a National Farm-City Council, Inc., headed by Woodrow Luttrell, Director of Information Division, American Farm Business Federation, Park Ridge, Illinois. Kiwanis International will serve as coordinating agency for Farm-City Week and act as headquarters for the National Farm-City Council for the nineteenth consecutive year.

The National Farm-City Council is composed of representatives from more than 150 major farm organizations, industries, businesses, associations, governmental agencies, educational institutions, and church groups. A Presidential proclamation and a joint Congressional resolution have called for Farm-City Week observances each year since the inception of the event. Farm-City Week has won the Freedoms Foundation's Distinguished Service Award, which carries the same distinction as the famous "Oscar" in the motion picture industry and the "Emmy" in the television field, and the Public Relations Society of America for being the best community relations program of 1972.

In connection with the observance, boys and girls in grades 9 and 15, are urged to participate in a poster contest, vying for prizes galore. There will be three divisions, as follows: Division I, grades four, five and six; Division II, grades seven, eight and nine; and Division III, grades 10, 11 and 12.

The poster must describe the National Farm-City Week and students, $2.00 businessmen, 495 U.S. Senators and Congressmen, 3 Supreme Court Justices who read the Monitor. Why should they know more of what's going on, and why, than you do?

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

Mooreville's First Public Kindergarten Features Child-Centered Learning Based On Interests, Needs

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

The public always is welcome at Mooreville schools, but this week the red carpet is out. This is American Education Week, an annual observance during which the schools make a special effort to get the public, particularly parents, involved in school activities.

So what's going on at school? Plenty, always. But nothing is newer this year than kindergarten. This is the first year for public kindergarten in Mooreville, so any visit to schools within the system should include a look at the two classes being conducted for five-year-olds.

We hope you will take the opportunity to visit one or both the kindergarten classrooms. In the event you can't we don't want you to be left out. We want you to know what's going on.

Local kindergartens are presently operating in South School and Park View School, each serving 23 five-year-olds. The class at Park View School is self-contained and is staffed by Mrs. Paula Young, a graduate of Winthrop College with a degree in early childhood education, and by Mrs. Billy Ray, full-time teacher aide, who has had extensive experience working with children in early childhood education programs. At South School, the class is multi-aged, with five and six-year-olds in a team teaching situation. This group of students is served by Miss Judy Lamberth, a graduate of Appalachian State University with a degree in early childhood education. Mrs. Margaret Richards, a graduate of U. N. C. at Greensboro and presently enrolled at U. N. C. in Charlotte working on a graduate degree in early childhood education, and by Mrs. Brenda Carlton, a full time teacher aide, who has also had experience working with the young child.

The state budget for one class of 23 kindergarten students is slightly less than $18,000, which includes teacher and teacher aide salaries and instructional materials. Capital improvements are the responsibility of the local school system.

In August of this year a two weeks early childhood institute was conducted for the staffs of the new kindergartens. The first week's workshop was held at Hampton Elementary School and U. N. C. in Greensboro. The second week was conducted in the local schools.

Involved in the program were kindergarten teachers and aides and principals, representative teachers from each of the schools where the kindergartens are located, and the system coordinator.

The kindergarten programs are subject to the supervision of the State Department of Public Instruction, Division of Early Childhood Education, and are operated in accordance with the standards adopted by the State Board of Education upon recommendation of the state superintendent of public instruction. In addition, Mrs. Laura Mast, state regional early childhood education coordinator, will be working during the year with the local classes, and will provide additional staff development activities.

The kindergarten is an integral part of the school and its program. Emphasis is placed on an informal child-centered program, where the child is the center of attention and the teacher is a facilitator or guide; on individualized learning based on the child's developmental level, interests, and needs, and on an environment organized around learning - interest centers, structured to provide for directed activities, choices, and decision making.

The traditional 3 R's do not suffer as attention is given to the emotional, physical, social, and mental health of children. Child development is the base for program planning and consideration is given to the following beliefs: Children learn best by doing. Children have ways of learning all their own. Learning skills evolve from the simple to the concrete, to the abstract as children acceptance of the child, and what he brings to the learning situation, is fundamental in helping him move along the learning continuum.

The informal classrooms are rich with all kinds of materials and supplies. Included are materials children can manipulate, teacher-made materials, equipment and supplies to provide real-life experiences for children.

Many experiences within the range of each child's interests and competencies are provided that result in a joy and love of learning. Children are encouraged through learning-interest centers to use language to label and categorize objects as well as to face situations which require problem solving and decision making, questioning, evaluation, and discovering.

Curriculum experiences also stimulate and encourage creativity, provide activities which help children to use their bodies with ease, to cooperate with others, to be imaginative, and to try out various social roles.

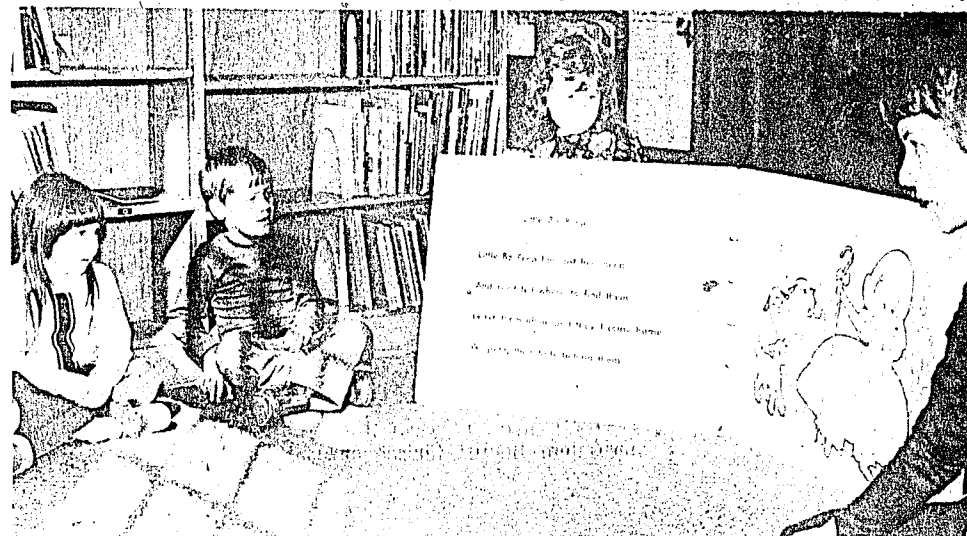

Research studies indicate that the environment and experiences of the early years have lasting effects upon the individual's intelligence, personality, and physical and mental well-being. Kindergarten are designed to provide an abundance of these positive environmental factors. The 1973 General Assembly provided $688 million for elementary and secondary education for the present fiscal year. Of this amount, $12.3 million was placed in the new budget for state-supported kindergartens.

This is the major step towards providing kindergarten for all five-year-olds in North Carolina. The $12.3 million will maintain the present 149 classes and will provide for the opening of 522 new kindergarten classes beginning in September 1973. The remaining funds were divided among school systems on a formula basis which took into account the average daily membership of children enrolled in the first grade. The legislation also provided that a program for all five-year-olds in the state will be available by September, 1978.

