Well-Played Spots Pace Victorious Vikes

A High-Stepping Lenster Pads Game-High Stats With Cut Against Grain

The times that South Iredell chose to play well offset those times during which it didn't.

And the result for the visiting Vikings came in the form of an offensively-dominated and defensively-controlled, 13-zip blanking of host Charlotte Country Day in what was the varsity football season opener for both teams Friday night.

Both South Iredell and Country Day, yearly gridiron foes on a home-and-home basis, observed open dates on the first official weekend of the high school season statewide.

But Friday night, in helping kick off the extended Labor Day holiday, it was the Vikes who reaped the benefits from that extra week of rehearsal, doing most of the damage to themselves while registering the shutout in their debut.

The triumph extended to five consecutive the number of non-conference victories recorded by South Iredell, dating back to a 4-0 showing enjoyed during a 7-3 overall season in 1986, and it extended the Vikes' current winning streak over the independent class Buccaneers to two straight.

"We played well at times," summed up South Iredell mentor Bill Mayhew, who with the win successfully celebrated the christening of this his silver anniversary in the coaching profession, "but not so well at other times. We really didn't show a whole lot of intensity. We left ourselves some room for improvement. Still, you love to win that first game, and we did what we had to do when we had to do it. The kids realize, though, that we have to have a complete game effort. We think we can play better."

If so, then let that serve as a warning to future South Iredell foes.

Friday night, the Vikes nearly tripled the ground-gaining efforts of their out-manned hosts and came close to doubling Country Day's output through the air.

That kind of domination in the trenches was reflected on the scoreboard, as the Vikes registered a touchdown each in the second and third periods while preventing the Bucs from establishing a legitimate threat throughout the contest.

"We've never had an easy time with Country Day," insisted Mayhew, "and that was again the case Friday. We could have put some more points on the board, but we hurt ourselves with penalties and turnovers. Again, that goes back to our lack of intensity and concentration. Some of that may have to do with it being our first game."

South Iredell wound up as its own worst enemy, losing a pair of fumbles inside the CCD 10 yard line and being forced to cancel what appeared to be yet another touchdown because of a penalty.

Despite those detours, South Iredell, displaying a patented stingy defensive effort that became a team trademark during last year's surprising success, still reached its destination by also engaging its expected powerful running game generated by a couple of second-season underclassmen.

The junior class duo of Omar Lenster at tailback, the team's leading ground gainer last year, and Ray Grady at fullback accounted for over 200 of the team's rushing yardage and half of the winners' point total.

"We figured our defense would be tough," stated Mayhew, "We really did a good job and kept them from threatening throughout the game. On offense, we established our running game early, which is what we wanted to do. The only things that stopped us were our own mental mistakes. Those are the things that we have to work on eliminating."

The secret South found to overcoming those mistakes was in the ability to strike quick, which is what the Vikes did in coming up with both of their, and the game's, scores.

With both teams being held scoreless throughout the opening period and through the majority of the second, the guests grabbed the all-important momentum just prior to intermission with a two-play drive that began with less than a minute remaining and culminated with inside-10 seconds left in the second stanza.

The climax came when junior quarterback Mike Hobbs, in his third varsity starting assignment, connected with favorite target split end Gerald Childress on a 15-yard toss that broke the game's scoring ice. The point after was provided by senior Toby Woods, tulking the cushion to 7-0 with nine seconds left in the half.

South Iredell's second, and final, TD was registered almost as quick, even though it covered more than three times the distance.

Lenster, garnering the reputation as a big-play back a year ago, showed why as he turned a simple draw play into a tantalizing, 70-yard scoring scamper midway the third quarter. This time, the PAT kick missed it mark, leaving the margin at what turned out to be the final spread of 13 points.

For the game, South Iredell triumphed in all major offensive categories.

The Vikes, powered by Lenster's game-high 158 yards, rambled for 268 yards on the ground, with Woods accounting for 61 more. In the air, Hobbs managed to keep the Buccaneer secondary guessing by attempting seven passes, completing four for 59 yards. Childress was the top pass recipient, snaring three aerials for all but 10 of the yardage. South also used its ground-oreinted offense to amass 12 first downs.

As for 0-1 Country Day, it managed just at 100 yards rushing and was limited to only 38 more through the air. The Bucs tallied a mere handful of first downs.

The Vikes' only statistical casualties came in penalty yardage, where they were yellow-flagged for 59 yards compared to 47 for CCD, and in turnovers, with South losing the two fumbles but getting one of them back by accounting for the game's only interception.

South Iredell will ride its four quarters of shutout football into this week's action, which finds the Vikings making their home field debut.

