By MRS. H. A. POSTON

—The Shepherd Home Demonstration Club held its November meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 p. m., with Mrs. H. A. Poston as hostess at her home.

Mrs. N. S. Grawley gave the opening devotion. Mrs. Eural Clippard and Mrs. H. E. McLean, Jr. gave demonstrations on "Christmas Decorations" that could be made of things left over from the previous Christmas. They had a beautiful display of things they made from last year's leftovers.

Mrs. Ralph Thompson, president, presided over the business session. Mrs. J. M. Moore, secretary, read the minutes of the October meeting and gave the financial report.

Mrs. J. M. Moore and Mrs. I. K. Day gave book reports.

Mrs. George Benfield of Maize Club, Mrs. Glenn Kistler of Linwood Club, and Mrs. Edward Ervin were visitors.

The hostess served delicious refreshments during the social hour to 16 ladies.

Mrs. Debbie Holcomb is undergoing treatment at Lowrance Hospital.

—Mrs. J. P. Lackey of the By-Bass remains a patient at Presbyterian Hospital, Charlotte. She is improving.

—Miss Rosemary Barker of Greensboro spent the week end with Rev. and Mrs. Homer Barker.

—Mrs. H. A. Poston and Mrs. George W. Coleman returned to their homes Sunday morning from a few days visit in Charlotte with Mr. and Mrs. Ken R. Poston and family and Mrs. A. B. Kunkle.

—Lester Sherrill of Maryland was guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Sherrill, the past week end. Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sherrill of Charlotte visited his parents Sunday night.

After breaking into an apartment in San Francisco and taking $29 worth of phonograph records, coins, and a table radio, a burglar left the following typewritten note: "In all my 30 years as an honest, hard-working burglar, seldom have I come across as miserable a haul as this. You people ought to leave some cigars around for guests. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves. Meditate on this, friends: Everything which I leave behind isn't even worth stealing. Sydney, the burglar."

—The pastor, the Rev. Joe Stowe, will be in charge, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Hugh Alexander A Candidate?

It is unfortunate, in our opinion, that Beverly Lake was persuaded by a dissident segment of our society to seek for the third time to become Governor of North Carolina.

His chance of winning is so small as to be almost infinitesimal, but his entry will foment an atmosphere of hate and venom into a campaign that otherwise would have been waged on the issues of good government.

We suspect that Lake doesn't know where he is because he doesn't know where he has been. How else could a man offer his candidacy who has been soundly repudiated by the people of North Carolina in two primaries? He has no new issues to inject into the campaign, and any hope he may have cherished in riding the "hate Kennedy" band wagon into office has been removed.

The only campaign approach he can follow is the one he used in both his unsuccessful efforts four years ago, and that is to attack the status quo in North Carolina. "North Carolina," he must preach, "is in bad shape and I am the man to correct matters."

Let's just take a brief look at what Lake must attack.

The State and local debt is very low, only three other states in the United States owe less on a per capita basis than North Carolina. Here are some interesting figures on the per capita debt in this country.

North Carolina $100.18
South East 287.10
National Average 359.54

North Carolina is one of the four states in the nation which has actually reduced its per capita debt over the last 10 years. It has been appreciably reduced under the economically operated administration of Governor Sanford.

Only two other states in the nation ask their citizens for less tax money on a per capita basis than do State and local governments of North Carolina.

Here are the per capita figures:

North Carolina $204.62
South East 241.11
National Average 301.04

This means, in a nutshell, that the services of our State and local governments cost the citizens less in North Carolina than in 48 other states.

And it must be noted here in this connection that the public school system, the prison system, and the highway system, are primarily state responsibilities in North Carolina. In most other states, these programs require heavy expenditures by LOCAL governments.

Only three other states in the nation are operating today with fewer state and local government employees per 10,000 population. Here are some figures:

North Carolina 278
South East 300
National Average 319

The citizens of North Carolina get a good return on their tax dollar.

The services given the public are of excellent quality, most of which have received national recognition as being outstanding. Where ranking has been done, these services are in the top 10 in the nation.

The cost to the citizens, however, is almost the lowest in the United States.

North Carolina ranked first in the nation for the 1961-62 period in the amount of improvement in public school education.

North Carolina maintains 10 per cent of all the state highways in the nation. We rank 12th in the United States as to proportion of highways which are paved. We rank 4th in the percentage of increase of paved road mileage since 1946.

North Carolina's economy is booming. Businessmen and farmers, with full confidence in our leadership in these areas, are lifting our per capita income.

Because of the effectiveness of our prison rehabilitation programs, especially alcoholic rehabilitation, North Carolina's prison population is decreasing. This is in sharp contrast to the national average for all states which shows a prison population of 3.5 per cent. A number of other states have been sending delegations to learn how North Carolina has been able to achieve this outstanding record.

North Carolina's mental hospital system is recognized as one of the outstanding in the nation. The effectiveness of this system is demonstrated by the fact that we treat the 16 Southern states as to the number of patients treated and released (per average resident population), 80 per cent of our first admission patients are discharged within 90 days.

Our Patrol has received the Outstanding Achievement Award for six years for police traffic supervision. It has been singled out as the number one highway patrol in the nation, and has usually ranked in the top four.

North Carolina is one of the few states in the Nation with a surplus, one of the few that didn't increase taxes for the next biennium. North Carolina is the only state in the Nation that didn't increase taxes for the next biennium.

MISS NORTH CAROLINA, SANTA SHARE LIMELIGHT

Bone-Chilling Wind, Blue Skies Greet Parade

"Clear-blue skies and a brisk, bone-chilling wind greeted Mooreville's annual Christmas parade Tuesday afternoon as it moved over its mile-long route along Main Street from Statesville avenue to the Mooreville baseball park.

Considered the fact Monday—and even Tuesday morning—was cloudy and rainy, Tuesday afternoon's weather was something to really bring joy to the hearts of the members of the Mooreville Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the seasonal pageant. Yes, it "cleared up" just in time for the parade.

And, with Jeanne Flinn Swann, Miss North Carolina, and Santa Claus sharing the limelight, the crowd gave little thought to the cold weather as they watched the 75-unit extravaganza.

The parade route was packed, five and six deep in many places. The seasonal pageant marked the official opening of Mooreville's Yule shopping season.

Sponsored by the Mooreville Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was made possible by the wholehearted cooperation of the town's business, industrial plants, and professional men.

Overall parade chairman was T. C. Homesley.

Long before the color guard from the Mooreville unit of the National Guard appeared, heralding the start of the extravaganza, the parade route was occupied.

Following the color guard were the official cars, occupied by Mayor John C. Miller, City Manager Cy Brooks, and William R. (Bill) Pope, Iredell's representative to the North Carolina General Assembly.

Then came the bands, the floats, and the pretty girls.

In lead cars were Jeanne Flinn Swann of Graham, the current Miss North Carolina, and Gail McKnight James, who was named Miss Mooreville in a Jaycee-sponsored contest last August.

Miss North Carolina's official cheerleaders for the Mooreville appearance were Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Caskey of Graham, both Mr. and Mrs. Caskey are former Mooreville residents. Caskey is the son of Mrs. N. C. Caskey of this city and the late Mr. Caskey, while Mrs. Caskey, the former Miss Hazel Millsaps, is a native Mooreville.

Mrs. Gates Is Head Of Heart Fund Memorial

Mrs. Charles Gates has been appointed memorial gifts chairman of the Fredell Heart Association, President Shaw Brown announced today.

The association recently initiated a year-around program to secure contributions from individuals or groups wishing to honor the memory of deceased friends.

Concert features the Mooreville Senior High School chorus and band and the Mooreville Junior High School band.

The program will begin at 8 p. m. with the Junior High School band on stage. They will be followed by the Senior High School band and then the Senior High School band. As a finale, the Senior High School band and chorus will combine in a selection of traditional carols and the grand finale will add the Junior High School band and all the audience in a magnificent rendition of that old favorite "Adeste Fideles" or "Come All Ye Faithful."

Memorial gifts are promptly acknowledged to the family of the deceased. The giver receives a receipt, indicating the amount for tax-record purposes. See CHAFF—Page 2

Yours truly, Uncle Dan

Plan Ac. 1,300 People, Boosts Size Per Cent

The most ambitious annexation program in Mooreville's history now is under consideration by the Town Board. The proposed expansion would increase the size of the town by 30 per cent and boost its population by more than 1,300.

The town commissioners this week accepted for study a detailed analysis of local annexation designs. The report, prepared by professional city planners, examines both the existing town proper and the adjacent areas involved in the general annexation. The plan suggested by the planners' consultants represents a drastic departure from the piecemeal approach to municipal growth that has been taken here in recent years.

The annexation being studied would swell the town's boundaries on nearly all sides, but two major areas make up the bulk of the 606 acres that would be added to the 2,049 acres currently within the corporate limits.

The section designated as Area One lies northeast of the present town limits. It is centered around Cascade Village, extending along both sides of and between N. C. 150 and N. C. 115 to the north. This area extends out from the town limits an average distance of 2,600 feet. It contains, in addition to the Cascade community, the lina has a balanced budget, it ranks in the bottom five states in the nation in taxes, debt, government employees per capita, North Carolina has the best credit rating given any state—AAA.

Much of this great record in North Carolina has been achieved in the past decade by the Hodges and Sanford administrations. And yet, despite such marked social and economic progress, Beverly Lake has had, so far as we have seen in the press, little else but criticism for both administrations. He could not, without stepping out of character, campaign for Governor without attacking both administrations and their great records.

As a candidate, Lake has to be much weaker than four years ago. Iredell county is a representative example of how the Lake strength has faded. He carried Iredell against Sanford in the second primary four years ago by 766 votes. He carried all six precincts in Statesville, carried Shiloh township heavily and Union Grove by a 5 to 1 margin. A turn-around in any one of these eight precincts would have come close to losing the county for him. This time around he will lose Shiloh and, in all probability, wards two, five and six in Statesville, and it will be close in Union Grove. In short, Lake hasn't a chance in Iredell this time around.

In our opinion, a four-year Lake administration would set North Carolina back a half century in social and economic progress. The people didn't want him four years ago and today they want him less.

The elevation of Lyndon Johnson to the Presidency was, in our opinion, a mortal blow in 1964 to the Republican party at both the Washington and North Carolina level.

Barry Goldwater is now a political corpse as far as the nomination is concerned. Nelson Rockefeller, according to the Republican N. Y. World Telegram & Sun, couldn't carry New York State. Nixon would have to run heavily in the South and Southwest to win, and he can't do that against Johnson.

At the North Carolina level, any Republican candidate for Governor — even Jonas had he run — would be political fodder against a candidate teamed with the popular Johnson.

We would like to see Hugh Alexander, still a legal resident of Kannapolis, come home and offer his candidacy for Congressman from the Ninth District. Hugh was one of the most able Congressmen in Washington. The switch of a handful of votes would have sent him back up there. That he was knifed in the back by a few whom he thought were his friends is now well known to Hugh and to his supporters in the District. Now that their identity is known to both Hugh and his followers, they would be taken care of the next time around.

We have talked with Hugh in the past week and while he gave no indication of his intentions, he did state that Iredell was the pivot county in any effort to replace Broyhill with a Democrat in Congress. An all-out drive by all factions of the Democratic party in Iredell for the party nomination, he believed, would win for the Democratic candidate in 1964.

Cowan Acting Postmaster At Mount Mourne

Charles Robert Cowan, native and lifelong resident of Mount Mourne, has been named acting postmaster at Mount Mourne, following the resignation of John William Caldwell.

Cowan took the oath of office Monday and began his duties Tuesday morning.

Cowan is the son of Mrs. Jesse M. Cowan of Mount Mourne and the late Mr. Cowan. He attended the Mount Mourne School, Davidson High School, and completed two years of work at N. C. State College in Raleigh.

His father, the late Jesse M. Cowan, served as Mount Mourne's post office for 40 years.

In recent years, Cowan has been doing construction work. Thirty-nine and single, Cowan makes his home with his mother in Mount Mourne.

To accommodate the shoppers, Mooreville stores will observe special hours during the Yuletide shopping season.

Beginning last week, November 28, and continuing until Christmas member stores of the Mooreville Merchants Association will forego their regular Tuesday afternoon closing in order to accommodate the public who will be busy with the Christmas shopping.

Beginning Monday, December 16, and continuing each week-day, Monday through Friday, through December 23, practically all local stores will remain open until 8:30 p. m. Closing time for Christmas Eve, December 24, is optional.

Exception to this will be the local super markets. These stores will remain open until 8:30 p. m. three nights, Thursday and Friday, December 19 and 20, and Monday, December 23. They will close at the regular time other nights.

Mooreville stores will be closed all day on Wednesday, December 25, in observance of Christmas, and Wednesday, January 1, New Year's Day.

Beginning Tuesday, January 7, member stores of the association again will begin observing the half-day holiday on Tuesday, closing each week on this day at 12 o'clock noon.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Millsaps, also of Mooreville.

In addition to the two local school bands — Mooreville Senior High and Mooreville Junior High — four other school bands were in the parade.

Union Grove High, Troutman High, Wilkes Central High, and Unity High.

Quite a few local and out-of-town school princesses added beauty to the seasonal pageant.

These included: Janice Mills, Miss High Miss at Mooreville Senior High School; Donnie Davis and Deborah Barrette, Mount Mourne School king and queen; Deborah Layle, Miss Dunbar High; Brenda Templeton, Miss Union Grove High; Sandy Sharpe, Carrousel princess from Mooreville Senior High School.

Also, Nancy Williams, Miss Troutman FFA; Barbara Ostwald, Troutman High School homecoming queen; Cathy Brumley and Jeffrey Martin, Shepherd School king and queen; Phyllis Torrence, Dunbar School homecoming queen; Wanda White, Miss Wilkes Central; Terry Sprinkle, Mooreville Senior High School homecoming queen; Deborah Burdette, Miss Union High; and Judy Shoemaker, Brawley School queen.

Fifteen of the floats were professionally-built ones, and were sponsored by the following businesses and industrial plants:

Goodman Drug, Medical Centre Pharmacy, Harris Teeter Supermarket, Leonard's Jewelry Store, Southern Biscuit Food Company, Mooreville Tribune, Draymore Manufacturing Corporation.

Also, John V. Varner & Company, Mooreville Federal Savings and Loan Association, Miller Drug, Commissioners, First National Bank, Barger Construction Company, Morrow Bros., Templeton Spinning Mills, Inc., and Chesnut Yarns Ltd., all of whom were in the parade.

Also, Mooreville Merchants Association, Mooreville Ice Cream Company, John Mack & Son, Fredrick Concrete Company, Continental Device Corporation, Mooreville Chamber of Commerce, Citizens Savings and Loan Association, Bell's Department Store, Troutman Shirt Company, George B. Stevens Company, Mooreville Mills, and Cascade Weaving Company.

In addition to these professionally-built floats were a number of others.

A number of automobile dealers were represented in the line of march, as were the Mooreville Fire Department and the Mooreville Rescue Department.

In addition to the sponsors of the float club, he is the Board of Directors of the Better Business Bureau and Junior Achievement.

He is a vice president of the Newspaper Advertising Executive Association, a past president of the Georgia Elks Association, and an honorary member of Alpha Delta Sigma, the national professional advertising fraternity for men.

Also in an honorary life membership of Pi Sigma Epsilon, national professional fraternity in Marketing, Sales Management and Selling. He is vice president of the Carolinas Carrousel.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY GILBERT PUCKETT

Miss Honeycutt, Mr. Puckett United In Marriage On Thanksgiving Day At Centenary Church

Charm and beauty marked the wedding of Miss Louise Elaine Honeycutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Honeycutt, of Mooreville, route 1, and Jerry Gilbert Puckett, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Puckett, of 301 West Lowrance street, Mooreville, on Thanksgiving Day, November 28, at five o'clock in the afternoon at the Centenary Methodist Church, Mount Ulla.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Harold McLaughlin, organist, and Miss Virginia Whitlow, soloist. Miss Whitlow sang "O Perfect Love, Forever True." The traditional wedding marches were used for the procession and the recessional.

The couple exchanged their vows before a lovely background of numerous palms and candelabra with lighted Cathedral tapers. On either side of the altar were arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums. White satin bows marked the pews for the families and guests and completed the wedding scene.

The bride, who made her wedding gown, was given in marriage by her father. The gown, featured a sheath lace dress with an over-dress of bride satin, styled with a round neckline and long pointed sleeves. The skirt of the over-dress opened in front and applied of lace accented each side of the skirt. A self-covered pillow, trimmed with pearls and applied with lace flowers matching the lace dress, held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums and ivy.

Mrs. Jay Coggin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Margaret Ann Freese was maid of honor. Miss Jean Atwell was a bridesmaid.

All of the attendants wore dresses of antique velvet designed with a high neckline, long sleeves and a semi-bell skirt. Their headpieces were matching pillbox hats with a circular veil. Each of the attendants carried two long stemmed bronze chrysanthemums and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums and ivy.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Jay Coggin. His bridesmaid was Larry Walker and Steve Walker, both of Mount Ulla.

Mesimer-Patterson Nuptials Spoken At Prospect Church

In a ceremony of beauty in the Prospect Presbyterian Church, Miss Margaret Lynn Patterson became the bride of Jerry Lynn Mesimer, on Wednesday, November 27, at seven o'clock in the evening. The bride's pastor, the Rev. Wilkes D. Macaulay officiated at the impressive ceremony. The couple were married on the 50th wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's grandparents.

Prior to and during the ceremony, a program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Lonnie Cox, organist, Miss Donna Poston, pianist and Miss Mary Lowrance, soloist. Mrs. Cox played "The Day of Golden Promise," by Hamblen and Miss Poston rendered "Liebestraum" by Liszt. As a duet, the organist and pianist, played "Ave Maria" by Schubert.

Miss Lowrance sang "O Promise Me," by Koven "Because" by D'Hardelot and "Seal Us O Holy Spirit" was rendered as the couple knelt for the benediction. The traditional wedding march was used for the processional and the recessional.

The wedding vows were spoken in a lovely setting of palms with seven-branched candelabra holding Cathedral tapers. A center arrangement of white gladioli and mums in a silver urn completed the wedding scene.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Mesimer, of Mooreville, route 3, was given in marriage by her father. Her full length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle featured a Sabrina neckline, outlined with sequins and pearls and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt was enhanced in the back with a cascade of tulle ruffles. Her veil of imported illusion was held in place by a pillbox hat, decorated with sequins and pearl trim. She carried a white prayerbook topped with a white orchid.

Bridesmaids were Miss Becky Mesimer, of Concord, cousin of the bridegroom and Miss Cathy Deal of Saint Pauls. They wore floor length dresses of gold peau de soie fashioned with bell shaped skirts. Their hairpieces were of matching gold and they carried one long stemmed Tulle roses.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Alban Mesimer of Concord, route 2, had his father as best man. Users were Larry Patterson of Mooreville, brother of the bride and Larry Mesimer of Concord, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Patterson chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of tulle silk organza with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a sheath of pale blue tulle with matching accessories. Both of the mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Grandmothers of the bride couple, Mrs. E. M. Poole of Mooreville, Mrs. W. S. Patterson and Stony Point, and Mrs. A. L. Mesimer of Concord, had corsages of white carnations.

After a wedding trip to the mountains, the couple will reside in Concord. For traveling, the bride chose a three piece beige knit suit with dark brown accessories and she lifted the orchid from Bible for a corsage.

Prior to her marriage, the bride attended Mooreville Senior High School and will continue her schooling at W. R. Odell High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of W. R. Odell High School and is employed by Western Electric Company in Charlotte.

For the occasion, the Cornelius home was decorated with all white floral arrangements of mums and carnations.

Miss Anne Cornelius assisted her mother in serving individual ily ice cream molds, bridal cake squares decorated in lilies-of-the-valley, mums, and punch.

The hosts' gift to the bride-elect was a wedding book.

The bride's table, covered with a white hand drawn cloth, was enhanced with a beautiful silver epergne arrangement of white mums and four candles. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped with three wedding bells, was on one end of the table and the punch bowl was placed at the opposite end of the table. Compotes held homemade mints and nuts.

A green, white and yellow color theme was used most effectively in the decor of the hall with the mantel being arranged with a silver bouquet of white mums in a silver and crystal bowl, flanked on either side with silver candelabra holding lighted tapers.

As guests arrived they were greeted by Miss Sharon Linker and directed to the register, which was kept by Miss Christine Patterson. The register table was appointed with a single long stemmed white rose in a crystal vase.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first-slice of wedding cake, Mrs. Henry Bravely and Mrs. W. D. Neel, completed the serving of the cake. Mrs. Larry Mesimer, of Concord, presided at the punch bowl. Assisting with the serving were: Miss Peggy Deal, Miss Kathy Deal, Miss Becky Mesimer, Mrs. L. W. Lowrance, and Mrs. Ray Fries.

For the occasion, the bride wore a green tulle dress fashioned with a matching overskirt and corsage of Tulle roses. She wore matching green shoes and white kid gloves.

Approximately 75 guests attended the cake-cutting.

Miss Sherrill Honored At Lovely Tea

Mrs. Homer Cornelius was hostess to a delightful Come and Sit tea at her home in Troutman on Saturday, November 23, from three to four o'clock in the afternoon, honoring Miss Judith Sherrill, bride-elect of December 1.

Miss Sherrill's marriage to David William Honbarger, of Salisbury, was solemnized at the Rocky Mount Methodist Church on Sunday, December 1, at 3:30 p. m.

Upon arrival of Miss Sherrill, the hostess presented her with a lovely pale pink debutante camelia corsage which complimented her soft pink wool dress.

For the occasion, the Cornelius home was decorated with all white floral arrangements of mums and carnations.

Sunshine Circle, Youth Chorus Visit Nursing Homes

The December meeting of the Sunshine Circle of the Mooreville Church of God met at the home of Mrs. Howard Pender on West Wilson avenue, Monday night, December 2.

During the business session it was reported that during the month of November, the members took a Sunshine Box to Mrs. Ellie Hooks. Thanksgiving fruit baskets were taken to Evelyn's Nursing Home, Benfield's Nursing Home and Brown's Nursing Home. The Youth Chorus of the church helped deliver the fruit baskets to the nursing homes and sang for the occupants. A flower was sent to Mrs. Tom Jeffers.

The annual Christmas party was planned for Sunday afternoon, December 15, at which time the Sunshine Sister of each member will be revealed.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Bob Smith, Roy Wiggins, Mode Morrow, Herman McGee, Howard Pender, Miss Tonda Hoke, Marlene McGee, and Amanda Pender.

Mrs. James Pender, of David son, was a visitor.

Annexation

Salisbury Road development, the section around and including the Rowan Dairy and a number of subdivided properties.

This area contains 422 acres now in urban use with an average of 1.68 persons per acre. One-third of this territory coincides with the town limits. Only one-eighth of the area must coincide to qualify for annexation.

The second area being considered for annexation is generally south and southwest of the existing town limits. It stretches from near Dunbar School across Shearer's Chapel Road—roughly halfway around the town's original circular boundary.

This addition, which has an average fifth of between 1,000 and 1,200 feet, would bring in the Pinewood Circle subdivision, the southwest part of the Mooreville Mills Village, a section of Shearer's Chapel Road and considerable undeveloped land east of Shearer's Chapel Road.

There are 184 acres of land now in urban use in this sector. It has a population of 874, and half of the area would be within the present town limits.

The annexation study is the result of careful, expert examination of what the town and the areas under consideration for annexation can do for each other. The most obvious result of an annexation is more tax money in municipal coffers, but annexation by law is a two-way proposition.

As a starter, Mooreville will have to spend $24,249 to provide sewer service in the areas to be annexed. Another $58,814 will be invested in extending water service to residents of these areas.

The town has $505,000 in unissued bonds that can be used to provide the necessary sewer service. Sufficient utility capital reserve funds are available to finance expansion of the water system. Low requires that a municipality must provide utilities, or have work underway to provide them to newly-annexed areas within a year after annexation.

Other responsibilities of the town include police and fire protection, street lighting, providing street signs, sanitation and recreation.

The proposed general annexation would require two additional policemen, another patrol car, $1,000 to provide fire alarm boxes in the new sections of town, two more men, a street washer, another dump truck and a pickup truck in the street department.

Street lighting is no small matter. The planning consultants said 284 more street lamps would be needed at a cost of $4,400 per lamp. The 64 street name signs that must be erected will cost $1,020.

So the town has obligations it must meet in this program to mold the community into one unit. Each member of the Town Board received a copy of the annexation study Monday night. The board probably will adopt in January a resolution setting forth its intent to annex. The commissioners then will set public hearings and advertise them for the required four weeks. Following the hearings, the board can annex by ordinance.

view of monetary was explained to the board by the Recreation Commission last month.

"It boils down to this, gentlemen," the mayor said, "if the town is going to continue having organized recreation, the town is going to have to pay for it one way or another. Personally, I've always been in favor of letting the people decide. The question before us is, shall we call for a referendum and, if so, for how much?"

The board agreed a vote to decide the taxes-for-recreation question is in order. The how-much part of the question will be decided during the January meeting, the commissioners implied.

Spokesmen for the Recreation Commission will be asked to attend the board's first meeting of the new year. As always, the public is perfectly welcome to attend.

During the November meeting of the board, officials of the Recreation Commission bid a minimum of $20,000 is needed to bolster the current Recreation Department budget of $20,250 if the town can hope to maintain its current recreation program and operate a second recreation center soon to get under construction.

A beautiful, long-stemmed young lady from Graham was the town's special guest for the colorful Christmas parade Tuesday afternoon. The personable Jeanne Swanner—Miss North Carolina and Miss Congeniality of America—drew a constant following before, during and after the hour-long procession. While she waited to take her place of honor near the front of the parade, Miss Swanner relaxed by plunking a ukulele at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Riggs Goodman. Following the parade, she held court at the Jim Rossers. Never tiring of the steady flow of well-wishing grownups and awed children, she found time for a word with everyone, and time for autographs for the younger girls who, without exception, want to grow up to be like her. They have some powerful growing to do, as Miss North Carolina demonstrates. Towering her full 6-2, she playfully compares heights with petite Miss Mooresville, Gayle James, who stands a foot shorter. Grouped around the town and state queens are other local lovelies who had part in Tuesday's festivities. From left are Sandy Sharpe, Carrousel princess; Terry Sprinkle, Senior High homecoming queen; Janice Mills, Miss High Miss; and Debbie Burdette, Junior High queen.

If Your Check Bounces, Your Faucets Will Break The News

If you're short of money, but you don't want to run short of water, here's what to do:

You pay your water bill at the very last minute—around the 12th of the month—and you pay with a rubber check. It'll take the rest of the month for the check to come back marked, as you know it will be, "insufficient funds." By the time the town does you the favor of informing you of the "slip-up," why, it's time to start a new month.

That's the system a few Mooresville water customers have been usually habitually and to the distress of the town's bookkeepers. The Town Board put an end this week to the unintentional policy of accepting I.O.U.'s for water.

In the first place, it's crooked. Writing bad checks is against the law. In the second place, it's unfair to other water users who can't pay their bill, and honestly admit it, and get their water cut off.

Town Manager Cy Brooks suggested this remedy: Immediately after the rubber check bounces, the town will cut off the water of the errant customer—then the user will be notified of his "mistake." The customer will be required to pay the $1 reconnection fee to fill his faucets again.

The Town Board liked his plan and adopted it.

With the aid of sewing teachers and expertly written and illustrated guide books, both experienced and inexperienced home sewers are taught how to easily make adjustments, clean the machine and operate it properly.

They actually try stitching on samples of the newest natural and synthetic fabrics while learning to adjust the tension, stitch length, thread and needle. Then they take the next little box that comes with every machine. It's filled with a collection of oddly shaped metal forms, referred to as "attachments."

Once these are mastered, the sewer is ready to go back home and teach her young club members what they need to know to begin their clothing projects. This knowledge not only helps the women to have a better club, it also enables them to do more sewing with less effort at home.

The training materials, workbooks and instructors are all furnished free of charge by the Singer Company, sponsor of the program.

Since 1955 when sessions were first offered, 65,000 leaders and 345,000 members have received this made-to-order training, the Cooperative Extension Service reports.

Air-Conditioned Manhole Aids in Cable Splicing

Air-conditioning has reached down into the manholes in the streets of New York City.

When underground workers are splicing extra high-voltage cables a specially equipped trailer backs up to the manhole and air-conditioning equipment regulates temperature and humidity at comfortable levels.

SHIFTING BACK BONES DISCOVERED BY SCIENTISTS

In the Chicago Tribune a year or so ago, Dr. Theodore P. Van Deil wrote in his column about the aches and pains of our muscles and joints. He said, "A British physician, Dr. James McDermott, came to conclusion recently that many of these bizarre aches and pains are the result of poor posture while asleep." Also, "during sleep, the muscles relax, leaving the joints unsupported . . . at the same time, the nerves and other soft tissues are compressed by the shifting bones."

That sort of language could come from a chiropractor, but coming from such a source, you seldom get a chance to see it in print.

We agree with the British M. D. and predict that in the future years you will likely read such agreements of spinal nerve facts more frequently.

The next time you hear someone say bones do NOT compress nerves, you might try quoting this English physician, although for over 65 long hard years the chiropractic profession has been compiling millions of case records to prove it. The office of Dr. Howard J. Baker, who has been publishing similar facts in this paper for many weeks now.

Wide-Track, for instance. Wide-Track is what does away with tilting your way around turns. Pontiac's smoother, quieter ride is another thing you might point out. A big 389-cubic-inch Trophy V-8 is standard in each and every Pontiac. You get to choose from 34 engine/transmission teams to harness all that power. (Happy chomping!)

Now then—on to more of the things that make the '64 Pontiac so thoroughly likeable. Frankly, we couldn't think of anything radical to do with this car. Oh, we made the styling even more stylish, as you can plainly see. We lavished even more care on the interiors. We even improved the light bulbs. But as for engine/transmission teams to harness all that power. (Happy chomping!)

Dog Eats Steak, But Cash Grows

Fei Fo Yu, a Pekingese, had a yen for steaks, porterhouse and sirloin steak.

In order to make sure that the dog received his daily steak, his late mistress, Miss Elsie Dickey, of Philadelphia, left a $10,000 trust fund when she died in 1958.

Recently Fei Fo Yu died at the age of 12. His estate which has grown to $12,000, will go to the board of foreign and national relations of the Presbyterian church.

Meanwhile, here is another actual case history showing how compressed or irritated nerves can cause MORE than aching muscles.

Several years ago a fifty-six-year-old widow, who for years had been suffering with daily headaches, dizziness, gallbladder trouble, nervous indigestion, aching in back of the head, neck, and shoulders. She related that she had a constant low back pain that seemed to rob her of energy and left her with a "tired feeling." Upon recommendation of a friend she came to us for a spinal analysis that located several disturbed nerve areas and X-rays brought in to view the subluxations (misalignments) causing the interference producing the distressing symptoms. Our spinal adjustments corrected the shifted back bones and restored normal function. It was wonderful to see her feeling well again.

Millions of successful case histories such as this one have made chiropractic the largest non-medical healing art in the world. Results speak for themselves.

We cannot accept all cases . . . but we help almost all that we do accept.

Town To Try Burying Refuse To Rid Outlying Area Of A Smelly Problem

In an effort to rid the Shearer's Chapel Road area of smelly refuse caused by burning trash and garbage at the municipal dump, the town will try burying all of the community's refuse.

The town doesn't own a bulldozer large enough to dig a trench for the refuse, so Brooks was instructed to hire one. The small dozer the town owns will be used to cover the garbage and trash.

Brooks told the board that the landfill method would, of course, eliminate the smelly problem. He also pointed out that the burying plan is more expensive. He gave an example of how expensive by adding that a bulldozer large enough to handle the job would cost the town $16,000.

Before the town invests that

Vital Matters Acted Upon By C-C Directors

By BEULAH GRIFFIN

Directors of the ever-growing Mooresville Chamber of Commerce, in session last Wednesday, heard a report from its banquet speaker's committee, named a nominating committee, and acted upon various other matters.

John Alford, chairman of the organization's speaker's committee, announced that R. J. Alander, advertising manager of The Charlotte Observer and The Charlotte News, had accepted an invitation to speak at the Chamber's annual dinner meeting on January 21.

Looking forward to a new year, a three-member nominating committee was named, as follows: Dr. C. L. Bittinger, chairman; John V. Barger, and William S. (Bill) Neel. This committee will nominate four men as directors of the association to succeed Roy Creamer, Dr. C. L. Bittinger, John Simpson, and Mitchell Mack, whose three-year terms of office will expire January 1.

The directors will be elected at a meeting of the association's full membership, the date and place to be announced later.

It was announced at the directors' meeting last Wednesday that Dr. Boyce A. Brawley, Jim Mack Morrow, and W. J. Haselden planned to attend a presidents' annual meeting in Charlotte December 3.

The Chamber's executive secretary, W. J. Haselden, reported on the housing survey which is being conducted under the sponsorship of the Chamber in the industrial plants of the town. Purpose of this survey, it was stated, is to determine the number of houses people would like to rent or buy in the Mooresville area.

Haselden also outlined some of the facts which are being "put together" for a well known publication, The State. These facts, concerning Mooresville, will be included in the magazine's annual roundup of growth throughout North Carolina during 1963. It's "100 Milestone Edition" early in January.

The date of the December meeting of the directors was set for December 12 instead of December 19.

Funeral Rites Held For Mrs. Brotherton

Mrs. Myrtle Irene Karriker Brotherton, 64, wife of Bob Vance Brotherton, died at her home on Salisbury Drive at 2:45 p. m. Sunday. In declining health for the past year, she had been seriously ill several months.

A native of Rowan county, Mrs. Brotherton was born on October 4, 1899, a daughter of the late Henry and Martha Jane Overcash Karriker. She had spent most of her life in the Mooresville area and was well known and highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

The survivors, in addition to the husband, include: one daughter, Mrs. Frank Wilkinson of Lillington; two sisters, Mrs. R. L. Karriker of Mooresville, route 3, and Mrs. Floyd Best of China Grove; and one brother, Carl Karriker of Miami, Fla.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 p. m. Tuesday at the Concordia Lutheran Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Clyde Misenheimer, in charge, assisted by the Rev. Wilkes Macaulay, pastor of the Prospect Presbyterian Church. Burial was in the Concordia Lutheran Church cemetery.

Motorists Suffer Rash Of Holiday Accidents

Mooresville police were called to four traffic accidents during the Thanksgiving holiday. While none of the mishaps was as serious as those that caused three traffic fatalities in the area, they resulted in personal injury and heavy property damage.

A one-car crash occurred on Charlotte Street at 2 a. m. Thanksgiving Day. Frankie J. Westmoreland, 24, of 558 Biltmore St., was driving north on Charlotte when he lost control of his car. The auto crashed into a home at 228 Charlotte Street occupied by Mrs. Ellen Wilson, 81. Mrs. Wilson suffered minor injuries. Damage was estimated at $500 to the car and $70 to the house.

Westmoreland told officer Andy Strain his gas pedal stuck on the car, resulting in the accident. No charges were filed.

At 11 a. m. Friday, officer Marvin Barlow was called to investigate a two-car smashup at the intersection of Catawba Avenue and Church Street.

Joseph V. Knox Jr., 16, of 850 Cabarrus Avenue attempted to turn off Catawba onto Church when the car he was driving was struck by a car headed south on Church. This auto was being operated by Kenneth P. Deaton, 19, 229 East Winston Avenue. Deaton's car slammed into the left side of the Knox car and careened into the front yard of a home.

Damage to Knox's car was estimated at $700, while the repair bill to Deaton's sedan was placed at $500. Knox was charged with failing to yield right-of-way (Catawba is a stop street at Church) and Deaton was charged with speeding.