The historic legislation represents another milestone—the first time state-supported kindergartens are an official part of the school program in North Carolina and in the Mooreville schools.

process of distributing posters which inform 18-year-olds of their responsibility to register.
"Within the next few weeks," he said, "we will have distributed more than 16,000 posters."

McCachren indicated the posters will not only remind 18-year-olds of their responsibility to register but will also contain information as to where they might register.

"Budgetary requirements compelled us to close 80 of our county local board offices," McCachren said, "and in each county where the office has been closed, we have attempted to obtain the voluntary services of local citizens who will register our 18-year-olds."

designated as parent-teacher conference day. No group meetings will be held on this day, to allow time for these conferences.

Parents who would like to arrange a conference are encouraged to make an appointment by calling the school office, 664-5545.

If October 29 is not convenient, efforts will be made to schedule a conference at another time. It is hoped that these parent-teacher conferences will increase cooperation between school and home and heighten the effectiveness of the school's program.

Ikall

Charles.
The 1970 International, was owned by Todd Pool Builders, Inc., of Charlotte.

The investigating officer quoted Lee as saying he was slowing for traffic when the brakes on the rig stuck, causing it to jackknife into Ikall's lane of traffic.

The Ikall car, a 1973 Oldsmobile, was hit on the left front end and side by the jack-knifing rig, the patrolman reported.

A native of Mecklenburg County, Ikall was born on April 29, 1917, a son of Joe and Lucille Mack Ikall of Mooreville.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include one son, State Trooper Joe A. Ikall of Gastonia; and one grandson.

Funeral services for Ikall were conducted at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Central United Methodist Church in Mooreville, with the pastor, the Rev. Herbert C. Johnson officiating. Burial was in Willow Valley cemetery in Mooreville.

A memorial fund for Ikall has been established at the Lowrance Hospital, according to a member of the family.

make written recommendations to the council on secondary roads in the formation of its annual work program.

The list of roads receiving priority will be determined on a point system, giving so many points for houses, schools, churches, businesses, industries, school bus routes, average traffic and the value of the road as a county thoroughfare.

Once the list is compiled, the commissioners may petition for change, and an appeal to the North Carolina Board of Transportation must overrule any action by the council.

Also, any changes contemplated by the council may be challenged by the commissioners in a petition.

Once the work program is finalized, the list will be published in the newspaper and posted at the county courthouse as a matter of public record.

not announced until October. Between mid-July and October 280 signs were ready for advertising, thinking being that the cutoff would be October 15, and all signs then in the making would be legal.

Not so, allowed the state attorney general, who ruled that the ban became effective in July when the money was allocated. Thus the standoff that continues.

Nobilit explains the current status of the skeletons.
"They're in limbo," says Henry Clegg, assistant to the administrator of the highways division of the N.C. Department of Transportation.

"We simply aren't in the business of regulating poles, and those skeletons, or bare poles, do not constitute signs, so we can't order them taken down."

"Now, if they erect a sign on those poles, we can get them down," Clegg said.

"We're going to make it," Frye said, "I don't have any doubt about that. But we've got to make that extra effort to wrap up this campaign. The going isn't going to get any easier."

The annual appeal began September 11. The 1973 goal—and the 1974 UF budget—are the largest ever for United giving in this area. Mooreville-South Iredell never has failed to meet its United Fund obligations.

Contributions to United Fund are used to provide vital support to community services, many of which could not exist without UF appropriations.

Working directly with Frye have been these division chairmen: Ronnie Johnson, industrial; Larry Putnam, commercial; Mrs. Harding Rogers, professional; Lloyd Shumake, public employees; Gay Stewart, public schools; Mrs. Harry Hary, residential; and Howard Pender, rural.

Mooreville Jaycees agreed prior to the campaign kickoff to provide assistance in canvassing the area. Frye said the Jaycees have not organized their efforts, but still expects help from the club.

Detachment 1 will be in Shelby. A spokesman for the local Guard said all personnel presently assigned to the unit will remain, and "with a few minor changes" the same equipment will be assigned here.

The restructuring of North Carolina's Guard was proposed by the National Guard Bureau, and it has been approved by the governor. The reorganization will replace the 30th Division with the 30th Infantry Brigade and the 30th Engineer Brigade.

State Guard officials said the realignment will give the state a larger force. The number of units will increase by five and personnel strength by 156. All full-time Guard technicians will remain, and retraining will be kept to a minimum.

Hospital by ambulance, but was immediately transferred to the Charlotte hospital.

Latest reports from his bedside revealed the youngster was doing as well as could be expected, considering the seriousness of his injuries. Doctors are optimistic as to his chances for recovery, it was stated.

The accident occurred around 10:30 a.m. while the youth's father was operating the tractor-drawn disc harrow on a farmstead leased by Gibbs from Edgar Collins, on rural paved road 1109.

The youth came to the field, it was reported, and jumped over the front of the disc harrow, just behind his father, who was sitting on the tractor as it operated the heavy farm equipment.

The youngster's feet slipped and he fell to the ground into the pathway of the blades of the disc harrow. A portion of the disc harrow passed over his body, it was stated.

A&T's 130-Member Band A First For Mooreville Parade

The 130-piece marching band of A&T State University in Greensboro has agreed to a precedent-setting appearance in Mooreville's November 20 Christmas parade. It will be the first collegiate band ever to participate in the annual extravaganza that will move through downtown the Tuesday before Thanksgiving. The A&T musicians, regarded as one of the nation's finest collegiate bands, will be prominent among 16 high school marching bands that will take part in the parade that is the town's traditional launching of the Christmas season.

YDC To See Atomic Power Plant Film
Young Democrats of Iredell County will participate in a bit of inter-organization politics and view a film on the nation's atomic power plants during their meeting October 29.

Richard Doughton of Mooreville, president of the Iredell Young Democratic Club, said the meeting will begin Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Hall of Justice in Statesville. He said nominations will be made for YDC officers to be filled in November.

The film is called "How Safe Are America's Atomic Power Plants?" The Statesville showing is one in a series of the area sponsored by the Carolina Environmental Study Group.

The 26-minute documentary examines the controversy surrounding the health and safety issues of building atomic power plants near major population centers in the Carolinas. Doughton said the public is invited to attend.

After he left the seminary in 1918, Otello Guedes Montenegro, of Recife, Brazil, married and fathered nine children. He saw 41 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren enter the world. He also became a judge.

When his wife died after 54 years of marriage, Montenegro decided to return to the clerical life he abandoned long ago. He was ordained a priest at 75.

The town will not participate in the cost of the work. MW Development Company now is negotiating with the county government for financial assistance.

Different Drummers

The Christian Science Monitor recently devoted a full page to an in-depth conversation with Katharine Graham, publisher of The Washington Post. Her thoughts constitute the most compelling argument we've read regarding the role of the fourth estate in American life.

In the context of democratic government, we may list the four estates, or sources of power, as executive, judicial, legislative and journalistic. The essential nature of a self-determining press never has been more clearly defined than during the early days of Watergate by The Washington Post.

As Mrs. Graham reminded the Monitor's reporter, her paper stood virtually alone and roundly castigated during the days—and weeks—following the break-in at Democratic national headquarters. Leading the wolfpack howling for the Post's hide was a Nixon Administration smarting severely under the slings and arrows of outrageous truth being unearthed by Post reporters.

