Brothers, Sisters, 'Littles,' Enjoy Picnic, Fun In The Sun

Volunteers and members of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Iredell County participated in a fun outing and picnic last week at Edgemore Park.

The event was co-sponsored by the Mooresville-South Iredell Chamber of Commerce, the Big Brother/Big Sister organization and the Mooresville Graded School District.

The picnic gave volunteers and "littles" from the area an enjoyable time filled with entertainment, food and recreation. Approximately 100 folks took part in the event.

The Big Brother/Big Sister program is designed to help children in their social, emotional and character development. The program's goals including working to improve the child's attendance and academic performance at school. It also works to improve the quality of life for students who are considered "at risk" by providing a one-on-one relationship with a supportive adult role model.

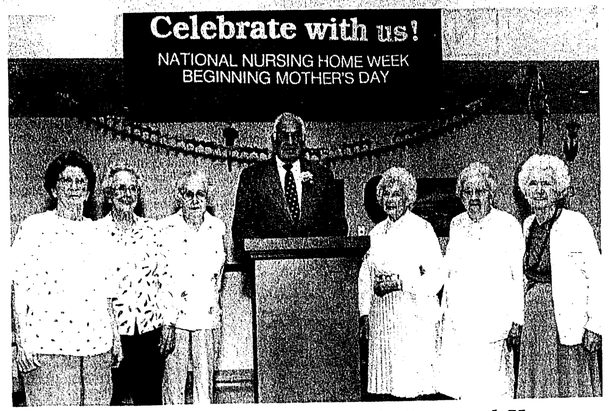
Volunteers from both the commercial and private sectors of the Mooresville community are matched with students experiencing difficulty in academic and behavioral performance.

These volunteers spend one hour each week with their youngsters sharing lunch and a variety of activities which help to develop a relationship between the adult and child.

This supportive relationship helps the child build confidence, self-esteem and the motivation they lack to improve their school performance.

If you would like more information about the Big Brother/Big Sister program in the Mooresville area, contact Mike Tucker at 663-1923 or Richard Lowder at 664-5553.

Participants are one big happy family during day in the park



National Nursing Home Week Observed Here

Early Monday, Mooresville Mayor Joe Knox joined residents of Brian Center Health and Retirement Center and Meridian Nursing Center in celebrating National Nursing Home Week. With him at Meridian are, from left, are Sara Umstead, Katie Karriker and Winnie Parker, all Brian residents; and Meridian residents Barbara Duvall, Mary Wilson and Edna Mott. The annual emphasis on nursing homes began Mother's Day and continues through Friday with daily activities at both facilities. Spokesmen for both said all residents of the community are welcome to visit during all of the events.

Spring Revival Planned At Rocky Mount UMC

A spring revival will be conducted at Rocky Mount United Methodist Church on Perth Road May 19-22. Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each day.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. J. Alton Fitzgerald, pastor of Mount Olivet United Methodist Church in Winston-Salem. He is the father of Rocky Mount's pastor, the Rev. Chris Fitzgerald.

There will be special music each evening. A fellowship supper is planned at 6 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall.

The revival is a continuation of the series of Food for the Body, Food for the Soul, a Sunday-evening tradition at Rocky Mount UMC.

A church spokesman this week issued an invitation to the public to attend the series of services.

"Having Birthday Parties Is Great Fun.... And This Was My First"

Marteia (Marte) Fuller is the daughter of Marty and Mitzi Fuller of Mooresville. On May 6, Marte celebrated her first birthday. She was given a party by her parents which involved family members and friends. Her grandparents are Fairye Fuller and the late Charles Fuller of Mooresville and Kermit and Jean Martin of Landis.

Discounts For Students At Tweetsie RR

Tweetsie Railroad will offer student discounts during "sneak week" May 18-24 as a way of introducing the young people to the heritage of North Carolina railroads. Schools interested in taking part should contact the theme park at Blowing Rock.

In addition to riding the traing powered by a steam engine, students will see demonstrations by various craftsmen, and they will view exhibits of the role of Tweetsie in the development of the North Carolina mountains.

Fly-In: 'Instant Tradition'

Barbara Smith, children Michelle, Beth, Scott of Charlotte among the visitors

Lake Norman Airpark and its owner, Tom Wilson, have created an instant tradition. Its "first annual" fly-in May 11 was not nearly so optimistic as prophetic.

The airpark west of town on Perth never looked better: fresh sealer and markings on its runway, fresh paint on buildings, acres of freshly-cut grass. Mother Nature provided a breeze and a sun-shielding overcast, even as she clouded up and rained on Mooresville five miles away.

Some 25 members of Civil Air Patrol units from Gastonia, Charlotte, Concord and Kannapolis helped ensure a safe outing by directing aircraft on the ground throughout the day.

All of which was appreciated by some 800 visitors, who also were treated to:

•A variety of aircraft, flown and displayed on the ground, including helicopters, paraplanes, ultralights, WWII trainers, restored classics, homebuilts.

•A dazzling demonstration of the aerobatics capabilities of radio-controlled miniatures by members of the RC Wingers of Mooresville.

•Precision-bombing competition in which small bags of flour were dropped toward a runway target. CAP member Greg Root won with a drop within 20 feet.

•Food catered by Big Daddy's of Lake Norman Restaurant.

•Sightseeing flights over the area.

•Live music.

Wilson and his staff were delighted with public response.

"Everybody seemed ready to enjoy a spring outing," Wilson said. "We wanted a family-outing atmosphere and that's what we had. We appreciate the attendance, and we especially thank those who flew their airplanes in, and all who helped organize and conduct the fly-in."