Another one-car accident occurred at 10:50 p. m. Saturday. Two persons were hurt when Arnold W. Carver, 23, attempted to turn off Broad Street onto Lowrance street and the car skidded into a utility pole. Carver was treated for minor injuries at Lowrance Hospital. His passenger, Brenda Gail Carver, 18, also was taken to the local hospital. She suffered a broken nose.

Both are of Mooresville, route 4. Officer Glenn Beaver investigated.

Heavy property damages resulted from a two-car collision Sunday at 11 a. m. on Broad Street at the intersection of Church Street. John Darrell Hudspeth, 38, of 215 West Stewart, and Roy Albert Coone, 34, of 276 S. Academy Street were driving south on Broad when the crash occurred. Coone tried to pass Hudspeth just as Hudspeth tried to turn off Broad into Brawley.

Patrolman Larry Barger placed damages to the left side of Hudspeth's car at $300, and he estimated it will cost $400 to fix the right side of Coone's auto. Hudspeth was charged with making an improper turn; Coone was charged with passing improperly.

By MRS. FLORENCE BROWN

Mrs. A. I. Johnson spent the week end with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Christie, at Denver. In the afternoon, Mrs. Johnson accompanied her husband and son to Charlotte to visit her son, S. C. Johnson, and Mrs. Johnson.

The Rev. Powell L. Wilkins, Jr., is conducting a Bible Study course at Jones Memorial Church on Wednesday instead of the regular prayer service. He requests each one attending to bring his Bible. All church members and other interested persons are invited to attend. The service is at 7 p. m.

The general meeting of the WSCS will be held at Jones Memorial Church Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. The president, Mrs. Charles Honeguy, will preside. The pastor, Rev. Powell Wilkins, has prepared a special Christmas program for the occasion.

The District Conference of the Statesville District will be held at the Statesville Hotel on Friday, December 6, at 10 o'clock.

Wednesday night, December 11, at 7 o'clock. The subject of the service will be built around Lottie Moon, a missionary, who served in China for forty years.

Mrs. Roy Pierce is president and Mrs. Dottie Laws is program chairman of the WMU.

The Lorena Kelly Bible Class of Jones Memorial Methodist Church met Tuesday evening in the Iredell Room of the Rowan Dairy Bar with Mrs. Matt Mabe presiding and Mrs. Cecil Settlemyre giving the devotion. Miss Lorena Kelly, for whom the class was named, will be a guest of the class.

Miss Kelly is on furlough from her work in the Congo in Africa. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Taylor of Statesville visited their sister-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Compton, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Shearlin and children, Jay and Debbie, of Newton visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cornelius Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Davis visited his brother and sister, Suford Davis and Mrs. Howard Miller, in Asheboro, Sunday. Mrs. Davis, wife of Shufford Davis, was buried Friday.

Mrs. Gertrude Darnell spent Thanksgiving in Charlotte.

Larry McDonald and Debra, of Long Island, N. Y., spent Thanksgiving with his sister, Mrs. Rufus Thompson and Mrs. Thompson.

Miss Bonnie Rizak of Southern Religious College in Kernersville was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Edmiston during the holidays.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Verble of ASTC at Boone spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Verble, at 1 Cascade Main street.

Dad Trying To Beat Stork Still Faces 4-Hour Wait

Before his fourth child was born, R. E. Lynch, of Louisville, made a number of practice runs to a hospital to determine how long it would take to get there from his home.

When the big day came, the couple drove to the hospital in the anticipated time. Then Lynch sat for six hours until his son, Timothy, was born.

A freakish accident Saturday evening on the Sherrill's Ford Road, one and one-half miles north of Terrill, claimed the lives of two Catawba county Negro men.

Arlington Norman Fish, 46, of Sherrill's Ford, route 1, and Ernest Vince McCombs, 67, of Star Route, Catawba, were pronounced dead upon arrival at the Lowrance Hospital.

The men reportedly were hit by one car and then run over by another vehicle.

Dr. Lewis Branton, Mooreville surgeon, said Saturday night that McCombs died of massive internal hemorrhages and a broken neck. He added that Fish also died of massive internal hemorrhages but suffered a crushed chest.

Patrolman Brinkley, who is stationed in Catawba, said that McCombs was apparently driving a 1959 Ford, owned by Harold Alexander Little, south on the Terrill Road when it ran out of gas.

He added that Fish was driving a 1960 Chevrolet north on the road and pulled partially off the road to give assistance to McCombs minutes before the accident occurred.

The veteran patrolman said that both of the men were in the middle of the highway when a 1959 Ford, driven by Betty Jean Proctor of Sherrill's Ford, came over a rise and skidded into both parked cars and the men. The girl said that when she came over the rise, she could not see due to bright lights from the parked Ford. The Proctor car first hit the Ford and then slid around hitting the Chevrolet.

Approximately five minutes later a 1959 Pontiac, driven by Mitchell Penniger, 17, of Terrill, reportedly came over the rise and apparently ran over the bodies and again struck the 1959 Ford. Jim Brown and Frank Owens, local ambulance attendants, said that Fish was knocked under the 1959 Ford and was pinned under the car for approximately 20 minutes before he could be removed.

They added that McCombs was lying face down on the shoulder of the road when they arrived at the scene.

Mrs. J. H. Cutchins, a nearby resident, heard the collision and called the ambulances, who radioed for the Newton-Conover Rescue Squad. Mrs. Cutchins left her house and wrapped the bodies in blankets until the ambulances arrived at the scene.

Damages were estimated at $350 to the 1959 Ford, $200 to the 1960 Chevrolet, $50 to the 1959 Pontiac and the 1959 Ford was estimated damaged beyond its market value.

Saturday night's deaths marked the 25th and 26th fatalities in Catawba County this year and the 18th fatality this year in that area of the county.

McCombs was transferred from Lowrance Hospital to Willis-Reynolds Funeral Home in Newton and Fish was taken to Morrison-Bryant Funeral Home here in Mooreville.

Patrolman Brinkley said that he is continuing his investigation.

Optimists Are Ready For Tree Sale

This sign stands all alone on the vacant lot at the intersection of Iredell Avenue and Church Street—but it won't be alone for long. Beginning Friday, December 13, as the sign proclaims, Mooreville Optimists will turn the lot into a forest of Christmas trees. The club already has taken orders for about 100 trees, and they hope to sell hundreds more to help finance their youth projects.

The outdoor showroom is across from Carolina Tire Co. Optimists will be on hand weekends and evenings after December 13 to sell the cedars and Canadian firs. The club members will take phone orders and deliver.

The pilot of a twin-engine airplane placed his aircraft on automatic pilot and turned midwife to help deliver a boy while flying 5,000 feet up in the air.

Mrs. Gertrude Gordon, of Brisbane, Australia, was being flown to a hospital when the baby was born. Both she and the baby, later named Silas, are in good condition.

Holshouser Is Re-Elected As Vice Chairman

The Iredell commissioners re-elected Robert Holshouser of Mooreville vice chairman of the county board during their regular monthly session Monday.

E. E. Boyer of Statesville was named to serve another one-year term as chairman of the board.

A highlight of the Monday meeting was a discussion by County Manager R. L. Shuford Jr. of the county manager form of government. Shuford began work as Iredell's first county manager last week.

The board decided to establish December 23 through December 27 as holidays for all county employees. The commissioners also declared that employees will enjoy a day of rest with pay New Year's Day. Reports were heard from various department heads.

Local Optimists To Hear Simmons

The Mooreville Optimist Club will have its program for its December 5 meeting a talk on "Freedom For Enterprise."

The speaker will be W. L. Simmons of Charlotte, who is with the Federated Mutual Insurance and Hardware Insurance Company. He represents the North Carolina Insurance Information Service as a member of its Speakers Bureau.

Talks by NCIS members are given on various fire and casualty insurance subjects as a service to better the public education and understanding of the important role the industry plays in our economy and the ways in which all citizens participate in making insurance rates.

The meeting will be presided over by Frank Burke, club president, and Jack Wooten, program chairman, will introduce the speaker.

The meeting will be held in the private dining room of Stone-Street Cafe, getting underway at 6 p. m.

A CHANGE CHANGEOVER — Planning a downtown shopping trip? No need to scrounge a handful of pennies from the kid's bank to feed the parking meters. The no-arm bandits are after big money now; they won't accept anything but nickels. Sgt. Wiley Jones, the town's traffic officer, was busy last week installing nickel-only mechanisms in the 102 meters along the three blocks of the Main Street business district. The fellow unloading the boxes from the truck is Lloyd Parker, an engineer with the firm that built the new meters. ## Rules In Home Decorating Contest Set Rules for the judging of the annual residential Christmas decorating contest in the Mooresville area, sponsored by the Mooresville Garden Council, have been issued.

The contest, to be judged on Thursday, December 10, is being promoted to spread the spirit of Christmas by means of decoration with lights.

Decorations will be judged on: Artistic merit—design and composition and arrangement of elements and color scheme.

Originality—new lighting ideas or effects and new ways of using standard devices such as candles, cutouts, wreaths and shapes formed with Christmas lamps.

Lighting techniques—use of regular lamps, spot and flood lamps, and the other lamps such as fluorescent, incandescent, reflector color lamps, etc.

Ingeniously—in using structure of house and surrounding to advantage.

Prizes will be given for the best overall decoration and to first, second, and third place winners.

Entry blanks may be obtained at Duke Power Company, Bell's Department Store and Delk's 5, 10, and 25 cent Store. These must be filled out and mailed to Duke Power Company before December 18.

The Mooresville Garden Council urges all home owners who plan to decorate this year for Christmas to enter the contest.

A BIT EARLY?—Well, we'll be completely honest with you, no. Mrs. Pete Coleman and her young daughter Elizabeth really aren't putting up Christmas decorations at their home at 439 Fieldstone Road. Mrs. Coleman graciously agreed to pretend to get the jump on the season as a means to promote the home decorating contest that will be sponsored by the local Garden Club Council. The contest is open to all residents of the Mooresville area. You have until December 18 to enter, and the entries will be judged the following day. Valuable prizes will be awarded the winners. Entry blanks are available at Duke Power, Bell's and Delk's. Decorations will be judged on originality and ingenuity in keeping with the spirit of Christmas.

Army In Dire Need Of Lady Enlistees

Contrary to popular belief, the United States Army is not just for men.

SFC William M. Howard, local Army recruiter, announced today that the Army is in dire need for women enlistees.

Women are assigned various and exciting jobs once they enlist. Some of these are flight simulator operator, flight operations specialist, chemical lab technician, supply specialist, medical specialist, automatic data processing specialist, photo lab operation, administration and transportation.

It must be said that requirements for women enlistees are very high. They must first be at least eighteen years of age, a high school graduate or its equivalent. They must have no police record other than minor traffic violations and, last but not least, they must be able to pass all written and physical examinations necessary for enlistment.

SFC Howard states that women are on an equal promotional basis with men for the same type position and are paid at the same rate as male enlistees. Other advantages to a three-year enlistment in the Army are: 30-day paid vacation, travel, medical and dental care, special clothing allowances for women, and, of course, the opportunity to select the field of training she wants prior to enlisting.

If any young women are interested in the above and desire more information they should contact SFC Howard by collect telephone call at Statesville, TR 24469 or they may make an appointment to see him when he comes on his weekly visit to Mooresville. His hours in Mooresville are every Friday from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. and he can be contacted during these hours at the National Guard Armory.

Devil Cagers, Odell Battle Here Friday

Mooreville's Senior High basketball team will battle Odell in a twin-bill here Friday night. Odell will be the opposition in the contests slated to begin at 7:00 p. m. in the Senior High Gym.

Coaches Harlan Bowman of the Devil Five and Roy Boyles of the Odell team have been sending their charges through rigorous practices during the first part of the week in preparation for the opener.

Only game time will tell just who Coach Boyles will select as a starting unit. A large number of lasses have been working out in hopes of making the squad. From a beginning of 25 girls, Boyles has around 20 applicants left from which to choose the starting six. In all probability, Boyles will use the few leftovers of last year's team, which was led by Sandy Torrence, with Sandy Torrence being the top talent returning. Torrence, a forward, and guard Drema Walters will be the keys to the success of this year's team.

Over on the boys side of the ledger, Coach Bowman has his entire starting unit returning for duty. These five are expected to carry the major part of the load in the Devils' quest for honor in North Piedmont competition.

Heading up the first five for the boys team are Johnny Barrier, Johnny Cane, Mike Robinson, Tommy Deal and Tim Roach. Bowman has a host of talent which will add to the depth of the team. As the season moves along it is quite possible some of these boys could well move into a starting position. Today (Thursday) and Friday, the members of the Booster Club will push the sale of tickets to the contest in an attempt to have the teams playing before a full house in this first game.

Recreation Cagers Open Season Friday With Two Games

Carl Baber, Mooreville recreation director, announces the Recreation Church Basketball League will begin play tomorrow (Friday) night. Two games, a girls' contest and boys' contest, will be played on the Civic Center court with the ladies game slated to get underway first, starting at 7 p. m.

Scheduled to meet in the open air are the ladies of Southside and those who make up a team representing both First Baptist and St. Mark's.

The second game of the night will begin about 8:15. Men of Southside and First Baptist will clash in this contest.

A full week of league competition will begin Monday night, December 9, when Prospect and Rocky Mount girls meet at 7 o'clock, to be followed by a match between the Prospect and Second Presbyterian boys.

Tuesday's card pits Berea and St. Mark's boys in the first game, and men of Central and St. Luke's in the second contest.

This will be the fourth year the department has sponsored the league which is to provide basketball recreation for members of the representative churches. To date, eight boys teams and four ladies teams make up the league.

Churches sponsoring a men's team are Southside, First Baptist, St. Mark's, Second Presbyterian, Central Methodist, Prospect, Berea and St. Luke's. Ladies teams

The Boosters, in an attempt to make the attendance at basketball games reach a new high, have agreed to sponsor this contest along with the first wrestling match Friday night, December 13. They have also taken it on themselves to help promote and boost for more backing for the other sports of the local school.

Reserve tomorrow night and attend the opening basketball game.

All Work, No Play For Senior High Wrestling Squad

It has been all work and no play as the local Blue Devil wrestlers continue their hard work in preparation for their opening match against South Mecklenburg Friday, December 13.

Coach Perry Pearson has stepped up the pace of his workouts in quest of getting his team in top shape for the coming schedule, which lists many of the top wrestling teams in the state.

The opening match is being sponsored by the Mooreville Boosters Club and members of the club have tickets available in many business places in town.

Indications are the Blue Devils will have a top notch team which will add a great number of thrills for the many fans who are expected to attend the matches.

Troutman's Novice Grapplers Tangle With W. Rowan Friday

After three weeks of practice, Troutman wrestling coach Bill Mayhew has announced his team ready for its opening match tomorrow (Friday) night. To be exact, when the 7:30 session gets underway at West Rowan it will mark the first time in the history of the county school they have fielded a grapple team.

Of the 27 boys listed on the squad, Mayhew will have to pick 11 to take on competition for the first time. Of his team only one boy, a transfer student from Arizona, has actually had any grapple experience. Roy Kress, in the 185-pound class, was an all-conference selection in his high school in Arizona. He will be the boy to watch for the Bobcats.

Mayhew refuses to give an appraisal of his team and he will wait until they are under fire just to see how good they will be. Quite a few boys have been showing up well in practice. With a little experience, Mayhew expects

Some of the boys who are expected to see action for Troutman are Roy Kress, Ron Kress, Don Hager, Larry Wilkins, Tony Miller, Al Blake, Larry Edwards, Dean Moore, Charles Hyde, Johnny Hoover and Ricky Mayhew.

Mooreville area grapple fans will be able to have their look at the Troutman team when the Bobcats come to Mooreville for a practice match against the Blue Devils the first of January.

Feathers Tell Age Of Duck
Have any of you hunters wondered about the age of the ducks you kill?

Well, it's possible to determine the age of ducks and geese by examining their tail feathers.

If the tip of a feather is pointed or rounded, the bird is an adult. If the tail feather is V-notched or square-ended, the bird is a young one.

will come from Prospect, Rocky Mount, Southside and a combination squad from the First Baptist and St. Mark's churches.

In Congo, Education Has Stirred A Sleeping Giant

Says Miss Lorena Kelly, Who Has Served In Africa 27 Years As Missionary

On a farm near Mount Mourne, a little girl was delighting to the feel of a swing in her backyard.

As she sailed out into space, then back again toward the ground, a thought flashed through her mind—one day she would become a missionary to Africa!

"I don't know why I had that thought," said Miss Lorena Kelly last week, "but it stayed with me until I got to Africa."

Today she is one of the Methodist Church's veteran missionaries to the Congo, having worked there since January 9, 1938.

She speaks with pride of the African people she has come to know... of the neat dress of many of them, their desire for education, and an ability to handle their own affairs when that education has been achieved.

Miss Kelly is presently residing at her childhood farm home in the Centre Church community while on furlough. She currently is busy with several speaking engagements in the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference. She will study in a college prior to returning to the Congo.

The veteran missionary's brother, Henry Moore Kelly, and his family live at the old homeplace. Miss Kelly is making her home with them during her furlough. Among her speaking engagements this week was an appearance Tuesday before members of the Central Methodist Church Women's Society of Christian Service.

She was dean of the Home Economics Department of Congo Polytechnic Institute in Leopoldville prior to returning to the U. S. The Institute was organized, when trouble erupted in the Congo in 1960, as a crash program to train men and women for various responsibilities. Miss Kelly said the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church gave a substantial financial grant to the Institute.

Miss Kelly feels the Methodist Church today has "an unprecedented opportunity" in the Congo. "There never has been a time when education has been at a premium such as it is now," she said.

"All the boys and girls are eager for education," she said. "Some want Christian education, but they all want education."

"If the church can meet the challenge of the day, then it will have an open door to Christian education, and through this avenue of Christian education, particularly higher education, the church can make a great impact on the future of the Congo," she said.

Miss Kelly worked in the Kasai Province where Wembo Nyama is the best known Methodist station—"our first and our largest," she said.

The war disrupted some of the church work in the Congo, and Miss Kelly pointed to the example of the Lodja Station, which was in 1963 reduced from about 600 to about 20 people. At this station, in addition to a primary school and a home economics school, training was given in Bible, and here also teachers were trained.

But the church is following those who fled and is continuing its work among them, Miss Kelly said.

The war has also greatly disrupted the economy of the nation, Miss Kelly said. For example, at one time, an area where rice and peanuts were raised could not get the product to areas wanting this food because of lack of transportation.

"The people burned the first crop of rice to have room to store the second crop," she said.

Miss Kelly said the United Nations and the Congo Protestant Council have helped ease this situation by supplying food in the areas of distress.

Talking about the important role of the church in the field of education in the Congo, Miss Kelly said that until a few years ago, anyone who had any education in the nation had been trained in a school—Protestant or Roman Catholic, and thus the majority of the government leaders today are church-trained.

"The president of the Senate in the Congo is a Protestant," she said, "and until a year ago the vice president of the Senate was a Methodist, and one of the former vice prime ministers was also a Methodist."

The Congolese have taken over leadership positions in most of the businesses and industry today, Miss Kelly said. "In a bank, for example, you will seldom see a white face."

"The trend and custom in the Congo today," she said, "is to put the administration of businesses in the hands of Congolese. Those in authority wear their coats; they look fine, and they are courteous."

The Congo, Miss Kelly explained, is composed of people of many opinions—"just as in the U. S."

She spoke of a Congolese graduate of Paine College (in Augusta, Ga.) who told her: "Yes, you have racial discrimination in the U. S., but we have it here (in the Congo) among the tribes. We want to take the best of your culture and the best of ours. We both have good things in our culture."

"The Congolese," Miss Kelly said, "must be taken as individuals. They are smart, and can quickly read your character."

Headlines of racial troubles in the U. S. appear in the Congolese newspapers, Miss Kelly said, but the "good things churches are doing in race relations in the U. S. just as in the American press, are seldom published in Congolese newspapers."

When she returns to the Congo in 1964, Miss Kelly will be working with girls and women in the Central Congo Conference.

Miss Kelly is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and has done work at the University of Chicago, Scarritt and Peabody Colleges, Hartford (Conn.) School of Missions and also has had a year of special study in Belgium. She received her master's degree from Scarritt College.

She attended school as a child in Mount Mourne and finished high school in North Wilkesboro. She taught biology in Mount Airy High School, and then worked in Centenary Methodist Church in Winston-Salem.

She applied for mission work in Africa while at Winston-Salem's Centenary Church, but it was not until 1935 that she was sent to the Congo, arriving in 1938. The Methodist Church had been established in the Congo only 22 years when she arrived.

"I found that this part of the world was no different than the one I had come from," she said. "There were birds, and people. We had flowers on the table, and we lived in whitewashed mud houses which glowed white in the tropical sun."

She was evacuated to Southern Rhodesia in 1960 during the war, then returned to the Congo when the fighting subsided. She is anxious to get back to her work as a teacher among the Congolese.

Pat Griffin Member Of Pfeiffer Choir

Pat Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Griffin of Mooresville, is a member of the Pfeiffer College Concert Choir, which, along with a 10-piece instrumental ensemble, will give its annual concert at 8 p. m. on December 8 at the Misenheimer Inn.

The public concert will have as its theme "Christmas—Ancient and Modern." It will feature in 1 the seldom heard "Christmas Story" by the great early Baroque German Composer Heinrich Schuetz, 1685-1672.

Part II will be Christmas Carols, familiar and unfamiliar, sung by the 12 voice Chamber Singers.

Director for the program will be Professor Richard H. Brewer, Head of the college's Department of Music. Organist will be Stanley R. Scheer, of the college faculty. Musicians for the ensemble will come largely from the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra.

College officials have extended an invitation to area residents to share in the program. Last year more than 200 people were turned away from Pfeiffer chapel for lack of space.

Miss Griffin is a junior and a biology major at Pfeiffer.

SHUCKS and NUBBINS

Of Time, Institutions And Personalities

July 2, 1881—President James A. Garfield was shot fatally in Washington, D. C. Several days later, the weekly edition of the Loomville Courier-Journal carried the tragic news to a sprawling farm in Johnston County. The farm was 15 miles from Smithfield, the nearest town, and mail only ran twice a week.

September 6, 1901—President William McKinley fell mortally wounded by an assassin's bullet in Buffalo, N. Y. The telegraph and Mooresville's single long-distance telephone relayed the news of the event to this community.

November 22, 1963—President John F. Kennedy was killed by a sniper as the chief executive rode in a Dallas, Texas motorcade. An instantaneous shockwave swept over Mooresville and the world.

Mr. Zeb Turlington has vivid memories of all three historic events. Although he was a four and a half year-old farm boy at the time of the Garfield assassination, the local lawyer recalls clearly the crime.

"What I remember about President Garfield being killed," he said last week, "was that my father became very disturbed. He tried to follow government doings, and he read everything he could on current events. I think what upset him so much about the assassination was that, coming so close to that Hayes-Tilden business, it meant we were left with a very unstable government indeed."

Mr. Zeb came from Johnston County to Mooresville as a young lawyer in 1900, so he was a newcomer to this community when the telegraph killed the peaceful message of McKinley's death. He recalled that the town's only long-distance phone in Goodman Drug Store was kept busy by alarmed citizens spreading the word. What worried everybody in 1901 was that Theodore Roosevelt, regarded as a radical, became President. They feared for what might happen to the government structure.

"People round here were extremely apprehensive at the time of President McKinley's assassination," Mr. Zeb said, "the big Barium Springs picnic was held about that time, and I remember everybody at the picnic was talking about what changes the President's death would make in the government."

And then Mr. Zeb, a keen observer of the human animal, made this interesting comparison of the temper of the times: In the cases of Garfield's and McKinley's deaths, the populace worried about what their passing would do to the government. People were alarmed about what they considered violent upheavals in the framework of government. They feared for what the future held. Now, the nation mourns the President as a warm, vibrant human being. We grieve with his family. Because of modern news media, we think of the President as a personality, not an institution. We know, because we are better informed than ever before, that our government is constructed in such a way it will continue without drastic changes.

Social Security Administration Pays 3 Types Of Benefits

According to Taft McCoy, Social Security field representative in Iredell county, the Social Security Administration pays three types of benefits.

The first and largest group of benefit payments goes to retired persons, both men and women, over age 62. The second largest group represents survivors of workers who have died. The third type of payment goes to disabled persons and to their dependents.

In the case of either the disability benefits or the old-age benefit, additional payments may be made for certain dependents such as children under 18, qualified disabled children of any age, wives or dependent husbands. Survivors benefits are payable to widows, children, parents, or dependent widowers.

McCoy said that in order to receive these benefits, you must apply for them. This can be done at any one of the more 600 Social Security Administration offices throughout the country or at one of the many additional places in smaller towns where Social Security Field Representatives meet the public.

The office serving this area is located at 105 Corriar avenue, Salisbury, N. C.

A 15-Year-Old Asks The Eternal Question

How great a personal blow was the blood-letting in Dallas is reflected in these two excerpts. Noel Moreno of Plainview, Texas said this in a recent letter to his sister, Mrs. Nilda Bost of Mooresville:

"I hope you realize the anguish that every Texan feels about the assassination of the President of the United States. It is an unbearable shame to all Texans of all races. Everyone who is a Texan feels he took part of the assassination."

Tommy Brown of Mooresville felt compelled to express his emotions in a poem he set down:

"The death of Kennedy
Was a tragic thing,
But just what to the world
Did it bring?"

Both writers are 15 years old.

I Don't Know What It Is, But I Need It

Been laying off to pass this tidbit along: Back when uniforms were ordered for the Midget footballers, one chap signed up late and his outfit was ordered separately. When it came, he was called to the recreation department office to try it on. The youngster carefully examined every piece of equipment several times, but he looked painfully perplexed. A staff member asked what his trouble was, didn't he like the uniform?

"Oh, yes, I like it," the type said, "but where is that thing that looks like mommy's girldie?"

After the groupmull that over for a moment and figured out the dilemma, he told the boy he'd have to provide his own athletic supporter.

A Gal You Really Can Look Up To

Wasn't the Christmas parade something, though? The new and different street lights with those attractive center pieces really set off the pageantry of the affair that "official" and is that over an overused word—launched our Yule season. And all those sweet young things. That Jeanne Swanner really is a gal you can look up to. She's a long drink of water, but isn't she a beauty! Congrats to the Jaycees and everybody else who had a hand in the parade.

Funeral Rites Conducted For Mrs. Davis

Mrs. Elnora Stutts Davis, 47-year-old resident of the Shinnville section of Mooresville, route 4, died in the Broughton Memorial Hospital in Morganton at 2 a. m. Friday following a two-month serious illness.

She was the wife of Robert W. Davis, Jr., owner and operator of a Mooresville business firm, Davis Supply Company.

A native of Iredell county, Mrs. Davis was born on May 21, 1916, a daughter of the late E. H. and Mamie Fincannon Stutts. She had spent her entire life in the Mooresville area and was well known and highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

The survivors, in addition to the husband, include: three daughters, Mrs. Joe Blanton of Mooresville, route 1, Mrs. Wilburn Hancock of Rock Hill, S. C., and Mrs. Bobby Barnett of Memphis, Tenn.; four brothers, John T. Stutts of Mooresville, route 1, Charles Stutts of Winston-Salem, W. Va., Stutts of Michigan, and Houston Stutts of Morganton; and three sisters, Mrs. Jack Holtzner of Winston-Salem and Mrs. Clarence Barnhardt and Mrs. Warren Hendy, both of Kannapolis. Six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 p. m. Saturday at the Mooresville Church of God, with the Rev. G. A. Weatherly, pastor of the Church of God in Kannapolis, in charge, assisted by the Rev. H. T. Darden, pastor of the Mooresville Church of God. Burial was in Glenwood Memorial Park cemetery.

Darrell Ussery Makes Dean's List At Wingate College

Darrell Ussery, of 343 Glenwood Drive, has been named to the Dean's List at Wingate College at Wingate. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Ussery of Rockingham, he is a brother of Ira Ussery of this city.

To be named to the Dean's List, a Wingate College student must have an average of 3.3 or better and must be carrying 15 semester hours.

James Stationed At Memphis Navy Base

Thomas A. James, machinist's mate second class, United States Navy, son of Mrs. Edna C. James of 286 South Church street, Mooresville, reported October 27 for duty with the staff of the Chief of Naval Air Technical Training at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn.

James, who entered the service in July, 1955, attended Mooresville High School.

Two Projects To Make Your Season Brighter

Mooresville's traditional Christmas parade is behind us, the Christmas season is upon us. We would like to mention two developments in connection with the upcoming Yule. They may be correctly described as having commercial aspects, but they are inseparable elements of the Christmas observance as we know it. They are shopping and decorating.

A word about decorating: Last week, the Mooresville Garden Council announced it is sponsoring a Christmas decorating contest throughout the residential area. The primary purpose of the contest is to encourage citizens to take collective pride in tasteful seasonal decorations.

Ladies in the Mooresville Garden Club and the Petal Pushers Garden Club, originators of the Garden Council, know full well that practically all residents decorate their homes at Christmas. They know, too, that just about everybody takes pride in his home and how it looks. The council simply wants to promote extra originality and ingenuity in these decorations by making it known that each and every area home can be a part of a unified community effort to spread the spirit of Christmas by means of decorations.

Homes are not automatically in the

Newspaper Readership Has Many Faces

Newspapers always have recognized the importance of their readers. They know all too well they cannot do without them. They are ever trying to lure more and more readers.

Also, newspapers like to think they render an indispensable service to their readers. This may or may not be true, but the papers like to think so. Because newspapers so want to feel important in the readers' eyes, few of them dare turn a deaf ear to whatever public accolades or harsh criticisms are offered.

However, it was left to the Institute of Motivational Research to point out another interesting phenomenon. A study of the results of the New York newspaper strikes last winter has revealed that newspapers have a hitherto unknown effect on readers. "A newspaper convinces the reader that he is important," says the report.

Interviews with New Yorkers forced to do without their newspapers disclosed widespread feelings of neglect. Readers felt that their lives lost meaning when they had to forego reports of the incidental hap-

All Our Winter Clothes Have Shrunk

After stuffing ourselves sinfully on Thanksgiving, our thoughts turned to exercise. What with winter coming on, our usual ritual of lifting and carrying the garbage from kitchen to outdoor can will become more of a survival test and less our excuse for daily exercise. Worse, or better depending on your point of view, the cold weather will drive the family inside and closer together. It will be less a workout rounding up the kids for meals.

Spurred by the wife's remark that we are becoming more like the mighty oak—stationary—every year, we kicked around the notion that, sure enough, something ought to be done about the gathering flab. Not long ago, we saw in one of the state papers some pertinent comments on the subject. That disgruntled editorialist, we recall, made the point that homes today are not unlike gymnasia.

If a man's shirt bulges at the middle, no matter if the reason is plain sloppi-

Start The Day Right—Wake Up To Gag

(From The Chapel Hill Weekly)
The latest assault on North Carolina's economy was launched recently in Florida, where a lettuce cigarette went on sale. That's right, lettuce.

The new cigarette is called Sentry and is made from black-seed Simpson lettuce electronically cured, scientifically processed, carefully washed and rolled.

The Sentry, also known as "rabbit reefer," looks kind of green and tastes like burned lettuce.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

I been so busy this week I ain't had much time to think. I feel like one of them merry-go-rounds I been doing 't' lot more, but I ain't covered much ground. I did take a little time this morning to read the Good Book though. Course I hid when I did it cause most of my folks think you're wasting your time when you're not on the move.

I read in the Bible where Jesus was so busy he didn't even have time to eat. After a while he sneaked away from all these people and found him a good lone spot. Then you know what He done? Why, He just set there and thought and prayed. You know you gotta think when you pray. Course you can't do too much running around when you're doing it. I reckon folks now-a-days would call him lazy. From what I can see though, he got more done than anybody I know.

I was talking to Hezekiah about this other day and he said, "Shucks, times has changed—folks is too busy for that kind thing now-a-days." He allowed that by the time he got all his necessities done he didn't have much time for just sitting around doing nothing.

First thing he does when he gets up is to stop the hogs. Next, he puts his clothes on. (He feeds his hogs in his long underwear. The pigs don't seem to mind.) He mixes a whole mess of items with his breakfast. He looks at the newspaper, listens to the radio and argues with his wife while he's eating. This is making full use of your time. He finishes up the funny papers in the bathroom.

Farming takes up the rest of his time 'til dinner—then he puts in a few hours down at the four m. He comes home, eats supper, grumbles with the children a little, then heads out for the garage meeting. When the garage ain't meeting, they're having a party some kind. Like this time they're trying to get a mental health clinic started. Hezekiah says what little time he's got left is spent in the doctor's office, and taking his nerve medicine. Yes sir, ole Hezekiah may not think much of pray much, but he shore does a site a moving around.

Mr. Publisher, the Church is getting in the same dither. We're so busy putting on "shindigs" at Christmas time, that, by the time Santa comes we're in a frazzle. My ole folks always says she'll be glad when Christmas is over, cause it don't do nothing but tear up her nerves. I wonder what would happen if we all just set down at Christmas and thought—and prayed?

Mr. Publisher, I don't look for that to happen. It looks to me like we're just gonna have to come up with a new baptism for our time: "Blessed are they who go around in circles, for they shall be known as wheels."

If you're free this week why don't you roll in and see me?

Yours Truly,

Parson Jones

At a meeting of the graded school board held Saturday afternoon, Mr. W. C. Atrial, of Greenwood, S. C., was elected as superintendent of the city schools. He succeeded Mr. E. O. Randolph, for two years past superintendent of our schools. Mr. Randolph asked that his name be not presented for re-election having decided to take a post graduate course at the University of North Carolina, and also having secured work there as assistant teacher in the department of geology. The board also decided to add another grade building eleven in all, taking in all the high school department. The matter of electing a principal has been left open until the matter of a superintendent has been definitely decided. Teachers were elected as follows: Misses Bessie Gray, Hattie Williams, Winona Hathorn, Lucille Morrow, Hester Steele, Mamie Gray, Neely Smoot, Beulah Johnston, Maude Leitz, Leona Robinson, Mrs. Lula P. Rodgers and Mrs. Mott McKnight. Other teachers will be selected later. Mr. and Mrs. Randolph will probably leave about the first of June.

A telegram received today from Mr. Atrial states that he will accept the position of superintendent of schools.
Monday afternoon Mrs. Mowrer of Newton met with a serious accident as she in company with her husband and child were driving from Cornelius to Mooresville to visit relatives. As they were approaching the Iredell line just north of Davidson, the horse became frightened by an approaching freight train and darted down the side of the embankment, overturning the buggy and throwing the occupants out with such violence that Mrs. Mowrer sustained a fracture of the collar bone.

Mrs. H. E. Shoaf attended the commencement exercises at the Statesville Female College this week. Miss Mary Shoaf is a member of the graduating class.
Mrs. J. O. Houston, of Hendersonville, and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Mount Ulla, spent several days here this week with Mr. S. A. Lowrance, and Mrs. Harriet Goodman.

Mr. A. M. Henderson and family of Gaston county, spent the week end here with Mr. Henderson's sister, Mrs. G. C. Henderson. Mrs. Ebert Gilliland, of Lowersville, was the guest of Mrs. Love last week. Mrs. John R. Neal, of Charlotte, is spending several weeks with her sister, Mrs. P. Bruce McNeely.

Master John Presley Cavin is spending a few days with his aunt, Mrs. Lon Cooze, at Taylorsville.

Mr. L. S. Henderson, and daughter, Mrs. J. H. Frazier, will return this week from a visit to Atlanta.

Misses Margaret and Elizabeth Rankin arrived at home yesterday from Elizabeth College, where they attended school during the term just closed.

Mr. James Orr Rodgers, who has been principal of the High School at Cornelius for two years, came home today, his school having closed Tuesday. Dr. Walter Lingle, of Davidson College, delivered the address.