Mrs. Graham does not assume the posture of a heroine. On the contrary, she insists her part in the Post's day-to-day trauma of digging and printing was played in one dramatic decision: to do it.

"The awesome thing is," she said, "I could have walked downstairs (to the Post newsroom) and I could have stopped the whole thing by saying two sentences."

As publisher, she was saying, she simply could have told her people to quit the chase, and they would have quit.

Our point is, had she not been free to make that decision, had the Post not been free to keep pecking away at the Nixon Administration armor of "official information" and its indignant insistence that the Post was conducting a "virulent vendetta," how different would have been America's course through this particularly turbulent time?

Too often, those of us involved in the often-routine job of grassroots newspapering convince ourselves that what we do is of little or no consequence. But we are part of bigger things. In our way, we are as vital to our community as The Washington Post has been to the proper functioning of our national government. And our responsibility to our service area is identical to that of the Post. While we enjoy an open and cooperative relationship with all levels of government, we deal with in the normal course of news gathering, we cannot become lulled into complacency. We, like public elected and appointed officials, are servants of, and responsible to the same public—but, as close and as harmoniously as the two of us may work, we still must step to different drummers.

As nature abhors a vacuum, the fourth estate abhors secrecy; it is repulsive to our nature. Government, by its nature, often finds that going about its business in secret seems to make for a smoother operation. And this does not imply that preference for secrecy denotes wrong-doing. Government officials learn quickly that you can't please all the people all the time. In fact, they're lucky to do anything that sets well with a simple majority. Government, therefore, easily falls prey to the notion that what the public doesn't know can't produce objections. This is the short view. Over the long pull, the public will get half-truths or outright lies that are harmful to all concerned. Newspapers are dedicated to the proposition that we must tell it right the first time.

When people who have established their governments and are committed to supporting them are not informed, they have no way of justifying their support. Freedom requires that free people decide for themselves, and they must have facts on which to base decisions. The role of newspapers, historically, has been to keep watch on government and public officials by telling the people what they are doing. Only so long as this fourth estate is functioning independently can democracy function.

Some Air Into Musty Corners

Three weeks ago, we wondered on this page whatever happened to the Governor's Efficiency Study Commission. Now we know. The 72-member commission made all the front pages last week when it plopped its 218-page report on the governor's desk.

During their three month study of state government, the businessmen and industrialists who formed the commission's seven teams of administrative specialists came up with no fewer than 876 recommendations for change.

The commission struck us as a good idea when it was authorized in January. Its work, taken as a whole, supports our initial impression.

Many of the commission's suggestions are ideas whose time has come. Most would make for more streamlined state government. A few are impractical ideals, and commission members recognize them as such. One or two are politically explosive.

All in all, the service of the state's private economic sector to state government is to be commended—and taken seriously. The governor, on first scanning of the commission's report, observed that application of the findings would take months, even years. The major advantage of the commission's work, as we see it, is the fresh breeze it blows into some musty corners of government administration traditionally committed to the status quo. Its purpose was not to suggest change for change's sake, but to come up with alternatives, with new ways to skin old cats.

We think the commission has performed a notable and lasting service for North Carolina, and we commend the state's private business and industrial sectors for their contributions of manpower in the interest of more efficient government.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

I know you'll be proud of me when you hear that I'm recycling newspapers now. I used to just stack 'em up in a corner until the room was full and then I'd move to another room. That not only took up a lot of space, the bugs and the silver fish almost took over the place. Now I give 'em back to the newspaper company and they use 'em over.

This recycling trend is the best news I've heard in a long time. I even dry my own motor grease now and put it on my garden. Recycling keeps everything in circulation, the way the good Lord intended it to be.

Now, if we can just get church folks to recycle their faith, we'll be in good shape. A fellow told me the other day that he became a Christian when he was 15 years old, but he ain't practiced the faith for 37 years. He said he still had faith, though. Well, I reckon only the good Lord knows for sure, but it seems to me that if he's got faith it must be full of bugs and silver fish. Besides its gotta be smelling awful musty after 37 years of storage.

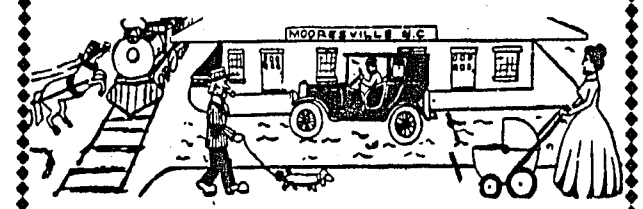

Not only that, Mr. Publisher, but what good is a faith that ain't put back in circulation? I just can't believe that faith is for stacking away in a back room any more than newspapers are. If what we have don't help nobody, what good is it? Who wants a faith that's good for nothing?

Wouldn't it be nice if everybody went into the storage room of their hearts and got out their old faith and recycled it? A doctor could recycle his faith into helping the sick. A politician could recycle his faith into doing what was right for all the people. A mama could recycle her faith into making a home for the family. A mechanic might use his faith to put in new spark plugs when the work order says he put in new spark plugs.

That's about all the news from this corner. The newspaper people just came and this corner is clean. Somebody once said, "Keep the faith." I'm saying "Recycle the faith." Have a good day.

Yours Truly,
Parson Jones

OUR COMMUNITY

IN OTHER YEARS... 49 YEARS AGO

Tuesday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock the two young sons, Hugh and Wesley, of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lohery, who live on Park avenue near Stewart's park, were playing near the swimming pool when Hugh, 3 years old, toppled over into the water. Wesley, who is a little better than 6 years of age, realizing the peril of his little brother, made a desperate and successful effort to save him. The little fellow bobbed up and down in the water several times before Wesley was able to get a hold upon the child's hair. He made a masterful pull and landed the drowning boy safely on the ground. After the rescue the children attracted their mother by their terrifying screams. Mrs. Lohery found the children excited. They had realized in their child's minds that something eventful had taken place. A physician was called and after a thorough examination, the child seemed to have suffered no ill effects from his experience. Wesley, the 6-year-old boy, proved his metal and true instincts in rescuing the perishing. He is the hero of the day. Mrs. Lohery, who had been indisposed for several days, is much better, although her nerves received a shock.

Policemen Robinson and Davis flushed a couple last Saturday night between 11 and 12 o'clock that had just returned from a "hurry up" trip to the mountains. Or at least the mountains got credit for having them as visitors on that particular day. They were riding in a Ford roadster and reached the lower end of town before midnight. They did not tarry, however. The policemen were there to give them a little surprise party, and when they were seen by the men with the liquor a five gallon can was tossed from the car and after running a short distance the men left the car and "took to the tail timbers." The car contains several gallons of beer and liquor, presumably corn. The car is being held for the owners to come and make claim.

It is said by some of those who beaks came in close proximity to the hole in the can, that the liquor would not do to make "nog," if it were permissible to do so. It was all purely accidental, and amicably adjusted without any hard feelings, and it happened somewhat in the following manner: Last Thursday Mr. Robert Edmiston was going out Statesville road near the red barn, and in front of him was Mr. Andy Neill driving a two horse wagon. Mr. Edmiston started to pass the wagon and at the same time noticed an approaching car. He clamped on the brakes, his car swerved, running into the team to the wagon. One mule sustained a broken leg and had to be killed. Mr. Edmiston brought Mr. Neill to town and forthwith sought John McNeely, from whom he purchased a "new" mule and gave it to Mr. Neill. After this had been done Mr. Edmiston and Mr. Neill adjusted all differences and journeyed to their homes in peace of mind.

