Letters to the Editor...

U.S. MAIL

Dear Mr. Editor:

Halloween has come and gone for another year, but before the costumes, masks and "trick or treat" bags are stored away in a closet, I would like to register a protest concerning one of the customs of this night which I feel has gotten out of hand. By now I'm sure you know I mean the annual "trick or treat" brigade, heralded by the constant doorbell ringing, the never-ending stream of witches, gobblins and sometimes even a leather-jacketed teen or two with their already well-filled bags extended for a hand-out.

Since we live in a rural area and are seldom visited by more than a dozen spooks (whom we always recognize as neighbor children), I honestly did not realize the scope of this house-to-house, street-to-street canvass of trick-or-treaters, who are usually transported by parents in their cars. Not until this year when the Junior Civic League was short on high school students helping us to conduct the UNICEF Drive did three other members and I go out to help canvass for this worthy cause. As a unit we were amazed and alarmed that we could hardly ring a doorbell alone for there were so many children coming and going; and because we could hardly maneuver our car because of the traffic, presumably parents of all these children. We were almost ashamed to ask for a donation of these residents, because they were already asked to give so much. If we had all the money spent on candies, gum, favors, cookies or fruit for giveaway in their neighborhood alone, our UNICEF cartons would have been filled and overflowing. We urge people to contribute their pennies, nickles, dimes and quarters to UNICEF instead of giving away treats, and yet is it fair that they be asked for both?

Now, I am a mother of three children and I know how much they enjoy this fun, but something is definitely wrong in the system when it boils down to merely a begging process. One lady we called on in a well-to-do neighborhood in the heart of Mooresville residential area said that she had had trick-or-treaters that she did not know from as far away as Mount Ulla and other areas. In my opinion, this is ridiculous and carrying the custom to an extreme. What are we teaching our children? That they should intrude upon a stranger's privacy and ask for a hand-out, all in the name of Halloween fun? And is it fun to collect a bulging bag full of undeserved treats that they could not possibly eat all of anyway? It seems to me that it is the duty of parents to curb this nonsense on Halloween.

On behalf of the Junior Civic League, I would like to sincerely thank all those who did contribute to the UNICEF cause this year in spite of all the other askings, and to tell you that your money will be well-used to help give children a treat all over the world who have dealt only tricks so far. Also, our appreciation goes to those young people from the Beta Club and the youth groups at Central Methodist, Broad Street Methodist and the Second Presbyterian Churches, who brought in a total of $100.35 for our club to send to the UNICEF fund this year.

And a special thank you to Rev. and Mrs. Thad MacDonald for their interest and services on this project.

Through UNICEF, just one penny can provide a child with five glasses of milk, or the innoculation to protect a child from tuberculosis, where it is a "trick" just to stay alive. How much more important is this than the senseless swapping of "treats" among our own healthy children!

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for being my listening post.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles Brawley,
President
Junior Civic League

Merry Christmas! Not really, but our writer Ylis feceived a Christmas present from Lisa and B. J. It's a motor for his scooter—to help him get around faster.

Two weeks ago our ninth grade girls' gym classes went to Davidson College to see the boys and the soccer game with State. It was a great game and we had a great time in spite of the fact that Davidson lost.

Basketball practice started last Monday. The team was chosen Friday. Its members are Ponda Hayes, Sue Brooks, Jane Church, Debbie Burdette, Judy Kistler, Linda Benfield, Jane Kelly, Janet Oliphant, Betty Jo Wike, Jeanne Talbert, Lisa Alexander, Linda Fouts, Donna Allison, Judy Robinson, Susan Brantley, Mary Anne Charles, Annie Brawley, Christine Barlow, and June Wilson. With these girls on the court, and Mr. Woody and Miss Dennis on the sidelines, we should win all of our games this year.

Lee Suther is back in school after extensive surgery on his phalange. Ylis assisted in the operation; that's why he left school early last week.

Since Ylis got his motor scooter fixed he decided to interview one of our new 7th grade teachers. This interview comes from room 8. This room has been occupied by many teachers but Mrs. Kercher may prove to be one of the best of its occupants.

Mrs. Sylvia W. Kercher was born May 15, 1936, in Denmark, South Carolina. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Williams of Hickory, North Carolina.

Her husband, Rev. R. Paul Kercher, is minister at Second Presbyterian Church in Mooresville.

She graduated from Claremont Central in Hickory and continued her studies at the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Kercher taught in Durham, and Franklin County Schools, before coming to MJHS.