IN NORTH CAROLINA BY 1980

Population Will Exceed 5.6 Million

North Carolina's population will exceed five and one-half million by 1980 if present trends continue. Approximately two-thirds of the predicted gain of 901,764 by 1980 in population over the official census of 4,558,155 in 1960 will occur in four counties—Mecklenburg, Guilford, Forsyth and Wake.

Net gains in population by 1980 are predicted for 52 of the State's 100 counties, with losses indicated for the remaining 48.

Most of the increase of almost a million persons by 1980 is indicated in the urban Piedmont counties. Heavy population losses are predicted for some rural eastern and mountain counties, with Warren County suffering a 37 per cent loss. Madison, Yancey and Hyde are also predicted to sustain heavy losses in population by 1980 as compared with that of 1960.

These figures and predictions are taken from a major study recently completed by demographers Joseph (co) Perry, formerly with the Division of Community Planning of the State Department of Conservation and Development, and Dr. C. Horace Hamilton, a member of the faculty of North Carolina State, the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

Known as "1980 Population Projections for North Carolina Counties," the study contains a detailed projection for each county by age, race and sex for 1970 and 1980 as well as the official 1960 census.

Commenting on the report, Director Robert L. Starnes, Jr., of the Department of Conservation and Development said:

"Calculations in this study are based on present known trends which can be favorably changed and are being favorably changed. The 'baby boom' which followed World War II, has already leveled off, the authors point out, adding the number of children under 15 will scarcely increase until after 1970.

Dr. Hamilton and Perry said the continued effects of out-migration of young adults from the State are apparent in projections of absolute losses in adults, ages 18-49, particularly among nonwhites and in predominantly rural areas. By race, the projected 1980-1960 State rate of population increase for whites of 35 per cent is more than double the 12 per cent predicted for nonwhites.

George J. Monaghan, administrator of the Division of Community Planning, said the age projections in the Hamilton-Perry study are particularly important in planning school and college facilities, recreational and social services, public welfare and health services, in estimating the potential labor supply for new industries and business, and in evaluating the future market potential for products whose need varies by the age of the consumer.

With regard to the accuracy of the projections made by Dr. Hamilton and Perry, Monaghan said the computer method they developed independently is within one-hundredth of a percent of the U. S. Bureau of the Census' 1970 and 1980 projections. The computational statistics in the report were calculated by the IBM 650 and 1410 computers at N. C. State.

The report also contains tables showing population projections by age, from 1950 to 1980, and by race, age and sex for 1970 and 1980 for the United States, North Carolina, the State's metropolitan counties, 11 designated economic areas within North Carolina, and for each of its 100 counties.

By 1970, the projections show, there will be 100,000 more young adults, ages 15 to 24, than there were in 1960, indicating State needs for larger increases both in jobs and in college capacities with a few years, the authors said.

With regard to the accuracy of the projections made by Dr. Hamilton and Perry, Monaghan said the computer method they developed independently is within one-hundredth of a percent of the U. S. Bureau of the Census' 1970 and 1980 projections. The computational statistics in the report were calculated by the IBM 650 and 1410 computers at N. C. State.

The report also contains tables showing population projections by age, from 1950 to 1980, and by race, age and sex for 1970 and 1980 for the United States, North Carolina, the State's metropolitan counties, 11 designated economic areas within North Carolina, and for each of its 100 counties.

By 1970, the projections show, there will be 100,000 more young adults, ages 15 to 24, than there were in 1960, indicating State needs for larger increases both in jobs and in college capacities with a few years, the authors said.

The "baby boom" which followed World War II, has already leveled off, the authors point out, adding the number of children under 15 will scarcely increase until after 1970.

Dr. Hamilton and Perry said the continued effects of out-migration of young adults from the State are apparent in projections of absolute losses in adults, ages 18-49, particularly among nonwhites and in predominantly rural areas. By race, the projected 1980-1960 State rate of population increase for whites of 35 per cent is more than double the 12 per cent predicted for nonwhites.

George J. Monaghan, administrator of the Division of Community Planning, said the age projections in the Hamilton-Perry study are particularly important in planning school and college facilities, recreational and social services, public welfare and health services, in estimating the potential labor supply for new industries and business, and in evaluating the future market potential for products whose need varies by the age of the consumer.

Leaders, Girls Attend Annual Scout Session

Mooreville Girl Scouts and adult leaders figured prominently in the annual meeting in Hickory recently of the Catawba Valley Girl Scout Council.

Mrs. Don Kiblinger of Mooreville was among those re-elected to membership on the Council Board of Directors. She and Charlie Gates are Mooreville's representatives on the governing body.

A highlight of the session was a report by Mrs. Hugh McLean of Mooreville. She discussed the inspirational qualities of the national Girl Scout meeting she attended in Miami earlier this year.

Local Girl Scout Karen McLean gave a report on the day camp held in the Mooreville neighborhood. Three Mooreville girls who participated in the Canadian caravan this year were on hand to take part in discussion. They were Sandy Mayhew, Elaine Sherrill and Perma Gray.

Other local Girl Scout leaders who took part in the meeting included Gates, Emmett Cruse, a member of the council finance committee, and delegates Mrs. Dale Melchor, Mrs. Powell Wilkins and Mrs. Joyce Small. Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Cruse and Kiblinger also attended the session.

The theme of the yearly meeting was "The Responsibility of Full Partnership—Girl Scouting, a Promise in Action." Mrs. E. P. Bounous of Morganton, council president, presided at the business meeting.

A Troutman Girl Scout, Martha Ervin, and Scout Teresa Forsythe of Conover received special recognition for having submitted the adopted name of the new 320-acre council campsite. They suggested Camp Ginger Cascades, and that is what the facility will be called.

Board members re-elected, in addition to Mrs. Kiblinger, were Byron Logan and Dr. Walter Nau on the executive committee. Lloyd Mullins of Newton, Mrs. Pat Annas of Granite Falls and Cleland Carr of Shelby Board officers chosen were Mrs. W. H. Goff of Lenoir, vice president, and E. K. Baumon of Hickory, treasurer.

Laugh and Learn

There was the farmer in the drought country who was able to survive only because a kindly storekeeper gave him unlimited credit. Then came good fortune: plenty of rain and steadily rising prices for the farmer's crops. He paid back his entire debt—but then the storekeeper never set eyes on him for a solid year.

The next time they met, the farmer was driving a shiny new car, and he and his four sons were dressed fit to kill.

"How come you now shop elsewhere," asked the storekeeper reproachfully, "after I carried you on my books for so many lean years?"

The farmer all but wept. "Gosh, amighty, Tom," he wailed, "I didn't realize you sold for cash!"

Knowledge is the food of the soul—Plato.

"Yes, sir," said the captain of the steamboat to a nervous passenger. "I've been running boats on this river so long that I know where every snag and sandbar is."

Just then, the boat struck a snag and shook from stem to stern.

"There," said the captain, "that's one of them now!"

Good nature is more agreeable in conversation than wit, and gives a certain air to the countenance which is irremediably true beauty—Joseph Addison.

A lecturer, talking on the population explosion, was warmly applauded. He stated: "Do you realize, that somewhere in the world a woman is giving birth to a baby every second?"

The audience gasped.

The lecturer asked: "What do you think we should do about it?"

A woman rose to her feet and declared: "Find her and make her stop!"

Old Ebenezer, the country town's meanest man, had died. The local preacher was hard put to phrase a respectable oration over the coffin.

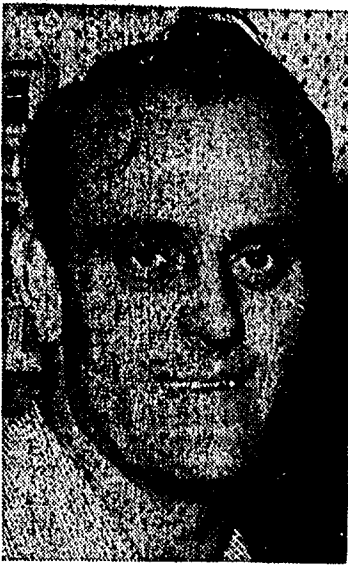

Eventually he said: "Ebenezer, you are gone. We hope you are gone where we suspect you ain't."

"Have I told you about my grandchildren?"

"No, and I appreciate."

THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

Several months ago, the North Carolina General Assembly passed a bill disallowing admitted Communists from delivering public speeches on the campuses of state-supported colleges and universities.

The law has caused quite a bit of comment. Much of the comment has bitterly opposed the ruling and it has even been suggested that the so-called speaker ban law be decided by a referendum.

Therefore, the Mooreville Tribune's roving reporter asked the following question this week as he went about the task of preparing one of the paper's weekly features—The People Speak:

If the so-called speaker ban law should be decided by a referendum, how would you vote?

The answers of the four on-the-streets questioned were as follows:

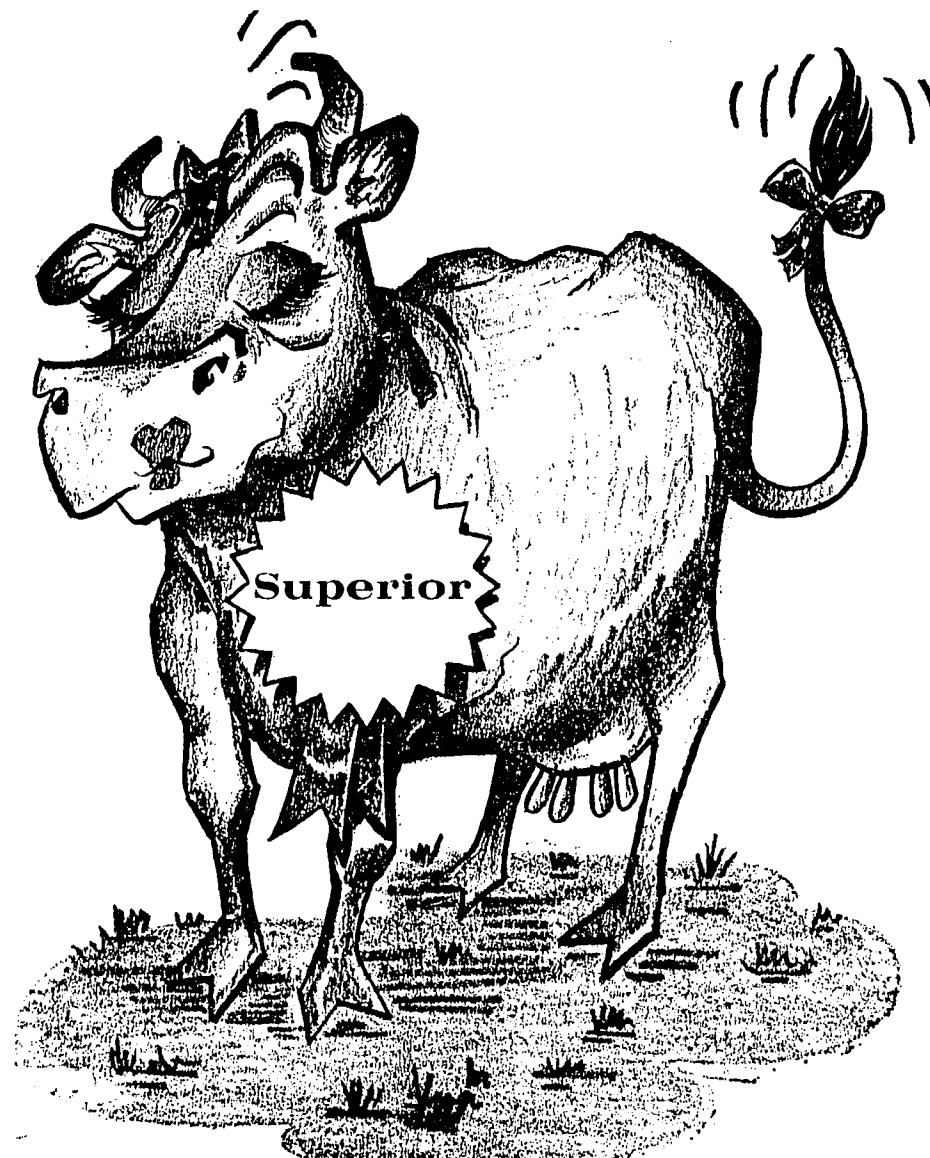

BOYCE DAVIS, merchant, 466 West Center avenue: "I'd vote to let them speak on the campuses of state-supported colleges and universities. Everybody's got the right to speak."

ROBIE ROBINSON, retired, 521 Oak street: "Everybody's got a right to speak. Yes, I would vote to let them speak on the campuses of state-supported colleges and universities."

WALTER GOODMAN, barber, route 4: "I really don't know which is best nor how I would vote. But right now I feel like they should be permitted to speak."

DON KIBLINGER, sales clerk, 258 East McNeely avenue: "I would vote against letting admitted Communists speak on the campuses of state-supported colleges and universities. Communism—that what we are trying to get out of our country."

Bubba Kelly Was There

Last Saturday was the 22nd anniversary of Pearl Harbor, designated forever by Franklin Roosevelt as the "Day of Infamy."

On each anniversary of this day of horror, we note in the metropolitan newspapers there always appears a feature story woven around an interview with some local boy who was there that terrible Sunday morning.

The thought, belatedly indeed, occurred to us last Sunday that Mooreville, too, had at least one eyewitness to that holocaust of fire and death.

Sergeant C. L. Kelly, Jr., known locally as Bubba and now owner of Kelly Clothing Company, had just finished breakfast in the Signal Corps mess hall at Hickam Field and had stepped out the door when all hell broke loose.

The U. S. battleships and destroyers lying at anchor in nearby Pearl Harbor were backed up by two air arms, the bombers on the runway at Hickam Field and the pursuit planes at Wheeler Field, about 12 miles away.

The men who serviced the bomb racks of these planes at Hickam Field were divided into groups of 28 enlisted men and one commissioned officer. Bubba, who had been stationed at Hickam Field 13 months, was a Sergeant in one of these groups.

"Our group," relates Bubba, "hurriedly loaded twelve 500-pound bombs on trucks and started for the runways. The Japs were now coming in low, strafing everything they could see on the ground and there were fires glowing everywhere."

Some of the trucks and some of the men got to the runways. Some never made it. Bubba got there. How, he says, he'll never know. As far as the bombs were concerned, it didn't make any difference. Every bomber on the field was either burned to a crisp or was burning. Not a single one ever got off the ground. At nearby Wheeler Field, two pursuit planes managed to get into the air.

Bubba recalls that they worked all day and all that night trying to clear the runways. There were jack-knifed trucks, bombs, and debris scattered everywhere, and the fires from ships burning in the harbor lit up the night like day.

Bubba went on to serve at Guadalcanal, the Fij Islands, moved eastward to Alaska, the Philippines, and to the outskirts of London in 1944, where his outfit helped load the bombs that went aloft on D-Day. He came out of the service in 1945, went back in for a hitch, serving a total of 10 years and 27 days in uniform.

This reporter recalls the frantic 72 hours following Pearl Harbor when Bubba's parents were trying to find out if he had survived the sneak attack. He telephoned Congressman Bob Dougherty in Washington in behalf of his mother for information, but Congressman Bob reported that nothing but vital military messages were getting in to Pearl Harbor or out. On Wednesday, December 10, a cablegram came through from Bubba that he had made it.

And so, the next time that smooth-talking salesman at Kelly Clothing Company maneuvers you into buying a pair of shoes you didn't need, you can remember that he must have done some pretty good maneuvering at Pearl Harbor, too.

Lot of buzzing in political circles over the week-end about a private professional poll reportedly completed last week on the gubernatorial race. It estimates the vote in the Democratic primary at around 650,000, with Dan Moore racking up around 105,000 votes, Beverly Lake 206,000 votes, and Richardson Preyer around 339,000 votes.

Should such a forecast eventuate, it would give Preyer a clean majority in the first primary and shut off the chances of Lake calling for a run-off.

We have no first-hand information on this reported poll, although our data about it came from a prominent Charlotte man who is well known in state politics. We do have, however, the opinion of several newspapermen in Charlotte, Raleigh, and Winston-Salem with whom we have talked recently. It seems to be the consensus of opinion among the railbirds that Moore will run a poor third in this race, is out of the picture, that Preyer will lead Lake by a minimum of 100,000 votes but not enough for a majority in the three-man race.

Two factors, we are told, will mitigate against Lake calling for a run-off primary. First, he will be at least 100,000 votes behind Preyer in the first primary, a huge deficit to overcome. Second, the question of money for a run-off primary, it is said—and we have reason to believe it—that Lake supporters are still in the red from his second primary four years ago. If this is true, they are not likely to encourage him to try to overcome a big Preyer lead this time around.

Large industrial enterprises are traditionally and violently opposed to federal handouts. By some quirk of logic, most of them blame the Democratic party for this public generosity, despite the fact that such handouts reached, as did the public debt, a new high under Republican Eisenhower.

There are exceptions, of course. The late Spencer Love, then head of Burlington Industries, was a

THE NEW MOORESVILLE... Map Shows Existing Town Limits And Areas Proposed For Annexation

A PATTERN FOR ORDERLY GROWTH

A Close Look At Town's Annexation Proposal

The illustration you see here shows the town's growth pattern as projected by professional municipal planners. It is the result of a long, hard look at the town and an expert judgment of its future. The town asked for a comprehensive study of its growth patterns and the development of areas adjoining the town that long have been a participating member of the urban community.

The town asked for a report on annexation potential generally, but the specifics of taking in new land were left to the experts hired to do the work.

With three exceptions, the area shown enclosed by broken lines outside the original mile-from-the-depot circular town limits has been proposed for annexation. Previous piecemeal annexations brought in the industrial sector along the N. C. 150 bypass at top right, the Johnston residential development at bottom right and the Edgemore I and Edgemore II residential areas.

These additions to the town were paltry compared to the first general annexation proposal.

The Mooreville Housing Authority Tuesday sold $179,000 worth of temporary notes to pay off a short-term loan and complete acquisition of its construction sites.

Successful bidder for the notes was Morgan Guaranty & Trust Co. of New York City. The notes were sold in New York, and were issued Tuesday. They will mature March 14, 1964.

The Authority will use the money to pay off a $112,000 loan from the Treasury Department. The housing group borrowed the money to finance engineer surveys, all preliminary studies concerning site location, the work of the architects who drew working plans for the town's public housing project and to buy land for the project.

The federal loan was used to purchase the Keelertown site, and to pay for the 15 parcels of land that have been acquired to date in the West End development. About a third of the West End site has been bought by the Authority.

Tate Mills, director of the public housing program, said the Housing Authority plans to begin construction of the 76-unit low-

City Manager, Mayor Attend State Session

Mayor John C. Miller and City Manager Cy Brooks Tuesday attended a meeting of Governor Sanford's Good Neighbor Council. The session, which drew council members and guests from throughout the state, was held in Charlotte.

The meeting was called, according to members of the council, to hear a year-end report on the state's relations with North Carolina. The 25-member Good Neighbor Council heard statements from city and town officials representing all areas of the state.

Charlotte Mayor Stan Brookshire welcomed the group to the Queen City. In his remarks, Mayor Brookshire stressed that only through patience and diligence can the state and nation achieve racial equality. He cited the work of the governor's Good Neighbor Council as an excellent example of the type of study and cooperation needed to bring about the desired developments at bottom center.

But these additions to the town were paltry compared to the first general annexation proposal.

New Church Plant At Jones Memorial

Work On First Phase Of Three-Phase Project Expected To Begin In May

Actual work is expected to begin by late spring on the first phase of a three-phase building program which, when completed, will give Jones Memorial Methodist Church an entirely new church plant, including a parsonage.

First phase of the three-phase building program includes the erection of a sanctuary and educational building, according to the pastor, the Rev. Powell Wilkins, Jr., who assumed the pastorate of the Cascade Village church last June.

In phase two, four additional classrooms will be added, along with a kitchen and fellowship hall.

Phase three will be the erection of a parsonage.

A site for the proposed church plant, purchased some time ago, is located on the southwest corner of the intersection of Cascade street and N. C. Highway 801, a quarter-mile east of the present church plant.

Preliminary plans for the planned project are now being revised by the architect, Tom Hutchins of Statesville.

These preliminary plans are expected to be ready for study by the church's building committee by the latter part of this week.

Members of the church's building committee include: Lawrence Nesbitt, chairman; John Berg, treasurer; Ernest Alberry, Mr. Charles Honeycutt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oliphant, and Jack Oliphant.

If the preliminary plans are approved by the church committee they will be sent to the denomination's district committee on church locations. After they have been approved by the district committee, the congregation of the local church will be asked to act upon the matter.

If the preliminary plans are approved by the local congregation, the architect will then be authorized to prepare the detailed drawings and blue prints.

All this will take time, Mr. Wilkins pointed out.

"However," he stated, "it is hoped that ground can be broken in May of the coming year."

The sanctuary and educational building, it was stated, will be of modern design, have some 7,000 square feet of floor space, and cost in the neighborhood of $55,000.

The building site has a frontage along N. C. Highway 801 of 40 feet and runs back along Cascade street some 370 feet. All entrances to the site will be from

Federal S&L Names Tyner As Director

Dr. Calvin E. Tyner, well known Mooreville veterinarian, has been named to the board of directors of the Mooreville Federal Savings and Loan Association.

This action was taken last week by the members of the board to fill the unexpired three-year term of the late Thad Lowe.

A native of Colquitt, Georgia, Dr. Tyner graduated from high school at Tallahassee, Florida. He attended Lenoir Rhyne College at Hickory and graduated from the University of Georgia at Athens.

Bloodmobile Visit Slated December 20

The Red Cross bloodmobile will pay its fifth and final visit of the year to Mooreville Friday, December 20. T. C. Humesley, director of the South Iredell Red Cross Chapter's blood program, reminded this week.

The blood collection drive next week will be conducted at the War Memorial from 11 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. The quota for the project will be 125 pints, the same goal that was surpassed during each of the four previous bloodmobile stops here during the year.

"We have every reason to believe we will reach our quota this time," Humesley said, "we have the same splendid organization at work among area industries, and we have the same fine support from townpeople in general."

The blood drive director added that the holiday season, with its crowded toll of traffic accidents, will mean a greater demand for blood. He called on the community.

IN NEXT 26 YEARS

Big Population Gain Seen For Iredell

Iredell county will gain more than 9,000 in population in the next 26 years if present trends continue, a report from the State Department of Conservation and Development shows.

To be exact, Iredell county will gain 8,321, the report shows. Iredell's population in 1960 was 62,526. It is expected to reach 70,847 by 1970 and expand to 71,847 by 1986.

The figures were determined by the IBM computer at North Carolina State College at Raleigh. Approximately two-thirds of the state's projected gain of 991,784 by 1980 in population over the official census of 4,556,135 in 1960 will occur in four counties—Mecklenburg, Guilford, Forsyth and Wake.

Net gains in population by 1980 are predicted for 82 of the state's 100 counties, with losses indicated for the remaining 18.

Most of the increase of almost a million persons by 1980 is indicated in the urban Piedmont counties. Heavy population losses are predicted for some rural eastern and mountain counties, with Warren county suffering a 37 per cent loss. Madison, Yancey and Hyde are also predicted to sustain heavy losses in population by 1980 as compared with that of 1960.

Known as "1980 Population Projections for North Carolina counties," the study contains a detailed projection for each county by age, race and sex for 1970 and 1980 as well as the official 1960 census.

strong supporter of Jack Kennedy.

The cotton bill now before the Congress has a good chance of going all the way. It has the support of the textile industry throughout the nation. It embodies a subsidy of $292 million a year. In short, a handout from the federal government and the taxpayers to the textile industry. It is the contention of one of the opponents of the bill that 34 textile mills would get 70 per cent of this $292 million, and one firm alone would get $28 million.

Once they get on the receiving end of this handout business, how do these industries maintain their stance against federal handouts?

It is almost a question of survival with them. It is their contention, and figures back it up, that unless something is done to permit American mills to buy cotton as cheaply as it can be purchased abroad, the whole textile industry, pouring millions and millions into the American economy, is in jeopardy.

We are in sympathy with the cotton bill and the textile mills in this legislation. At the same time, we would like to see industrial enterprises assume a little more consistent and tolerant attitude toward public benefits.

We are becoming a little worried over the ever-increasing power of the lobby maintained by the trucking industry in this nation.

Here in North Carolina, their Raleigh lobby is the most powerful one at every session of the General Assembly. The "truckers room" they maintain at the Sir Walter Hotel is about as luxurious as the Stork Club.

At the national level, these boys are again proposing to raise truck weight and size limits.

Under the new limits one fully loaded truck only would do the same damage to a stretch of highway as 3,950 auto trips over the same stretch, according to The Bureau of Public Roads.

A great deal of our truck traffic will move over a 41,000-mile interstate system that is costing $1 million a mile.

Once the truckers get a hike in weight and size limits at the federal level, they'll come back to the states with the argument that it has been okayed on interstate highways, why not on state roads? And with their powerful state lobbies, they'll get the hike.

Weights either should not be raised or the truckers should be additionally taxed to replace every last chunk of paved highways the extra weight tears out of roads costing $1 million a mile from the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

A third Mooresville leader, Dr. Boyce Brawley, was invited to take part in the meeting, but he was unable to attend. Dr. Brawley is chairman of the Mooresville Good Neighbor Council appointed by Mayor Miller earlier this year.

Mayor Miller read a statement prepared by Dr. Brawley. The local council chairman reviewed Mooresville's efforts to advance the economic condition of local Negroes. He explained that an analysis of the local labor field now is being made. The aim of the study is to try and create more jobs for Negroes. In behalf of Dr. Brawley, Mayor Miller told the group the local Good Neighbor Council was built on a solid foundation of mutual respect and understanding.

George H. Esser, head of the North Carolina Fund, and Jim Beatty, a member of the Fund staff, spoke during the morning session. Beatty, who directs work to curb school dropouts, said a Student Activities Corps has been created to aid in this campaign.

This program is built around college students who volunteer to combat dropout in the high schools.

can see a small square section along side and west of North Broad Street. This is the location of Rowan Dairy, the army and a couple of other businesses. Immediately to the right of this small area is a less-developed section extending from North Broad to Cascade Street. The largest single section in Area 1 is Cascade Street.

The development along West Park Avenue (N. C. 801) is included in the plan. Moving down, you see the dot-dash line encloses sections along both sides of Salisbury Road Extension (N. C. 150).

Area 2 wraps all the way around the left side of the map. The proposed boundary line begins near Dunbar School off West McLelland Avenue, goes down the branch to the golf course bridge on West Wilson Avenue. It takes in the Pinewood Circle residential area, hits South Main Extension, runs along it southward, then sweeps around the corner of Mooresville Mills Village. Moving down, you see the line going along Shearer's Chapel Road, then cutting across a large, undeveloped area to existing limits at the tip of Edgemore.

FEBRUARY BRIDE-ELECT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Leonard of 232 East Park avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann Fesperman, to Michael Gene Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Brewer of 1427 North Main street. The wedding will be a social event of Sunday afternoon, February 23, at 3:30 o'clock at the Prospect Presbyterian Church.

Mr. And Mrs. Brown Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary At Open House Sunday Afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. Zell B. Brown were honored by their children on their golden wedding anniversary at an open house on Sunday, December 8, from three until five o'clock in the afternoon, at their home in Troutman.

Mrs. Brown, the former Miss Josie Wagner, and Mr. Brown were married on December 10, 1913, in Troutman at the home of Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wagner. C. L. McCain and W. D. Adcock performed the ceremony. Two of Mrs. Brown's sisters, Mrs. John Ramsey and Mrs. Roy Meyerhoffer, attended the wedding and were also present for the 50th anniversary celebration. The couple has seven children.

day supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Honecutt, at their home in Troutman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gabriel attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Zell Brown in Troutman last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. H. L. Hawley, Miss Lottie Bennett, and Mrs. A. B. McCallan, all of Fayetteville, spent Sunday visiting their sister, Mrs. George Stevens, at her home on East Center avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Phillips, of Marion, S. C., and Mr. and Mrs. States Smith, of Union, S. C., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown and sons, Paul and Russell, at their home on East Center avenue. On Saturday the Browns and their guests attended the Shrine Bowl football game in Charlotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Neel Deaton spent the week end in Martinsville, Virginia, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Don Deaton and family.

Mrs. Richard Nantz and Miss Elizabeth Nantz attended a miscellaneous bridal shower for Miss Jeannine Adkinson on Saturday in the Fellowship Hall of the Oak Grove Methodist Church near Charlotte. Miss Adkinson and Ray Dwyer, Mrs. Nantz's brother, will be married on January 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mills and son, of Athens, Georgia, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mills, at their home on Fieldstone Road. They came especially to attend the Christmas party of Theta Chi Fraternity at Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Helthous and daughter, Evelyn, were Sun-seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

For the celebration, Mrs. Brown chose a pale blue brocade dress with pearl trim and a corsage of yellow orchids. Mr. Brown added a yellow carnation boutonniere to his coat lapel.

The Brown home was beautifully decorated, carrying out a gold color theme most effectively in floral and candle arrangements.

As guests arrived they were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsey and their children, Mrs. Bill Branch, of Mooresville; Hal Brown of Silver Springs, Maryland; Mrs. Dale Gunter of Charlotte; Hugh Brown of Silver Springs, Maryland; Homer Brown, Eugene Brown and Banks Brown, all of Troutman.

Mrs. Lanny Brown directed guests from the receiving room to the dining room where Mrs. Banks Brown received.

The dining table, covered with a white linen cloth, was appointed with a handsome arrangement of yellow snapdragons, carnations, and mums in a crystal container. Crystal candelabra with gold tapers flanked the centerpiece on either side. A crystal punch service and a beautifully decorated four-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, completed the table appointments.

After the honor couple had cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. Hugh Brown completed the serving of the cake. Mrs. Hal Brown presided at the punch bowl. Assisting with the serving were granddaughters of the couple, Pam Brown of Troutman, Leslie Brown, and Marsha Brown, of Silver Springs, Maryland.

Also assisting with the entertaining and serving were: Tommy Brown and Billy Brown, both of Silver Springs, Maryland; Lanny Brown and Gary Brown, both of Troutman, and grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Guests included: Miss Patterson, Mrs. Parks Patterson and Mrs. John Vannell, mothers of the engaged couple; Mrs. R. L. Garver, grandmother of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Ernest Garver, Mrs. Paul Overcash, Miss Diane Overcash, Mrs. Hope Garver, Miss Sharon Garver, Mrs. Joe Efrid, Mrs. Robert Brady, Mrs. Clarence Vannell, Mrs. Oscar Garver, Miss Kathy Garver, Mrs. Carl Overcash, and the hostess, Miss Garver.

The bride-elect received many beautiful and useful gifts. The hostess' gift was an electric sauce pan.

Invited guests who were unable to attend but sent gifts were: Mrs. C. L. Adcock, Mrs. Fred Garver, Mrs. R. V. Walker, and Mrs. Floyd Morrow.

Out-of-town guests attending the celebration were: Mrs. Inez Barkley Hoskins and Mrs. Lois Barkley Knox, Elmore Ervin, Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Yount, all of Statesville, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mack Morrow, and Mr. and Mrs. John Gabriel, all of Mooresville; and James B. Wylie of Charlotte.

Many congratulatory telegrams and flowers were received by the honor couple during the day.

Approximately 175 guests called during the appointed hours and goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyerhoffer.

DOCTORS REMOVE 144 ITEMS LODGED IN MAN'S STOMACH

An account of an Irishman, with a strange appetite for undigestible "food" has been reported by 2 doctors in the British Medical Journal.

The doctors said they had removed 144 objects, including 126 pieces of bed spring, from the stomach of a 37-year-old Irishman. The other odds and ends included 2 spoon handles, coins, a rosary bead, and a piece of shirt.

"The patient," said the report, "had an uneventful recovery." In layman's language, this means he got well.

The Irishman, who was not identified, was admitted to a hospital at Cork, Ireland. The doctors, Michael J. Whelan, of Cork, and John S. Kennedy, of London, reported that an X-ray revealed a "large mass of metal objects" in the stomach, and an operation was performed.

"The stomach wall appeared healthy apart from a small benign ulcer," said the doctors, who did not explain why the man swallowed the objects.

Mooreville Students Are Cited For Gifts To CARE

For the second year in a row, students of the schools of Mooresville have looked beyond the printed pages of their school texts. They have sought to translate into meaningful action their knowledge of and concern for the tremendous—almost overwhelming—needs and problems which face those millions of people in overseas countries who live in poverty, ignorance, disease, and despair.

The students of Mooresville Senior and Junior High Schools, South School, Park View School and the Key Club of Senior High contributed over $700 to CARE, the well known voluntary, international relief and development agency.

Their concern for others will bring a message of friendship and renewed hope for the future to the children of two orphanages in Korea and to thousands of school-age children in Panama.

In some of the isolated, rural areas, and in the urban slum sections of Panama, school children must use makeshift implements—because local school boards and the school children's parents cannot afford even basic school supplies for them.

The money contributed by students of Senior High, Junior High and South School will enable CARE to completely equip five elementary schools in rural Panama, with a total of 25 classrooms, with the basic school supplies that are so essential to instruction, and without which learning is impossible and teaching is a frustrating and hopeless task.

These rural schools are being built as part of a project to build a total of 74 elementary schools in rural Panama. It is supported by the Panamanian Government, the U. S. Government's Alliance for Progress, and CARE.

The $121 donated by students of Park View School will be used to provide blankets, food, and clothing to the children of two Korean orphanages—The Star of the Sea Children's Home in Inchon and the Saint Paul's Orphanage in Seoul. By this unselfish act, the students of Park View demonstrated in their lives, and brought into the lives of these orphans, the true spirit of this Christmas season.

Miss Cora Freeze of Junior High School coordinated the drive.

Dr. Roland Morgan, superintendent of schools, and supported by the faculty and administration of the school system.

Miss Cora Freeze of Junior High School coordinated the drive.

Let's see. What would I like for Christmas?

Greyhounds Hand Devils Two Losses

Senior High's basketballers took a double licking Tuesday night at the hands of Statesville's Greyhounds.

The Blue Devil girls lost by a four-point margin, 26-22, but the boys were clobbered in the final quarter to drop their second game of the campaign 68-46.

Rene Gibson led the local lasses in the scoring department, tallying 15 points. Sandy Torrence and Sherry Sherrill added four each.

For the homecoming Statesville girls, Kathy Murdock led with nine points, followed by Judy Kyles with seven markers.

Mooreville's Tommy Deal led all scoring in the boys contest, pouring in 15. Deal's running mate at guard, Mike Robinson, posted 10 points, as did forward Tim Rauch.

For the Greyhounds, Bill Guy accounted for 14 points and he played a strong game on the backboards. Ken Sides tossed 12 points through the nets.

Blue Devil Coach Harlan Bowman, understandably dejected, said inability to rebound and to control the ball cost his squad the battle.

"We got only 13 rebounds the entire game," Bowman explained, "and we lost the ball far too often to muster a strong offensive effort."

County Tax Collector Will Be Here Dec. 19

Thurston Houston, county tax collector, will be in Mooresville at the Municipal Building next Thursday, December 19, for the purpose of collecting 1962 county taxes. He will be here from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. and will have the county tax books for Barringer, Coddle Creek, and Davidson Townships.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 250 horses!

And if that makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car here. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's sure good looks, too.

Sound good? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Triplett Church Methodist Men Plan Breakfast
The Methodist Men of Triplett Church will hold a breakfast meeting next Sunday, December 15, at 8 a. m. in the dining room of the fellowship building.
A program of Christmas music will be presented by a visiting trio.
The Young People's Sunday School class will prepare and serve the meal.

Friends of the Blind — Lions are known all over the world as the "friend of the blind." Mooresville Lions work throughout the year in various projects designed to prevent blindness and to help those who have lost their sight. A part of this never-ceasing assistance program by Lions here is the annual Christmas party for area blind. Local Lions held their party Monday night at the War Memorial. Mrs. L. J. Robertson and Manuel Dalton accept gifts being distributed by Bobby Setzer, left, and Jimmy Brawley. Each of the dozen blind persons attending received a basket of fruit and candy, a $10 check and a packaged gift. A highlight of the banquet was entertainment by the Optimist Boys Choir.