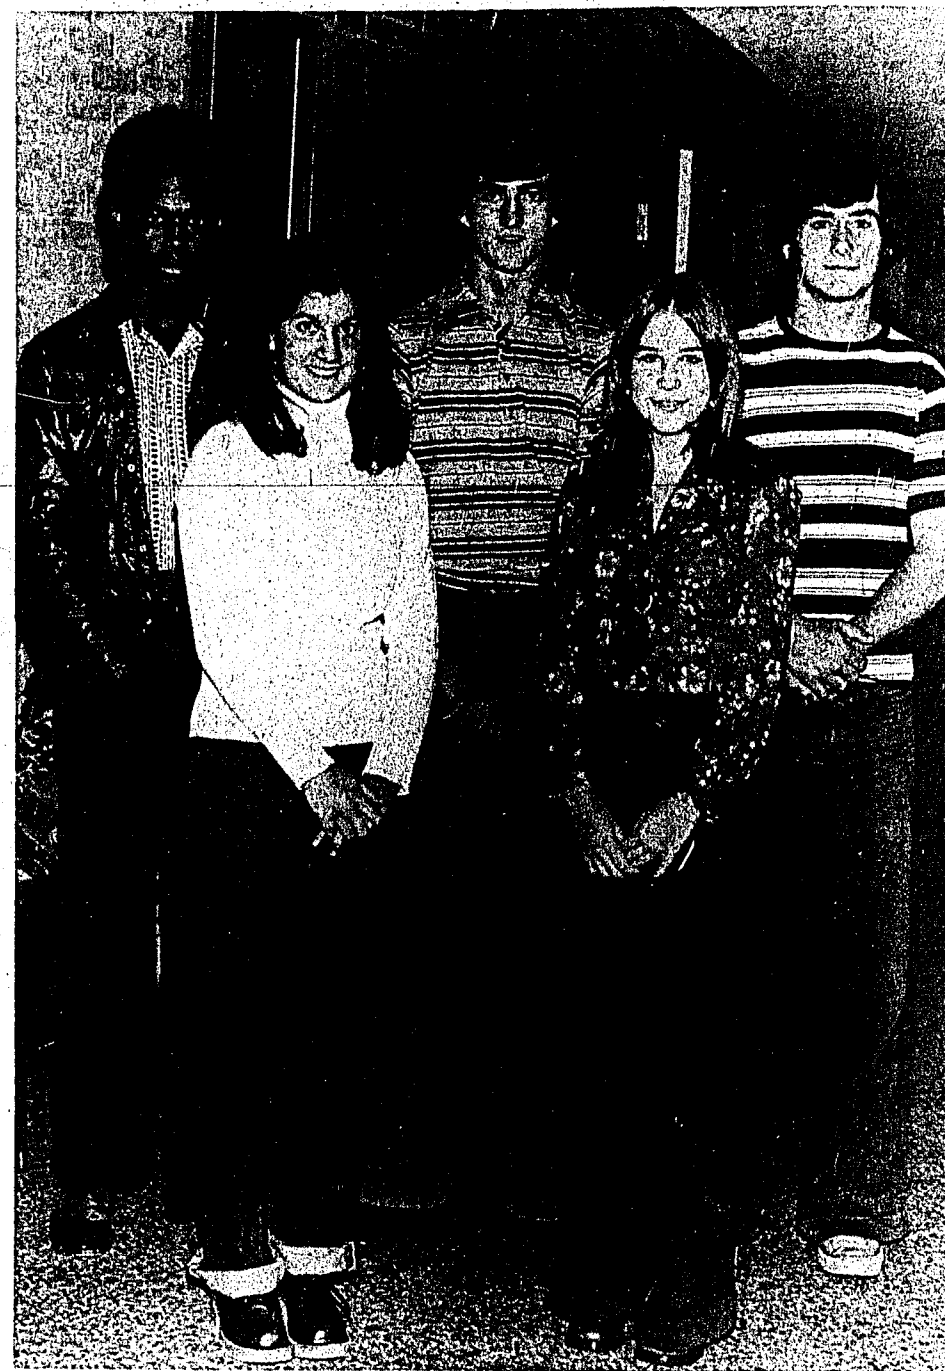

Of course it was tough on the old mule that got killed, but he died a martyr, anyway, for having ventured out on the best piece of highway construction in America.

Mr. G. M. Kipka received a message Tuesday morning announcing the death of a sister, Mrs. Kingswood, at Foster, Ohio, his old home. Mrs. Smith, another sister, is desperately ill. Mr. Kipka left Tuesday evening for Fostoria.

John White Moore had purchased the American Cafe and took charge last Monday morning. The proprietor has already been dubbed "Dinty Moore," and he will put on the menu "corned beef and cabbage" and assured the boys that Maggie will not molest them.

Franklin Harrison Wallace died at his home on North Main street Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from cancer, having been a sufferer for many months and confined to his home for quite a while. Deceased was 68 years of age, and was a native of Cabarrus county, having been born and reared in the Poplar Tent section. Early in his young manhood he was married to Miss Alice Templeton, of Maysboro, and for thirty years was a resident of this vicinity, having lived in Mooresville a greater portion of that time, his first wife having died many years ago. To this union there are four living children: Mr. Rock Wallace, of Asheville; Messrs. Thorne and James and Miss Nona Wallace, all of this city. He is also survived by his wife, who prior to marriage was Mrs. Funch, of North Iredell. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, conducted by his pastor, Rev. I. N. Kennedy, the interment being made in Willow Valley cemetery.

Mr. Wallace was a kindly disposed man, a friend to everybody and a splendid neighbor and good citizen. For a number of years after moving to the city until a short time ago he operated the Mooresville Bottling Works together with his farming interests. A Claudius Shevill, aged 70 years, 9 months and 5 days, died at his home on North Broad street Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. He had been sick only a few days and his death was a shock to his numerous friends throughout the city and community. Deceased was a native of Catawba county and moved with his family to this city twenty-five years ago. He was a good man and highly respected.

Another Hike Ahead In Retail Milk Prices

Reliable reports indicate the state's major dairies will increase retail milk prices beyond the three-cent per quart hike approved last week for the state's dairy farmers by the North Carolina Milk Commission. Industry spokesmen attribute responsibility for the future price hike in higher commissions for route salesmen, rising production and delivery costs, and increases in the cost of gasoline used in home delivery. In addition, consumers are feeling the pinch generated by the recent price increase for farmers. Jack Garrison of Salisbury, a division manager for Long Meadow Farm, Inc., a dairy firm that has an outlet in Mooresville, said he was awaiting word from the firm's state office in Durham, but indicated Long Meadow's prices would probably be one or two cents higher than the state Milk Commission-approved increase. The Milk Commission is authorized only to fix milk prices at the farm level, but hikes for farmers have traditionally been passed on to consumers. According to Ben W. Kilgore, president of the Raleigh-based Pine State Creamery, the retail price of a quart of milk has risen to 32 percent in the last year while the price paid to farmers has risen 38 percent. Middleton between farm and processor received the six percent difference, Kilgore stated. The three-cent price increase is scheduled to take effect November 1. In December, 1972, the Milk Commission set the price paid farmers for Class I milk at $7.96 per hundred pounds. It boosted this last February to $8.29. This time, the Milk Commission upped the price $1.20 to $10.82 per hundred pounds.