Friday night, the Vikes will tee off for the first time this season in Viking Valley against the incoming West Rowan Falcons, who are riding a two-game winning streak that finds them within one more win of matching all of last season's total.

Last season, South Iredell grounded the then-hosting Falcons, 35-13.

Game time on the South Iredel High School field is set for 8 p.m. Friday.

West Rowan Seeks To Continue Its High-Flying Act With Visit To South

West Rowan's Falcons have been flying high so far this high school football season.

With Friday night's crushing, 33-8 lassoeing of the homestanding East Lincoln Mustangs, West Rowan ran its early-season winning streak to two games to come within a single victory of reaching last year's season-long total of three.

"I've been pleased with our effort so far," confirmed Randall Ward, hoping for a complete turnaround of last year's 3-7 record in what was his first year at the Falcon helm. "The kids have been executing well on both sides of the football. It's been a complete team effort on offense, defense, and on our specialty teams."

And West Rowan will have to continue that knock-out elementary play if it plans to remain ungrounded upon entering this week's clash.

West Rowan, a member of the Southern Piedmont Conference, travels to meet the host Vikings of South Iredell, themselves the wavers of a 1-0 record after recording a 13-0 conquest over host Charlotte Country Day in what was their season opener Friday night.

"South Iredell is as good a team as we will have faced all season," revealed Ward, who guided his team to an emotional victory over cross-county rival North Rowan to kick off the season two weeks ago. "They have some good sized linemen on offense who open some holes for their solid running game. We're hoping to show some improvement each week, and we'll need to play perhaps our best game against South Iredell."

The promising start on the part of the Falcons may be somewhat unexpected for those not directly involved with the team.

West returns only four players on both its offensive and defensive units, respectively. Heading into the season, the Falcons were expected to finish no higher than sixth in their seven-member league.

But already, after wins over both North Rowan and East Lincoln, West Rowan has provided some surprises.

"We've been able to pass and run the ball well," noted Ward, whose team scored twice via the air against North Rowan and then displayed an awesome ground attack in the rout of East Lincoln, "and again that goes back to our execution. So far, the kids have done just as we have asked them, and the results speak for themselves."

Already being counted among those results is something that the Falcons failed to do in all of last season, that of being able to put two wins in succession.

Last season was one filled with few ups and too many downs, as West opened the season with two straight losses, garnered a win, then lost four more in a row before winning again. The Falcons then closed out their season by splitting their final two games.

As a result, West finished alone in fifth place in its tough SPC that includes the likes of Marshville Forest Hills, Concord, and Northwest Cabarrus, all three of which are expected to accomplish good things on the gridiron this season.

Others teams in the SPC include Central Cabarrus, East Rowan, and Sun Valley.

Last year, the Vikings were among the teams that saddled the Falcons with a loss, as then-visiting South Iredell enjoyed one of its highest offensive outputs of the season with a 35-13 jaunt.

"We didn't play with a lot of intensity in our game against Country Day," cautioned Bill Mayhew, South Iredell's veteran mentor, "and we made some mistakes that we can't afford to make against West Rowan. I think we'll get our intensity back this week because we'll be playing at home for the first time. Still, we have to eliminate our mistakes, because West Rowan is the kind of team that can take advantage of them."

South Iredell will be the first of two staight Iredell County teams to battle West Rowan, which was also the case last season only in reverse order.

After traveling to Barium Springs this weekend, accounting for the Falcons' second straight road trip, West will return home for the first time since the opening weekend to entertain Mooresville.

After that, the Falcons will go back on the road to open SPC play at Central Cabarrus.

Game time on the South Iredell High School field is set for 8 p.m. Friday.

Home Debut Finds Trojans Entertaining Blue Devils

It seems like Northwest Cabarrus has been on the road forever.

And with good reason.

Ever since the current high school football season began two weeks ago, the Trojans have seen their home field only during practice while having played their first couple of games away from home.

But as of Friday night, all of that changes, when the Southern Piedmont Conference member makes its debut in front of the home faithful by entertaining schedule newcomer Mooresville Senior High.

Northwest, situated just outside of Concord, enters the inter-county affair harboring a 1-1 overall record as a result of its two weeks of travel time.

The Trojans, coming off a 3-3 season within their conference and 4-6 season overall, opened the season with a 14-0 loss to host Kannapolis and then followed that with a 12-10 defeat of homestanding South Rowan this past weekend.

Both the 4A Wonders and 4A Raiders, respectively, are considered sharp rivals of the 3A Trojans," so coming back home to face 2A Mooresville provides them with a contest not quite so jam-packed with accompanying emotions.