Full Program Is Listed For Christmas Concert

Tonight (Thursday), December 12, the annual Christmas Concert will be presented at 8 o'clock in the Roland R. Morgan Auditorium.
This traditional program will feature the Junior High band, Senior High chorus and the Senior High band.
These organizations will be under the direction of Robert O. Klepper and the chorus will be accompanied by Roy H. Watkins.
The Mooresville Rotary Club, as sponsor of this program, has sold tickets, decorated the auditorium, and members will serve as ushers and provide a social hour after the concert for all those participating in the various musical organizations.
A Christmas present of sorts will be enjoyed by the young musicians in tonight's concert as they initiate a brand new set of risers. This has long been a need of the school bands and choruses and they have managed very well on homemade risers. Through the kindness and hard work of the Mooresville Board of Education and the Mooresville Band and Chorus, this wish is now fulfilled and the new risers will be on display and very much used in tonight's presentation.
The Junior High band will get things started with "Youth Band Festival March" by Howard E. Akers. "Spirit of Christmas" is a new composition by Fred L. Frank in which he has successfully used the carols "Jolly Old St. Nicholas," "Good King Wenceslas," "Covers try Carol," "Away in a Manger," "Pat-A-Pan," and "Joy To The World." This will be followed by "Trooping The Colors" march by R. Watson will open the Senior High band part of tonight's event. This will be followed by a selection of the best songs of Jerome Kern including such hits as "Who," "They Didn't Believe Me," "I've Told Every Little Star," "Yesterday," "Look For The Silver Lining" and others.
The band has selected one number from the current contest list for this concert and it is "Allerseele" by Richard Strauss and another number in a more unusual style of harmonies called "Hong Kong" by Kenneth Henderson.
Mrs. Theresa Peiffer has narrated several times as narrator with the band and this has proven so enjoyable that she will be presenting tonight. She will tell that famous Christmas story of Clement C. Moore, "The Night Before Christmas." The band arrangement has been made by Newell Long for symphonic band and narrator.
Next the band will play a descriptive number by Harold Walzer called "The Christmas Party" in which snatches of several carols will be heard and this will bring the band to its concluding number "Yuletide Festival" by John Warrington. In this number you may hear the popular "Rudolph, The Red-nosed Reindeer" and the traditional "Jingle Bells" played together.
The chorus will join the band for several carols and the grand finale will add the Junior High band and the audience in that favorite carol of all times "O Come All Ye Faithful."

First Baptist Church Choir Schedules Cantata Of Carols

A feature of the morning worship service at the First Baptist Church, next Sunday, December 15, at 11 o'clock will be a cantata of carols, entitled "This Is Noel," composed by Katherine K. Davis.
This program will be presented by the church choir, directed by Dan Johnson, minister of music at the local church.
The music is an original composition; that is, it is not based on any of the traditional Christmas carols although it is written in that style. The text of this work is largely made up of poetry by John Cowley, but scriptural sources as well as traditional carols have been used.
Soloists will be Hazel Dishman, soprano, and Harold Doster, baritone.
Members of the choir are: Sopranos — Pat Levan, Dolores Shepherd, Trudy Tilley, Helen Burr, Louise Ballard, Elizabeth Wick, Jane Cagle, Hazel Dishman, Jane Kennedy, and Joyce Overcash.
Altos — Ruth Maddrey, Peggie Hance, Rosalee Lee Rummage, Karen Young, Dot Lyles, and Grace Ballard.
Tenors — Carl Coone, Roy Creamer, Ray Nesbit, Carl Basinger, and Roy Watkins.
Basses — Paul Cook, Charles Smith, J. W. Hager, J. D. Lowe, and Harold Doster.

Funeral Rites Conducted For Mrs. McNeely
Mrs. Claudia Fleming McNeely, 82-year-old resident of 740 East Sprague street in Winston-Salem, died in the City Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem at 7 a. m. Tuesday.
Although she had been in declining health for several years, death was unexpected, being attributed to a stroke of paralysis suffered Monday night.
Mrs. McNeely, widow of William Bruce McNeely, was a former resident of Mooresville and Concord, but had lived in Winston-Salem since the death of Mr. McNeely in 1954.
Born in Burke county on July 28, 1881, Mrs. McNeely was a daughter of the late John Thomas and Rachel McGimpsey Fleming.
The survivors include two sisters, Mrs. L. C. Ketchie of Winston-Salem and Mrs. Florence F. Cleaver of Charlotte. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.
Funeral services were conducted in Mooresville at the Calvin Funeral Chapel at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, with the Rev. R. Paul Kercher, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, in charge. Burial was in the family plot in Willow Valley cemetery.
Optimist Boys' Choir To Sing At Wesleyan Methodist
The Mooresville Optimist Club-sponsored Boys' Choir will present a program of Christmas music at the Wesleyan Methodist Church on Sunday evening, December 15, at 7 o'clock. It was announced this week by the pastor, the Rev. Carl Sparks.
This church is located at the corner of Stateville avenue and Iredell avenue.
The choir is directed by Hugh L. Sloop and the accompanist is Mrs. J. E. Robertson.
Assistant choir director is George Harbison.
The public is cordially invited to attend the program.

Biggest City In U. S. Getting Even Larger

Oklahoma City, already the largest city in land area in the United States, is getting to be even bigger.

The city has added 24.75 square miles to its area and will develop the tract as an industrial section.

The Oklahoma state capital now covers 644,735 square miles.

WILDCAT ON THE LOOSE — This is a picture left over from last week's Christmas parade. We had dozens of pictures left over, but this one has an unusual story, so we'll attempt to justify it this week. What you see is a giant mock-up of Davidson College's wildcat hovering like a mother hen over a covey of Brownies. The scouts are members of the Cornelius and Davidson troops. Dr. Mary Jane McConnell, who lives in Davidson but whose optometrist office is here, is a troop leader and she wanted to do something to help the Mooreville parade. The Brownies, their leaders and all the help the leaders could muster borrowed a chicken wire skeleton of a wildcat from a Davidson fraternity, they spent long, tedious hours covering the carcass with crepe paper, stuffing the head and making the realistic whiskers. Their labor did not go unrewarded; the chicken wire wildcat was a parade highlight.

'DEAD' HUSBAND BACK, ASKS DIVORCE SO HE CAN REMARRY

After being legally dead for 15 years, William Platt, 53, has returned to Minneapolis and asked his wife for a divorce so that he can in good conscience marry again and begin a new life with another wife.

Platt disappeared late in 1937, abandoning his wife and 3 young children. In 1947, Mrs. Platt went to court and obtained an order declaring her missing husband legally dead. Later she remarried. The case came to light when Platt and Mrs. Dorothy Wilmer applied for a marriage license, and officials could find no record of a divorce separating Platt and his first wife. Mrs. Platt later said she is happily married and will not oppose her husband's petition for a divorce decree to set the record straight.

Elkin Woman Is Proud Of Old New York Paper

A New York newspaper almost 100 years old that lists the details of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln is included in the collection of Mrs. J. F. McNeely, a local authority on the 16th President of the United States.

It is an extra edition of The New York Herald dated Saturday, April 15, 1865, the day he died a few hours after being shot by John Wilkes Booth in a Washington theatre. Between the heavy black borders reserved for death are the details of the tragedy and a sketch of the familiar face.

Mrs. McNeely says the old paper was handed down to her through her parents. She purchased a yellowed Chicago paper of the same month giving another account of Lincoln's death from a descendant of its original owner.

These are among the many papers, booklets, poems, pictures and other items she has on Lincoln. She is using them in preparing an historical scrapbook about the President.

In the first of the six columns on the front page of The New York Herald of 1865 is the headline in bold capital letters: "Important Assassination of President Lincoln — The President Shot at Ford's Theatre." Continuing down past the half fold of the page are sub-headlines labeling other facts of the assassination.

"This evening at about 9:30 p. m., at Ford's Theatre," the article begins, "the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln . . . was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President."

"The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife and made his escape in the rear of the theatre. The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal. The President has been insensible ever since it was inflicted, and is now dying."

A later dispatch in another story describes him "insensible and sinking." Under the one-column headline, "The President Dead," is the item datelined Washington. It says: "Abraham Lincoln died this morning at 22 minutes past 7 o'clock."

Another front-page story says that Confederate President Jefferson Davis fled from Richmond to Danville, Va. "His Latest Appeal to his Deluded Followers," begins the list of sub-heads. "He Thinks the Fall of Richmond a Blessing in Disguise as it Leaves the Rebel Armies Free to Move From Point to Point."

"The Organ of Gov. Vance of North Carolina Advises the Submission of the Rebels to President Lincoln's Terms." Reprinted from the Asheville News is a paragraph headlined, "Exchange of Rebel General Vance." It says: "The exchange of prisoners seems to go steadily on. We have seen a large number of our mountain boys who have reached home after a protracted imprisonment."

"This evening at about 9:30 p. m., at Ford's Theatre," the article begins, "the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln . . . was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President."

Honeycutt Services Held On Wednesday

Mack Henry Honeycutt, 57, of Davidson, died in the Lowrance Hospital in Mooreville at 7:37 p. m. Tuesday.

A native of Mecklenburg county, Mr. Honeycutt was born on December 9, 1906, a son of the late Eli and Ella Hager Honeycutt.

The survivors include: the widow, Mrs. Harriett Edwards Honeycutt; three sons, George Mack Honeycutt of Statesville, route 7, Lathan N. Honeycutt of Graysonville, Maryland, and Bobby Lee Honeycutt of Davidson; three daughters, Mrs. Rodgers Dashiell of Statesville, Maryland, and Misses Olla Mae and Sylvia Jean Honeycutt, both of the home; three sisters, Mrs. Tom Brown, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, and Miss Della Honeycutt, all of Davidson; and four brothers, Clyde and James and Charles Honeycutt, all of Mooreville, and Vance Honeycutt of Sherrill's Ford. Twelve grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted at the Davidson Methodist Church at 2 p. m. Wednesday, with the pastor, the Rev. Paul D. Lowder, in charge, and burial was in the Hills Chapel cemetery in Lincoln county.

Merchants' Office Will Remain Open

Beginning immediately, the office of the Mooreville Merchants Association will be open each Friday night until 8:30 o'clock, it was announced this week by Mrs. Jack Duffy, association secretary.

Also, the office will be open until 8:30 o'clock each night the local stores are open during the Christmas shopping season.

Laugh and Learn

"Before the trial begins," the judge cautioned the jury, "I'd like to point out to the benefit of any Perry Mason fans, that in this court the district attorney sometimes wins."

As the teenage son slumped rejectedly in a chair, Mother asked Father what was causing the gloom.

"He wants to go to the drug store down at the corner," replied Father, "and the car won't start."

Truck Driver: "We are now passing the largest brewery in the United States."

New Helper: "Why?"

"Dear," the little woman reported, "a man came yesterday giving contributions for the old clothes drive."

"Did you give him anything?" asked the husband.

"Yes, honey," she replied. "I gave him that 10-year-old suit of yours and that old dress I bought last month."

The recently-graduated college man, a thoroughly modern youth, was asked if he was looking for work.

The young man pondered the question briefly, and then replied: "Not necessarily, but I would like a job."

On their honeymoon, the groom took his bride by the hand and said, "Now that we're married, dear, I hope you won't mind if I mention a few little defects that I've noticed about you."

"Not at all," the bride replied with a deceptively sweet smile. "I was those little defects that kept me from getting a better husband."

Men still die with their boots on — but one boot is often on the accelerator.

Boss to new employee: "Welcome aboard, Smith. Always remember our motto: 'If at first you don't succeed, you're fired!'"

"William, that's your fourth piece of pie," admonished the boy's mother. "Do you know there was once a little boy like you who ate four pieces of pie and burst!"

"That wasn't too much pie," replied the lad. "It just wasn't enough boy."

He was a bit shy, and after she had thrown her arms around him and kissed him for bringing her a bouquet of roses, he arose and started to leave.

"I'm sorry I offended you," she said.

"Oh, I'm not offended," he replied. "I'm going for more roses."

Spoon River Anthology by Edgar Lee Masters. A literary masterpiece from the day of its publication, Spoon River Anthology is now being reissued—this time in a beautiful new deluxe edition, illustrated with 15 magnificent woodcuts, all but a few of them in color.

People who have not yet met the inhabitants of Spoon River can be envied! For they have ahead of them a thrilling reading experience that is always rare. Here is the bleakness and beauty of the rural mid-West, as recorded by a major American poet. With perceptiveness and lyrical grace, Masters has made articulate an important segment of American life—giving immortality to the men and women whose stories are told in these pages.

The Ghost Riders by Jack P. Anderson. A nameless drifter lurches in the town of Sombria, turns out to be a Texas Ranger, and when his partner comes looking for him, he finds a crooked sheriff covering up for a band of raiders masquerading as Apaches.

Southern Bell Seeking Better Rural Service

The Southern Bell Telephone Company today filed tariffs with the North Carolina Utilities Commission which will reduce mileage charges by extending the present Base Rate Area and by introducing a new Broad-Band Zone Plan and reclassifying Stateville and Troutman into their proper rate group.

"The net effect of the proposal would be to increase 10c to 30c in some Stateville and Troutman residence customers' bills, and decrease, generally larger, in bills of customers with mileage charges," Rigby said. Business customers will also be affected.

Rigby said: "Stateville and Troutman are 2 of 39 communities in North Carolina included in these changes. As a result of these changes, the $2.00 annual revenues would be reduced approximately $25,000 on a statewide basis."

A girl can enjoy the different foods and still remain trim and fit. She may omit lunch or supper, but she must never skip breakfast. If one finds it "unbearable" to wake up and face a little yellow egg, try a glass of chilled orange juice. Perhaps as the days progress, one may be able to eat anything for breakfast.

As most meats are fattening foods, one may be able to eat meat on different days but in small quantities; most substitutes may fill the craving for the meat and Conscience is thoroughly well-bred, and soon leaves off talking to those who do not wish to hear it.—Samuel Butler.

Telephone rate groups for local service are based on the number of main telephones within the local calling area of a community," Rigby said.

"Some communities with local calling areas of approximately the same size are paying different charges for the same general service. The inequities can only be eliminated by reclassifying affected communities to their proper rate group, Rigby pointed out.

Under Stateville and Troutman new classification, residence private line service will increase 20 cents, two-party service 20c, four-party service 15c, and eight-party service 15c. Business rates will increase 50c for individual lines, 50c for two-party service, 50c for four-party service, and 20c for eight-party service.

BODY IN GLACIER 18 YEARS CONFIRMS MAN'S INNOCENCE

A body preserved 18 years in a glacier in the Alps has provided evidence that an Italian business man is innocent of murder.

Mountain climbers who spotted a leg and ski sticking out of the ice on a glacier recovered the body of Giacomo Chiara, a guide who disappeared during the Second World War. Chiara, accompanied by Alfred Perino, had been taking secret documents to Italians in Switzerland.

The finding of the body cleared Perino, who came out of the Alps alone, of Chiara's murder. An autopsy provided no indication that a crime had been committed. Perino maintained that Chiara had fallen into a crevasse during a blizzard. He was charged with murder, but a court, lacking a body as evidence, acquitted him.

HOMEMAKERS

By Mooreville Senior High School Members
FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

As a rule, many young teen-agers are side-tripping their diet after a busy day at school. This recipe for "Party Mix" may prove to be nourishing yet not very fattening.

Party Mix
Easy To Fix Snack
6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt or 3/8 teaspoon garlic powder and 3/8 teaspoon salt, 6 cups Chex (mix Wheat, Corn, and Rice Chex equal by or any way you like) 3/4 cup salted nuts.

Heat oven to 250 degrees. Slowly melt butter in shallow pan. Stir in Worcestershire sauce and salt. Add Chex and nuts. Mix until all pieces are coated. Heat in oven 45 minutes. Stir every 15 minutes. Spread on absorbent paper to cool. Yield: 6 3/4 cups.

Postmaster's Annual Christmas 'Present' Given To His Patrons

Postmaster Ben S. Houston had his annual Christmas "present" ready today for his patrons and to nobody's surprise, it was his perennial suggestion: "Mail Early."

"Christmas shopping and mailing is, for most people, one of the heaviest chores at Christmas," Houston said, "and if I can persuade some people to get it done right now I think they will agree later—when they are taking it easy while others rush around—that I have given them a very good present."

"Virtually all Christmas mailing can be disposed of now by observing the following five suggestions," Postmaster Houston explained:

1. Do your shopping for your Christmas gifts now.
2. Check and revise mailing lists for cards and presents.
3. Package and mail Christmas parcels promptly. Don't worry about being too early—just mark them "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

4. Buy Christmas cards now and address them right away, separating them into right-down and local bundles. Mail them immediately with ZIP Codes on them and you've got it made, except perhaps for that last-minute card you forgot to send to Aunt Minnie.

5. Buy plenty of stamps now while post office windows are uncrowded.

For Christmas cards, the postmaster recommends the attractive new 5-cent Christmas stamps showing the National Christmas tree in Washington, D. C. Use of this stamp insures first-class mail treatment—meaning the card may contain personal messages and may be forwarded or returned free of extra charge.

For example, if Great Aunt Minnie has moved without telling you, your card will be forwarded to her (presuming she has left a forwarding address). If the card cannot be forwarded, it will be returned to you, provided you have put your return address on the envelope as the postmaster has asked.

For example, if a letter is addressed to "Minneapolis" and the state is left out or if it is illegible, we can tell from the ZIP Code, if used, whether it goes to Minneapolis, Iowa, New York, Texas or Missouri, each of which have a city by that name," Houston said.

Tryouts Held For European Drama At Davidson College

Tryouts for the Davidson College Department of Speech and Drama's second major production, the successful contemporary European drama by Friedrich Durrenmatt, The Visit, were held December 9 in the Drama Workshop and December 10 in Hodson Hall, both beginning at 7:30 and both in the Fine Arts Center on the college campus.

The play, a serious one with touches of bitter humor, is a challenge to a democratic society in which values have become more and more materialistic. An incredibly wealthy woman returns to her hometown which is in a state of complete bankruptcy. She offers the inhabitants a gift of a billion marks on one condition: she wants the life of a villain who years ago caused her to be expelled from the town in disgrace. The townspeople are shocked and horrified, but the remainder of the play shows the gradual corruption of the souls of everyone in the town.

Professor Rupert Barber, Jr., of the Speech and Drama Department will direct the play.

FIBROSITIS

Fibrositis of neck and shoulder commonly known as "stiff neck" or "frozen shoulder," is a condition in which the muscles of the neck and shoulder become inflamed and stiff. It is characterized by pain, stiffness, and a gradual loss of motion in the affected joint.

The condition is most frequently seen as the result of a minor automobile accident, in which the head was suddenly jerked forward and then backward. Usually no pain or complaints several hours or days later. Upon X-rays of cervical vertebrae, reveal no fractures or dislocations of the spinal vertebrae, but may reveal the fifth and sixth cervical nerve pinched at the base of the neck, across the shoulders, and radiating down the arm, or arms, to the finger tips.

The above condition is a very painful condition and should not be overlooked.

DOG RUNS 2 MILES TO CALL AID FOR EXPECTANT MOTHER

It was 4 a. m. on a silent, foggy Thursday morning and Mrs. Tommy Coe, of Miami, had a problem. She was having labor pains 7 minutes apart, her husband was working as a night watchman nearly 2 miles away, and there was no telephone in the house — only the couple's children and the family pooch, Toby.

Mrs. Coe quickly scribbled a note on the back of a scrap of paper and attached it to Toby's collar. Minutes later, the pooch skidded into the boat yard where Coe was making his rounds.

Coe at first was angry at seeing the dog, but Toby wagged his tail and held his ground. Then Coe noticed the note. He drove home, picked up his wife, and drove her to a hospital, where a daughter was born a few hours later.

"I'm going to name her Toby," said the proud father.

WILKES COUNTY FRONTIERSMAN Story Of Burnie Waters Published

The adventures of Burnie Waters, 19th century frontiersman from Wilkes County, are related by Octavia Jordan Perry in a novel, My Head's High From Proudfess, published December 6, by John F. Blair, publisher, of Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

From the time he was three and a half years old until he was seventeen, Wilburn Waters was a slave servant. When he took his freedom, he turned to hunting, a calling for which he showed exceptional aptitude. So great was his skill that it inspired exaggeration in the telling of it.

Today, in the area of Southwest Virginia around White Top Mountain where he built his home, the stories told about Burnie Waters have taken on the sheen of legend, and one listens partly to a true account, partly to folk hero worship. The two become more intertwined year by year. Waters himself started the custom; he could tell a story with as much skill as he could trap a wolf or shoot a bear. Often he set the stories to music and, accompanying himself on his banjo, sang the ballads to his listeners. My Head's High From Proudfess is not a factual account of the deeds of the frontiersman. It was inspired by the scant records of his life and derives from the stories told by Waters, which the author has embellished with dialect, continuity, and romance.

The author was born in Orange County, North Carolina, where her father was a country doctor. Early in her childhood the family moved to Durham. She is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and a past president of the alumnae association.

Mrs. Perry and her husband, a retired businessman, live in High Point and spend the summer months at their home near Sparta, where she first became interested in mountain lore and in the story of Burnie Waters.

TOWNSPEOPLE GIVE $15,000 TO KEEP INDUSTRY AT HOME

A successful fund drive has assured Kalkaska, Mich., of keeping one of its 2 main industries in operation. But it may have cost the community of 1,300 population its famous National Trout Festival for 1964.

Residents of the town subscribed $15,000 needed for expansion of Wood Lumber Mill, Inc. The firm was recently purchased by a group with outside interests and would have moved if the fund-raising drive had failed. A spokesman for the Kalkaska Chamber of Commerce said the trout festival had been canceled to meet the drive.

"It would have cost another $6,000 to hold the festival," he said, "and we don't feel we can go back and ask people to contribute this much more after they've already put up $15,000." The money will be used to expand operations of the factory, which employs 30 persons.

Municipal Unity Built In Annexation Program

Mooreville, a seasoned 90-year-old, finally is experiencing growing pains. Absurd? Sure, Mooreville has been growing all along—but its town limits haven't. Last week, the Town Board received for study a plan for the first general annexation in this community's history.

And what a report it is! The proposed expansion would hike our population more than 20 per cent and boost the town's land area about 30 per cent. How about that for sudden growth.

The answer, of course, is that the annexation plan doesn't represent sudden growth at all. Rather, it is a realistic approach to acknowledging residential, business and industrial growth over a period of decades, particularly during the most recent decade. It has been said on good authority that 500 bales of cotton are produced within the city of Greensboro. This may or may not be true, and such a situation may or may not be justified. The point is, we in Mooreville aren't contemplating that kind of annexation.

What the annexation study, which was prepared by recognized authorities in the field of municipal planning, sets forth is

Misplaced Emphasis In Traffic Safety

Thanksgiving's highway death toll in North Carolina, and the continuing high rate of traffic accidents, brings to mind the words of Rex M. Whitton, head of the Bureau of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

His opinion: that over-emphasis upon drivers as the cause of most traffic accidents is diverting energy from more productive approaches to safety.

"I am concerned about the great amount of energy being devoted to 'hard sell' efforts to reform the driver — to scare or shame him into being a better one," he told the National Safety Congress recently. "I believe we have exhausted the value of this continuing assault on human nature. And I have grave doubts that it works... I honestly think that most drivers do as well as they can, most of the time. I am convinced that the careless or irresponsible drivers, at whom these messages are really pointed, are the very ones who ignore them completely. I believe that attacks on drivers are an injustice to most of them, who are responsible and competent."

If the continued upward trend of traffic deaths is any indication, Whitton is correct, within limits.

What, then, can be done?

"It is logical to reason that the conditions must be changed — we must continue to improve the road, the vehicle and the basic control measures of the system,"

The Big Issue—Whither Agriculture?

Whither American agriculture? We have a superabundance of just about everything in this country, including news and opinions. All the media are loaded with reports, analyses and what-all covering just about every conceivable aspect of human affairs.

In this welter of news, matters of long-range importance are apt to be temporarily shelved. That has been the case of late with one of our major domestic problems — agriculture.

The farm problem is very real and, like foreign policy, there can be no one cut-and-dried solution to matters concerning it. But, as a matter of principle, we can assume one of two things will ultimately happen. More controls will be exerted over agriculture, or farmers will be given a bit more freedom and control over their own destiny.

Many authorities, including leading farm spokesmen, believe the move away from rigid government control is the only sound course. Such re-establishment of freedom to farm would not be a precedent. In fact, not all of American agriculture now is under the federal thumb. Livestock is our best example of free enterprise on the

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

I see in the paper where this woman atheist is trying to get all the chaplains kicked out of the military service. I've always had a strong suspicion the Devil was a woman. Now, I'm sure. This fool (the Lord says an atheist is a fool) has already got the Supreme Court to kick Bible and Prayer out of the classroom door. According to my horse doctor, this woman is suffering from a case of the ole timey "running file." I always thought that this was for dogs only, but according to the Doc, any animal can have em—even jackasses.

Another thing I heard was that this woman is trying to get the government to make the churches pay taxes. This female atheist is determined to put us preachers outa business. She's a strong atheist alright. I read where she swore to God there wasn't no God.

My psychiatrist told me that this woman's mama was scared by a magician right before she was born, and the baby came into the world talking magic words. Now she thinks all she's gotta do to get rid of God is to wave her hand before the Supreme Court and say abrakadabra. She's positive that she's got rid of God. Anyway, Mr. Publisher, she's playing the Devil in more ways than one.

Course the Supreme Court has got more to think about than God. I see where one case has come before em about cigarette smoking. Some woman is trying to get a pile a money because her husband died from lung cancer. The Court ain't gonna fool with it though, cause the government gets too much taxes from tobacco.

I just got to thinking, Mr. Publisher, why not have 'em put a tax on Bible and Prayer. This way the government will not only approve Bible and Prayer in schools, they'll demand it. Fact is the government might even underwrite the program. One thing about putting this tax on it— It would make the younguns think reading the Bible and praying was awful important.

This program would work just like the liquor program. Liquor that ain't under government control is illegal. But when folks make it and pay a tax why its as legal as buying milk for the baby. It looks to me like taxing the Bible and praying would work the same way.

Well, Mr. Publisher, I gotta be going. I want to visit my Congressman and see if he knows one end of a mule from the other. It pays a man to be able to identify what he sees.

Pray hard.

Yours Truly,

Parson Jones

OUR COMMUNITY

IN OTHER YEARS

Archie Cathey, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cathey, of this city, lies in the hospital at Statesville, where he is lingering between life and the Great Beyond, as a result of a terrible accident which occurred Tuesday about 11 o'clock. Archie, with several other young boys, lay out of school Tuesday morning and took a trip to Mount Mourne. After reaching their destination, it was decided they would catch a freight train and ride back to town. However, Archie was unable to swing the moving train and was thrown beneath the wheels. Both legs were so badly mangled that amputation was necessary, and each limb was taken off above the knees. The other boys deserted the young fellow after the accident and it was through the agency of the good people of Mount Mourne that his sad plight was discovered, having been found by some school children sometime after the accident. It was a most deplorable affair and the community is in great sympathy for the little boy and his parents. At last accounts the child had a good pulse and appeared to be doing quite well.

Iredell county's first contingent of selectmen under the second draft call left Statesville Tuesday for Camp Jackson, S. C., to begin training. There were 16 of the boys and, contrary to the usual custom, everyone of them appeared to be in the best of spirits and seemed to be glad they were going. There were no tears in evidence and the entire proceedings seemed as if the fellows were starting on a picnic. The 16 who left this morning represented five per cent of the county's quota under the second call. The boys were in charge of William T. Colvert, the following being a list of those sent: James Walter Sipe, William Thomas Covert, Byron Bradburn, Numa Eldson, Charles Cuthbert Harpe, William D. Russey, Nelson Saunders Stewart, Albert Glenn McKay, James Garland Ayers, George Edmond Tharpe, Lewis F. Jones, Walter Orrell Morrison, Eddy Lewis Stroud, Leroy Morrison, L. Columbus Anderson, Ollie Cletus Sloop.

Usually at this season of the year stores in various parts of the country begin closing their place of business early in the evening in order the clerks and business men can have outings from their daily routine. There is but one time now, designated as "new time." Following are the firms and places that have agreed to close at 7 o'clock each day.

Kelly Clothing Company, R. W. Freeze & Son, W. C. Johnston & Co., J. F. McGraw, C. V. Voils, People's Home Furnishing Company, Mooreville Wholesale Grocery, W. N. Johnston Sons Co., (ice plant excepted), J. P. Mills, W. W. Rankin Company, D. E. Turner & Co., R. M. Abernathy, Harris & McNeely Co., B. M. McNeely & Co., W. P. Carpenter, (dry goods), John Mack & Son.

There are only a few stores refusing to close at the time specified. The stores will, of course, remain open Saturday nights.

Miss Ella Cornelius returned to Charlotte Tuesday evening after a visit of several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Cornelius. Miss Cornelius has been with the Presbyterian hospital at Charlotte for the past three years and has completed her course as nurse.

All those who expect or desire to vote in the coming fall election must have their poll tax receipt on or before the first day of May. If you are a tax slacker, you had better remedy matters at once.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore and son Clyde and Mrs. J. M. Kerr returned Tuesday morning from Greenville, S. C., having visited Howard Moore and Eddie Kerr, members of the Piedmont Battery at Camp Sevier.

Mr. J. H. Cloaninger has purchased about 40 acres of land, the remaining tract of the late Isaac Harris farm in Coddle Creek township, adjoining the lands opposite the farm of Mr. B. W. Harris.

At its meeting on Monday the Civic League decided to open a rest room in the room formerly occupied by the laboratory in the M. & F. Bank building on Moore avenue. The room is being overhauled and prepared and will be nicely equipped for use of the public in the shortest possible time.

Messrs. F. R. Sharpe and J. F. Dorroh have purchased the Smith Cafe and have fitted the room up in a very handsome manner and are doing business at the old stand. Mr. Smith will remain with them for sometime.

The street improvement force is making considerable headway along Broad street this week. When it is complete, we will have a beautiful street. The Bell Telephone Company has moved its poles and it remains for the local company to do the same before we have the avenue an ideal one.

200 CLUB ORGANIZED — The first official meeting of the newly organized 200 Club, composed of ladies who bowl 200 in a sanctioned league at Moor Lanes, Inc., was held last week. The purpose of the club, sponsored by Moor Lanes, Inc., is to spread goodwill and help the needy. The club has eighteen members and pictured above are some of the members: seated, left to right, Mrs. Avie Troutman and Mrs. Charlene Overcash. Standing, left to right, Mrs. Irene Huffman, Mrs. Wanda Smith, Mrs. Barbara Anderson, club chairman, Mrs. Eva Dry and Mrs. Alma Helms. The club's first project was to decorate the Ervin Rest Home for the Christmas season.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

What is a person's most precious possession?

That's the question the Mooreville Tribune's roving reporter asked four on-the-streets this week as he went about preparing one of the paper's weekly features—The People Speak.

He was moved to ask the foregoing question after reading in another newspaper that "a good name is better than riches, but that the two frequently go hand in hand."

"Most of the enduring fortunes in America," the article continued, "were founded on the business integrity of the men who amassed them. Ruthlessness and ability may have been factors, but basic integrity was the vital ingredient for continuing success."

But, let's get back to the Mooreville Tribune's question of the week: What is a person's most precious possession? Here are the answers of the four persons questioned:

GRADY CLOANINGER, Union Carbide, Charlotte: "A person's most precious possession, in my opinion, is his family. They (the members of his family) are his most loved ones . . . and loved ones come first."

BILL McLAUGHLIN, student, route 3: "His family and other people who are close to you."

MRS. LARRY CALDWELL, Southern Bell, 520 Walnut street: "In my opinion, a person's family is his most precious possession. No matter how many other friends you might have, I'm sure you would be very, very lonesome without your family."

JEAN DAVIS, student, 466 West Center avenue: "My father and mother are my most precious possessions. Why? Well, they have reared me . . . looked after my every need . . . and now they are sending me to college."

Funeral Rites Conducted For Mrs. Gillespie

Mrs. Bannar Rogers Gillespie, 76, wife of William Baxter Gillespie, died at her home on Catawba avenue in Davidson last Wednesday.

A native of Mecklenburg county, Mrs. Gillespie was born on June 14, 1887, a daughter of the late Bob and Margaret Mayhew Rogers. She was well known and highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

The survivors, in addition to the husband, include: three sons, Paul Gillespie of Charlotte and Marvin and George Gillespie, both of Mooreville; four daughters, Major Julia B. Gillespie, of the U. S. Army at Fayetteville; Mrs. E. Q. Donaldson of Mooreville, Mrs. Hewitt Gabriel of Davidson, and Mrs. Sara C. Thompson of Cornelius; two brothers, Wade Rogers of Mooreville and Lynn Rogers of Huntersville; two half-brothers, Everette Rogers of Mooreville, and Fred Rogers of the U. S. Army in Germany; one sister, Mrs. Lucy Starnes of Mooreville; and one half-sister, Mrs. Oscar Wilson of Mooreville.

Funeral services were conducted at 4 p. m. Friday at the Fair View Methodist Church at Mount Mourne, with the pastor, the Rev. W. E. Ruffy, in charge, assisted by a former pastor, the Rev. Don Beatty of Charlotte. Burial was in the Mount Zion Methodist Church cemetery at Cornelius.

Winn-Dixie's Sales Show An Increase

An increase of 437 per cent in sales was recorded by Winn-Dixie Stores during the 20-week period ended November 16 compared with the corresponding period a year ago, an increase of $13,523,848.

Sales during the 4-week period ended November 16 totaled $98,394,713 as compared to $65,980,189 for the corresponding 4-week period in 1962. The 4-week total in 1962, unusually high in the Winn-Dixie operating area due to the Cuban crisis, reduced the gain that would have otherwise been normal for this period in 1963. The increase was $504,524 or 77 per cent.

The company, which operates supermarkets throughout the South, now has a total of 620 retail stores and eight wholesale units in operation, compared with 590 retail stores and eight wholesale units this time last year.

Iredell Cadets Promoted At Wake Forest

Three Iredell county students at Wake Forest College, members of the Reserve Officer Training Corps, have received promotions. It was announced today by Maj. Norman G. Clynne, Jr., of the Department of Military Science.

Danny MacArthur Loftin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Loftin of Troutman, has been promoted to cadet first sergeant. Loftin, a junior at Wake Forest, is a member of the basketball and baseball teams, an honor student and received the Sons of American Revolution ROTC Medal.

Michael Andrew Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hazel H. Taylor, 228 North Bost street, Statesville, has been promoted to cadet sergeant. Taylor also is a junior, a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, the student legislature, the yearbook staff and a cheerleader at Wake Forest.

Karl Graham Kirkman, Jr., son of Mrs. Mary D. Kirkman, 123 North Mainberry street, Statesville, has been promoted to cadet first sergeant. Also a junior, Kirkman is social chairman of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, the cadet color guard commander, a member of the International Relations Club and Pershing Rifles.

The Military Science Department was added in 1951 to the curriculum at Wake Forest. In the past 10 years, more than 450 graduates have been commissioned officers in the U. S. Army Reserve and the Regular Army. The department has a present enrolment of 400 basic students and 120 advance students. The U. S. Army Instructor Group consists of five officers and five enlisted men.

FRUIT CAKE SEASON — As sure as Christmas, you can look for members of the Mooreville Junior Civic League to come around with a cake to sell. The sale of famous-brand fruit cakes is a chief money-raising project of the hard-working civic group. Most of the bulk orders to area businesses and industries already have been filled, but plenty of cakes still are available for sale to individuals. Mrs. Jack Overcash, left, and Mrs. Larry Parrish, co-chairman of the club's ways and means committee that handles the cake-selling project, load cakes for delivery to a local plant. Persons who would like to aid the club in its civic work and get a good cake in the bargain were invited to contact any member of the organization.