Miss Sarah Frances Taylor will be the speaker at the Southside Baptist Church, Mooresville, on Sunday at the 11:00 a.m. service. Community Baptist Church, Sunday, 7:30 p.m.; Cleveland Baptist on Monday at 7:30; Western Avenue Baptist, Statesville, Tuesday, 7:30; Diamond Hill Baptist, Wednesday, 7:30; Mooresville First Baptist, Thursday, 7:30 and Berea Baptist, Friday, 7:30.

Colonel Moor's Musings

Frankly, I'm real bumfuzzled about all these UFO sightings around the country. We got a report last week from Sherrilltown of a mysterious light that seemed to be looking for something. I'm not worried about these folks from other worlds hurting us, or causing us to hurt ourselves, but I am concerned about them looking us over and taking off quick. They don't want no part of this world. Maybe they know something we don't.

Alive Singers Sing Live At Vanderburg

The Alive Singers of Ebenezer United Methodist Church near Lexington will perform at Vanderburg United Methodist October 28. The musical program at the church in the Shepherd community will begin at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, and the church has invited the public to attend. The program, entitled "Rejoice," is "witness in song," and the witnesses are 35 young people ranging in age from seven through 18. In addition to singing, the group witnesses through personal testimony of its members. The singers were organized at Ebenezer, but some of the members are from other churches in the Lexington area.

Rep. Martin In Turkey For Talks

Ninth District Congressman James Martin is in Ankara, Turkey this week attending the North Atlantic Assembly Conference with eight other members of the U. S. House of Representatives.

Martin, a freshman Republican legislator, was named as a member of the delegation by House Speaker Carl Albert. The conference began October 19, and it will continue through October 27.

"I am honored by being selected as a member of the distinguished American delegation to the Ankara Conference," Martin said. "It is a particular honor to have been personally requested to go, even at short notice, by Minority Leader and Vice President Deshaezel H. Ford."

The North Atlantic Assembly, composed of the governments forming the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is actively engaged in international cooperation on the political, economic, and environmental fronts. Officials of NATO countries are discussing progress they are attempting to make in dealing with their environmental problems. They also are conferring on mutual energy needs, since all NATO members are energy importers.

Boy Scout Program Discussed

"Development of the boy's heart is the most important thing in the Boy Scout program," according to Joe Irvin, scout executive for the Gaston County District, which includes Irwin County and that part of Alexander County in the Stone Mountain area.

Irvin expressed the opinion that he was "not concerned about the youth of today as some people are because I know from 26 years of experience that we now have some of the best youngsters we have ever had."

He said people should do things for youth instead of standing back and making comments. There are not enough adults to assist in the scouting program to serve all the boys who want to become scouts, he continued.

"What is really done in scouting is that we do our best to surround our youngsters with the very best adult supervisors possible," the scout executive stressed. "Teaching is done more by example than any other way," he continued.

"Youngsters today need more of a firm foundation than ever before," Irvin stated, observing that "they have to say no to many more things today than they did in years past."

Irvin stressed the fact that scouting gives the boy a set of ideals to go by—the Scout Oath. He explained the oath and how it relates to the scout and that the scout's primary responsibility is to his God.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

"The Festival of Tabernacles: Five days later, on the last day of September, is the Festival of Shelters to be celebrated before the Lord for seven days. On the first day there will be a sacred assembly of all the people; don't do any hard work that day. On each of the seven days of the festival you are to sacrifice an offering by fire to the Lord. The eighth day requires another sacred convocation of all the people, at which time there will again be an offering by fire to the Lord. It is a joyous celebration and no heavy work is permitted."

Police Catch 2 'Fugitives'

Police in Las Vegas said a timid-sounding woman phoned to report a goat leading a hippopotamus down a desert highway.

The goat and its 4,000-pound hippo follower had gotten loose from Tule Springs Park north of the city and were walking into the desert along Tonopah Highway.

Policemen enticed the goat back to its pen at the park, and the hippo meekly followed.

Little Nuisances That Clutter Up A Lifetime

Things we could all do without:

Any more weird cookbooks, such as "How to Bake a Tarantula" or "Tasty Salads Made from Your Backyard Weeds."

Old high school sweethearts who drop into town unexpectedly and ask you to take them to dinner on a date that happens to be your wedding anniversary.

Neighbors who make you a gift of 20 pounds of uncleaned fish they caught four days ago and forgot to take out of the back of their car.

Everybody who tries to face life by running away from it—such as dropouts, college students, officer work shirkers, runaway husbands and renegade wives.

Guys who lend you leaky fountain pens without warning you of their defect.

Leftover cocktail canapés for dinner.

Fathers who are spending so much money on their daughters' wedding receptions that they weep openly if you pour yourself a second glass of second-rate champagne.

People who think you are organically wrong because you don't always eat organic foods.

The sound of opportunity knocking on the door of a room in which all you want to do is get a little sleep.

Going on a blind date with a girl who has a million-dollar body and a 10-cent mind or vice versa.

A big pimple blossom on your nose the night of the junior prom.

Applying for a job, 10 years after graduating from high school, to the classmate who was voted the most likely to succeed.

A weekend at a ski resort.

where the snow is so good your girl wants to spend all the time skiing.

Buying a home the week after the mortgage rates jumped another half of a percentage point.

Bumping into an old army platoon buddy you thought you never could forget—and desperately trying to remember his nickname—just as he calls you by a nickname that belonged to another guy in the platoon.

Being called a "male chauvinist pig" by a woman, as she elbows you away from the counter at a department store shirt sale for men.

Wives who go to fortune tellers for advice on their marital problems.

Doctors who, after listening to your symptoms, send you to another doctor to treat you. Then, if you get well, they take part of the credit.

People who try to show off their individuality by buying as a pet a breed of dog so strange that no one in the neighborhood has heard of it or can spell the name. They are the kind of people who would never toss out a bone to an ordinary mutt in the rain.

From these and other plights of mind and being, deliver us, Amen.

Mitchell College Employs Counselor

Mitchell Community College in Statesville has hired Robert Blacklock as a full-time counselor to work with students in both personal and vocational areas.

A native of Sanford, Blacklock attended Troutman High School and Mitchell College. He received his bachelor of science degree in education from Appalachian State University at Boone and a master's degree in counseling from East Carolina University at Greenville.

Prior to accepting the post at Mitchell Community College, Blacklock taught at D. Matt Thompson Junior High School in Statesville and at North Iredell High School near Charlotte.

Blacklock is married to the former Susan Stegall of Statesville and the couple resides on route 11, Statesville.

"I'll be working with students in personal counseling as well as vocational counseling," Blacklock stated. He said he possibly would do some placement counseling when the placement office is set up.

"It is a pleasure to be associated with such a fine, outstanding staff and faculty as Mitchell's," he added.

Bloodmobile Value: People Alive Who Would Be Dead Without It

The Piedmont Carolinas Regional Blood Center bloodmobile will pay another visit to Mooresville November 5.

