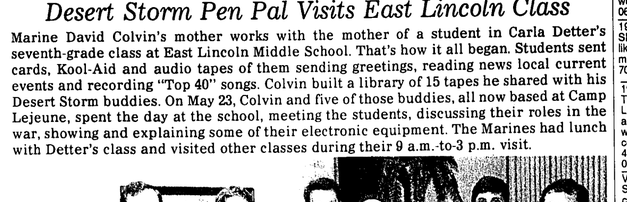
Desert Storm Pen Pal Visits East Lincoln Class

Marine David Colvin's mother works with the mother of a student in Carla Detter's seventh-grade class at East Lincoln Middle School. That's how it all began. Students sent cards, Kool-Aid and audio tapes of them sending greetings, reading news local current events and recording "Top 40" songs. Colvin built a library of 15 tapes he shared with his Desert Storm buddies. On May 23, Colvin and five of those buddies, all now based at Camp Lejeune, spent the day at the school, meeting the students, discussing their roles in the war, showing and explaining some of their electronic equipment. The Marines had lunch with Detter's class and visited other classes during their 9 a.m.-to-3 p.m. visit.



Mooresville Jaycees' Whitesell Administration