"Why didn't I think of that before . . . ?"

It all seems so clear to me now! Obviously, it always costs LESS in the end to buy for CASH in the beginning.

This 'Buy Now . . . Pay Later' idea sounded pretty good to me at the time, but I can see now that it is much better to 'SAVE now . . . buy LATER'.

Area Students Earn King's College Degree

Six Mooresville students and one from Troutman were among the 965 graduates who were awarded diplomas at the recent commencement of King's College in Charlotte.

The Mooresville graduates included James Wilkinson and Leslie Dean Cooke, who received junior accounting diplomas; Nancy Jo Smith and Sue Carol McNeely, who were presented with general business secretarial diplomas; Linda Kathleen Brotherton, who was awarded an executive secretarial diploma; and Sheila Bonita Sipes, who received a junior secretarial diploma.

Sandra Jo Brown, of Troutman, received a medical secretarial diploma.

FHA Club Conducting Cookbook Sale

The Mooresville Junior High FHA Chapter is conducting their annual sale of the famous cookbook, Favorite Recipes of Home Economics Teachers. The 1963 edition features desserts and party beverages. These cookbooks are sold only for fund raising. The 1962 edition featuring meats can also be obtained from the Chapter.

Homemakers will find in this book the most complete collection of dessert recipes ever printed. It contains over 2,000 recipes submitted by home economics teachers in every section of the United States. The recipes are very practical and are suitable for everyday meals as well as creative and gourmet attractions. The "Desserts Edition" contains a separate section for cakes, cookies, pies and candies. Cooking tables, charts, and helpful pointers, plus many photographs make these sections very useful. A dessert calorie chart, frozen dessert section and dessert spice charts are included.

Other sections feature frostings and fillings, puddings, custards, frozen desserts, fruit desserts, shortcakes, jiffy desserts, dessert sauces and toppings, desserts for large groups and many others. Low calorie, foreign, and convenience recipes contained in separate sections are worth the $3.00 price alone.

Party beverages occupy a position of importance in this grand collection of recipes. An entire section is devoted to recipes on party punch and beverages. Favorite Recipes of Home Economics Teachers make an excellent gift for weddings, showers, graduations, etc. For information on how to obtain this book, contact any FHA member at the Mooresville Senior High School.

Gilwood Church Has Memorial For The Late James Archer

At the morning worship service of the Gilwood Presbyterian Church on Sunday, December 8, a memorial was read in memory of James Ralph Archer, who at the time of his death on May 14, 1963, was ruling elder of the Gilwood Church, holding this office since June 20, 1943.

Flowers were placed at the altar by the Archer family in his memory. Members of the family attending the service were his wife, Mrs. Vassie Love Archer of Kannapolis; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Archer, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Archer; Miss Rosa Lee Archer, and Mrs. Pearl Archer Smith, all of Mooresville.

2 Iredell Students At ASTC Members Highland Biologists

Two Iredell county students at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone are doing their practice teaching at the Mooresville Junior High School. Pictured here, they are: Miss Gayle Karriker, seated, Miss Bonnie Walls, standing left, and Miss Dolores Eudy. According to present plans, the three will be here for three months.

The three young women are here to take part, during the winter quarter, December 4 through March 4, in the student teaching program of ASTC. In this program, the students devote approximately 12 weeks to student teaching in the field for which they have been preparing.

The student teacher devotes full time in the school and gradually takes over the full teaching load, always under the supervision of the supervising teacher and the principal.

STUDENT TEACHERS — Putting into practice what they have learned, three seniors at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone are doing their practice teaching at the Mooresville Junior High School. Pictured here, they are: Miss Gayle Karriker, seated, Miss Bonnie Walls, standing left, and Miss Dolores Eudy. According to present plans, the three will be here for three months.

3 Student Teachers From ASTC Now At Mooresville Junior High

Three seniors at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone are doing their practice teaching at the Mooresville Junior High School. Pictured here, they are: Miss Gayle Karriker, seated, Miss Bonnie Walls, standing left, and Miss Dolores Eudy. According to present plans, the three will be here for three months.

The three young women are here to take part, during the winter quarter, December 4 through March 4, in the student teaching program of ASTC. In this program, the students devote approximately 12 weeks to student teaching in the field for which they have been preparing.

The student teacher devotes full time in the school and gradually takes over the full teaching load, always under the supervision of the supervising teacher and the principal.

Mrs. Creswell Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

Mrs. Marion Houston Creswell, 67, widow of William McPherson Creswell, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at her apartment at the home of Mrs. T. O. Brawley, 310 West Wilson avenue, at 8:30 p. m. Sunday.

A native of Saco, Maine, Mrs. Creswell was a daughter of the late Archie and Mary McKinnon Houston. Mrs. Creswell returned to Mooresville from Virginia to make her home a few years ago following the death of her husband and her retirement.

The survivors include: two sisters-in-law, Mrs. T. O. Brawley of Mooresville and Mrs. Howard V. Simpson of Rocky Mount; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a. m. Tuesday at the Cavin Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Joe E. Stowe, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in charge. Burial was in the family plot in Willow Valley cemetery.

Pfeiffer Group To Present Program Here

Sponsored by the Student Council, the Pfeiffer College Chamber Singers will present a program of familiar and unfamiliar Christmas carols from around the world in the Roland R. Morgan auditorium of the Mooresville Senior High School tomorrow (Friday) at 2 p. m.

Prof. Richard Brewer, head of the college's music department, directs the group of 12 men and women who have been selected from the college's concert choir because of their musical talent and love of singing.

The group sings a capella.

Iredell Records 145 Births In November

Iredell county recorded 145 births and 42 deaths during November, according to records filed in the office of Dr. Ernest Ward, county health director.

Of the 145 births, 112 were white and 33 were Negro. Ten babies were born prematurely and two of these died. There were three white still births.

Of the 42 deaths, 28 were white and 14 were Negro. Three deaths were attributed to cancer, three were traffic deaths; one death was accidental and 21 deaths were due to heart and blood vessel disease.

THOUGHT
WEEK...

REV. FLOYD TREXLER

Equal opportunities for all is not an easy matter. In theory it is easily stated, but in practice it is a hard fact.

In the practical application of this aspiration we run into some hard facts.

For example, in order to realize this goal we cannot fire one man in order that another might have a job. It means that another job must be created. And so, industrial expansion and religion find themselves involved in the same goal.

It becomes a Christian's duty to help create better economic conditions in the community.

Making a job available for a man is a very practical way of carrying out the Biblical injunction, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Matt. 22:39).

Rev. McBath Installed As Pastor Of Statesville Church

A called meeting of Concord Presbyterian, Presbyterian Church, U. S., was held in the First Presbyterian Church, Statesville, North Carolina, December 8, at 10 a. m. for the purpose of approving a call by the First Presbyterian Church of Statesville to Rev. W. Lowery McBath, Concord, as Associate Minister, and for appointing a Commission to install him in his office.

Mr. McBath was until recently pastor of the Greenwood Presbyterian Church, near Concord. The Presbytery dissolved the pastoral relations between the minister and this church, December 1, 1963, at their request, following the call.

As a member of Concord Presbytery, he was served as Chairman of the Council, Moderator of the Presbytery and is presently Chairman of its Property Committee, and is a member of the Christian Education Commission.

Mrs. McBath is the former Carol Ann Doll, of Charlotte, North Carolina. She served as Director of Christian Education of the Columbia Presbyterian Church, Decatur, Georgia. The McBaths have a little daughter, Elizabeth Doll, two

Social Security
Claim Proofs
Are Required

Taft McCoy, field representative of the Salisbury Social Security office, has prepared a checklist for people in Irredell County who work under Social Security.

McCoy suggests that the checklist be kept for family members working under Social Security to enable survivors to be better prepared to file a claim when the occasion arises.

The following evidence is usually required in all cases:

Social Security account number of the worker as well as the Social Security account number of any member of the family for whom benefits will be requested if they have been assigned an account number.

Proof of age for the worker filing for benefits, proof of age for the wife or widow who is at least 62 years of age.

Birth certificates of children eligible for benefits.

Proof of the worker's earnings on the year before the claim is filed. This is the tax withholding statement (W-2) if the worker was employed for wages. If he was self-employed, it will be a complete copy of the federal income tax return, plus proof of having filed the return with the Internal Revenue Service (canceled check, money order receipt, etc., showing that the federal tax was paid).

Each worker will be asked to estimate his total earnings for the year in which the claim is filed. A widow who files a claim based on the record of her husband, needs a copy of her marriage certificate and proof of her age. She should be prepared to give complete information about prior marriages of the worker or of her own. This includes dates and places of marriage as well as how, when and where the prior marriage ended. While the importance of furnishing the necessary proofs is emphasized, McCoy said a person should not delay filing an application simply because he is unable to obtain a certain proof. He stated that the employees of the Social Security office at 106 Corbin Avenue in Salisbury will assist persons in any way possible to obtain the necessary evidence when the time comes.

Miracle in a Manger

On the holy night, the Christ child was born to an unknown carpenter and his wife in Bethlehem.

No palace physician attended the Prince of Peace — perhaps a mid-wife or a serving maid.

No fine linens were prepared for the mother; no crib for the Babe — just the straw and the manger were theirs.

No royal salute was fired to announce His arrival — only the braying of the animals in their stalls was heard.

Never was royalty greeted with jena pump and circumstance. Why? Because man could not raise himself to God!

So God sent His Son to light up our hearts and minds with His Divine Presence.

His living Spirit brightened the most ordinary and commonplace tasks of the day.

If he could so hallow that stable, can He not hallow our homes, our places of work, the whole of our lives?

Of course! Consider again and again the miracle of His birth. Be in church on Christmas to welcome anew the Christ child in your heart.

Junior High's Cagers Launch Season Against Landis Today

Today (Thursday) at four o'clock in the afternoon the 1963-64 edition of the Junior High basketball season will officially open its season. The opener pits the locals against Landis on the Mooresville home court.

This contest will be the only display available to the home folks this year, as the Imps will not play again until January 9 at D. Matt Thompson. Better make plans right now to be on hand for the tipoff this afternoon.

Coach Dave Richardson will be starting almost from scratch, with only one returning starter from the team of last year. This boy, Mike Deaton, will team with new boys John Verbis, John Beam, Tony Levan and Bill Keeter to make up the starting five for the opening game.

Coach Dan Woody of the young lassies reports his team is almost in the same fix. Still, the girls have no place to go but up after losing all 10 games they played last year. The boys, after losing their first four games, came on strong the last half of the season to post a 5-5 record.

The Junior High Imps will be operating in the Central Piedmont Conference, which was set up for the first time this year and is made up of five schools with each team playing the other on a home-and-home basis.

Woody reports his girls have been working hard and are expected to make a good showing in the opener today. He lists his probable starting line-up with Judy Kistler and Jeanne Talbert at forwards and Jane Kelly and Jane Church at guards. Judy Robinson and Lisa Alexander will man the raving player positions.

Donna Allison, Ponda Hayes, Betty Jo Wike and Linda Benfield are also highly praised by Woody and they too are expected to see game duty this afternoon.

Rounding out the sextet team are Sue Brooks, Kathy Phillips, Debbie Burdette, Janet Oliphant, June Wilson, Annie Bravley, Christine Barlow, Mary Anne Charles and Susan Brantley.

Richardson is high on the praise of the entire membership of his team. He reports practice has been the best since he took over the coaching duties two years ago. The spirit and hustle shown by the unit is a sign they will improve steadily as the season rolls along.

Other than the first five listed, Richardson is high on Ricky Moore, Joe Benson, James Benfield, Chuck Byrd and Mitchell Coggins. He expects these boys to add strength and depth to the squad.

Still other boys who are working with a fine effort are Brent Cur-

Blue Devil Basketball Travel To Odell In Return Tilt Friday

Tomorrow night (Friday) the Blue Devil basketball team will journey to Odell for a return engagement against the Dragons. In their first encounter of the season, the two schools split a twin-bill. The local girls lost in a thriller 27-25, while the boys came through with a 78-41 verdict.

The Devil teams played at Statesville Tuesday night and the results of that contest will be found elsewhere in today's issue.

The girls, under the direction of Coach Roy Boyles, who is in his first endeavor at guiding the lassies team, gave the local fans their share of thrills in the opening game Friday night. Boyles was high in praise of his team for their fine showing. With a little more experience they will be a real top notch outfit.

Devil hustling forward Sandy Torrence was the spark of the lassies, keeping them in the ball game down to the final whistle. All total, Torrence scored 13 points to top the scoring for both teams. Mooreville set a hot pace in the first quarter, getting off to a 11-5 advantage. However, the hoop closed on the basket for the locals as they totaled only four points in the second chapter while the visiting team got 10 to make the score stand at 15-all at half time.

The drought continued in the third quarter as only a bucket by Torrence kept them on the scoreboard. Trailing by five points going into the final three minutes the Devils battled back and could have tied the score with one second to play should a last ditch shot have found the basket. It failed and the girls dropped their opener by the narrowest of scores.

Second high scorer for Mooreville was Rene Gibson with six points. Shirley Sherrill got four to total out the locals scoring. Susan Cooke, Marlene Poore and Sandy Sharpe were demons on defense at the guard slots.

Mooreville's boys proved they will be a team to reckon with as they took the lead from the start and rolled over the Odell five 75-41 in the largest victory margin for a Blue Devil team in recent years. Coach Harlan Bowman has his entire starting five returning this year and from all indications they will be in strong contention for the North Piedmont Conference championship.

Guard Tommy Deal was the top knocker for the winners, scoring 32 points. Mike Robinson was second with 16. Every member of the team got a chance in the contest and practically all got points on the scoreboard. Harry Morris topped the Odell scorers with 17 points.

Johnny Cate tallied seven, Tim Roach and Gary Laws each got six, and Eddie Barnett sank a foul shot for one point.

In recent practice periods, Coach Boyles has had his team really shooting from the foul line. The lassies got only nine points at the charity stripe in 30 attempts, which proved the margin in the opener. He hopes to have them ready at tip-off time Friday night.

Coach Bowman's lads will be a heavy favorite in the contest judging from the previous score and the real game is expected to be the girls contest when the locals try to reverse the loss.

Odell is just a skip and jump across the county line on the Cordle Creek road, so make a special effort to attend the game and root the locals to victory. Tip-off time for the girls game is 7:30 p. m.

Tuesday night, the locals travel to Kannapolis for another non-conference practice affair and they will be on the home court December 19 in a contest with Statesville.

TRIBUNE PHOTO

READY AND ABLE — The Mooreville wrestling team opens its 1963-64 season tomorrow night (Friday) in a match here against South Mecklenburg. Following the final practice Wednesday afternoon, Coach Perry Pearson pronounced his team ready for the encounter. Some of the boys

FRIDAY NIGHT

Devil Grapplers Set For S. Mecklenburg Contest

Coach Perry Pearson and his wrestling charges this week held final workouts, perfecting their attack in preparation for their opening contest of the year against South Mecklenburg here tomorrow (Friday) night.

The match, scheduled to get underway at 7:30 in the Senior High gymnasium, will see the locals going all-out to avenge a loss to the Rebels in their lone meeting last season. From all indications this match shapes up as a real test for the Blue Devil squad in its quest for honors in wrestling circles during the coming campaign.

Pearson will be making his wrestling coaching debut, having taken over the duties from Bill Griffith who guided the team for the past three years. This year's team has the promise of being one of the best to come from the school in recent years.

In all, Coach Pearson has 22 boys hoping for a starting slot in the opening match, which will see 11 boys taking part in the actual competition. Should Pearson's plans go well, he will be able to send a boy to the mat in each of weight classes. The only doubtful division is in the lightweight 95-pound class in which Gary Freeze is the only team member who could possibly make the weight.

Main anchor of the team will be association champion Dewitt Hinson in the heavyweight, or unlimited, division. Hinson is the only returning title holder of the three championships captured by the Blue Devils in the Association tour-

Heading up the hopes for the locals will be experienced wrestlers in seven of the 11 weight classes. Along with Hinson they are David Curtis in the 145-pound division, William Kelly in the 120-pound class, Mike Couch in the 127-pound class, Jeff Stonestreet in the 180-pound class, and Tommy Pennington in the 103-pound class.

Tony Bentley competes in the 112-pound class, Bobby Ingram in the 154-pound class, Bobby Ham in the 133-pound class, Larry Dyson in the 165-pound class, David Oliphant in the 138-pound class and Freeze in the 95-pound bracket.

Pearson reports that he is well pleased with the team's fine efforts in the first weeks of practice. Each of the boys is making a fine effort to bring depth to the squad.

Sophomore Standout

Linker One Of Top Boys For ECC '11'

Reports reaching Mooreville indicate that Neel Linker, former gridiron great on the Blue Devil football team, is continuing his fine work at East Carolina College at Greenville.

In his sophomore year Linker is rated one of the top players on the team which posted a 8-1 record during the regular season and Saturday will take part in the annual Eastern bowl game.

Neel was a standout for the Blue Devils three straight years, two of which Mooreville won the North Piedmont Conference championship. In his senior year the hard charging guard provided the spark in the line that led to the locals winning the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association title East Carolina in the post season game. will be Northeastern University of Boston, Mass., which is undefeated.

Linker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Linker of Mooreville.

JUNIOR HIGH GETS READY — Coach Dave Richardson has been a busy man preparing his Junior High Imps for their season opener today, December 12. His team's strength is a question mark, he says, since he has only one returning veteran of last year's squad. Richardson is high, though, on several eighth graders who will add depth to the team. The coach supervises a rebounding drill as his single veteran performer, Mike Deaton, prepares to put the ball on the boards. Set to scrum for the rebound are John Beam and Tony LeVan, at left, Johnny Verbis and Bill Keeter. Beam, a hefty eighth grader, and Keeter, a ninth grade footballer out for basketball for the first time, add the beef that comes in handy under the basket.

Scattered throughout this issue of the Tribune are Christmas greetings from the business community here to the people of this area. We hope you will read these Yuletide messages that come from grateful firms and persons to all of you. They come from the hearts of men and women who appreciate your patronage and your cooperation.

We know of no small city where the tradesmen are more grateful for your business and friendship than in Mooresville. They prove it year after year in so many ways. It is they who decorate your city streets each Christmas, who stage your annual Christmas parade. It is they who make so many things possible and without whose financial support these projects for good would be impossible. The War Memorial with its youth recreation, and swimming pool program could not exist without their help. There would be no United Fund, no Chamber of Commerce, no Merchants Association and a dozen other vital civic projects that add to our happiness and well-being.

The people whose heart-felt messages of good cheer appear in this issue of the Tribune are the people who have been busy, many of them for a half-century, building your town, and upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility for its continued growth. The least that any one of us can do is to try to find it first in Mooresville before we go to other towns and buy it from firms who contribute nothing to our town and care less about our future.

We note in a trade journal where the industry that deals mostly in greeting cards reports that Christmas messages this year are more subdued. The trend toward sending religious cards, they say, has been increasing steadily for the last 15 years, until now these cards make up 30 per cent of the total. The death of President Kennedy has shot this percentage much higher this Christmas, they report.

In times of stress people seek to symbolize their feelings in their Yuletide greetings. There has been a growing impetus, for instance, in the past several years toward sending cards with a message signifying a universal hope for Peace On Earth.

Definitely, says the greeting card industry, frivolous Christmas cards are on the way out.

Before World War II the frivolous Christmas card had reached an all-time high in popularity. One of the classic Christmas cards of that era was one sent out by the late Ring Lardner in 1929. Ring, the most famed sports chronicler of that era, mailed this one:

How utterly ridiculous you'd feel
How damned unpleasant,
If you sent just a card to us
And WE sent YOU a present.

In order that no such thing
Can happen to you, comma,
This card is all you'll get from Ring.
His kiddies or their mamma.

There is a provision in the Constitution of North Carolina that goes back to the medieval concept that a married woman was the serf of her husband and all her real estate was his.

In short, a woman in North Carolina may own a million dollars worth of real estate the day before her marriage and the next day she cannot sell, convey, or give away a dime of it without the consent in writing of her husband.

On the other hand, whatever a man owns when he is married belongs to him and he can dispose of it in any way he sees fit without consent of his wife.

On Tuesday, January 14, there will be held in North Carolina an election in which this provision in the Constitution can be changed to give a woman the same single rights over her property as that possessed by the man.

This constitutional provision discriminating against wives should be changed. It behooves all women—and all fair-minded men—to vote for this change on January 14.

This amendment proposal will appear on the ballot that day as the second item. The first item will be a proposal to revamp the legislature along the so-called "Little Federal plan." This first item should be voted against, soundly defeated by those believing in complete representation, those who believe that good government depends upon each vote having the same weight in state government.

This amendment being submitted to the people of North Carolina on January 14 would give the representatives of 19 per cent of the people control over the House in our General Assembly and hence the power to control the General Assembly itself. It would also strip the Constitution of its present requirement for Senate representation based on population and would specifically allow one Senator to represent 50 per cent less people than another.

In the interest of personal justice, the amendment to allow a woman to keep what is hers after she is married should be voted into the Constitution. In the interest of good and representative government, the proposed amendment to adopt this new plan of for our General Assembly should be voted down.

Furthermore, some of the best legal minds in the state have pointed out that the adoption of this

Registration For Jan. 14 Vote Is Set

'Little Federal Plan' The Ignitable Issue

Registration books will open Saturday, December 21, in Mooresville and throughout the county in preparation for the state referendum January 14.

Far Heels will vote early next year on two amendments to the state constitution. Persons whose names already are on the voting ledgers need not re-register, but the books will be open three consecutive Saturdays beginning December 21 for new registrations and for persons who wish to transfer their registration.

In Mooresville, registrars will be on hand with their books at these polling places: Ward 1, South School; Ward 2, Junior High; and Ward 3, Park View School. The books will be open from 9 a.m. until sunset each day.

Tribute Paid To Town For UF Campaign

A director of Carolinas United said here last week that Mooresville has shown "in a most dramatic way it is one of the most progressive communities anywhere."

Bob Reardon, who works with several Piedmont towns and cities in the United Fund drives, paid Mooresville the compliment while here to participate in a meeting of the executive board of the Mooresville-South Iredell United Fund.

In talking the bouquet, Reardon had reference to the fact that Mooresville UF was the first in North Carolina to reach its goal this fall. Leaders of the local UF campaign earlier received written congratulations from other communities and from Carolinas United, but Reardon said he was delighted to deliver his tribute in person.

"We in Carolinas United team full well the amount of teamwork and planning that must go into a successful United Fund campaign," he said, "so we are in a position to know what a tremendous job Mooresville did this fall in being the first in the state to reach its goal."

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

On account of this being the Yuletide season with Christmas right around the corner, the fellows at the country store Saturday night was handling matters in the spirit of peace on earth and good will for everybody.

Even Ed Doolittle, that gits a skin rash over time you mention the New Frontier, had a kind word to say for the Democrats. He allowed as how they was easy but the chance was about even that they meant well.

Zeke Grubb was commenting on how Christmas has swapped ends in the last 30 year. Zeke allowed as how it was hard to find a young'un no more that believed in Santa Claus but now that the Government was operating on the give-away plan, the voters kept a stocking hanging by the chimney year round and checked it twice a day.

They was a heap of truth, Mister Editor, in what Zeke was saying. Fer instance, I was reading in the papers where a candidate for Congress from Georgia was promising the voters he'd git 'em bigger old age pensions, a free cancer clinic, more training for trade schools and handicapped children, expansion of the welfare and public health departments, more aid to cities, more farm research, increased strength for the highway patrol and development of mountain scenery—and no new taxes. He'll run into a few stumps in the road from voters that knows how to add and subtract, but he'll make the journey in good shape and win by a landslide.

Bug Hookum told the fellows he aimed to make a New Year's resolution not to discuss politics in 1964. Bug allowed as how it was mighty hard for him to git on this subject without expressing himself in unreligious language and he had promised his preacher he'd do a little better along this line. Furthermore, he claimed Bug, they wasn't no issue in the 1964 elections. The Democrats will say things is good, the Republicans will say things is bad, and the one that hollers the loudest has the best chance to win.

Clem Webster announced he would git around to 1964 at the proper time, that he had no complaints for 1963 and that the folks that was hollering was bit by their own dog.

Personal, Mister Editor, I'm willing to let 1963 go out in peace. My money is talking like it was about exhausted but I've had good health and ain't needed none of that medicine care for the aged or physical fitness for the young.

A Merry Christmas to you and to all your readers and advertisers.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

IN COURTROOM JANUARY 7

Chamber Sets Membership Meeting

The Mooresville Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual full membership meeting Tuesday, January 7, the organization's board of directors has decided. The directors set the date of the yearly business session during their monthly luncheon session recently. The business meeting of the Chamber is held separately to avoid delays in the C-C annual banquet that is scheduled for January 21.

The top order of business at the membership meeting will be the election of new directors to replace those whose terms will expire. Stated to retire from the board are Dr. Charles Blittinger, Roy Gramer, John Simpson and Mitchell Mack.

The board's nominating committee has submitted its choices to fill the vacancies. Proposed for board membership are Chester Johnson, Bill Brawley, Jack Duffy and Johnny Miller. The full membership of the Chamber will vote on these nominees during the session. The meeting is scheduled to be held in the municipal courtroom, beginning at noon.

Immediately following the full membership meeting, the newly constituted board of directors will gather to choose officers for 1964.

Up for election or reelection will be posts of the president, executive secretary, vice president and treasurer. Dr. Boyce Brawley, the current Chamber president, will preside at the banquet session.

The directors handled several matters of business during their meeting. A committee to direct a year-end audit of Chamber books was appointed. Roy Troutman again was asked to serve as chairman.

Piedmont Bank Pays Dividend

At a recent meeting, the directors of the Piedmont Bank and Trust Company declared a dividend of 40¢ per share payable December 20, 1963, to stockholders of record December 10, 1963, making a total of 60¢ per share paid for the year 1963.

This is the 87th consecutive dividend paid by the bank, having paid two dividends each year from 1916 through 1963, including a special dividend in 1940.

Mooresville Ready For Yule Holiday

Business Houses, Industrial Plants, Schools Announce Christmas Schedules

When this issue of the Mooresville Tribune went to press at noon Wednesday, residents of Mooresville and vicinity were ready for the arrival of Santa Claus and Christmas.

In fact, the holidays had already begun for some of the area's residents, such as college and university students.

However, it will be work as usual for many until Tuesday evening, December 24.

Member stores of the Mooresville Merchants Association will be closed Christmas Day, December 25.

These stores will reopen Thursday morning, December 26, and remain open until the usual closing hour that evening.

The five schools of the Mooresville city system—Mooresville Senior High, Mooresville Junior High, Park View, South, and Dunbar—will dismiss classes tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 3:15 o'clock for the Yule holidays. Classes will be resumed at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, January 2.

The post office will be closed all day on Wednesday, December 25. There will not be any city or rural delivery of mail on that date.

The two Mooresville plants of the Troutman Shirt Company will close down tomorrow (Friday) afternoon for the Christmas holidays. Operations will be resumed at 7 a.m. on Monday, December 30.

Linwood Road Crash Claims

Lives Of Two Charlotte Men

The North Carolina Highway Patrol is convinced excessive speed contributed to, and probably caused, the one-car accident near here Saturday morning in which two Charlotte men died.

Patrolman C. L. Brown of Mooresville, the officer who investigated the tragedy, said "the car unquestionably was speeding" when it left the Linwood Road and scored 70 feet and slammed into a rock embankment beside a creek five miles east of Mooresville.

The men were identified as John Alexander, 35, of 5827 Green street, Charlotte, and Ezell Moungr, 45, of 6919 Rockwell Church Road, Charlotte. Both were Negroes.

Although the accident was not discovered until shortly before noon Saturday, Dr. Harry Underwood of Statesville, Iredell county coroner, estimated that the men died around 1 a.m. Saturday. Death, the coroner was quoted as saying, was instant. Both of the victims had severe head injuries and their bodies were badly crushed and broken, it was stated.

Patrolman Brown said the men were traveling west on the Lin-

Death Strikes In The Early Morning

This is the scene on the Linwood Road, some five miles east of Mooresville, at noon last Saturday, minutes after a demolished station wagon is pulled from its resting place down an embankment at the edge of a creek. Bodies of the victims of the grinding crash, two Charlotte Negroes, were still pinned in the wreckage when this picture was taken. The accident, which is thought to have occurred around 1 a.m. Saturday, was not discovered until some 11 hours later. Coroner Harry Underwood said the men died instantly.

an amendment would bring court action that would result in the Federal Government telling North Carolina, as it did Tennessee and Georgia, how it must provide fair legislative representation for its people.

In short, vote against 19 per cent of the people—mostly small counties in Eastern North Carolina—controlling the state in item one and vote for the women folks in item two.

But, for the Christmas holidays, let's call a moratorium on politics. Let the Lake boys shake hands with the Moore boys and both mingle with the Preyer boys. Let the Republicans and Democrats sit down together in holiday feast and goodwill. (P. S. I might even send John Simpson a Christmas card.)

A Merry Christmas to each and every one of you! In the words of Charles Dickens, may each of us honor Christmas in our heart, and try to keep the Christmas spirit all the year.

A Joyous Christmas

May the Holy Family guide your path to a spiritually inspiring Christmas. And may all the days to come reflect the peace and joy of this blessed Holiday.

town — First National Bank, Piedmont Bank and Trust Company, Mooreville Federal Savings and Loan Association, and Citizens Savings and Loan Association — will be closed Wednesday and Thursday, December 25 and 26.

Templeton Spinning Mills, Inc., and Chemung Yarns, Ltd., will be closed from midnight on Saturday, December 21, until 8 a. m. on Monday, December 30.

In observance of the holiday season, operations will be suspended at Drymore Manufacturing Corporation on Tuesday, December 24. Operations will be resumed on Wednesday, January 1.

Mooreville Iron Works will close down for the holidays on Saturday, December 21, at 12 o'clock noon. Operations will be resumed at 7 a. m. on Monday, December 23.

The town offices will be closed from noon on Tuesday, December 24, until Friday morning, December 27.

Christmas holidays will be observed at Mooreville Mills and Cascade Weaving Company from the end of the second shift on Saturday, December 21, until the beginning of the third shift on Sunday, December 29. Both of these plants are units of Burlington Industries.

Practically all churches of the town have already held or plan to hold special services in observance of the birth of the Christ Child. Some of the churches have even arranged more than one service, for the different age groups.

Quite a number of the industrial plants and some of the business points in Mooreville have had parties or banquets, at which employees and employees mingled and had an enjoyable time.

The Mooreville Police Department, the State Highway Patrol and the Sheriff's Department have put in plans for safety during the holidays as a means of keeping merry.

wood Road at the time of the accident.

The 1956 Chevrolet station wagon went out of control and traveled along the right shoulder of the road some 75 yards before striking a signpost at the end of a bridge, narrowly missing the bridge rail.

Completely off the ground by now, the vehicle then traveled some 70 feet, crossing the creek and crashing upside down against the rock embankment on the opposite side of the stream.

The force of the impact caved in the station wagon's roof, trapping the two men in the wreckage. Members of the Mooreville Rescue Squad were called to the scene and used a wrecker to lift the top of the vehicle off the men so their bodies could be removed.

The bodies, brought to Cavin Funeral Home, were later transferred to Charlotte.

The station wagon, Patrolman Brown stated, was owned by Alexander, who was employed at the Florida Steel Company at Crotti.

Alexander was driving at the time of the wreck, the officer said.

Reardon made the comment during the UF board session at the War Memorial. Jimmy Rosser, area UF president, presided at the planning meeting.

Rosser said the annual meeting of the local United Fund membership will be held during the middle or latter part of January. New officers will be installed at that time.

In other business, Rosser appointed a committee to study and possibly update the UF constitution. Emmett Morrow was named to serve as chairman of the group. Working with him will be Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. John Postbrink and Mitchell Mack.

The committee will make a report its findings at a annual meeting in January.

County Ministers' Wives Alliance Has Session

The Ministers' Wives Alliance of the Fredell and North Middleburg County Area met at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Clark recently for the December meeting. Members from all areas were present and a most profitable meeting was enjoyed by everyone.

Projects for the year were completed. The project for December will be the packing of Christmas baskets for the elderly and shut-in members of the churches represented by the members of the Alliance. The baskets will be filled by the friends of the ministers' wives. They are especially grateful to many of the teachers of the public schools of Fredell County. Many gifts have already been received from these generous and sympathetic friends.

The spring project will be a visit to one of the Best Homes in the city of Statesville. Needed clothing will be donated by Alliance members to these shut-ins.

A very colorful report was served by the hostesses and the meeting was adjourned to meet in January at the home of Mrs. W. F. Elliot of the city, and president of the Alliance.

Saturday. The ledgers will close at sunset January 4 and challenge day will be Saturday, January 11.

C. B. Winberry, chairman of the County Board of Elections, said $5,000 bailed out the county from the Fredell. They will be for use in Fredell. They will be for use in Fredell.

The controversial "Little Federal Plan" for redistricting the General Assembly is the ignominious half of the amendments that will be the subjects of the referendum January 14. The second, far less publicized suggested addition to the constitution concerns provisions for equal status of husband and wife in the disposition of property.

A public discussion of the proposed state constitutional amendment on redistricting was scheduled in the county court room in Statesville Wednesday night, December 18.

The meeting was called by the Fredell County Board of Commissioners to give citizens an opportunity to hear debate and to voice their views on the controversial "Little Federal Plan" for reorganization of the General Assembly.

County Manager Robert Shuford said the meeting was to get underway at 7:30 p. m. All interested persons were invited to attend. Shuford said the county board had invited speakers both for and against the plan. Following brief talks by the guest speakers, Shuford said the meeting was to be opened for questions.

Stated to be on hand to take part in the program were Fredell's spokesmen in the General Assembly—Rep. Bill Pope of Mooreville and Sen. Jimmy Johnson of Statesville. Other state legislators expected to attend the meeting were Sen. Robert Morgan of Cleveland County and Sen. Dave Clark of Lincoln.

Shuford and the county board were to attend, but the county manager said his board did not plan to speak on the issue.

"The county board is not advocating or opposing the 'Little Federal Plan' at this special meeting," Shuford said. "It simply wants to provide a vehicle for public discussion of the plan. We feel the public should be as well informed as possible before making its decision at the polls."

There have been any number of discussions of the redistricting proposal throughout the state, but the meeting in Statesville was to be somewhat unique in that it was called by the county government.

LINWOOD ROAD WRECK — Members of the Mooreville Rescue Squad and a wrecker crew took a demolished 1956 Chevrolet station wagon up the bank of a creek on the Linwood Road, some five miles east of Mooreville. The accident, which is thought to have occurred at 1 a. m. last Saturday but was not discovered until 11 hours later, claimed the lives of two Charlotte Negroes—John Alexander and Ezell Moulner. In the background, scores of spectators line the bridge to watch the operations.

Miller Drug Employees Enjoy Party

The employees of Miller Drug Store enjoyed a Christmas dinner party at the Elks Restaurant on Sunday evening, December 15. Families of the employees were also present for the annual get-together.

The group enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings after which gifts were exchanged and the group sang Christmas carols.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Price, Sr. and Mrs. S. H. Price, Jr., and children, Ann Finley and Sammy, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stutts and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Chandler and daughters, Mollie and Julie, George Bailey, Bobby James, Ronald Cherry, Bill Hartman, W. C. Mills, Larry Daney, Toni Holland, and Jane Sloan.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Brotherton, Mr. Moore

In a ceremony of beauty in the Coddle Creek Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church Miss Judy Carole Brotherton became the bride of James Michael Moore on Saturday, December 14, at seven o'clock in the evening. The bride's pastor, Dr. W. A. Kennedy, Jr., officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

Prior to and during the ceremony a program of wedding music was rendered by Miss Cynthia Ham, organist. Miss Ham played "Ave Maria," Schubert; "O Promise Me," by Scott and DeKoven; "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte; "Indian Love Call" by Friel and "Because" by D'Hardelot. During the ceremony "To A Wild Rose" was played softly.