Ho hum. The bloodmobile has been doing exactly that without fail and without fanfare since the South Iredell Red Cross Chapter became a part of the Charlotte center's blood services program in February 1963.

Collectively, those routine bloodmobile visits have built a dramatic news story. Few communities in North Carolina can match Mooresville and South Iredell for bloodmobile support. This area never has failed, since it joined the program, to give more blood each year than it uses. The local

Red Cross unit has received well-deserved regional recognition for its well-organized and smoothly-functioning blood services.

The success South Iredell has enjoyed during the past decade of participation in the blood program has not been accidental. And much credit for the success must go to T. C.

Homesley, who has served as blood services chairman since the beginning of this phase of Red Cross service here in 1963.

In addition to Homesley, no fewer than 31 bloodmobile volunteer administrative aides have been with the program since its inception. The community owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Tom Gold and Miss Margaret Davidson, who serve as co-chairmen of blood program aides. Mrs. Gold has worked in the program since 1963. The volunteers contributed more than 1,000 hours of service during the seven bloodmobile visits of the 1972-73 fiscal year. Multiply this by 10, and the number of volunteers keeps growing. Twenty people completed bloodmobile volunteers. Five of these—Mrs. Gold, Mrs. John Braudner, Mrs. Thad Lowe, Mrs. Willie Teeter and Mrs. John White Moore—have received certificates for having given 150 hours of volunteer service.

Mooresville also has provided regional leadership. Homesley, Lowrance Hospital Administrator Jack Ellison and Dr. Richard Martin, a member of the hospital staff, have served on the executive committee of the Charlotte center.

During the past decade, South Iredell people have used approximately 6,000 pints of blood. They have given more. Based on the commercial price of blood, they have saved them-

And, importantly, they have saved lives. There is no doubt but that people are alive and well today who would be dead had blood not been readily available when they needed it. And not just blood, but blood to match their own precisely. Not only does the blood center coordinate the availability of blood, but it also provides participating Red Cross chapters of the various types of blood and blood derivatives.

Blood donors number in the hundreds. They include such people as Hoyt Ervin, who has given more than six gallons of blood. Four gallon donors are Clyde Robbins, Robert Howard and Thomas Dishman. Jack Culbertson, Roderick Kistler, Len Sullivan and H. E. Wilson are among the area's three-gallon donors. At least nine persons have received their two-gallon pins, and one-gallon recognition has gone to 35 donors.

So, when November 5 rolls around and you see the bloodmobile roll into town, don't think of the visit as just another blood collection. Think of it as one of South Iredell's continuing success stories, and be proud you are a part of it.

This Check Won't Bounce

An artist angry over a $2 parking ticket he received in Oakland, Calif., paid up with a 100-pound concrete block.

The artist, Gary Bennett, showed up at the Oakland city hall with the check, a block of concrete suitably engraved. One policeman was so impressed with it he asked to buy it as a work of art.

Bennett, ticketed for leaving his car in a theater parking lot late at night, said the check cost him more than $60 to cast—plus the $2 fine.

New Bus Now In Use

Greyhound's new bus, "Americruiser," was introduced to America last month.

The name "Americruiser" is indicative of Greyhound's bicentennial program to encourage Americans to travel.

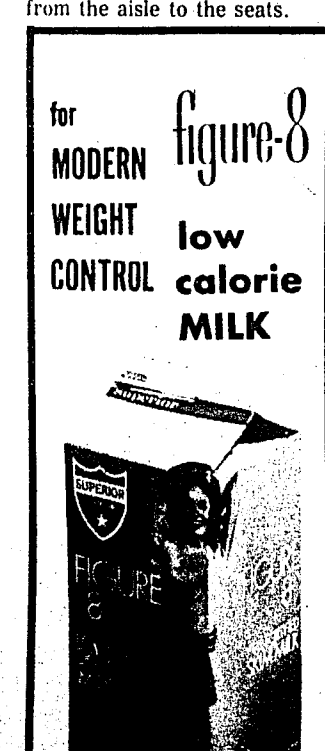

The new bus is the safest, most comfortable, most reliable ever to take to the highways.

It features new styling with long flowing lines, accented by anodized aluminum black windows. The familiar destination sign, usually located at the top center of the bus, is located inside the front windshield as a distinctive feature of its appearance.

New interiors are being developed for Americruiser, among them concealed overhead lighting, plus carpeting and new reclining seats which will be upholstered in color coordinated fabrics. The traditional overhead racks will be replaced with enclosed compartments above each seat which will provide the feeling of greater spaciousness and keep clutter out of sight.

There will be more stretch out room for passengers aboard the new coach. Greyhound has placed fewer seats in the Americruiser providing more leg room between rows and the floor in the passenger area is completely flat with no step up from the aisle to the seats.

Apples & autumn... great!

It's hard in the fall not to think of apples, they're amazing, the all American king of fruits. There's no end to the ways you can enjoy them. Eat them out of hand, slice or dice them in salads, boil, bake, fry, candy, or saute them, squeeze and drink them. Great at Halloween for parties and trick or treaters.

They're healthy too. They contain pectin, fruit acid, natural fruit sugar, vitamins and minerals. Apples keep down cholesterol, pep up the system, aid digestion and are one of the world's great natural toothbrushes. And since an apple can satisfy hunger with only 90 calories, it's a favorite of diet watchers.

Over the years, Harris-Teeter has learned a lot about apples and they offer you only the best in quality and the widest of variety. This week stop by the Harris-Teeter apple orchard and pick some apples. Clip and save this handy guide. It'll help you pick the best variety for every use.

Baby Vikings Nudge East Rowan, 18-14

Moving into the home stretch of its 1973 gridiron season, South Iredell High's junior varsity football team nudged the East Rowan Vikings, 18-14, Thursday night to conclude its conference mark at 3-1.

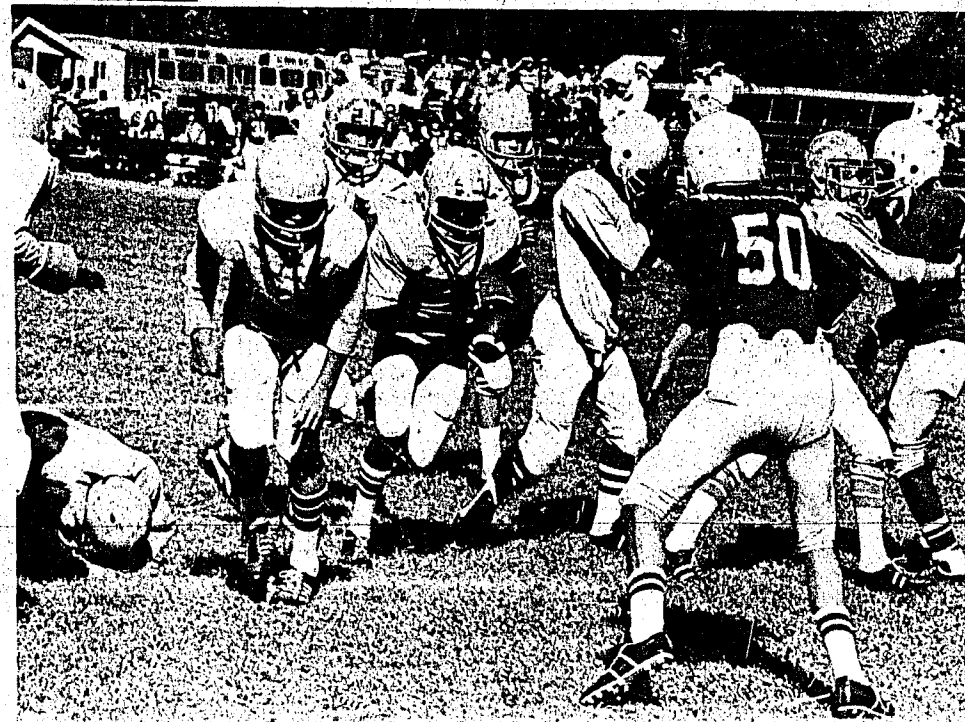

The Baby Vikings have only two non-conference tilts remaining on their schedule to improve a 4-3 overall record.