As for those Blue Devils, who appear on the NW Cabarrus slate for the first time, they are coming off a dramatic season-opening win at home against Mt. Pleasant, one that was rendered by a 10-3 in overtime.

Ironically, Mooresville is taking the place of Mt. Pleasant on the Northwest Cabarrus slate, as those latter two teams halted their annual rivalry as of this season.

With eight returning starters back on offense, and sevelt familiar faces back at familiar slots on defense, the Trojans entered the season with high hopes, ones that were supported by the team appearing in the 19th slot of the first Charlotte Observer Sweet 16 poll.

As a result of its abundance amount of returning talent, the Trojans are listed as pre-season favorites to jump from their fourth-place finish in the SPC a year ago to rule as league titleists this season.

This is the same conference, mind you, that houses the likes of annual playoff visitors Forest Hills and Concord, two teams that between then suffered only four losses in all of last season.

Other teams in the SPC include Central Cabarrus, East Rowan, Sun Valley, and West Rowan.

The Trojan are picked as favorites primarily due to the fact that second-season head coach Soupy Campbell has ditched the veer offense that spawned only 88 points last season for the more potent wishbone attack.

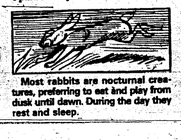
In fact, it was that offense, this season being boosted by the return of runningback Anthony Carrington, that caused most of last year's frustrations, with the team's six losses coming by a combined total of 34 points, including one by a single point and three by a field goal apiece.

The defense, anchored by the return of all-Piedmont lineback Willie Knox, allowed but just over eight points per outing in '86.

"Northwest will be a big challenge for us," agreed Steve Young, Mooresville's fifth-season head coach. "They can do a lot of things well. We know we can't make the mistakes we made last week against Mt. Pleasant and expect to come out on top. We'll have to be at our best."

Following Friday's home debut, the first of three straight home outings for the travel-weary Trojans, Northwest Cabarrus will take the following week off to observe its open date prior to christening play within the SPC by hosting East Rowan.

Game time on the Northwest Cabarrus High School field is set for 8 p.m. Friday.



Most rabbits are nocturnal creatures, preferring to eat and play from dusk until dawn. During the day they rest and sleep.

Saturday A Big Day For Soccer

Mooresville will definitely be where the soccer action is come Saturday.

With this weekend marking the opening of the North Carolina Youth Soccer Association's Fall Season, Mooresville will be the host site of a number of matches that will be taking place practically throughout the day at a pair of different sites.

The Mooresville Soccer Complex, behind South Elementary School, will be the day's hotbed of activity, with no fewer than five and perhaps as many as six bouts scheduled to unfold on the facility's middle of three new fields.

The field behind Mooresville Senior High will also be jam-packed with select soccer activity, with select soccer activity, with three beginning in mid-morning and continuing through the late portions of the evening.

The Iredell County Select Soccer Association, the local league that operates within the statewide NCYSA, will be the official host of the attractions, and the ICSSA will also be fielding a number of teams in the various matches.

The majority of the day's events will take place at the Soccer Complex, where competition in the girls division will be centered.

Matches are slated to begin at early at 9:30 a.m., with the final contest carrying a late-afternoon starting time.

So much girls action is planned, with a total of six matches on the agenda, that the finale of them is tabled to take place on the High School field beginning around 6 p.m.

Mooresville's own Under-16 girls team will serve as the day's hostesses, and they will take part in the activities twice during the day.

The first outing for the homestanding Under-16 ladies will come at 11:20 Saturday morning, when they square off against the Wilmington entry.

Mooresville's girls team will be back in action in that finale at 6, at which time they will meet the Charlotte Lady Tornadoes of Park Sharon on the High School field.

Other girls teams in the field include the Greensboro Peaches and Creams, the Winston-Salem Twins, and clubs representing Raleigh.

Boys division bouts will take center stage at the High School, where a pair of local entries will be making their season debuts.

Mooresville's '73 and '76 teams will both be making appearances at home, doing so by facing respective age group teams from Raleigh and Charlotte.

The matches on the High School field will get underway at 11 a.m.

A host of other area select teams will also be in action on the season's initial weekend, the rest of them making their debuts on the road.

In the boys division, the '74 team will be in Charlotte, the '75 crew in High Point, and the '77s will be playing in Morganton.

All of the teams are true representatives of the county, with players throughout Iredell littering the respective team rosters.

Throughout the fall season, Mooresville will be serving as the host for numerous games on selective weekends, with the field at the Soccer Complex and behind Mooresville Senior High serving as the match-playing sites.

