'COULDN'T HAVE BEEN BETTER'

Bloodmobile Completes First Year

"We can't imagine any way the bloodmobile could have been more successful during 1963."

That was the way T. C. Homesley, director of the South Carolina Red Cross Chapter's blood service program, described the operation of the bloodmobile here during the year. He spoke following the bloodmobile's fifth and final visit of the year here Friday.

Homesley said 150 pints of blood were contributed during the Friday project. The collection pushed the total for 1963 to 1,000 pints. In excess of the 625-pint annual quota for this area.

"We've been saying this after each visit by the bloodmobile," Homesley said, "but we feel we should say it again. All persons connected with Red Cross, and particularly those involved in the blood service program, are deeply grateful for the assistance and cooperation we have received from the general public in this work. Our industries have been especially wonderful. Every industry associated with the blood service reached its individual plant quota this year."

There were thanks, too, for the doctors and nurses who gave their time to make the bloodmobile possible. Homesley said 30 women gave 90 hours of their time to assist in patient and administrative work connected with the bloodmobile visit Friday. As in the past, the Linwood Home Demonstration Club provided cookies for the patients. The goodies this week were a colorful variety of Christmas decorated cookies. For this service, canteen manager Mrs. Burt Dalton expressed her personal thanks.

There were other highlights of the bloodmobile visit Friday. Rock Deaton celebrated his 45th birthday by donating his 45th pint of blood to the Red Cross. Certificates were presented to gallon donors Miss Kathryn Brawley, H. E. Dikeman and James H. Robinson.

Homesley said the turnout for the Friday project was especially gratifying in view of the Christmas rush.

"By showing up in such numbers in such a busy time," he said, "Mooreville citizens proved they appreciate the humane and medical values of this blood program."

These persons gave blood Friday:

Mrs. Madie Elford, Mrs. Pauline Sinclair, Mrs. Merle Deaton, Shirley Robinson, Connie Billings, Mrs. Barbara Carpenter, Donald Freeze, Billy Stutts, Mrs. Lucille Christie, Mrs. Faye Faust, Mrs. Bessie Wayne, Joy Ervin, Donald Neel, Clyde A.