South Iredell, after winning the toss and electing to receive, drove 65 yards for its first touchdown in the fourth quarter yard run by Mike Mulhally. The try for the extra point failed.

East Rowan lost little time in knotting the score at 6-6 on a 55-yard drive before the first quarter ended.

The Baby Vikings moved ahead, 12-6, in the second stanza when East Rowan fumbled in the end zone and Charles Campbell fell on the ball for a South Iredell touchdown. Again, the try for the extra point failed.

Winders Top Winner In Contest

Tara J. Winders of Mooresville, route 2, captured the first-place award of $7 in last week's football contest, which is being sponsored by Mooresville merchants and the Mooresville Tribune.

The second-place award of $4 went to Jack Loftin of Troutman, while Steve Jones of 829 East Iredell Avenue took the third-place award of $3.

All three winners had 10 correct guesses out of a possible 12. Therefore, the places were determined on the total score of the Mooresville-North Stanley game, with the contestant with nearest guess to the total score of the tie-breaking contest taking first place, etc.

The total score of the tie-breaking contest was 53. Winders guessed 55 points, while Loftin guessed 50 points and Jones guessed 41 points.

Top Dogs Expected For Trial

Leading bird dogs from across the Eastern United States are expected in Charlotte during the coming weekend for the Tar Heel Field Trial Club's annual championship competition.

E. J. (Jerry) Sifford, Jr., of Charlotte, who is coordinating the trial, said a record number of entries is likely.

Sifford said "amateur" competition will include derby, all-age and shooting dogs.

The open derby and open shooting dog legs, featuring a $1,000 purse, will be staged on completion of the amateur running.

Pat Moore of Mount Holly and Dan Clarke of Hickory are to be the judges.

"The matches are open to the public and we invite all area quail hunters to come and watch these great dogs in action," said Sifford.

Lunch will be served on the grounds—on Park Road near South Mecklenburg High—throughout the trials and horses will be available for those spectators desiring a mount.

Sl Tops Mustangs, 30-6, Second Win Of Season

Aided by several East Rowan fumbles and paced by Curtis Sloan, who scored three of his team's four touchdowns, South Iredell High's Vikings stomped the Mustangs, 30-6, in a North Piedmont Conference football game at East Rowan Friday night.

The Vikings, now 2-4 in conference play and 2-5 overall, will host North Davidson tomorrow (Friday) night in a conference clash. It will be the Vikings' homecoming game.

The Vikings moved ahead, 6-0, early in the first quarter when Sloan scored on a one-yard dash. The point-after attempt failed.

East Rowan tied the score at 6-6 late in the first quarter on a three-yard run by Allen Troutman. The conversion kick failed.

Sloan scored South Iredell's second touchdown of the game late in the second period and the two-point conversion—a pass from Kim Newton to Wayne Robbins—put the Vikings ahead, 14-6.

Jimmy Dozenbault took a Newton pass and ran 21 yards for South Iredell's fourth—and final—touchdown midway of the third period. Paul Houghton was successful in his two-point conversion attempt.

The loss left East Rowan with a 2-3 conference record and 3-4 overall.

Devils Travel To East Rowan In Key North Piedmont Tilt Friday

Mooresville's Blue Devils travel to East Rowan in an effort to stay at the top of the North Piedmont Conference standings, as well as the Division I race Friday. Game time is at 8 p. m. at Granite Quarry.

The Blue Devils stand at 4-1 in a four-way first place tie with Davie County, West Rowan, and North Davidson. The Mustangs lead the season opener to Salisbury and has lost in three consecutive weeks to North Iredell, North Rowan and South Iredell.

Making the Blue Devils assignment difficult is the fact that East Rowan, always tough at home, will be trying to rebound off three straight losses at the expense of Mooresville. Of East's last three defeats, two were considered upsets. South Iredell upset the Mustangs 30-6 last week.

Offensively Friday's game will provide an interesting matchup—Mooresville's year against East Rowan's year against East Rowan's year.

Coach Gary Karrikar will be looking for his Blue Devils to show improvement on both offense and defense.

BLUE DEVILS ILLUSTRATE HOW TO CATCH A COMET
Daniel Manriquez, Brian Duckworth Against North Stanly

HOW NOT TO CATCH A BLUE DEVIL CANNONBALL
David Mullis (Stretched No. 40) Ran For 220 Against Comets

Devils Overpower Comets, 33-20

Mooreville Senior High's Blue Devils rebounded from their loss to Davie County the previous week by soundly thrashing North Stanly Friday night in a high-scoring North Piedmont Conference clash before a homecoming crowd. The locals routed the visiting Comets 33-20.

Although the Mooreville defense and aerial attack continued to show weaknesses, the awesome power of the Devil ground game was evident from the outset against North Stanly. David Mullis senior fullback, nearly averaged a first down every time he touched the football. Mullis gained 220 yards in 23 carries to account for the bulk of the Devils' 330 rushing yards. The winners gained 23 yards in the air.

Junior quarterback Bob Craig, who was hurt in the season opener, engineered the Devil attack through three quarters. Terrell Rhye came in to guide the team in the final period, and Roger Lambert took the reins late in the quarter.

Mullis bulled across two touchdowns. His running mate, Johnny Walker, rushed for 62 yards in 19 tries, and he scored once. Other TD's were added by Craig and Rhye. The Devils managed to complete two passes to friendly forces, and two were received by the enemy.

Mooreville scored on its first possession. Craig got the running game established as he galloped 53 yards to the Comet 14. Walker got the score call four plays later, and he went in from a yard out. Mullis' kick was squarely through the uprights and the score was 7-0 with four minutes played.

The Comets responded with Wayne Hinson, who provided two of their tallies. Walker made a catch-up tackle at the 10 on Ricky Bennett, who had broken through the line. A couple of plays later, Hinson plowed through the line for the score. The point-after failed, and Mooreville held a one-point lead. The Devils began their next drive after the Comet kickoff. They took control on their 14 and drove to paydirt in nine plays. Mullis accounted for 76 of the 10 yards in the drive. He got the score on a seven-yard sprint, and again his toe was true.

The wide-open offense continued with North Stanly charging back after the kickoff. Hinson challenged Walker's speed, and lost. The Comet, David Mullis senior fullback, pulled him down at the three. Two plays later David McRae stepped a yard to the end zone. This score came with 7:50 to play in the half. A Henry Thompson-to-Barry Almond pass gave the Comets two points and tied the score.