The traditional wedding march was used for the processional and the recessional. The wedding vows were spoken in a lovely setting of palms and seven-branched candelabra holding Cathedral tapers. Red poinsettias were placed on two marble topped pedestals to complete the wedding scene.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Brotherton of the Coddle Creek Road, Mooreville, was given in marriage by her father. The bride was lovely in a full length gown of antique satin styled with a bell shaped skirt. The bodice featured a bateau neckline with imported lace appliques and tiny seed pearls accenting the bodice and neckline. Two small bows held the full length detachable train. She wore a veil of imported illusion attached to a large velvet and pearl de sole rose crown which featured a large tear drop pearl.

She carried a cascade of white roses and feathered mums entwined with ivy.

Mrs. Richard Isenhour, of China Grove, route 1 and sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a red brocade taffeta dress styled with a scooped neckline and bell-shaped skirt. Her headpiece was of contrasting material with a tulle veil. She carried a nosegay of peppermint carnations.

Miss Deane Patterson, of Mooreville, route 1, was a bridesmaid. Her dress and headpiece were identical to the honor attendant.

Little Miss Denise Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burgess, of Mooreville, was flower girl. Her dress was made similar to the other attendants', and she carried a white basket with rose petals.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Odie J. Moore of 319 Bruce street, Mooreville, and the late Mrs. Moore. The bridegroom's father served as best man and usher were: Ricky Moore, brother of the bridegroom; Kenneth Brotherton, brother of the bride; Danny

Thieves Take $92 Loss In Attempt At Robbery

When bungling burglars chopped a hole in the roof of the bank in Cornelia, Ga., to gain entrance they lost money.

Police Chief J. G. Davenport said they got no loot, but they dropped a roll of bills amounting to $92.

Bells, Bells, Bells

Through the ages, bells have served many purposes — announcing the approach of vehicles, for distance, or signaling the beginning of curfew. Early associated with churches, by medieval times the pealing of the bells had come to signify the joyousness of the Christmas season.

The early custom was the tolling of church bells on Christmas Eve during the hour before midnight. The tolling announced the birth of Jesus, and at midnight the bells rang out in celebration of the birth of Christ.

In England, where tolling is honored, family-taught are the tuneful bells ring out at seven-thirty on Christmas morning.

It takes years of training and practice to learn the ringing of complex changes, as the different chants and tonal combinations are called.

Mrs. Max Nanney and Mrs. James Levan were hostess to the members of the King's Daughters Class of the First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, December 17, at 7:30 o'clock. The Christmas meeting was held at the Nanney home on Fieldstone Road.

Festive Christmas decorations were of special interest in the living room and delicious refreshments also carried out the Christmas theme.

The group enjoyed a fellowship period and gifts were exchanged.

Those present were: Mrs. Jack Jefford, Mrs. Conard Tharpe, Mrs. Carl Basinger, Mrs. Buddy Morrow, Mrs. Lewis Davis, Jr., Mrs. James Levan and Mrs. Max Nanney.

Frequent Fights Termed Key To Happy Marriage

The key to a happy marriage, according to Mr. and Mrs. Orrin W. Giggley, is to have a fight every day or so.

On their 67th wedding anniversary, Mrs. Giggley, 89, of Orono, Maine, said, "I make it a point never to agree with him."

Giggley, 88, said the basis of their happy life is that "we've always managed to have a good scrap every couple of days."

Funeral Rites Conducted For R. L. Martin

Robert Lee Martin, Sr., 71-year-old resident of Weaver Road, Salisbury, route 7, died Friday at 11:05 a. m. at Rowan Memorial Hospital in Salisbury. He had been in declining health since 1958 and seriously ill for 10 days.

Mr. Martin was born on May 19, 1892, in Franklin county, Ga., the son of the late John C. and Eliza Burdette Martin. He was educated in the Franklin County Schools and was employed at the South China Grove Mill until his retirement in 1958. He was a member of the Rice Creek Baptist Church in Franklin county, Ga.

Survivors include: the widow, Mrs. Eunice Turman Martin; six sons, Joe of Lumpsee, Calif., Robert Lee, Jr., Billy B., and Paul T., all of Salisbury; Jimmy D. of China Grove, Ray of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Laura Alexander of Jacksonville, Mrs. Nellie Saffit of Salisbury, and Mrs. Velma Martin of China Grove; one brother, Floyd B. Martin of Carverville, Ga.; and three sisters, Mrs. Lila Hemphill of Stevens, Ga., Mrs. Ellet Willis of LaFrance, S. C., and Mrs. Rena Garner of Eufaula, Okla.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, with the Rev. James Walker in charge, assisted by the Rev. Anthony Gargus. Burial was in Knox Chapel Methodist Church cemetery.

Pallbearers were: C. W. Mills, Jr., Robert Blackweider, Lowell Turman, Noel Turman, Delane Turman, and J. Lee Turman, Jr.

Fraternity Taps Michael Lipe

Michael Lipe of Mooreville has been initiated as a new member of the North Carolina Epigone Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a national honorary forensics fraternity at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone.

He was one of nine new members initiated by the fraternity. The initiation was conducted by William Wallace of Columbus and Tom Rhyme of Vale. Dr. Thomas L. Tedford, chairman of the ASTC department of speech and faculty sponsor of the organization, assisted in the initiation.

In describing Pi Kappa Delta, Dr. Tedford said, "It is an organization aimed at promoting honest, effective speaking."

Dr. Tedford is considering "important and relevant topics" to be used in campus debates. The organization also hopes to present a yearly award to a student or faculty member who makes contributions to good speaking at ASTC.

Mack Gibson's Father Passes In Davidson

Graham Caldwell Gibson, Sr., 73-year-old Davidson resident and father of Mack C. Gibson of Mooreville, died at his home in Davidson Sunday afternoon, following a brief critical illness.

The survivors include: the widow, Mrs. Bess Cowan Gibson; three sons, Graham Caldwell Gibson, Jr., of Charlotte, John S. Gibson of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Mack C. Gibson of Mooreville; one daughter, Mrs. Lester Kliever of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; one brother, Albert Gibson of Huntersville, route 2; and one sister, Mrs. Grace G. Jones of Charlotte. Four grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted at 3:30 p. m. Monday at the Cathay-Hoyle Funeral Chapel in Davidson, with the Rev. Curtis Parker, pastor of the Davidson Presbyterian Church, in charge. Burial was in the Mimosas cemetery in Davidson.

3-Hour Parking Being Enforced

Mooreville Police Chief Lloyd Shumake this week reminded shoppers the three-hour parking limit in the town's three off-street parking lots is being enforced.

The officer said his staff is paying close attention to use of the parking lots in an effort to accommodate as many downtown shopping motorists as possible during the rush of the Christmas season.

At the same time, Shumake urged motorists to make use of the lots that are provided for their convenience.

HISTORICAL DOCUMENT — John G. Kennerly, well known Statesville avenue resident, reads of the assassination of President Lincoln as reported in the April 15, 1865, issue of the New York Herald. The paper has been in the Kennerly family ever since its publication 98 years ago, belonging originally to Kennerly's father, the late John A. Kennerly, a veteran of the War Between the States. The newspaper is six columns in width. Four of the six columns of the issue of April 15, 1865, are given over to the assassination. One of the stories of the tragedy has a 10-deck head, while another has a six-deck head. Although the President was not shot until Friday night, April 14, 1865, stories are most complete and, needless to say, make interesting reading today.

Christmas... A Season For Giving, Shoplifting, Forging

While Christmas is a season of giving, it is also the season for shoplifting and forged checks. Mooreville Police Chief Lloyd B. Shumake pointed out today.

Shumake asked merchants and shoppers alike to call the police department if they spot a shoplifter or receive a forged check.

While nothing has been reported yet, Shumake said "there's always a lot of trouble at Christmas time, not only in Mooreville but across the country. People are busy and in a hurry and don't have the time to check things as closely as they do at other times."

To help merchants spot shoplifters Shumake gave these tips:

"Most shoplifters work in groups," he said. "One will get the attention of a clerk and the others will roam over the store."

"Many wear full coats with inside pockets where they store merchandise. Also popular are fake boxes — boxes which look like they are tied but all you have to do is press an article into the box and the top flaps back into place."

Shumake said the shoplifter, usually, is a woman, and many

Candles Cast Festive Glow On Traditional Yule Scene

Candles have cast a glow over Christmas festivities for centuries. One of the very earliest of legends tells of the Christ Child wandering the streets of the world in search of shelter on Christmas Eve. Lighted candles are placed in windows to welcome Him.

From Germany comes a similar belief that the Virgin Mary and a host of angels pass over the countryside each Christmas Eve. Candles are put in the windows of German homes as an invitation and guide to the food that is traditionally left for them.

Many of the Christmas traditions that have sprung up around the use of candles had their origin in pagan rites.

The pagan Yule, nearly coinciding with today's date for Christmas, was accompanied by the burning of a giant log during the twelve days in which it was thought that the sun stood still. From this stems Yule log tradition.

In medieval Europe the custom arose of also lighting a Yule Christmas candle that would burn brightly till Twelfth Night.

During their Saturnalia Romans fastened candles to trees to dispel the darkness, thus indicating the sun's return.

There is an old story that Martin Luther brought a fire tree into his home and children. To show them the glory of the night when Christ was born, he decorated the tree with lighted candles, representing stars.

Today, electric lights have taken the place of candles on Christmas trees, but candles still burn brightly in churches and homes throughout the world.

One of the most impressive holiday uses of candles is in the candlelight carol and communion services held in many churches at Christmas time.

Appropriately enough, one of the loveliest of candlelight ceremonies takes place each year in the Central Moravian church at Bethlehem, Pa. Complete with traditional organ and orchestral music, the program includes reading of the Christmas story, prayers and carols.

DURING CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL

Stoneman's Raid Will Come To Life

All that remains of General Stoneman's raid in Western North Carolina is a legend and a multitude of historical markers dotted along his march.

This raid, a Union harassing campaign during the Civil War, rained terror, destruction and death on the inhabitants of this region.

Most North Carolinians have heard about this raid but few know what the raid was all about and what role it played in the Civil War.

During the next four years as Americans re-enact the events of the Civil War, Stoneman's Raid will once again come to life.

In fact, the memories are now being re-created. In Western North Carolina as Dr. Ina Westmeyer Van Noppen's book on Stoneman's Last Raid rolls off the press.

Her book vividly portrays the events of that great 2,000-mile march, the longest without return to headquarters by any cavalry in the war.

In describing the events of the raid, Dr. Van Noppen declares that the raiders' mission was to cut Southern transportation arteries, destroy supply producing centers and break civilian morale.

It was done by burning, pillaging, killing and humiliating. Stoneman's objective was to destroy the people's will to fight.

The author, who teaches Southern history at Appalachian State Teachers College, believes the Stoneman's Raid was as much for revenge as strategic for the Yankees.

Her book gives interesting accounts of how various North Carolina towns and cities felt the blunt of this raid.

"Supplies came from the land and women were forced to cook for troops. A Taylorsville woman fried eggs a day long, feeding soldiers and men alike another," Dr. Van Noppen said.

Many Tar Heel villages and towns openly greeted Stoneman's men, pointing up disunity in the Southern cause.

At Elkton some 60 girls employed in a cotton factory welcomed the Yankees.

Near Wilkesboro, the Yankee troops uncovered a whiskey still, and threw a mass drinking spree. Unable to ride horseback, the drunken soldiers confiscated a conglomeration of horse-drawn vehicles.

Dr. Van Noppen describes Stoneman's review of his drunken troops in Wilkesboro. She said that the review that Stoneman saw probably will never again be matched in U. S. Army history. The soldiers rolled by in a mile-long caravan of carriages, stagecoaches and buses, staid with drunken soldiers, their boots sticking out in all directions.

At Winston-Salem the Yankees destroyed factories which had been supplying the Confederates with clothing, and in Greensboro the troops tore up large sections of the railway.

Salisbury, site of Confederate supply depots, arsenal, hospitals, railroad center and a military prison containing some 10,000 Federal prisoners of war, was Stoneman's main objective. More than any other town, Salisbury felt the devastating effect of Stoneman's wrath.

In her book, Dr. Van Noppen mentions only one instance of Confederate application of the "scorched earth" policy. This happened in Hickory where Confederates destroyed food stores and cotton at the railway station to

Math Club Donates Food, Gifts For Needy Family

The Senior High Math Club already has contributed a station wagon load of food and donated gifts for a needy family.

Bill Trivett, Senior High teacher and club counselor, said the donations will be delivered to the home of the less fortunate family Saturday morning.

Each of the 40 members of the club gave to the fund that has become a tradition in the organization.

Trivett said the club will hold its Christmas dinner Friday night at the Townhouse Restaurant. Gary Karriker, club president, will preside, and he will introduce Richard Barber, guest speaker for the banquet.

Good Check For $318 Kicked About Street

As the wind whisked a piece of paper around the sidewalk in front of his shop, Bob Beckwith, of Winfield, Kan., saw one pedestrian rush the paper off his sleeve and then kick and step on it. Finally he picked it out of the gutter.

It was a check for $318, endorsed and fully negotiable, apparently lost by a St. John's College official on the way to the bank. Beckwith turned it over to police who returned it to the college.

Presented to us— for usefulness to you!

The "Oscar" of the railroad industry is the Golden Freight Car pictured above, which is awarded annually by Railway Progress Institute. This year, the coveted trophy was won by Southern Railway System—the first time it has been won by a railroad in the Southeast.

The trophy was awarded to Southern in recognition of our efforts to increase our usefulness to those we serve by providing improved service at lower prices. Our lightweight, 100-ton-plus capacity freight car, "Big John," which enabled Southern to make a 60 per cent reduction in the prices we charge for hauling grain, was cited as an illustration of how progressive policies will benefit both the public and the railroads.

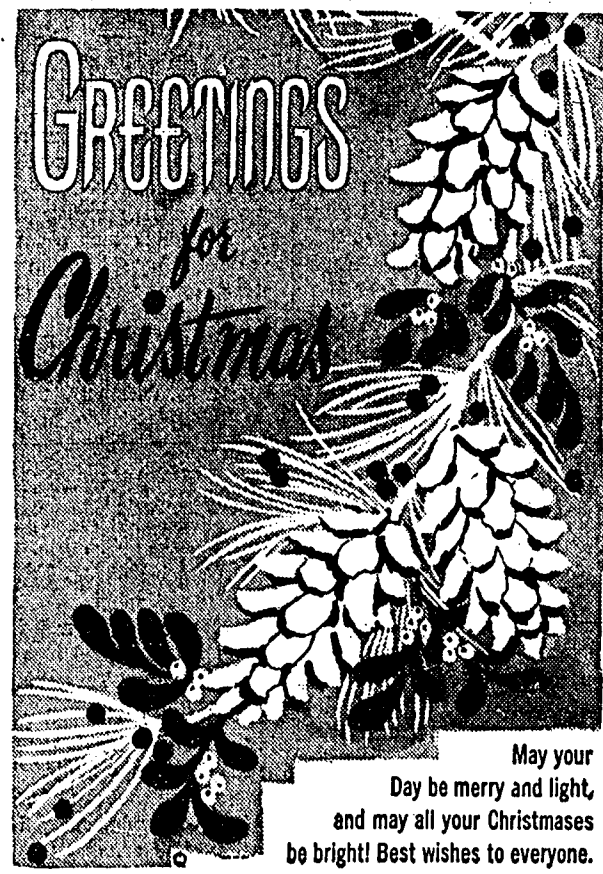

We are proud of this recognition. It will spur us to strive even harder to fulfill our public duty to provide the most useful and lowest-cost freight transportation possible—saving money for both shippers and consumers.

Holiday Has Many Rituals

Though Christmas comes but once a year, there is certainly no one and only way to celebrate it. In addition to the many customs that are generally shared—lights, bells, trees, gifts, Santa, prayer and feasting—the special ways of observing the holiday are as varied and numerous as the communities and families involved.

Often the history and culture of a community is the inspiration for the way it celebrates Christmas. In other cases the "customs" are consciously developed, in an effort to express the spirit of the season. It doesn't take long for these community projects to become well-loved, even "old-fashioned" traditions.

Volunteers could be filled with an account of interesting community Christmas, each of them different. A few are summarized below.

"Santa's Land, U.S.A."

Feature of the Christmas season at Putney, Vt., is "Santa's Land, U.S.A." Santa greets his friends here in one of his homes-away-from-home—since the North Pole must be considered his official residence.

The building is set against a background of pine trees, in the foothills of Vermont's Green mountains. The large letters "S. C." on the chimney identify it as Santa's residence.

In New Orleans

Cargi sings are a traditional part of the holiday season in New Orleans. Many of them are held across the street from St. Louis cathedral. This historic cathedral is the French Quarter in a focal point for the community's religious observances of Christmas.

Here youthful carolers from a private elementary school, La Petite Ecole, convene to sing the familiar songs, in both French and English.

"Christmas Tree Lane"

Important part of the holiday season in California is the famous ceremony of "Christmas Tree Lane" at Altadena.

Huge cedar cedars border a public thoroughfare in this city, and at Christmas it is transformed into "Christmas Tree Lane." The trees are lit with thousands of bulbs, turned on at dusk on Christmas Eve, and motorists celebrate the spectacle by driving slowly along the lane.

The tall, graceful cedars were brought to California by Captain Frederick J. Woodbury who, while visiting in India, saw them growing on the slopes of the Himalayas. He returned with cedar seeds, which he planted on his ranch.

In 1885 his sons transplanted the young trees along what was then principal roadway to the Woodbury ranch.

"City of Candlelight"

"Richmond—City of Candlelight" has been the Christmas theme for Richmond, Va., for the past five years.

Taking the cue from Colonial Williamsburg, Richmond sought to initiate the rebirth of an old-fashioned Christmas tradition by urging residents and organizations to "place an electric candle in every window."

The shopping area presents triple candles in evergreen bays set in the median strip, from the windows of the governor's mansion and the capitol glow electric candles; incoming planes are greeted with candles at the airport; virtually every building in the city cooperates.

In French Canada

In French-Canadian homes, one of the highlights of Christmas is the "Revelillon," a mid-of-the-night family feast for adults. The meal is served after the return from midnight mass but the preparations start many weeks ahead.

Much of the food for the feast, nowadays, centers around turkey and trimmings. But the traditional dishes, including goose with nut stuffing, and such specialties as "tourtières," or spicy pork pies, are still prepared for the Revelillon.

Actors Go A-Caroling

Community caroling in Hanover, Va., for the past 10 years has been provided by a group of actors from the local theatre and friends.

Moving about the town in red costumes and carrying lighted candles, the carolers concentrate on houses with children and elderly people.

They approach the houses singing "Jingle Bells," render two more carols, and move away singing "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

In New Mexico

Indian, Spanish and American cultures all contribute to the ways of celebrating Christmas in New Mexico.

"Prayer dances" performed by the Indians unite their ancient ceremonies with their present Christianity. Following midnight mass on Christmas Eve, they hold four days of prayer dances. At Taos Pueblo, Indians conduct a "procession of torches" during Christmas week.

The candles known as luminarias are a Spanish contribution. Put up early in December, they are used to outline walls of houses and stores, as well as curbs and driveways.

Then there is the ceremony of the posada. For nine days, the story of the Nativity and the holy family's search for shelter is acted out by churches, hotels, social groups and families.

And, along with all the festive

MRS. JERRY WILSON IS RICH WITH FRIENDS
She Has A Deeper Meaning Of The Christmas Spirit

Draymore Staff Provides World's Priceless Gift

Mrs. Jerry Wilson is one of the wealthiest people in the world this Christmas.

Oh, she's not money rich, in fact, that is becoming harder and harder to come by for her family. But Mrs. Wilson learned in a most emotional way Wednesday she has a fortune in the most precious commodity of all—friendship.

Also in learning just how much her friends think of her, Mrs. Wilson came into $400, not a penny sum given for the money rich.

We best fill you in on the whole heart-warming business.

Early this year, Mrs. Wilson began having pain in her left leg. At the time, she was employed in quality control at Draymore Marine Supply Co. Her condition worsened, and she had to leave her job. Doctors were unable to stop the advance of what they found to be a malignancy. About five weeks ago, Mrs. Wilson's leg was removed to save her life.

She underwent several operations in unsuccessful efforts to save the limb. Hospital bills mounted; her hospitalization wouldn't near cover the mounting medical expenses.

Pacing a rehabilitation period with dwindling resources, Christmas loomed bleak for the Wilsons and their two-year-old child. The family lives at 68 Cascade, and Jerry works with his father, Price Wilson, in an auto body shop.

Nearly all of the 700-plus employees at Draymore work with a production incentive, and the company pays periodic bonuses to all employees groups that reach the production goals. Nearly all of the employees at the industrial concern are women, and all were aware of Judy Wilson's troubles.

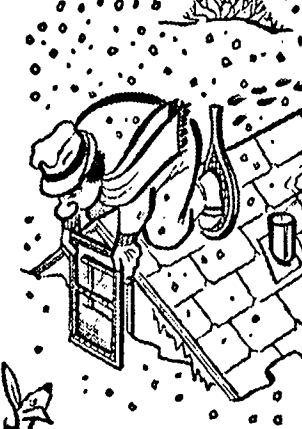

The entire plant force decided

And so they did.

Wednesday, shortly after noon, the Draymore employees gave their party money to their friend, Judy Wilson. As the presentation was made to a very grateful young lady, there was an almost awesome feeling of closeness and compassion in the group.

As Mrs. Jerry Wilson observes this Christmas, it would be safe to assume that in a time when she is so tempted by despair, she can find comfort and courage in the knowledge that she has more than 700 friends who are pulling and praying for her.

EXCELLENT FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT

Blue Devils Divide With Kannapolis

The Mooreville Senior High School Blue Devils cagers divided a double bill with Kannapolis High School Tuesday night, the Mooreville boys winning their game, 63 to 49, after the local girls had dropped the opener, 33 to 18.

The games were played in Kannapolis.

In the girls' contest, Sandy Torrence, with eight points to her credit, was high scorer for Mooreville, followed by Rene Gibson with six points.

The locals were able to score only two points to Kannapolis' 18 in the first period. Kannapolis led 10 to 6, at the half, and 25 to 9 at the end of the third period.

Tom Deal, with 33 points to his credit, was top scorer for the Mooreville boys, while Johnny Cobe and Tim Bosch each had 9 points.

Mooreville led 15 to 11 at the end of the first period, but was two points behind, 29 to 27, at the half. Mooreville came back in the third period to lead 40 to 37 at the end of that period.

Merchants' Office Will Remain Open

Beginning immediately, the office of the Mooreville Merchants Association will be open each Friday night until 8:30 o'clock. It was announced this week by Mrs. Jack Duffy, associational secretary.

Also, the office will be open until 8:30 o'clock each night the local stores are open during the Christmas shopping season.

Representative Sets Holiday Hours

Taft McCoy, field representative for Social Security, has announced that he will not be in Mooreville at the Municipal Building next Tuesday, December 24, due to the Christmas holiday season.

He will be here the second Tuesday in January, which is January 14, it was stated.

TROOP TREATED — The leaders of Boy Scout Troop 356, which is sponsored by First Baptist Church, treated the boys to a Christmas party in the church fellowship hall Monday night. Special guests of the Scouts were members of the new Cub Pack sponsored by First Baptist. Scoutmaster Jimmy Foster (in the attractive apron at left) was in charge of the service. The menu consisted of hot dogs and hamburgers with plenty of the fixings and plenty of soda pop to wash it all down. Working with Foster in the party preparations were J. R. Cagle, Graham Barnhardt and Willis Shumake, all leaders in the scout unit.

DRIVE CAREFULLY Bad Weather Just Around Corner

Piles of sand dot the shoulders of highways and secondary roads throughout Irredell and neighboring counties. These sand piles are grim reminders that highway officials responsible for keeping highways safe and traffic moving do not expect the mild weather this section has enjoyed this fall to continue. In fact, they believe there will be many bad weather days, when cars will stall on hills or skid from the highways.

Sand has been piled along the highways so that it can be spread on traffic lanes quickly when the first hard freeze arrives. Nobody can tell just when that will be. The Safe Winter Driving League has come out with a reminder that hazardous weather probably is just around the corner and motorists should be prepared.

The league offers 10 tips for safe driving in winter months which have been developed by the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards. The tips are as follows:

1. Install anti-freeze after cooling system is flushed out and checked for leaks.
2. Have good tires. See that tires have good treads, whether snow tires or regular. Front wheels also need good treads for "cornering."
3. Always carry reinforced tire chains. Insure your ability to "go" on ice or in deep snow with reinforced tire chains. They are far superior for severe conditions such as deep snow and slippery hills.
4. Be sure wipers work. Be sure windshield wiper blades are in good condition and with arm pressure of at least an ounce for each inch of blade.
5. Use your defroster. Keep windshield clear of ice and interior fogging.
6. Make sure all lights work. Headlights, stop lights, tail lights and directional signals should be tested frequently.
7. Be sure you can start. Have engine tuned for sure starting in cold weather and have spark plugs and distributor points checked.
8. Be sure you can stop. Have brakes adjusted frequently, linings checked and free from grease.
9. Check battery frequently for proper charge and make sure it is always full of fluid.
10. Have exhaust system in order. Muffler and tail pipe should be checked frequently to avoid leakage of exhaust gases into car when windows are closed.

Following the regular weekly practice, the Optimist Club treated the boys to a Christmas party, complete with bags of goodies. Ask a kid at Christmas, or anytime, what he would like to eat, and chances are he'll say hot dogs. So hot dogs it was, and these youngsters coming through the serving line made short work of them. The Choir Mothers, mothers of choir members who assist in social activities, served the food and treats provided by the club. Mrs. T. C. Raby, chairman of the Choir Mothers, is at left, and Mrs. Hugh Sloop, wife of the choir director, is at right.

Spirit Of Christmas Rules In Community Celebrations

It's Christmas time! Everywhere, glad sights and sounds reflect the spirit of the season, as this community celebrates the joyous holiday.

The spirit of Christmas is seen in gaily decorated streets and stores, in homes aglow with light and festive with evergreens, in churches where the manger scene tells anew the wonderful old story of a holy babe who was born in Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago.

The spirit of Christmas is heard in bells ringing out from street corner to steeple, in happy voices singing all the songs of the season, from old familiar carols to the more solemn, but at the same time joyful, anthems, cantatas and oratorios.

The spirit of Christmas is felt, as last minute preparations for the big celebration are made. There are always, it seems, some packages still to be wrapped, some final trimmings to be put on the tree, some part of the Christmas pageant or choral program that needs just one more rehearsal.

The spirit of Christmas is seen in the bustle and bustle, the spirit of Christmas shines through in all its many meanings.

The spirit of Christmas means laughter and joy — best expressed, perhaps, by the faces of children, eager and smiling as they wait for Santa, full of reverent wonder as they hear the Christmas story and see the manger scene.

The spirit of Christmas means giving, with love wrapped into every package. And it means sharing — the riches of thoughtful consideration and genuine interest, as well as time and money — with the aged, the ill, the needy and unfortunate.

The spirit of Christmas means a warm renewal of family ties and close friendships, and an enjoyment of traditions treasured through the years — the special customs each family creates for itself, as well as traditions garnered from the lore and legends of Christmas.

As a holy day and a holiday, Christmas means both prayerful worship and festive merry-making. The holy meaning of the day is expressed in its name.

The Latin name for Christmas translates as the Feast or Birthday of Our Lord. The English Christmas means the Mass of Christ, a meaning which is closely paralleled by the Dutch "Kerstmis" in German it's "Weihnacht," or sacred night.

The French "Noel" has several possible meanings — news, birthday or a "shout of joy." Whatever the exact origin, there's no question that Noel now means Christmas.

When the German prince Alfred married Queen Victoria, he carried the custom of the Yule tree to England, and from there it spread by imitation and immigration to the United States and Canada.

The German origin is appropriate, since it was in Germany that the English missionary St. Boniface, formerly a monk named Winfrid, first instituted the decorated fir tree, tribute to the Christ Child, as a replacement for the sacrifices made to the oak which was sacred to the pagan god Odin.

With the joyful strains of "Silent Night," "The First Noel" and other beloved carols, today's carolers carry on a meaningful Christmas custom that originated centuries ago.

As early as the fourth century A. D., a musical poem was sung in honor of St. Basil and his victory in the fight for Christianity over the Byzantine emperor Julian. In Greece, legends of St. Basil were later put to music and sung at Christmas and the New Year.

The first real Christmas carols, however, were probably sung in the Italian mountain village of Greccio when St. Francis of Assisi created the first manger scene in 1223. He and his brethren led the villagers in singing hymns of praise to the Christ Child.

Giving gifts at the Yuletide season has many precedents. In years before Christ, Romans gave branches of laurel, olive and myrtle to each other at the Saturnalia, a pagan festival that occurred about the same time as the present date of Christmas. In England and Northern Europe, Druid worshippers tied gifts on trees during the Yule festival held at the winter solstice.

Roman emperors often demanded Yule gifts of clothing, gold and silver from their subjects, and so did the kings and queens of medieval England. It is said that Queen Elizabeth I gained most of her wardrobe through these compulsory gifts.

In later years the idea of giving in a spirit of kind-hearted generosity developed.

BY LEN BULLIVAN

After A Thousand, He Just Starts Over

The television was blaring, as it is wont, and competing with the roar of three rambunctious younguns and the vacuum came the commercial about a mechanical toy on a string. It went something like: "And, now, presenting—Mr. Magic, the balancing wonder who performs 1,000 tricks on the high wire."

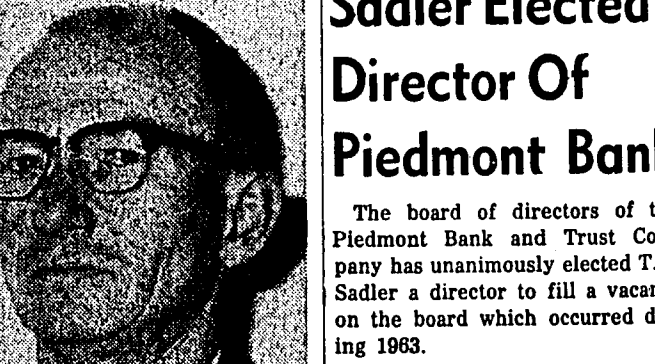

Our middle son glanced up at the TV from the mark-the-floor-with-a-crayon game he invented and dryly observed: "Huh, just a thousand. After he does 'em, I reckon all he can do is start over."

You can fool some of the people all the time, etc., but you can satisfy kids none of the time. But, and heaven help us, this is the son to try—and do it over. By the time Christmas morning rolls around for most parents, what they want most for Christmas is a little sleep. We worry ourselves sick over what to buy the kids. Then, we are rewarded when they throw away the toy and play with the box it came in.

It's a pity the world keeps right on going at Christmas. Some of us underprivileged are our busiest during the biggest holiday of the year. Among these who work hardest right before Christmas are salesclerks, policemen—and newspaper people. This issue of the Tribune is the largest we turn out during the year. To produce this paper, nine people spent a solid week at hard labor, and this concentrated effort followed many hours of planning. We fight dead lines while others relax, but we feel we're performing a service. Besides, it sort of relaxes out. Throughout most of the year, we prop our feet on our desks during the tailend of the week—when most everybody still has his nose to the stone.

We admit to a bit of egotism; we like to think you appreciate this Christmas greetings edition. We and our advertisers certainly hope you do. And may we call your attention to two articles elsewhere in this paper. One has to do with the observations of a local clergyman concerning what he sees as improved relations within the Christian community. The other reports a project conducted by Mooreville students. The work of these children goes a long way toward showing people of the world that Americans do more than talk about their compassion for the less privileged societies. Both stories have something timely to say. Give yourself a break. Take time to read through the paper, and take note of the season's greetings and best wishes.

We started out to comment on the frenzy we work ourselves into at Christmas. With less than a week to go, things are getting hectic all over. There's no point in editorializing about how we should slow down and enjoy the occasion, because none of us is going to. So have yourself a happy, hurried time. May you see a joyful holiday and a great '64—and may you never let your subscription lapse. Beginning with the new year, we will send a service. If, at any time, you see something in the paper you don't like, send the paper back to us. We'll snip out the objectionable material and send what's left back to you. We're kidding. That deal could mean we'd have to put on extra help with the scissors. Seriously, our new year's resolution, as always, is to try and do better. That'll keep us plenty busy—right on into the tailend of the week.

William Troutman Jr.
Retired Navy Officer

Sadler Elected Director Of Piedmont Bank

The board of directors of the Piedmont Bank and Trust Company has unanimously elected T. S. Sadler a director to fill a vacancy on the board which occurred during 1963.

Sadler is a long time resident and civic leader of the Davidson community and has been a member of the town board for a number of years. A businessman, he was formerly president of the Carolina Asbestos Company and presently is resident manager of the H. K. Porter Company, Inc.

Influential in establishment and erection of Episcopal Mission in Davidson, he is married to the former Mattie Wilson of Mount Olive. The couple has two sons: Thomas, Jr. and Wilson—both graduates of University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

Troutman Is Manager Of Moose Lodge

The Mooreville Moose Lodge has a full-time manager. Lodge officials this week announced that William P. Troutman Jr. has accepted a position as manager of the club that is located near Mount Mourne.

As club manager, Lodge spokesmen said, Troutman also will serve as membership director. The new manager will plan special events, both for Moose families and for the public.

In fact, Troutman already has organized a New Year's Eve party that will be open to the public.

The club manager is a native of Wilmington. He is a veteran of 24 years Navy service. While in the military, he served in quartermaster and he gained experience in club management as director for several years of the Chief Petty Officer's Club in Charleston, S. C.

Troutman is married to the former Violet Jacobs of Middleboro, Conn., and the couple has one daughter, Barbara. Mrs. Troutman and the daughter will move to Mooreville at the end of the present school term. Barbara is a senior at Abbot High School, and she wants to complete her schooling there.

Troutman said a number of public affairs, dances, parties and the like, are being planned at the lodge. He welcomed private parties. Persons interested in reserving accommodations were invited to call the lodge after 4 p. m.

Admission to the New Year's Eve affair will be $4 a couple, the new manager said. Favors will be furnished.

Turning to current Moose projects, Troutman said food baskets are being prepared for distribution to needy families in the area. He added that the familiar penny-a-day fund to finance the Moose Christmas party in 1964 already has been established.

The manager reminded all persons who have been accepted for membership in the lodge, but who have not been enrolled, to contact him as to the time of the induction ceremonies. All persons interested in joining the fast-growing fraternal order were invited to call the lodge.

'O Christmas Tree' Means Fir To Most

The traditional colors of the Christmas season are red and green. Yet these colors have been different things to different people over the ages. Color has been used as the symbol of abstract ideas from time immemorial.

In early and medieval Christian art colors had a mystic or symbolic meaning. Red indicated passion. In its good sense it was a symbol of divine energy and love and the creative power of the Holy Spirit; in its bad sense it was a sign of hate. In that meaning it became an emblem of Satan.

Emerald green is often the symbol of hope and growth in many Christian paintings.

Colors played an important role in medieval magic and superstition. For example, the famous "philosopher's stone," which the alchemists thought would turn base metals into gold and cure all diseases, was thought to be colored red, according to the Encyclopedia Americana. Red was also a favorite curative color in more recent superstitions.

In Indonesia, the people think a piece of bright red coral will keep its owner's teeth in good order, and there are people everywhere who are sure that a person owning a ruby will live to a ripe old age.