WHIP Revises Broadcast Schedule

What a difference a win makes.

According to the tape-dealyed broadcasting schedule released by Mooresville radion station WHIP last week, replays of the Mooresville Senior High Blue Devils football games could be heard at various times throughout the following Saturday.

However, WHIP has since revised its broadcast plans beginning this weekend.

The taped broadcasts of the Friday night outings will take place beginning at 4 a.m. Saturday starting this weekend and continuing throughout the remainder of the season, according to Hugh Beaver, WHIP's sports director and the voice of the Blue Devils.

This weekend, the Devils go hunting for their second straight win by visiting Northwest Cabarrus.

If you can't be there in person, or even if you can, you can catch the game's play-by-play blows the following morning on WHIP, broadcasting at 13.50 on the AM dial.

Overtime Dramatics Provide Devils With Season-Opening, 10-3 Victory

The good, which has overshadowed so often by the bad and the ugly during the 1986 season, returned to play a starring role in Mooresville Senior High's 1987 varsity football season opener Friday night.

The host Blue Devils scored first and last, and weathered a regulation time-tying effort on the part of visiting first-time opponent Mt. Pleasant in between, to notch a 10-3 overtime victory in Mooresville stadium that served to further tame the still-winless Tigers.

The triumph provided a successful way for Senior High to christen its new campaign, one that comes of the heels of a frustrating, 2-8 showing the previous season.

"This is a good boost for us," emphasized Steve Young, Mooresgrapher of the win that kicked off his fifth season as the Devils head coach. "This means that we won't be zero-and-anything the rest of the year. It definitely did us some good to win this first game."

But it took some doing to do so.

After a scoreless first period, the hosts tallied the only points of the first half on a 25-yard field goal by senior Frank Matthews.

That appeared to be the only points that would be scored until Mt. Pleasant, appearing on the Mooresville schedule for the first time, earned itself a temporary stay of execution by knotting the score on a 32-yard three-pointer of its own inside 30 seconds to play in regulation.

Having discussed the possibility of a tie, and choosing to employ the game-deciding format of play in order to break it, prior to the game, both teams were granted an extra possession.

Mooresville, which won the game's second coin toss awarding it possession first, scored what turned out to be the game's only touchdown on the first play and then held the guests scratchless on all four of their downs to preserve the suddenly pressure-packed verdict.

"In non-conference games," revealed Young, "it's up to the coaches to decide whether to break a tie. I've always felt that nobody really enjoys a tie game, so we went with the decision to keep playing if that's the way it ended. It so happened that it did end that way, and it worked out in our favor. Considering the way it turned out, if we had settled with the tie, it would have been more like a loss to us."

That would have been the case as Mooresville dominated practically ever facet of the game, outgaining the guests both on the ground and in the air, edging them in first downs, winning the battle of turnovers and even amassing more penalty yardage.

In fact, it was that latter, combined with one other miscue, that prevented the Devils from reflecting such domination on the scoreboard.

The Blue Devils were riddled by over 100 yards in penalties, one of the yellow flags cancelling a 73-yard TD run that would have served to break the game open, and a late-game fumble paved the way for the Tigers to put together their game-tying drive.

"Most of our penalties were more mental than physical mistakes," Young pointed out. "We're hoping that a bunch of them were caused by the fact that it was our first game. As a reminder to the players, we're going to keep mentioning them during practice this wek. That way, maybe it will sink in and we'll be able to eliminate them altogether."

Though the penalties proved somewhat costly, Mooresville more than packed enough ammunition to offset their damage.

The team's top gun was healthy senior I-back Tommy Blakeney, who in one game showed all he has fully recovered from a nagging injury that limited him to around 600 yards last season after bursting onto the scene with a 1,000-yard performance as a sophomore.

Blakeney, who entered the season as the welcome workhorse of the offensive backfield, starred in that role, cradling 27 handoffs from junior quarterback Chris Sherrill and rambling for 172 yards, more by himself than the entire Mt. Pleasant offensive corps manufactured.

And that's not even counting that 73-yard touchdown scamper in the fourth quarter that was nullified by one of those pesty flags.

"Tommy did a good job for us," remarked a grateful Young. "He's a big part of our offense. That's the kind of effort we're going to have to have from him every week, and he knows it.

Blakeney's first contributions were felt late in the second period, as he rattled off four carries in a six-play drive that put the Devils at the Tiger eight yard line.

Then, with 28 seconds left in the half, Matthews, a part-time footballer who is also a co-captain on the Senior High soccer team, drilled a perfect end-over-ender through the uprights to account for the hosts' initial points of the half, the game, and the season.