The Devils' offense really got into high gear. The locals scored three times in succession, and the defense finally got into the game to force a punt. The first score came after a punt. Taking over on their 29, the Devils moved 71 yards in eight plays, and Craig applied the final touch with a six-yard dash. Mullis had runs of 20 and 25 yards in this drive, and Walker romped for nine on a crucial down. The score came with 1:23 left in the half.

Each team turned the ball over early in the third period. Mooreville fumbled and so did the visitors. Comet Leonard Kilgo recovered a Walker fumble, but Aldrick Byers got it back for the Devils. Rhye came in to direct the team, and he picked up a TD with 3:06 left in the period. The PAT failed, and the score stood at 33-14.

The Comets produced a score in the final minutes of the contest. Quarterback Thompson tossed to Hinson, and the catch-and-carry covered 73 yards to the end zone. But the visitors came too late with too little, and the Blue Devils pulled their NPC mark to 4-1 despite a lackluster defensive performance.

Blue Devils Racking Up Some Super Statistics

Mooreville's Blue Devils have been accumulating some impressive statistics for the second season in a row operating from its explosive veer offense.

The Blue Devils have scored an average of 29 points per game this season in seven contests. The average total offense in those games is a whopping 340 yards. The average yards rushing per contest is 284.5 and passing yardage is 55.5 per game.

Leading the scoring parade for Mooreville is David Mullis who has nine touchdowns and 18 of 23 extra-point kicks for 72 points. Runningmate Johnny Walker also has nine TD's and has run a two-point conversion totaling 56 points.

Mooreville has four backs averaging over 5 yards per carry that have seen considerable action. David Mullis has rushed for 917 yards in 119 carries for a 7.7 rushing average. Johnny Walker is picking up yardage at 6.8 yards per carry. He has gained 686 yards in 100 carries.

Quarterbacks Terrell Rhye and Bobby Craig have respective rushing averages of 5.1 and 6.1 yards per carry. Rhye has 276 yards in 54 attempts and Craig has 74 yards in 12 carries.

The Blue Devils as a team have completed 20 of 62 passes for 398 yards, a completion percentage of .322 and an average per reception of 19.9 yards.

Rhye has completed 13 of 47 for 217 yards. He has thrown four for touchdowns and four have been intercepted. Craig has hit on 5 of 17 for 95 yards and two interceptions.

Robert Gregory is leading the receivers in yardage, having caught a 69 TD loss from Roger Lambert.

Mike Wilhelm has caught three passes for 55 yards. Tony Hager has caught six passes for 53 yards and Jeff Wade has caught two passes for 33 yards.

KANNAPOLIS HERE IN FINALE

Imps Swing Past Concord 21-20

Mooreville Junior High aims to close out its 1973 grid campaign here Saturday night in the winning fashion to which it has become accustomed. The Imps host Kannapolis on the Senior High field.

The juniors got their second victory in as many weeks before the homefolks Saturday, slipping past Concord 21-20.

And again it was Junior High's "Swinging" offense that carried the day. End Don Swing accounted for all the Imp touchdowns.

Swing provided the first spark by taking Concord's first kickoff on his 25 and romping to the goal. Buster Williams' throw to Henry Campbell was good for two points and a quick 8-0 edge for the locals.

Swing's second score came on a pass from quarterback Williams. The end took the pass on the enemy 30 and dashed the rest of the way. Swing has scored on a pass in every game this fall. Williams then did the unusual for junior high play: he kicked the extra point.

Mooreville rolled to a 21-0 halftime lead on Swing's third TD. Larry Norton came in to direct the Imp attack after Williams hurt his throwing shoulder, and Norton continued the fine quarterbacking performance by zipping a winner to Swing on the two. Williams tried another kick, but it was blocked.

The Imp defense dozed off midway the third quarter, and permitted Concord to begin its offensive thrust. With 5:13 left, the visitors rolled in from the one for their first score. Then Concord's Ken Douglas picked off a Timmy Eller pass and ran to the three. Gerald McClanrock charged in for the second tally.

In the fourth period, Chip Irby returned a Mooreville punt 45 yards to pull the visitors to within a point. The point-after effort, at 3:33 left, failed, and the Imps held their slim lead.

But with 48 seconds remaining, disaster struck for the locals. A fumbled was recovered by Concord. A fired-up Imp defense led by Billy Graham and Billy Cornet stopped the drive, however, and preserved the one-point victory.

Give Your Hunting Dog Some Pre-Season Work

The sun is setting earlier and there's a nip in the morning and evening air. For millions of American sportsmen, these signals have a meaning. Hunting season is coming.

Your dog needs no calendar to tell him what time of year it is. Lower temperatures seem to charge him with renewed energy, and his nose already has been sniffing out old familiar messages from the freshening breezes.

Hunting with a dog can be a double blessing since it can enhance both your enjoyment of the sport and your success as well. But before you put your four-footed game-finder back in action, it is only fair to give him a pre-season tuneup.

A dog that has been confined to the kennel or a limited run for a number of months should have the opportunity to unlimber his summer-soft muscles and develop his stamina before being asked for a hard day's hunt.

Beginning at least a full month before actual hunting begins, if possible, he should be given a run of 15 to 20 minutes a day, stretched out to an hour or two on weekends. This is really important. A dog that won't respond properly to a hunt will also harden up his pads for the tougher trekking ahead. This also is the best time to re-establish his quick response to basic obedience commands. No more than 10 minutes a day need be devoted to this phase of his preparation, but it is important.

Remember to adjust his diet to his increased activity. A good hunting dog should be slim but not starved.

It's YOUR Money

How's Your Year-To-Year Financial Progress?

A simple balance sheet, kept from year to year, can tell you. It can help show how your expenses and expenditures are stacking up against your income; whether your assets are gaining on, or losing ground against, your debts and other liabilities; in short, whether you're worth more—or less—than last year and other years. The statement (see suggested form below), with the year-by-year figures lines up against each other, can help you decide if there's room for improvement; for example, in reducing your expenses, increasing your savings, or otherwise bettering your financial position.

Cash (savings, checking accounts, other)
Securities (current value)
Life Insurance
(Current cash value)
Real estate (estimated or appraised value)
Personal property (auto, appliances, furniture, other)
TOTAL ASSETS
Liabilities (what you owe)
Mortgages (outstanding balance)
Installment debts (auto, appliances, furniture, other)
Current debts (monthly bills and accounts)
Miscellaneous debts (taxes, promissory notes, other)
TOTAL LIABILITIES
*Net worth (total assets minus total liabilities)

*If your net worth exceeds $60,000 (the amount of the Federal Estate Tax Exemption for an individual) you may want to discuss the impact of death taxes on your estate with one of our Trust Officers. Kaiser Aluminum un-rustables: strong as you need, as long as you need.

A building is as strong as its basic structure. You don't add strength by hanging roofing and siding on it. Properly applied to a strong frame, solid, easy-to-handle Kaiser Aluminum Roofing and Siding will withstand any wind or snow load the building itself will.

Kaiser Aluminum roofing and siding is a permanent investment in better buildings. You don't have to paint it for protection. And it lasts and lasts.
