NC 4-H Space Rendezvous Open To All Young People

Five-four-three-two... Blast-off to an exciting summer of hands-on learning about space science and technology at the 1991 North Carolina 4-H Space Rendezvous.

Nelson McCaskill, Iredell County extension 4-H agent, states that 4-H Space Rendezvous is designed to allow young people between the ages of nine and the opportunity to study space science and astronomy, high-tech textiles, space-age foods, the physics of the space shuttle and model rocketry, and basic or advanced computer science. The 1991 Space Rendezvous will be held the week of July 14-20 at the Penn 4-H Educational Center near Reidsville.

During their week-long mission, Newton participants will learn how nylon is made for use in a space suit, how foods are processed and packaged for shuttle missions, how computers are used to simulate space flight and the physics and logistics of a space shuttle launch. In addition to these and other learning opportunities, two periods daily will be devoted to supervised recreational activities and classes.