Mooresville protected that lead until the late stages of the fourth quarter. It was then when the guests used a hook-and-ladder play and took advantage of an additional 15-yard penalty on the play to move deep into Blue Devil territory.

With but 17 seconds left in regulation, Tiger placekicker Richard Griffin booted his three-pointer from as many yards away as his jersey number — 32 — to knot the issue.

Realizing the game was going into overtime, the Devils smartly decided not to gamble away the remaining regulation time.

Upon winning the coin toss to decide the OT's first possession, Mooresville then sprang its offensive surprise on the untimed extra session's very first play.

As he had so many times during the game, Blakeney once again received the oval pigskin from Sherrill and embarked on what appeared to be yet another carry. This time, though, the senior pulled up and tossed a wobbly but on-target pass to tight end Tod Alexander, who was all alone in the Mt. Pleasant endzone as the Tiger defensive backs automatically figured Blakeney to run, for the game-deciding score. Matthews' point after, a routine kick that often spells the difference in overtimes, again hit its mark.

The Devils defense, which limited the guests to just over 100 yards on the ground, again failed to bend, preventing the Tigers from scoring and preserving the triumph.

For the game, the Devils finished with 182 yards on the ground, with QB Sherrill accounting for the 10 not collected by Blakeney. The victors added 48 yards through the air, Tith John Alexander and Anthony Harper each grabbing two passes, for 25 and 13 yards, respectively, and Tod Alexander cuddling his TD strike of 10 yards. Mooresville finished the game with 11 first downs.

As for Mt. Pleasant, the Tigers, who dipped to 0-2, managed 107 yards rushing and 26 more through the air, with two passes being intercepted. The guests also managed nine first downs.

Tod Alexander, who finished with 10 pass thefts last season, picked up where he left off by collecting both aerial steals. Senior linebacker Cliff Powers came up with the Devils' lone fumble recovery.

Mooresville puts its one-game winning streak on the line this week by making its first road trip of the season.

Friday night will find the Devils squaring off against host Northwest Cabarrus, whose 3A Trojans are 1-1 overall and making their first home appearance of the season.

Game time is set for 8 p.m.

T. Alexander Locks On To Pass That Provided Mooresville's Winning Score

Baseball In Fall? You Betcha

Fall would be a dreary season if only volleyballs, soccer balls and footballs filled the local air.

So why not baseball?

Not to worry, not to fear, for, in what will be the first time, organized baseball will be among the sports happening locally at this time of year.

Mooresville's Civis will be among the 10 teams taking part in the Senior Babe Ruth Fall Baseball League that is based out of Charlotte.

In addition to Mooresville, other teams in the league include Gastonia, Belmont, Cornelius and six teams from Charlotte.

This will mark the first fall that Mooresville will field a team in the league that has been staging its games for the past three autumns.

The season will kick off this weekend, with all the league's entries slated for double duty Saturday.

During the season, with Saturday serving as the lone playing day of the week, a couple of five-inning games will be played between competing teams. Playing doubleheaders will allow the teams to play a complete round-robin schedule within a limited, because of the weather, amount of time.

League play, which has each of the league's members squaring off against the other, will continue for as long as playable weather remains.

Last year, the league staged its games up until Halloween.

Mooresville's entry in the league is slated to engage in season-opening play this weekend.

As of early this week, coaches Allan Merritt and Scott Hardy still weren't sure which team that opening action would take place against because of a delay in the mailing of a league schedule.

The local team is made up of players 16 though 18 years of age, with a couple of 15-year-olds thrown in for good measure. It is basically the same age group that competes in the Senior Babe Ruth League's summer circuit.

"A lot of baseball players also play football," explained Merritt, "but this league is for those who play baseball only. It's a way to keep them sharp, because it's a long time before the next baseball season arrives. It's more or less an instructional-type league. We're out there to win, though."

In addition to the doubleheader playing schedule, another notable change will be present during league games this fall.

While the regular number of nine players will assume positions on the field, a team may put as many as 12 players in its batting order.

This is designed to give those players who, though they may not be on the field, a chance to still take a few cuts at live pitching.

Expecting to open on the road this weekend, Mooresville will play its share of home games. Those outings will take place at either the Moor Park or Mooresville Senior High School field on Saturday mornings, depending on which is available for those respective home dates.

Though this marks the first collaboration of efforts for coaches Merritt and Hardy, they are expected to become a familiar team. The former has handled the head coaching duties of the Civis the past several seasons, and the latter is expected to join him as an assistant next summer.
