Sherrill To Pursue MFA In Writing

Kenneth Steven Sherrill is following the footsteps of some of the country's most successful and respected writers. Sherrill, the son of Jimmy and Doris Sherrill of Mooreville, has been accepted as a master of fine arts candidate in the Iowa Writer's Workshop. Sherrill is a 1991 graduate of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in English. He is the first UNCC graduate to be admitted to the Iowa Writer's Workshop. The Workshop, part of the University of Iowa in Iowa City, was one of the first — and is one of the most respected — writing programs in the country. The list of past participants includes, among others, Flannery O'Connor, John Irving and Kurt Vonnegut. Sherrill will begin his studies in the poetry workshop in Iowa this fall. Sherrill attended Mooreville Schools from 1970 to 1978 and has worked in various fields, including jobs as a chef. He returned to school in 1985.