Green was a sacred color of the ancient and medieval Egyptians who wore it as a symbol of hope and the joy of spring. The Muslims carried this symbolism throughout the Middle East, and the faithful, on returning from the pilgrimage to Mecca, wear a green turban.

Red, Green Set Yule Scene With Symbolic Meanings

Traditional for trimming the fir is the tree most people think of when they sing "O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, how lovely are thy branches."

Although there are close to 40 species of firs found in Central and Southern Europe, Asia north of the Himalayas, and North America, the holiday favorite—the Douglas fir—is not even a true fir.

Originally named false hemlock with yew-like needles, the Douglas fir is neither a yew, hemlock, spruce nor fir. But it does have some of the characteristics of all four evergreens, and its identity confused botanists for years.

The Douglas fir's graceful, up-turned growth and ability to hold its needles when cut have put it in the top spot for Christmas use. It also produces top-quality lumber. The state of Montana is an important source of Douglas fir.

Next popular Christmas tree is the balsam fir. Also called Canada balsam or Balm of Gilead, according to The Encyclopedia Americana, balsam grows from Newfoundland to Virginia, west to Iowa and north and west deep into Canada.

Balsam retains needles well and give off a pleasing fragrance. It is especially well-liked in the Eastern United States.

Included among the many other Christmas choices are the Eastern red cedar, black spruce and Scotch pine.

Canadian Christmas trees, from seven provinces, are part of the holiday scene in many countries. The United States, alone, accounts for about 90 per cent of Canada's annual production of trees. Still others are shipped abroad, from Ethiopia to Venezuela.

SANTA'S HELPERS — Post office people are indispensable members of Santa Claus' hard-working staff. As postal clerks fought their way through the avalanche of cards, letters and packages early this week, they looked forward to a breather after the expected crest of the flood at mid-week. Late Tuesday, the post office was a beehive of activity and lines continued long and patient at the service window. Melvin Daniels, at the cart loaded with packages, and Bobby Lowe literally were wrapped up in their work. The local post office did not put on extra help this Christmas, but all utility personnel were called in full-time during the rush period.

A Christmas Wish

A Trying Toy For A Tyke Named Terrence

A Christmas story: Once upon a time, there was a young Terrence. There was just one thing in the world that Terrence really loved. He loved to play with his boomerang. All day long, winter, summer, spring and fall, Terrence would throw his boomerang and watch, in ecstasy, as it would unfailingly sail back to him. So, one Christmas, Santa brought Terrence a shiny new boomerang. But, alas, we have no happy ending. This child had to be confined to a mental institution. He went nuts trying to throw his old boomerang away.

All About Us, Harsh Poverty Abounds

And, dear hearts, poverty is with us always. During this season of brotherhood, when everybody is looking for an annual good turn to do, we are reminded that the war against poverty must go on ceaselessly. We saw a report last week that declared that Mooreville must face this damning statistic: We have only two cars for every three families. That means, if we can apply the claim in the negative, that fully a third of the families in the county are struggling along with only one car. Gads!

Existence Not Enough For Mail Service

Problems we never anticipate: The postman, legend has it, delivers through storm and dark of night, or something like that, but never, never, the sloganist might add, in a new residential development. Art Roach recently moved into his fine new home on Briarwood Drive, a subdivision that is an extension of Magnolia Street and parallel Fieldstone Road. Art's home is in the town limits, not more than a block from the nearest home on Magnolia. The back of his lot adjoins the rear of a lot on Fieldstone. A paved street goes past Art's house, connecting with both Magnolia and Fieldstone. Other homes are under construction in the development.

The postman can't deliver Art's mail to his home. This is not a whim of the local post office. In fact, everybody there is in sympathy with the new homeowner. There is some national postal regulation that decrees mail service cannot be extended into a new area until signs of continued growth before the mailman can come around. The post office here can't extend service without approval from higher up. Local carriers who might deliver to Art's house unofficially would do so at the risk of their jobs.

The local postal authorities say, sadly, that this is not a new problem here or anywhere. Now residents in new sections everywhere sometimes wait weeks, even months for mail service. Approval of service extensions have to come down through channels (familiar) from somewhere. In the meantime, Art will have to do like others before him—rent a post office box or put up a box at the nearest point of existing mail service.

Somewhat, this recurring inconvenience clouds our image of the post office. We always had assumed that if you existed and occupied identifiable space in this world, you could get mail—come dark of night, high water or that unmentionable place.

News Items Of Centenary

By MRS. ROBERT M. WEST

The three circles of the Centenary Methodist Church held their Christmas party at the hotel on Monday evening, December 9. Christmas decorations were used on the refreshment table, the mantel, and a lighted Christmas tree stood at one side of the room. An open fire in the fireplace added to the holiday mood.

A program of special Christmas readings was presented by Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Henry Wilson, Mrs. R. W. Morrow, Mrs. Harold McLaughlin, Mrs. Lettie Morgan, Mrs. Emory Overcash, Mrs. Robert M. West, and a visitor, Mrs. Mason Lawrence.

The Centenary Methodist Church will present its annual Christmas program on Sunday night, December 22.

Mrs. W. W. West is improving at the Lawrence Hospital in Mooresville. She is now having visitors.

Rev. Paul M. Dennis, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church, is presenting the morning devotion on Mooresville Radio Station WHIP this week at 8:55 a. m.

The Centenary 4-H Club will have its Christmas party on Thursday, December 10, at 7:30 p. m. at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hunter, of Derita, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Patterson and Jamie and Mrs. Lamont Goodnight were Sunday afternoon guests.

Rev. Marvin Overcash returned home Sunday from the Lawrence Hospital.

Willie L. Williams Participates In Army Exercise

Army Pvt. Willie L. Williams, 20, son of Mr. Emma Powell, 246 Charlotte street, Mooresville, and other members of the 25th Infantry Division participated in Exercise Dusty Trail III.

During the month-long maneuver, which ended December 8, tank, field artillery, missile and infantry units faced simulated combat problems.

Williams, who has been in Hawaii since last September, is a cook in Battery B of the division's 2nd Howitzer Battalion, 21st Artillery at Schofield Barracks.

He entered the Army in January 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Williams attended Dunbar High School and worked for the Mooresville Bakery before entering the Army.

About 420 delegates and leaders from 34 states attended the NJVGA convention at the Penn Sheraton Hotel.

The 4-H members, who were State 4-H winners this summer, participated in various national contests. Libby Cooke won third place on her Fruit and Vegetable Marketing Demonstration entitled "Peck 'Em Right." Anne Cooke was the state winner in the NJVGA Variety Trials contest. Anne also represented North Carolina as a Junior leader in NJVGA. Libby and Anne Cooke and Roger Sharpe competed as a team in the national vegetable judging contest. Mr. Nance did an outstanding job in coaching these 4-H members in their NJVGA projects and activities.

The Iredell group enjoyed tours around the city of Pittsburgh, to the Heinz Processing Company, to Continental Can Company, and to a U. S. Steel Plant. They enjoyed recreation consisting of folk lore, square and social dancing, and entertainment by a magician. A Oatmeal in Horticulture Breakfast, the Final Awards Banquet, and an educational exhibit on Careers in Horticulture were other highlights of the convention.

This group returned home via Washington, D. C., where they visited the grave of the late President John F. Kennedy at Arlington Cemetery. This trip proved to be but an educational and inspirational experience for these 4-H members and leaders.

Troutman Grapplers Win 43-13

Coach Bill Mayhew's Troutman wrestling team captured its first win of the year with a 43-13 decision over North Rowan last week. This was the first wrestling win in the history of the school since this is Troutman's first attempt at the sport.

In their opening match, the Bobcats were defeated by West Rowan. Mayhew's charges came through in fine form to record their opening win in the second match of the season.

The Kress brothers, Ron and Roy, both won their matches by the pin route. Roy made short work of his opponent, Scotts Shoaf, by scoring a pin in 1:54 of the first period while Ron had to go one minute into the second period before pinning North Rowan's Don Campbell.

Both the Kress boys are experienced wrestlers, having transferred to Troutman from a school in the mid-west. George Edwards, Mike Brotherton, Don Hager, Larry Wilkins and Tony Miller all scored pins for the Bobcats.

Coach Mayhew was elated at the fine showing of his team in its second match. He reports the effort and determination of the boys are at a very high pitch. He also reports that before the season is over the Bobcats will have the experience to make them a real tough outfit.

All total, North Rowan captured three matches in the 11-event program. George Trexler, Norman Overcash, Jerry Culp won by a decision. The only pin for the losers came when Jerry Ellenberg took Al Blake in 1:59 of the second period.

A complete rundown of the match is:

85 lb. class — North Rowan forfeit to Troutman.

103 lb. class — Tony Miller (T) pinned Johnny Brooks (NR).

111 lb. class — Larry Wilkins (T) pinned Terry Coats (NR).

120 lb. class — Dean Moore (T) pinned Terry Pendleton (NR).

127 lb. class — George Trexler (NR) pinned Norman Overcash (T).

133 lb. class — Jerry Culp (NR), pinned Dennis Parker (T).

138 lb. class — Don Hager (T) pinned Ray Pope (NR).

Hwt. class — George Edwards (T) pinned Tommy Rouse (NR).

In preliminary events, Nonnie Host, Mike Miller, Benny Miller, Danny Simerson and Dwight Farmer, all of North Rowan, won their matches. Charles Hyde of Troutman gained the only victory for the Troutman team.

Devil Wrestlers Win In Opener By 38-14 Score

Coach Perry Pearson and his highly rated wrestling team got off to a good start in the opening match of the season in downing South Mecklenburg 38-14 last Friday night.

The locals, rated among the top teams of the state, were in their second match of the season Tuesday night against Kannapolis and are scheduled to make a long journey to Asheboro tonight (Thursday).

In their opening match it was all Mooresville after the first match as the Blue Devils won by individual matches of the 11-match program. Two contests ended in a draw, giving each team two points.

South Mecklenburg got 10 of its point total when David Serrell pinned Tim Fries in the 95-lb. bracket and big Gary Boyd mastered Mooresville's Jimmy Carter. It must also be noted that Carter's loss was to an opponent who outweighed him by 20 pounds. Boyd was the state champion in his weight class last year. Pearson was delighted that Carter managed to outmaneuver Boyd until a missed take in the second period proved to be his downfall.

Other than these two events, all the Blue Devils won or tied their opponents. Mike Couch, Tony Bentley, Bobby Ham, David Oliphant and Dewitt Hinson all won by the pin route.

Perhaps the most thrilling match of the night was between David Curtis of the Blue Devils and Rusty Holcomb, Curtis won the match with a 4-2 point decision with the winning points coming in the final seconds of the match as Curtis came off the bottom and reversed the hold, thus breaking a 2-2 deadlock in the score.

Both Mike Johnston and Preston Ingram of the locals won their matches in preliminary contests. Johnston's by a pin and Ingram's by the decision route.

The complete summary of the match is:

95 lb. class — David Serrell (SM) pinned Tim Fries (M).

103 lb. class — Tony Bentley (M) pinned Richardson Bowman (SM).

112 lb. class — Allen Brawley (SM) defeated Glenn Withrow (SM).

120 lb. class — William Kelly (M) and Tommy Thresher (SM), battled to a draw.

127 lb. class — Mike Couch (M) pinned Dennis Thornton (SM).

133 lb. class — Bobby Ham (M) pinned Danny Hammett (SM).

138 lb. class — David Oliphant (M) pinned Bob Moore (SM).

145 lb. class — David Curtis (M) defeated Rusty Holcomb (SM).

154 lb. class — Bobby Ingram (M) and Kirk Hoyt (SM) battled to a draw.

165 lb. class — Larry Dyson (M) defeated Wayne Morris (SM).

180 lb. class — Gary Boyd (SM) pinned Jimmy Carter (M).

Hwt. class — Dewitt Hinson (M) pinned Joe Hatley (SM).

Following the Asheboro contest the locals will next see action January 7 in a match at Kannapolis. The next home match will be against West Rowan on January 8.

MOORESVILLE (N.C.) TRIBUNE— THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1963

Senior High Cagers, Statesville Battle Tonight On Devils' Court

Mooreville's Senior High cagers are all set for their return battle against Statesville tonight (Thursday) on the local court. This will be the fifth game for both Mooreville squads and they will be out to reverse a double loss suffered at the hands of the Greyhounds earlier in the pre-season practice games.

The two squads played at Kannapolis Tuesday night and the results of that game will be found elsewhere in today's paper.

Coach Harlan Bowman and his five, through last Friday night's game against Odell, sported a 2-1 record for the year. The local lassie sextet is yet to win a contest. Bowman has high hopes his squad will be better prepared for the fast-breaking Statesville attack while Coach Roy Boyles' girls are determined to register their first victory of the year.

In their outing Friday night against Odell, the local girls just couldn't hit the bucket and came out on the short end of a 40-19 score. Judy Freeze, with five points, was top scorer for the Devil lassies while Rene Gibson tallied four points and Sandy Torrence three to pace the anemic offense for Coach Boyles' outfit. Bren Pennington with 16 points almost outscored the entire Mooreville team in gaining high scoring honors for the night.

The Devils' defensive combination of Drema Walters, Susan Cook and Manchie Poore just couldn't keep the Odell tossers away from the basket. Also seeing action in the game were Barber Moore, Nancy Warren, Linda Sholar, Beverly Lee, Valerie Oliphant, Jan Brown, Becky Wylie, Toni Brown, Donna Helms and Shirley Sherill.

The Mooreville boys had the night of their lives as the Odell boys tried a deep freeze. In the amazing first half, Odell failed to score, with Mooreville leading 11-0 at the end of the first half.

They open their 1964 conference season January 10 in another home game against West Rowan.

IN CHURCH CAGE LEAGUE Prospect Boys, Girls Are Leaders

A two-game program Tuesday night completed the 1963 schedule for the Mooreville area's church basketball league. Games will resume at the civic center January 6.

Scheduled to meet in the final pre-Christmas round of play Tuesday were St. Mark's and its brother Lutheran, St. Luke's. A match between Central Methodist and Second Presbyterian was to follow.

The combination girls team representing First Baptist and St. Mark's met the ladies of Prospect Monday in the opener. In the second game Monday First Baptist and Prospect men collided.

In games to date, the Prospect men and women have jumped ahead of the pack in impressive wins. The Prospect ladies dismantled Rocky Mount 35-7, while the men defeated Second Presbyterian 47-40.

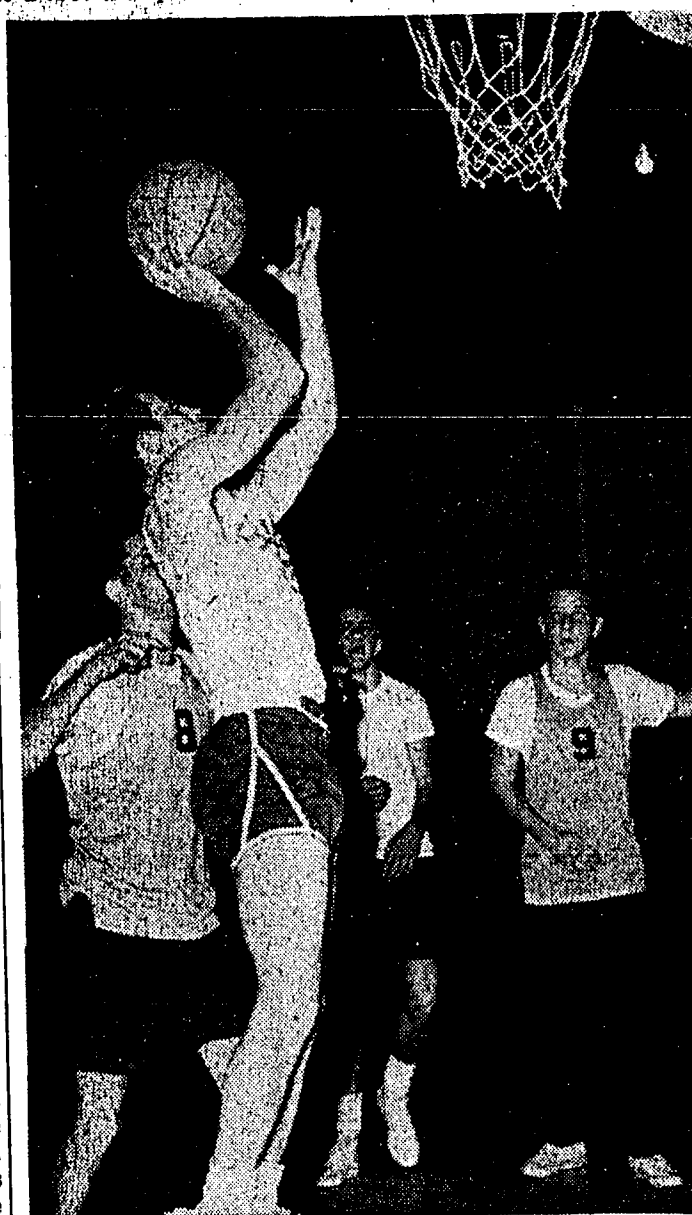

In the Prospect-Rocky Mount clash, Bobbie Bentley led all scorers with 16 points. She got help from Alice Rummage, who accounted for 11 points, and Mary Lib Kipka, who scored nine points. Martha Current got five of Rocky Mount's total.

Bobby Boyd, a flashy guard, poured in 22 points to pace Prospect over the defending tournament champions. Richard Bentley added 10 points to the winning cause. For the losers, Harlan Bowman scored 21 points and was a defensive stalwart. Burl Talbert contributed 13 markers.

Church league action began with an intra-denominational meeting between the men of First Baptist and Southside Baptist. Frankie Meadows paced First Baptist to a narrow 31-30 victory. Meadows scored 10 points and played a fine defensive game. Johnny Washburn added nine points to the winner's column. For Southside, Billy Godbout got nine, followed by Ted Towell with eight.

Southside bounced back from the defeat to plaster Berea Baptist with a 55-19 licking. Everett Goodman of Southside topped all scoring for the evening with 22.

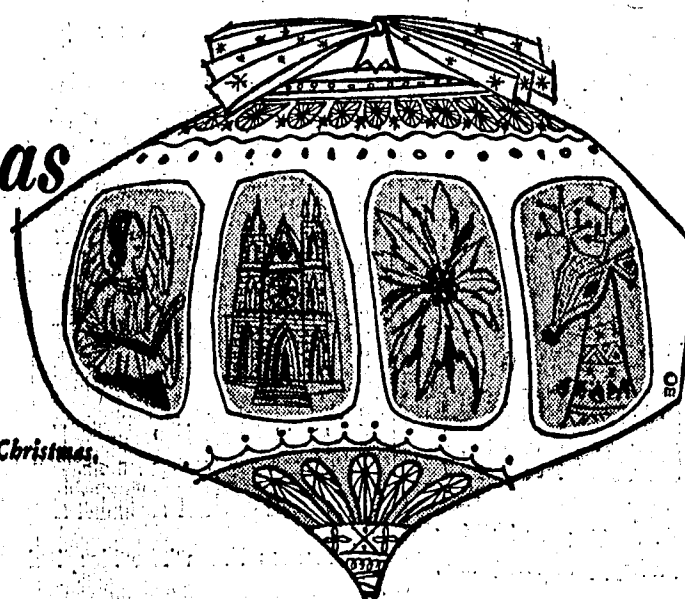

The St. Mark's men opened with an impressive win over outgunned Berea. Larry Beaver poured in 20 points as the Lutherans galloped to a 62-37 triumph. Jack Anderson added 15 for St. Mark's. Berea's best shot came from Larry Bue, who collected 13 points.

UP AND IN — Larry Beaver of St. Mark's is all alone as he gets off a shot under the basket. Guard Beaver hit the lay-up and other shots from farther out as he dumped in 20 points to lead the Lutherans recently in a 62-37 romp over Berea Baptist. This action is typical of games played on the civic center court by members of the church basketball league conducted by the local recreation department. A full schedule of games for both men and women teams will resume January 6.

Sincere Christmas Wishes

Our heartiest greetings to all our friends and neighbors. May you enjoy a very Merry Christmas.

RED IMP LEADERS — During a recent practice, coaches of the distaff side of Junior High basketball got together with leaders of the team to go over some of the strategy the Red Imps plan to use in their season that opened last week when the Imps met Landis here. Coaches Dan Woody and Barbara Dennis, left, talk things over with ninth graders

Junior High Pulls Surprise; Wins Both Tilts In First Game

Who would have thought it possible? The Junior High basketball team won both ends of a twin-bill session last week.

The Imp boys were complete masters in whipping Landis 44-23. The sextet battle was a real defensive gem with the local lassies coming out on top of a 7-6 score.

Judy Robinson was the top scorer in lassic battle, collecting three of the seven points gathered in by the winners. Robinson, an eighth grader, is in her second year of junior high ball. She drew the praise of Coach Dan Woody for her fine performance, both offensively and defensively, at the roving guard position.

The contest was anyone's game until the final whistle. The Mooreville defense put on its biggest show in the final quarter of the game, holding the visitors scoreless while adding two points for the victory margin.

Jane Kelly, Jane Church and Lisa Alexander, along with Robinson, were by far the top players for the locals who were credited with fine defensive ability. The first quarter saw each team scoring one point, while in the second chapter the Landis girls tallied four while the Mooreville girls only got three and the score stood at halftime, Landis 5, Mooreville 4.

In the third quarter, the visiting Landis lassies got one point and were shut out in the final six minutes while the Imp sextet totaled three points for their opening victory.

Defense, hustle and shooting ability made the difference as Coach Dave Richardson's lads rolled to a 44-23 margin over the Landis five. The contest remained close in the early stages of the game. When Landis went into a full press, the abilities of Mike Deaton, who tallied 19 points, and big John Beam, who totaled 12, carried the Imp charges to victory.

The Imps scored six in the first quarter, 14 in the big second period to hold a 20-14 lead at halftime. In the final two stanzas, Richardson's boys continued to build the lead as his fast-running charges got loose for fast breaking lay-ups and close shots at the basket.

Newcomers Bill Keeter, John Verble and Tony Levan also drew the praise of the coach for their fine performances in the opening tilt. With the game out of reach for the visitors, Richardson cleared his bench giving his reserves game time.

Other boys who saw action were Mitchell Coggins, who scored one point; Chuck Byrd, Joe Benson, James Benfield and Ricky Moore.

The locals will have plenty of time to rest up and have many practice sessions before their next game January 20 at Troutman.

Mooresville Mills Hosts To 2,500 Persons At Annual Employees' Yule Party

Santa Has Gifts For Employees' Children

Mooresville Tribune

"Although I Disagree With Everything You Say I Will Defend Unto Death Your Right To Say It"
VOL. XXX MOORESVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1963 No. 44

Continuing a custom of long standing, Mooresville Mills held its annual Christmas party last Sunday afternoon from 1:30 until 3:30 o'clock in the form of an open house at the National Guard Armory on the Statesville Highway.

Some 2,500 persons, employees and members of their families, were in attendance, according to S. E. Murdoch, vice president and division manager of the local Burlington Industries unit.

There was no set program ... no speeches — just a "big family get-together" with lots of fun.

Santa Claus was on hand and gift bags, containing toys, candy, fruit, and a variety of other gifts, were distributed to all employees' children 10 years of age and younger. For the first time, too, special gifts were presented to children 11 and 12 years of age.

Members of the Mooresville Clown Club were present, their antics adding much to the affair.

Door prizes — hams, turkeys, and fruit cakes — were presented to lucky employees and members of their families.

The armory was attractively decorated for the occasion, with a lighted Christmas tree and other decorations of the Yule season.

Committees, each of which added much to the success of the seasonal event, were as follows:

Welcome committee — Dave Jones, chairman; Richard Barber, William O. Brown, Bill Burrows, Bill Chambley, Albert Copelan, Lucius Delk, Bill Dunn, Jim Dunn, Bruton Fitzgerald, Leon Gabriel, John Graves, Homer Hampe, Max Hance, Herb Hattaway, George Hutto, Jack Jefford, Robert Little, F. D. Miller, Walter Moss, S. E. Murdoch, Bill Powell, and James Suttles.

Outside decorations committee — Bill Powell, chairman; Mac Howard, James Kirk, Dorothy Lyles, Glenn Nantz, Betty Barker, Mary Katherine Carson, and Mary Elise Charles.

Parking committee — Harry Powers, chairman; John Brandon, J. R. Cagle, Frank Cline, John Gaddy, George Goodman, E. Y. Howard, Frank Loftin, Bill Mott, Roy Ray Morgan, Hugh Noll, Bob Newsome, Cecil Newton, Bill Penner, Tom Pilgreen, T. C. Raby, Fred Reinhardt, John Roberts, Baxter Savage, and Dick Slaughter.

Treat sacking, storage and transportation committee — Buford Compton, chairman; Bill Adamson, P. Graham Barnhardt, Henry Cline, Lewis Davis, Gillie Deaton, Rock Deaton, Marvin Frye, Byron Hager, Leonard Kluge, Brooks Little, Clarence Messick, Moe Morrow, Bob Newsome, Albert Oliphant, Frank Overcash, and Manuel Perkins.

Sound system and records committee — Lloyd Lawing, chairman; Graham W. Barnhardt, Grey Chester, and Abner Overcash.

Treat distribution committee — Ira Usery, chairman; Richard Barber, Rebecca Brantley, Joe Carter, Gwen Cox, Max Hance, George Harbison, Harold Hedgecock, Floy Kelly, Sylvia Limer, Bob Mann, Clyde Mills, Ray Mills, Martha Nesbit, Marge Newton, Grier Powers, Jimmy Stewart, Bobbie Strain, Fred Warlick, and Bob Wilson.

Refreshments committee — Ralph Torrence, chairman; Ben Adams, C. A. Brown, Virginia Caskey, Phyllis Brown, Bill Chambley, Lucy Cobb, Farris Ervin, Frank Fesperman, Bruton Fitzgerald, Leon Gabriel, Bill Giles, Tom Gold, Buddy Haire, Johnnie Lloyd, Frank McAllister, Chester Matlowe, Richard Munday, Lonnie Setzer, Maurice Sloop, John Sprinkle, Raymond Tilley, Clyde Walters, and Frances Waters.

General details committee — Paul Dry, chairman; Mildred Chandler, Verlin Davis, Mary McKnight, and Carol Spears.

Clean-up committee — James Smith, chairman; Howard Bostian, Jeff Bule, Tom Brandon, John Brown, John Canada, J. C. Cline, Harry Davis, Bob Fields, John Guffey, Everett Land, Bruce McNeely, Jack Parrott, Don Sherrill, Wal Shumake, Ray Simon, Burl Albert, L. W. Ware, and Paul Williams.

FUN — In addition to the bountiful meal, area Duke Power employees enjoyed caroling and bingo during their Christmas party. One of the bingo winners was Roy Creamer, left, manager of the Mooreville office. Arthur Smith, who was in charge of the games, returned Creamer's card to him after making sure Creamer hadn't sneaked in a few extra numbers. Special guests for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Z. M. Harry, manager of Duke's district office in Salisbury.

Library Science Club At ASTC Picks 3 Iredell Students

Three Iredell county students at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone are members of the Library Science Club, according to Mrs. Ila Justice, sponsor. The Iredell County members are Aloma Beaver, Brenda Turman, and Carolyn Walton.

The Library Science Club membership is open to any student majoring in Library Science, nonmajors who are enrolled in Library Science classes, and any student interested in books and reading.

The objectives of the club are to provide an opportunity for discussion of books, reading and related subjects, to discuss problems of interest pertinent to the group, and to provide an outlet for social contacts with the group and with students of similar interests.

Cards Came Late In Yule

Many of today's Christmas traditions began somewhere in the dim past, but the practice of exchanging greeting cards is just a little over a century old.

In 1848 William Maw Egley, a "starving" young English artist, came up with the idea of designing a Christmas card and reproducing it on pieces of pasteboard for the public to buy.

Egley's card showed a family Christmas dinner, formal dance, skating, carolers, almsgiving, a Punch and Judy show and other aspects of a celebration resembling the one in Charles Dickens' "The Christmas Carol" published a few years previously. Unfortunately, Egley's friends were not enthusiastic about his idea.

The "daddy" of all holiday cards was designed and etched in 1812 by J. A. Beerner, a young Londoner, who wanted to apologize to friends for his failure to pay a New Year's Day visit. Mr. Beerner's card made it clear he was tied to his home by depicting him with his coat caught in the locked doorway of his house.

In 1843, Sir Henry Cole, a busy English "missionary" of culture, hit upon the idea of sending out little missives at Christmas. John Calcott Horsley of the Royal Academy, famous for his campaign against nude art, designed the cards and Sir Henry sent out 1,000 to friends.

It wasn't until the early 1860's that cards were issued for general distribution by a large English publishing company.

Christmas greetings were introduced into the United States by the Marcus Card company of London. They became popular immediately, and in 1874 Louis Prang, a German immigrant, started a Christmas card business at Roxbury, Mass.

At the turn of the century, he ceased publishing rather than compete with imports flooding the market. For the next decade or so the custom of exchanging cards fell out of fashion.

Only after World War One did American manufacturers begin to achieve success in the card business. Then inexpensive printing and lithographing processes brought Christmas cards within everyone's reach.

Despite its relatively recent start in this country, the custom has caught the fancy of the American public to the extent that it sends billions of Christmas cards every year, according to Mrs. Peggy Gilbert of Norcross, Inc.

Armless Girl Gets Around, Plans Future

Having conquered the handicap of being armless, Carol Woodard, of Schroon Lake, N. Y., is busy planning for the future although she is only 10 years old. She says she hopes to get a job in an office when she completes school, and later on to have a family and a home of her own.

Carol was only 2 years old when in 1895 she toddled away from her home and wandered on a railroad track. A freight train struck her, and both of her arms had to be amputated.

The little girl wears plastic arms with steel clips, like snap clothespins, for fingers. The artificial limbs are built so that she can move them and operate the fingers by movements of her shoulders.

Carol makes good marks in the third grade in public school. She dresses herself and ties her own shoelaces.

The Delaware and Hudson Railroad established a $100,000 trust fund for the child. It will be used for surgical care and for her education.

FOOD—Duke Power's Mooreville office was host to employees from the company's district office in Salisbury and the sub-office in Troutman for a Christmas banquet recently at Elks Restaurant. Nearly 70 persons attended the supper affair. Two of the out-of-town couples who took part in the fellowship were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moss, left, of Granite Quarry and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Graham of Salisbury. The meal was the traditional turkey and all the fixings.

Alfred McAlister Completes Special Training Course

Pvt. Alfred P. McAlister, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie A. McAlister, route 1, Troutman, completed a five-week airplane maintenance course in late November at the Army Aviation School, Fort Rucker, Ala.

McAlister was trained to repair and maintain single engine observation and utility airplanes.

The 1963 Troutman High School graduate entered the Army in June and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Winn-Dixie Store Employees Receive Christmas Bonus

In keeping with their policy to share-the-wealth with their faithful employees, Winn-Dixie this week released checks in the amount of $70,000.00 to employees of their 76 Raleigh Division stores and distribution warehouse and office. Each employee who has been employed for a year or more received a full weeks salary with lesser amounts going to the part-time and newer employees.

Santa will be late getting to the Waldrops' this year!

A Duke Power dispatcher, John M. Waldrop is one of the thousands of people whose job it is to maintain a steady, uninterrupted flow of electric power to you.

Even on holidays, he and hundreds of other people are required to run a complex power system. It takes skill and experience, too. Mr. Waldrop and his fellow workers are experts trained to recognize and eliminate trouble spots almost before they develop.

Duke Power dispatchers, and other employees, are on duty around the clock — 24 hours a day, every day of the year. So holidays like Christmas sometimes get delayed at the Waldrop household. But John doesn't really mind. For him, and for all the people who work at Duke Power, service is the important consideration. It is also a major reason why you'll find it easy and economical to live better electrically . . . Christmas time or during any other season of the year.

DUKE POWER

POPULAR FELLOW — Santa is the most sought-after fellow around these days. He is kept busy in Mooreville, running his reindeer ragged dashing from children's party to children's party. The popular old chap was on hand last week when the Transco Pipelines held a party at the War Memorial for children of the employees of Transco's compressor station 150, and of the firm's pipeline crews. Youngsters gather around as Santa prepares to distribute gifts.

N. C. Cars Have Displayed License Plates Since '09

License plates, of a sort, have adorned North Carolina motor vehicles for the past 54 years.

It was in 1909 when state officials, concerned with the rising tide of "horseless carriages," decided on a state count. When it was over 1,681 vehicles propelled by gasoline engines were discovered, and plans were made to have each one registered.

The Secretary of State was assigned this duty, which was hardly arduous, for either the official or owners.

Applications were filed together with a fee of $5.00. In turn, owners were issued a set of numbers and instructed to place them somewhere on their car. This casual approach resulted in a variety of homemade tags constructed of wood, tin, enamel and other materials.

Color scheme the first year was black on white—or vice versa. If you preferred. Numbers, however, had to be "Arabic numerals at least three inches high."

The "do-it-yourself" trend halted in 1913 when the state began furnishing (but not manufacturing) tags. It was January, 1930, that prison labor began hammering out tags, a practice that has continued to the present.

This year's plates measure 6 by 12 inches, as do the auto tags of all states. This uniformity was secured several years ago on pledge by the auto industry that eventually sealed recesses would be designed into all cars to hold the plate.

License plates, though, in the early days of motoring ran the gamut of sizes and colors.

In the past car owners have been pleased (or appalled) to get tags trimmed with white on blue, white on green, black on white, green on black, silver on blue, silver on maroon, red on silver and white on red.

War time drabness was the reason, perhaps, but motorists in 1910 were issued a black on purple tag for their Brewster-Knight, Essex or Moon.

And the big boxy cars of 1928 carried a real Slim Jim of a tag—it measured a scant three and one-half inches by 17 inches.

Color schemes settled down somewhat in 1941 when the now familiar orange-black combination appeared. The colors alternated from year to year until 1951. For the two license years 1951 and 1952 Tar Heel tags were red and white, alternately. Then in 1953 they resumed the orange and black pattern which has become standard. The 1963 tags will have orange letters and numerals on black.

Commissioner Edward Scheidt has stuck with the present orange-black combination since 1953, the year he took office. Maximum legibility, long wear, and paint economy are the principal reasons for retaining the combination year by year.

Date tabs which some states use to validate tags have been used only once in North Carolina. Wearing only two steel shortages in 1942 forced

Sailor Given $429,102; Lifetime Coma Possible

After doctors testified that Philip J. Deniston, 20, of Tulare, California, may never regain consciousness, a Los Angeles jury awarded him $429,102 in damages. His parents had sued for $1,276,000.

Deniston, a sailor, was on his way back to his base when a bus on which he was a passenger collided with a truck north of Los Angeles. He has been unconscious for more than a year.

unauthorities to issue small squares of metal to be attached to one corner of the plate.

The one-tag system has been in use since 1959. Manufacturing is done in the prisons, industry cutting, a year-round operation of cutting, over 1,681 vehicles propelled by gasoline engines were discovered, and plans were made to have each one registered.

Plates are cut from big rectangles of 25-gauge sheet steel, stamped with numerals and letters in a powerful hydraulic press, sent through a paint vat (for background color) and then oven dried.

The contrasting color is next rolled on in an operation similar to printing newspaper. A second drying follows, after which the tags are slipped into waxed envelopes and crated in lots of 100 for shipment.

The tags are issued by the state; however, they remain state property and may be recalled if used illegally.

Illegal use, which could mean repainting, cutting, stamping, or other alteration is not unknown. The highway patrol investigates several such cases of fudging every year.

Following custom, 1963's plate Number 1 will go on the governor's limousine.

North Carolina is not the only state with a safety slogan on its license tags. Indiana plates carry the words, "Safety Pays."

Old timey vehicles, 35 years old or older, are eligible for special tags costing $5.00. They are stamped "Horseless Carriages." One state calls them "Historical Vehicle."