While not teaching Mrs. Kercher spends most of her time at music and cooking.

Mrs. Kercher teaches seventh grade social studies. We are glad that she is a member of our faculty.

This week our question is:

What is your most precious possession?

My gym shorts — Diane Benfield.

My Cat — Suzanne Mills.

Science Project II — Lynn Cloninger.

My Little Sister! — Suzanna Ham.

I'll never Tell! — Alice McNeely.

Memories of Room 10 — Wayne Baker.

My Football! — Kelly Compton.

My Bike — Sidney Morrow.

My Cat — Cherryl Brown.

My Family, Friends, and Relatives — Bobby Gibson.

My Girl Friend! — Terri Vickers.

My Mother, Father, Sister, Brother And My Dogs! — Marsha Deaton.

My Life — Richard Gragg.

My Football and My Dogs — Vickie Kennerly.

My Bed and Trunk — Bill Kerr.

My Life and Parents — Debbie Morrow.

My Money — Freddy Baker.

My Good Looks (Ha Ha!) — Johnnie H.

My Glasses, I can't see much without them and I like to know what's going on! — Jane Kelly.

?????? — Mitchell Coggins.

My Diary — Judy Shoemaker.

"Me!"—"Snob!" —

My Football Uniform — Randy Oliphant.

My Basketball! — Mary Anne Charles.

My Family — Kenneth Ammons.

My most precious possession is my little dog—his name is Tiny — Bobby Nantz.

My most precious possession is my little 3 year old sister — Elizabeth Pope.

My most precious possession is my stuffed dinosaur — Sharon Brown.

My most precious possession is my bedroom suite! — Kathy Johnson.

My Dial Soap — Paulette Comp.

My most precious possession is my Bible — Lynda Mack.

The most precious possession is my cow named Starr — Allen Sloop.

Freddie (my dog) is my most precious possession — Betty Jo Harrington.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK...

—BY—
REV. FLOYD TRECKER

Some people can't love God! "Who," you ask? Not the illiterate, for they can love. Not the poor, for they have hearts. Not the sinful, for we are all sinners.

"Who then," you repeat? The man who hates his brother! The Bible declares, "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar." (1 John 4:20)

This is straight talk! Straight from God! You can't love God if you hate your brother. Hate is a cancer that eats away a man's soul.

Better drop on your knees and ask the Great Physician to operate. Only He can remove it. Don't let hate keep you from God and destroy your life.

Dunbar Plans For Addition Are Okayed

Plans for the Dunbar School addition have been approved by the Division of Insurance, Raleigh, members of the Mooresville School Board were informed Monday evening at their regular monthly meeting.

These plans will now be reviewed by the Division of School Planning, Raleigh, before the working drawings are made by the architect.

The board authorized the superintendent, Dr. Roland Morgan, to secure a topographic map of the new junior high school site on Magnolia street. This map will be used for study by the architect to determine the location of the site and the type of building best suited for the site.

It is the desire of the board to start plans for the new junior high school as soon as possible in order that the building may be constructed without delay when funds are available.

The board discussed plans for further grading of the senior high school grounds and for appropriate shrubbery around the recently-constructed walks.

Motorcycle Races Scheduled Sunday

The Road Rebels Motorcycle Club will hold a motorcycle drag race Sunday, November 10, at the Mooresville Drag Strip.

The gates will open at 1 p.m., with elimination events slated to get underway at 2:30 p.m. Trophies will be awarded to winners in the various classes.

The weekly cycle races draw motorcyclists from Mooresville and other cities throughout the Piedmont.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

Wintertime with its rain and snow—and colds—is just around the corner.

Oh, yes, people have colds in the summer, but you just naturally associate colds with winter.

Realizing this, the Mooresville Tribune's roving reporter asked this question this week as he prepared one of the paper's weekly features—The People Speak:

What Is Your Remedy For A Cold?

The four on-the-streeters questioned had a ready answer, these answers, in full, being as follows:

RAY CLARK, student, Mooresville, route 4: "Take a good shot of liquor and go to bed."

MRS. JOE STOWE, homemaker, 114 South Academy street: "I don't really do anything. I've always heard it said that 'if you treat a cold it takes two weeks to get over it and if you don't treat it it takes 14 days.' And that is just about right, too!"

JUDY ANN SMITH, student, 717 Logan street: "Try to keep warm and take aspirins. Don't work too hard."

MRS. THOMAS LITTLE, homemaker, 329 West Moore avenue: "Take aspirins and get plenty of rest. If you don't improve, see a physician."