When only one plate is issued there's no question about where it goes — the law book says on the rear.

And tags must by law be kept clean and free of dust and dirt. Violation of their requirements is a misdemeanor. Neither can the tags be displayed attached flat in an upright position just any old way. They must be and illuminated by a white light.

Burglar Returns Cash And Apology

When she awoke one morning, Mrs. Catherine Kwasiborski, of Detroit, found an envelope containing $350 under the door of her home. On the flap of the envelope was this note:

"Can't do this. First time. Forgive me, I'm scared."

Mrs. Kwasiborski said that the $350 had been stolen the night before.

Peek-A-Boo Guard

Nips Escape Plan

After much hard work, 2 prisoners completed their task of sawing a hole through a steel wall in the city jail in Nashville, Tenn., as they peeked through, they stared straight into the face of Guard Buford Hill, who had heard their sawing.

Even if the 2 had gotten through the wall, they would have found themselves in a utility room leading only to the first of several locked doors.

Stamps Costing 14 Cents Bring $1,736 At Auction

Four postage stamps that cost a total of 14 cents were sold for $1,736 at a stamp auction in Glasgow, Scotland.

The stamps are part of a Red Cross centenary issue, but the red cross on them is printed in white instead of red.

A typist bought the stamps originally, and the $1,736 was paid for them by a stamp collector at the auction.

CERTIFICATE OF APPOINTMENT — Charles Robert Cowan of Mount Mourne, left, receives his official certificate of appointment as acting postmaster at Mount Mourne from George P. Carpenter, postal service officer, with headquarters in Charlotte. Cowan was named acting postmaster at Mount Mourne following the resignation of John William Caldwell. Cowan's father, the late Jesse M. Cowan, served as postmaster at Mount Mourne for some 40 years. Thirty-nine and single, the newly appointed acting postmaster makes his home at Mount Mourne with his mother, Mrs. Jesse M. Cowan.

As we celebrate the glory of His birth, let us also remember how He taught that love of mankind is the true path to Peace on Earth.

Toys Are Vital Business In Country's Economy

Have you ever thought about the importance of toys to your children? Growing up, pleasure out of giving toys to children and toys are an important business in our economy.

But probably most important of all, toys and play equipment help children to grow up. Miss Frances Jordan, family relations specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service at N. C. State, says that children grow physically when playing with toys.

When they push heavy blocks and pull loaded wagons, they are strengthening those big muscles in their arms, legs and back. Playing with manipulative toys like puzzles, peg boards and things like that help children to develop the finer smaller muscles. They are also learning how to reason, use judgment, and be creative.

How do you go about selecting proper play equipment or toys? Needs and interests change with age so you should try to select the type of toy the child needs.

However, Miss Jordan says there are additional things you should consider when choosing what goes into Santa Claus's bag. Safety is important when choosing toys. You will have to remember that what is safe for the oldest boy may be unsafe to have around a toddler in the house. For smaller children, try to avoid anything with sharp or rough edges, objects with small removable parts, flammable toys or poorly made objects.

Miss Jordan says you should try to get toys that the child can do something with — not a mechanical toy that he can only look at or a expensive doll that he can only look at on the shelf.

Why don't you consider some of the creative toys? They will help the children to develop their muscle coordination, work independently, develop various manipulative techniques and skills through sensory perception.

Creative materials can be inexpensive. Why not give them a box of college materials? Fill a box with plastic screen wire, macaroni and noodles, nature materials (pine needles, leaves, seeds), scraps of fabric, beads and buttons along with some paste and paper. Very inexpensive but it will probably turn out to be the favorite gift under the tree. Don't forget to save your Christmas wrappings and ribbons for play after the holidays.

While buying good sturdy equipment may be initially expensive, the cost in the long run will be small considering the equipment use by several children in the family.

Some gift suggestions for the various ages include: Under 18 months — squeaky animals and dolls, soft woolly animals, exercise crib toys, small blocks, push-pull animals, simple musical toys, squeeze toys, nursery mobiles, books.

1½ to 3 years — tricycles, trucks big enough to straddle, play table and chairs, dress-up clothes, puzzles with few pieces, clay, stuffed animals, play furniture, telephone.

6 to 9 years — more housekeeping toys, more doll accessories, doll house and furniture, paper doll sets, simple sewing and embroidery sets, more carpentry tools, electric train sets, dominoes, gun and holster sets, good grooming sets, garden sets, baseball and football equipment.

9 to 12 years — handicraft sets of all kinds, model kits for boats, space toys, hobby kits, marionettes, science toys, jigsaw puzzles, card games, make-up and good grooming kits, character dolls.

Adventurer At 70 Sails Raft Alone Far Over Pacific

Tough old William Willis has proved his point — that a man doesn't have to retire to a rocking chair when he reaches the age of 70. He did it the hard way — by sailing a big raft 8,000 miles across the Pacific Ocean from Peru to Samoa.

Willis is 70 years old, but at the end of his journey he was fit and happy—and enjoying the trip so much that he planned to get back atop ocean currents and ride to Australia, 4,000 miles away.

His only companions on the raft are 2 house cats.

Willis is a native of New York City, where his wife had refused to give up hope although she had no word of her husband since last August, when a freighter sighted his raft.

The raft, named Age Unlimited, is 32 feet long. Willis travels mainly by drifting with the ocean currents and with the help of a small sail.

The raft has a rudder for steering. Willis carries ample supplies of food and water and fishes along the way to get fresh meat.

He is no amateur. In 1954 he made a similar trip across the Pacific Ocean.

Giving A Million Tuckers Him Out

"I'm plumb tuckered out, but I think I have most of the ground covered," said Fred Smoke, 80, of Valparaiso, Ind., as he finished the task of giving away $1,000,000.

Smoke, a retired farmer who made a fortune in the stock market, decided last year to give his fortune to the worthy.

His gifts since then included $825,000 for an addition to a hospital and for a home for the elderly and $245,000 for construction of new schools.

Smoke has recently been seriously ill.

Boy Shot In Ear, But He Survives

A stray bullet from a hunter's rifle struck Roger Olson, 9, who lives near Two Harbors, Minn. The slug entered his right ear and emerged from his mouth. But it did not hit a bone or tooth, and the boy was not seriously injured.

Thieves Generous But Get Arrested

Two robbers held up Harold Cad. dell, of St. Louis, and took less than a dollar. They then took time to give him money to pay his bus fare home.

As they began to leave, Caddell saw a policeman and called for help. The 2 were charged with robbery.

N. C. Billy David Avery, 23, of Iron Station, route 1, driver of the westbound 1955 Ford which pulled out from behind the truck, suffered a contusion of the face and a laceration of the chin. He was treated and later released from the Lowrance Hospital. Mrs. Kemp Sherrill of Mooresville, route 2, operator of the eastbound Pontiac, escaped injury. The accident occurred on N. C. Highway 150, where it intersects with U. S. By-Pass 21. Both vehicles were damaged extensively, according to the investigating officer, State Highway Patrolman W. C. Bost.

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT

Man With A Double Burden

The college presidency is one of the toughest "boss man" jobs.

The holder of this office oversees an institution dedicated to conveying truth to students and seeking new truth through questioning and experimentation.

Teachers and researchers do this work. To enable them to fulfill so responsible a role effectively, the college president usually accords a special privilege not given to any other group in our society. It is called academic freedom.

This freedom permits the teacher, so long as his honest thinking dictates it and he stays within his field, to take issue with views held by the majority of our citizenry, to contest views of his closest colleagues even if they outrank him, or to oppose views of his boss — the college president himself.

The theory behind this unique liberty granted to teachers is that it is a safeguard for society. Some one is needed to test and evaluate what we think and do as individuals or as a group.

For instance, is milk really as healthful as they say? A University of Minnesota professor says no, and has studies to substantiate the statement. What about cigarettes? Certain college researchers report evidence indicating that smoking may be a cause of lung cancer.

Academic freedom, therefore, is a special set of guarantees to teachers "designed to encourage and insure their boldness, their forthrightness, their objectivity, and (if necessary) their criticism of us who maintain them."

Milk companies and cigarette firms may not like what the college researchers are doing, but they recognize and support their right to free inquiry and expression.

Responsibility for directing and coordinating the many activities of college and university teachers representing various fields of knowledge is a gargantuan one for the college president.

He respects and defends his faculty's "academic freedom," but at the same time he must give their numerous efforts some kind of unity and purpose.

The task requires the ultimate in leadership qualities. It requires teaching and varied academic knowledge. It requires administrative, financial, fund raising, and house-keeping knowledge. It requires limitless energy. It requires extreme patience. It requires an articulate, friendly personality. It requires courage and integrity. No wonder the term of office for a college president averages only four years, give or take a few months.

But there's no question that the college presidents of our nation represent the finest of American men and women.

These gifted executives usually perform their responsibilities through persuasion, logic, and teamwork rather than "by command." And most presidents practice gradualism, described by one dean as the "art of doing easily tomorrow what could be done today only over a dead body."

The presidents head institutions of varying sizes and purposes.

Dr. Gustave R. Rosenberg is interim executive officer of the largest institution of higher education in the U. S., the City University of New York, which has 104,000 students. City University is looking for a chancellor now.

Dr. Nathan M. Pusey guides the most prestigious — Harvard University.

Dr. William Friday is president of the first state university in America to open its doors to students (1790) — the University of North Carolina.

Dr. W. H. Pierson heads an institution with a single purpose — teacher education. It is Appalachian State Teachers College with over 3,000 students.

Arend D. Lubbers at 31 is the youngest president of a degree-granting college and heads one of the smaller institutions — Iowa's Central College, which has 501 students.

In between are some 2,000 chief executives of institutions of higher learning, ranging from junior colleges up through the great multipurpose state universities and professional schools. These institutions will soon enroll 4,000,000 students, the cream of American young men and women. College presidents need our sympathetic understanding as they strive to increase public support while defending the right of their faculties to pursue truth, however unpopular it sometimes may be.

Party, Dance Set Saturday For Teenagers

The Mooresville Recreation Department will sponsor a Christmas party and dance for the Mooresville Teenage Club Saturday night, December 21, at the War Memorial.

Jacob Kutschenko, recreation department staff member who is in charge of arranging the holiday affair, said the Downtowns from Davidson will provide music for the dance, that will be held from 8 p. m. until 11 p. m.

The Teenage Club now has 101 members. All club members will be admitted to the festivities upon display of their membership cards. Admission for youngsters who aren't club members will be 50 cents. The admission fee also enrolls a teenager into the club and pays his dues through December.

Carl Baber, recreation director, joined Kutschenko in urging all area young people to take advantage of this opportunity for Christmas fun and fellowship.

Law Of Bible Halts Thieves

Irritated at thieves who were stealing apples from his orchard, Claude Bache, of Churchhill, England, put up a sign saying: "Keep out. Trespassers will be prosecuted."

When the apples continued disappearing he took down the sign and replaced it with one that read: "Thou shalt not steal."

Tossed Stones Flush Out Bear

While walking home with his brother Joe Curno, of Sugar Island, Mich., heard a noise in the bushes just off the main highway. He tossed some stones in the direction of the noise, and a large black bear emerged and attacked him.

Curno said his brother, Oliver, shouted, and dogs at a nearby house barked. The bear fled. Curno was treated at a hospital.

OPTIMISTS MAKE A SALE — Mrs. Donald Westmoreland purchases a Christmas tree from Felton Burris, vice chairman of the Mooresville Optimist Club's Christmas tree sales committee, while Tree Sales Chairman Richard Lewis looks on. The local civic club is conducting its annual sale of trees this year from a lot on East Iredell avenue, directly across the street from Carolina Tire Company. Canadian Balsam firs and local cedars are being offered for sale, the proceeds going into the club treasury for use in its boys' work program. Some 100 trees have already been pre-sold, but there's plenty left.

So Far As Kids Were Concerned, Santa Chief Attraction At Cascade Party

1,000 Persons Attend Christmas Party Sunday

Cascade Weaving Company's 30th annual Children's Christmas Party was held in the form of an open house at the Mooreville Junior High School gymnasium Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Approximately 1,000 persons attended the gala event, which featured gifts for children of the plant's employees, door prizes, and refreshments for everyone.

Santa Claus was on hand, and, he, naturally, claimed the attention of all the youngsters present.

The gymnasium was attractively decorated with a 12-foot high lighted Christmas tree and other Yule decorations, these adding color and charm to the occasion.

All children, 10 years of age and younger, of Cascade Weaving Company employees received bags, containing gifts, fruit and candy. Refreshments, consisting of fruit cake, doughnuts, cookies, cold drinks and milk, were served.

The party was presented under the direction of Jim Rosser, personnel director at the plant.

Committees helping make the occasion a big success were as follows:

Gymnasium decorations—Phil McLaughlin and Dick Hedrick, co-chairmen; Frank Alexander, Howard Proctor, Gray Sloop, Marvin Rummage, Ralph Surratt, James Holt, and the shop crew.

Children's treat bags and gifts—Eddie Cook, chairman; Joe Knox, Bob Danton, Vance Trexler, Russ Way, Bill Cooke, Howard Edwards, Buck McLean, and Wayne Blackwelder.

Reception committee—Willis Cook, Bob Craig, Riggs Goodman, Joe Knox, Phil McLaughlin, Ralph Surratt, and John Ware.

Music and public address system—Al Bowers, chairman; Willis Cook.

Refreshments—Jan Fiegle, chairman; Jimmie Gantt, Paul Allison, James McGill, Glenn Gregory, Jerry Templeton, Ed Nantz, Ken Robinson, and Basil Russell.

Pictures—Don Markofski, chairman; Bob Faires, and Paul Lambert.

Santa's helper—Thad Lutz, chairman.

Door prizes—Horace Clineard, chairman.

Employees winning door prizes were: Richard Robinson, fruit cake; Nettie Warren, electric coffee pot; Johnny Mills, electric clock; James P. Nantz, fruit cake; Murray Goodrum, electric drill; Faye Sigmon, Eveready light; Louise Dorton, fruit cake; Bill McLain, electric mixer; Raymond Warren, 12 pound turkey; Paul Robinson, fruit cake; Matt Mabe, chinaware; Maggie Deal, can opener; Florence Warren, fruit cake; Hazel Blackmon, set of glasses; Barbara Carpenter, tackle box; Franklin Little, electric fry pan; and Daniel Boone, 12 pound ham.

Snow Scenes Say, 'It's Christmas'

Where the sun shines bright the air is balmy and never is heard the discouraging howl of a blizzard, Christmas is still a winter wonderland.

In northern climes the complaint is, "We just don't have snow for Christmas the way we used to," and even in climates where decorated palm trees substitute for evergreens and holiday picnics are more likely than sleigh rides, snow and plenty of it seems a essential part of the vision of the Yuletide.

Country snow scenes are popular greeting card subjects and popular Christmas subjects and Christmas illustrations in Southern states, South American countries and many other places where snow seldom or never falls. Songs and stories tell of a Christmas world wrapped in wintry white.

The popularity and persistence of the "winter wonderland" idea seems more remarkable since "snow for Christmas" must have been improbable, if not impossible, as a part of the Holy Night. Rain was more likely, especially on the date officially celebrated as Christ's birthday, December 25 is right in the midst of the rainy season in Bethlehem.

Early art depicting the Nativity and the events following it was faithful to the probabilities. In these paintings, the shepherds watched in fields free of snow, and the Holy Family fled to Egypt under sunny skies, their route marked by palm trees. Later, snow appeared in paintings of the Holy Night.

Part of the explanation may be that white, rather than red and green, was early chosen by churches as the color of Christmas. White is, of course, the symbol of purity and innocence, and a landscape white with snow thus becomes a proper expression of the true spirit of Christmas.

Other explanations may be found in the origins of Christmas customs. Many of the pagan rites which were absorbed into the Christian celebration came from Northern Europe and, if not associated directly with snow, at least reflected the need for warmth in winter.

The Yule log, for instance, became a part of the early Christmas customs, and certainly an open fire indoors is enhanced by a blanket of snow outdoors.

Consider, too, that a number of modern Christmas customs—the tree and its lights, for instance—came from Germany, where cold, snowy winters might logically contribute to the legends and lore of the season. The first lighted tree was, supposedly, created by Martin Luther as a symbol of a starry sky on a snowy night.

In modern times Irving Berlin and Bing Crosby have substantially strengthened the vision of a "White Christmas." Bing singing Berlin's famous song now a traditional part of the Yule season.

While many, perhaps most, people may be able only to dream of a white Christmas and create its semblance with cotton or spray-on snow, it's a safe assumption that the happiest season will continue to be envisioned as a snowy winter wonderland.

Holy Day Helped Comfort Sorrow

Even when Christmas wasn't merry, history shows that the holy holiday has brought comfort and hope into the midst of sorrow and hardship.

Such was an early Christmas in the New World, observed in 1839 at a small fortress on the banks of the St. Charles river near what is now the City of Quebec, Canada.

Jacques Cartier, French explorer, and his band of 110 settlers were beset by cold and hunger, as well as fear of the nearby Indians, whose friendly attitude seemed to have changed. More than half the members of the colony suffered from scurvy.

Bravely, the men celebrated Christmas. Mass was said in a log cabin, at an altar made from a wooden table; evergreen branches decorated the walls, candles were sung and the best of the meager food supplies were used for a "feast."

First Baptist Church Plans Yule Pageant

A Christmas pageant, "The Story of Christmas," arranged by Allan Norton Fort, will be presented at Mooreville's First Baptist Church next Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m.

This simple, beautiful pageant uses music, tableaux, and the reading of the holy scriptures to impress the story of the nativity on eye, ear, and heart.

The tableaux includes: the prophecy fulfilled, the shepherds and the angel, the visit of the wise men, and the infant.

The musical numbers will be presented by the primary, carol, junior high and youth choirs, under the direction of Minister of Music Dan Johnson. The accompanist will be Mrs. Roy Creamer.

The cast of characters includes: Reader—Rev. Bob D. Shepherd; the herald—Tony Levan; the trumpeter—Bill Brawley; the prophet—A. C. Craven; Mary—Mrs. Delores Shepherd; the angel—Mrs. Jane Cagle; the small angel—Vicki Shepherd; Elizabeth—Mrs. Grace Ballard Joseph—Carl Basinger; the four shepherds—Harold Doster, George Darby, Roy Watkins, and Carl Cooke; the wise men—Paul Cook (Melchior), Charles Smith (Gaspar), and Ray Nesbit (Balthasar).

Committees include: Roy Creamer, lighting; Mrs. Elsie Basinger, make up; Mrs. Beth Jefford, costumes; and Keith Clodfelter and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Millaps, stage set and properties.

Members of the church are requested to bring their "White Christmas Gifts" and deposit them in the boxes at the entrances to the sanctuary.

Santa In His Repair Shop

Price Wilson Enjoys Seasonal Chore

As a boy, Price Wilson worked in James Moore's bicycle shop. Today, he is owner of an auto body repair shop and he has more work than he can do. But, Price still is in the bike repair business. At the outbreak of WW II, when toys were hard to come by, he began mending tricycles and bikes for neighborhood kids. His services were especially in demand at Christmas. When local Jaycees began their "toys for tots" project, they quite naturally turned to Price for help in putting reparable "wheels" in running shape. Again this year, he is devoting nights and every spare minute to repairing and painting bikes and trikes. A visitor at his shop at 519 Alexander Street is likely to find him in a back room that is crammed with bikes in all manner of disrepair. He figures he has fixed 1,500 bikes and at least 1,000 trikes since 1942. He does much of the work himself, and he gets aid from his sons, Larry, Jerry and Wayne. Price summed up his feelings about his shop being a perennial Santa's workshop this way: "It's a lot of aggravation, but I'd be lost without it each Christmas." So would a lot of kids.

So Why Not Let Christ Go Shopping With You?

Man has a fascination, even a longing, for what was or might have been. Since the dawn of the second day, we've reminisced about the good old days.

So it is with Christmas. Each year, without fail, we harp long about the mournful fact that Christmas just ain't what it used to be. And so it isn't, but this doesn't automatically make present-day Christmas an observance of innate evil.

We talk about the simple virtues and traditions of the old-time Christmas. The bygone Christmas of homemade toys and gifts, of trees lighted with real candles, strings of popcorn. We say something has been lost out of our lives because of the changes in the celebration of the birth of Christ. We point especially to what we call over-commercializing.

Christmas '63 is a week away. Store-bought trees, some real, many artificial, are being decorated with store-bought ornaments and electric lights. Parents are frantically shopping for factory-built toys and they are buying their hams and turkeys factory dressed and cellophane wrapped.

So what? Our observance of the happiest of Christian holidays today, as always, reflects the whole of our society. We in Mooresville

We Can Have Too Much Of A Good Thing

Wonder how many John Kennedy Jones there are in the world today?

The thing to do, if you have a baby, buy a potty, move into a new housing development or christen a boat, is to name it Kennedy. It is neither disloyal nor disrespectful of the dead to say this country is overdoing this thing. No doubt everyone is sincere in his desire to commemorate the late President, but we simply must have more than one name for persons, places and things.

Right now, if the post office got a letter addressed to "Kennedy, U.S.A.," should it go to Florida, West Virginia, Massachusetts or Washington?

During its most recent session, the Town Board had an opportunity to get on the bandwagon. In giving a name to an extension of Culp Street, the board decided to call it—no Kennedy Memorial Drive—but, and we're glad, Dogwood Lane. Most streets, parks, hospitals, etc., in most places have not been so allowed to retain their individuality.

The people in and around the ancient fishing village of Cape Canaveral somewhat twifly the problem. They are not at all happy at being renamed Kennedy. The City Council of that settlement of 4,000 souls has sent a unanimous resolution to the President, the governor of Florida and everybody else who came to mind protesting the change. The council questioned the legal authority to "obliterate a name of historic significance for more than 400 years."

A similar resolution by the Chamber of

A Strong, Able Man For Our Dark Hour

Now, about this man Lyndon Johnson...

He, too, is a superb politician, and he is fast taking charge. He has settled into his awesome new office with uncommon swiftness. He knows how to get things done. He is popular, and he knows as well as any man the truth of the adage that government is the art of the possible. Right now, of course, he is enjoying bipartisan support, but even after the legislative honeymoon ends, he surely will use his connections and friendships in Congress to full advantage.

Mr. Johnson was an active, informed vice president. He was kept abreast of everything, so he does not have to go through the terrifying period of adjustment that fell to Mr. Truman. Essentially, Mr. Johnson has been a one-man show—he wants to see everything, know everything. Now he must learn to delegate, and he is learning.

There is this flaw in the presidential

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

Have you seen the new cars for next year. They're really got that high-class look. Cars show have changed a lot since Ford started selling horseless carriages. If you put one of them shiny ones next to one of them ole timey ones, you wouldn't even know they come from the same family.

Course, cars ain't the only thing that's changed. I reckon churches have changed just about as much as cars. You take the buildings for example. They use to be just plain buildings heated with a pot-bellied stove in the winter and air conditioned by raising the windows in the summer. Attendance wasn't much of a problem back then. Now-a-days we got high-falootin' buildings, with temperature the same all year round, and cushions to boot. You gotta almost make some of our folks to Church with a horse whip.

Remember years ago when the preacher wasn't much more than wound up good in 30 minutes? Let the Parson go over 30 minutes today and folks complain of "Tall Hurlitus." It looks to me like as much as folks sit, their rear-ends oughta get use to it. But I guess that's one part of the anatomy the more you use it the weaker it gets.

I remember when you could walk into church without being handed a bulletin and walk out without having your hands stuffed with literature. The first time I ever saw a bulletin being handed out at Church, I thought it was a mean. Folks got so much literature now-a-days that they ain't got time to read the Good Book.

Another thing that comes to my mind about the ole time Church was that the only "paid" fella was the preacher, and he wasn't paid too well. The members didn't always come through with the preacher's pay, but they saw that he had plenty a fatback and beans to eat. Now-a-days they have a preacher, an assistant, a choir director, an organist and a secretary—most of em on the pay roll, which ain't so bad I reckon. But, I hear tell that in some places they pay the choir to sing.

Next thing you know we'll have to pay the members to come to Church. Folks are used to getting paid for everything now-a-days. The other Sunday when I told my littlest young'un that it was time to go to Church he said, "Whatcha gonna gimme if I go?"

I reckon you remember when folks use to ride a horse or buggy to Church and have to get out in the mud to lift the axle off the ground. Now, since we've progressed so far, we can't come in a air-tight car on a four-lane highway cause it's either too hot, too cold, too wet or dry—and besides the ole lady's sick. (Course he leaves her to go to work Monday morning.)

Well, Mr. Publisher, I've gotta be going. Me and Rufe is gonna go over and look at the new model cars. I was just wondering, if the church comes in models, what model have we got now? T-Model or Cadillac?

Yours Truly,
Parson Jones

OUR COMMUNITY

1918
IN OTHER YEARS

The county exemption board Friday sent 13 white registrants to Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C. One of them was to take the place of one who had been turned down some time ago. William Parks Redmon and Luther Lee Stikeleather, who are registered with the local board, went to the camp from the West, where they were living, and the board is given credit for them on its quota of 14.

Wade Sherrill was put in charge of the following, who went from here: Rane McKay Jordan, Ernest Clifton Shoemaker, Lender F. Privette, Walter C. Sharpe, George Doyle Westmoreland, John Wilson Knight, Bailey S. Holler, Joseph Clyde Sherrill, John Franklin Jackson, Robert Booe Bailey, Troy Rankin Cloaninger, Everett Owen Stewart and Wade Sherrill.

Capt. Reid Morrison of the Piedmont Battery, returned to Camp Sevier today after spending several days with his family and friends here. He has recently returned from Fort Sill, where he was in special training, but has resumed command of his old company, Battery F, 112th Field Artillery. His command is in the 5th Field Artillery Brigade, 30th Division. There is no certainty as to when our boys will leave Camp Sevier for "over there."

Mrs. John W. Arthurs died at her home on Center avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, after an illness covering several months of Bright's disease, aged 40 years. Until within the past year Mrs. Arthurs was apparently in splendid health, but was stricken some time ago and could not regain her strength. She was the daughter of the late William Alley.

Four freight cars were wrecked Monday about noon at Mizepax when they turned from the rails four on one side and one on the other. It was a double-header pulling 91 cars en route from Charlotte to Barbers. No one was hurt and there seemed to be nothing in the cars except a small quantity of guano.

Abner Walter, aged 93 years coming May, died at the home of his grandson, Mr. W. A. Shipmick, in this city yesterday at 12:45 o'clock following an attack of pneumonia. Deceased was a native of Cabarrus county, and spent the greater portion of his life in Cabarrus county, where he was prominent as farmer and citizen for many years. He came to Mooresville about 8 years ago, making his headquarters with his grandson. He served during the civil war with the Southern Confederacy, being a member of Company L, 17th Regiment, and for a number of years recently he was one of the moving spirits of the reunions at Mooresville.

Messrs. Tom Brantley, Lester Troutman and John Shipmick have purchased the jitney business of Mr. Lonnie Williams and will install some new cars as soon as possible. The jitney is now operating to Kannapolis.

The concrete base is being laid on Broad street between Center and Moore avenues. It will be only a short while now until the business part of town will be permanently paved and traffic will be open on all sides.

The budget for St. Marks Lutheran church of this city was made up last Sunday and the average subscription per member of that church is $30.50 and the church officers are very much gratified at the excellent showing.

Mrs. S. L. Pharr came in from Camp Sevier last Saturday to visit her mother, Mrs. J. A. Stewart. She will probably return to Greenville the first of next week.

Messrs. J. F. Dorroh and R. B. Templeton, who have been doing a general insurance business, have sold their concern to Messrs. R. Baker and G. M. Kipka, who will handle the fire insurance end of it.

Mrs. J. V. Bravley requests the Enterprise to warn people not to haul dead carcasses to her farm. Please note.

Messrs. J. B. Smith and Scott Miller left Monday morning for Detroit, from which place they are to bring back several automobiles.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK...

REV. FLOYD FICKLER

A minister walked with his friend. "I'm troubled," said the pal. "My problems are like a brick wall before me." The minister tried to console him with little success. The friend continued, "I just can't see a way out—I'm closed in."

Just then the clergyman spotted a cow with his head over a brick wall. He said, "You see that cow looking over that wall? What is he doing it?" "Because," replied the friend, "he can't see through it."

The point was well made: When you can't see ahead, look up. There you will find God, who is able to tear down walls and give man vision.

Thousands despair every year because they can't see which way to go. Numbers of these take their own lives. But a blank wall can be a blessing—if it makes you look up. Defeat can be a blessing—if it makes you look up. Sickness can be a blessing—if it makes you look up. Looking up is the secret to success. With Isaiah, we can say "I saw God," and sing the victory song: "God is our refuge and strength; a very present help in time of trouble." (Psalm 46:1)

LISTEN!
the story of... CHRISTMAS

It's an old family custom. I hang up my stockings for Santa to fill. Then everyone has to be very quiet while Daddy reads the Christmas Story from our big family Bible... about the Shepherds... how they watched and listened. That's why they knew Jesus had come: because they listened!

Again today, Christmas brings good tidings... of peace on earth... good will toward men. Church bells ring... children sing carols... the Story of Bethlehem is told again.

It means Joy to the world: if we listen!

GREETINGS for CHRISTMAS

"Let us go even unto Bethlehem."

So spoke the shepherds, one to another as they went to seek and find the Holy Child of whom the angels sang. This Christmas, let us return in heart and spirit to Bethlehem and the sacred manger. Let the miracle of His birth and the joy of His message ever be our blessing and inspiration.

As the radiance of that Holy Night shines across the years and the world rejoices, our thoughts turn to His words, urging all to brotherhood, and we feel it is especially fitting at this Christmastide to express anew our cordial greetings and good wishes to our many valued friends. May your Christmas be a wonderful one.

Postage For Christmas Cards Same Today As In 1847

"People sending Christmas cards today at the 5¢ first class rate pay the same to mail Christmas greetings as Americans did well over a century ago," Postmaster Ben S. Houston noted today.

"Research shows that in 1847 the Post Office Department issued its first stamps, including a nickel stamp for the basic prepaid letter rate," Postmaster Houston said.

'Christians Have A Common Message'

Clergyman Sees Great Advances In Interfaith Relations

Christmas—Christendom's happiest holiday—is a time to celebrate a birth that gave purpose to a floundering world. We herald an event that fulfilled and brought promise of more fulfillment.

As we observe Christmas 1963, we also can celebrate solid progress toward that elusive goal Christ set for us—the brotherhood of man. This year saw unprecedented developments in interfaith and interreligious relations. There is no doubt that Christianity today is in a healthy ferment. The product of this fermentation can be, and there is reason to believe will be, closer unity and greater understanding among all faiths. Evidence is all about us that there is, indeed, a "religious revolution" in the world today.

What accounts for what Dr. Billy Graham calls "a spirit of ecumenicalism" in the Christian world?

Father Joseph Waters, minister of St. Theresa Catholic Church here, answers that question this way: "Among Christians today, there is less emphasis on the negative and, it naturally follows, more emphasis on the positive. Instead of concentrating on our differences, we are searching for common ground—basic principles on which we can build a foundation of understanding and mutual respect."

The priest, who has lived in North Carolina 17 years and in Mooreville two years, says he has seen "tremendous strides" in social relations of Catholics and Protestants in this state.

"In the last 17 years in predominantly Protestant North Carolina," he feels, "there have been great relaxations of social barriers by both faiths. And this has come about without sacrifice of principle by either faith."

Father Waters believes "the Christian community, right now, is as close as it has been in centuries." By this, the clergyman did not mean closer to merger, or even closer to seriously thinking about molding one Christian outlook. He meant closer man-to-man, less separated by a chasm of differing beliefs. He meant the Christian world today thinks of itself as such, and not so much in terms of who is right and who is wrong in the eyes of God. He meant that men have come to realize there is room for differences in the Christian family.

The Vatican Council bears out the validity of his words. The late Pope John felt the need for modernization within the structure of the Roman Catholic Church. Although the second session under Pope Paul as been called a "parliament of stalemate, compromise and delay," there is reason to believe a religious movement of great historical significance began under the guidance of John, "the Pope of peace."

Father Waters points to discussion between Catholic and Protestant as the best possible indication of increased understanding.

Frank debate on such positions as the place of Mary in worship and marriage between Catholic and Protestant has established that common ground Mr. Waters mentioned. Both faiths agree that, all too often, both lose in interfaith marriages. Faced with seemingly incompatible religious differences, many couples drift away from the church altogether.

Today, religion is front page news around the world. This is due partly, no doubt, to news events concerning religion—the election of our first Catholic President, the calling of the Vatican Council, the death of one Pope, the election of another—but church news is front page because people want it there. Religion is playing an increasingly greater role in affairs of the world.

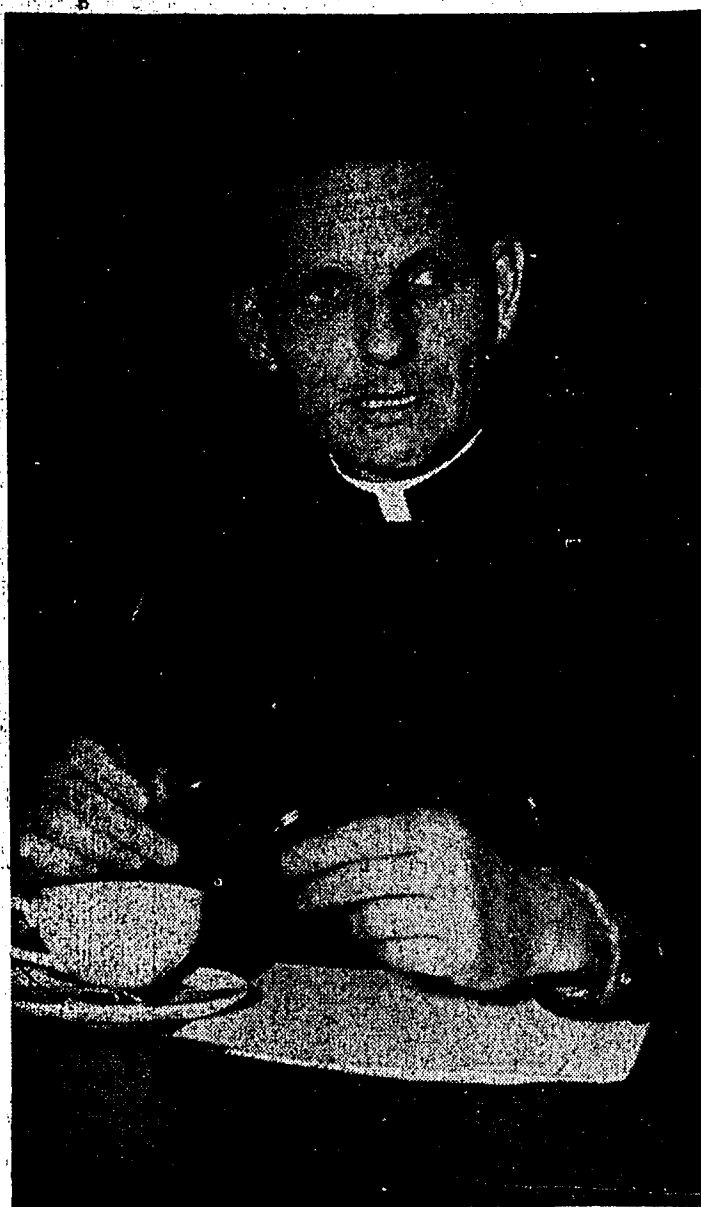

Non-Catholic observers at the council in Rome came away with glowing reports of the courteous treatment they received, and of the access to church things they were given. Likewise, non-Protestant observers at recent sessions of the World Council of Churches were lavish in their appreciation for having been accepted into the high-level meetings.

The recent announcement that Pope Paul will visit the Holy Land early in January is being viewed in divided Jerusalem as a pilgrimage to improve Roman Catholic relations with Jews and Moslems.

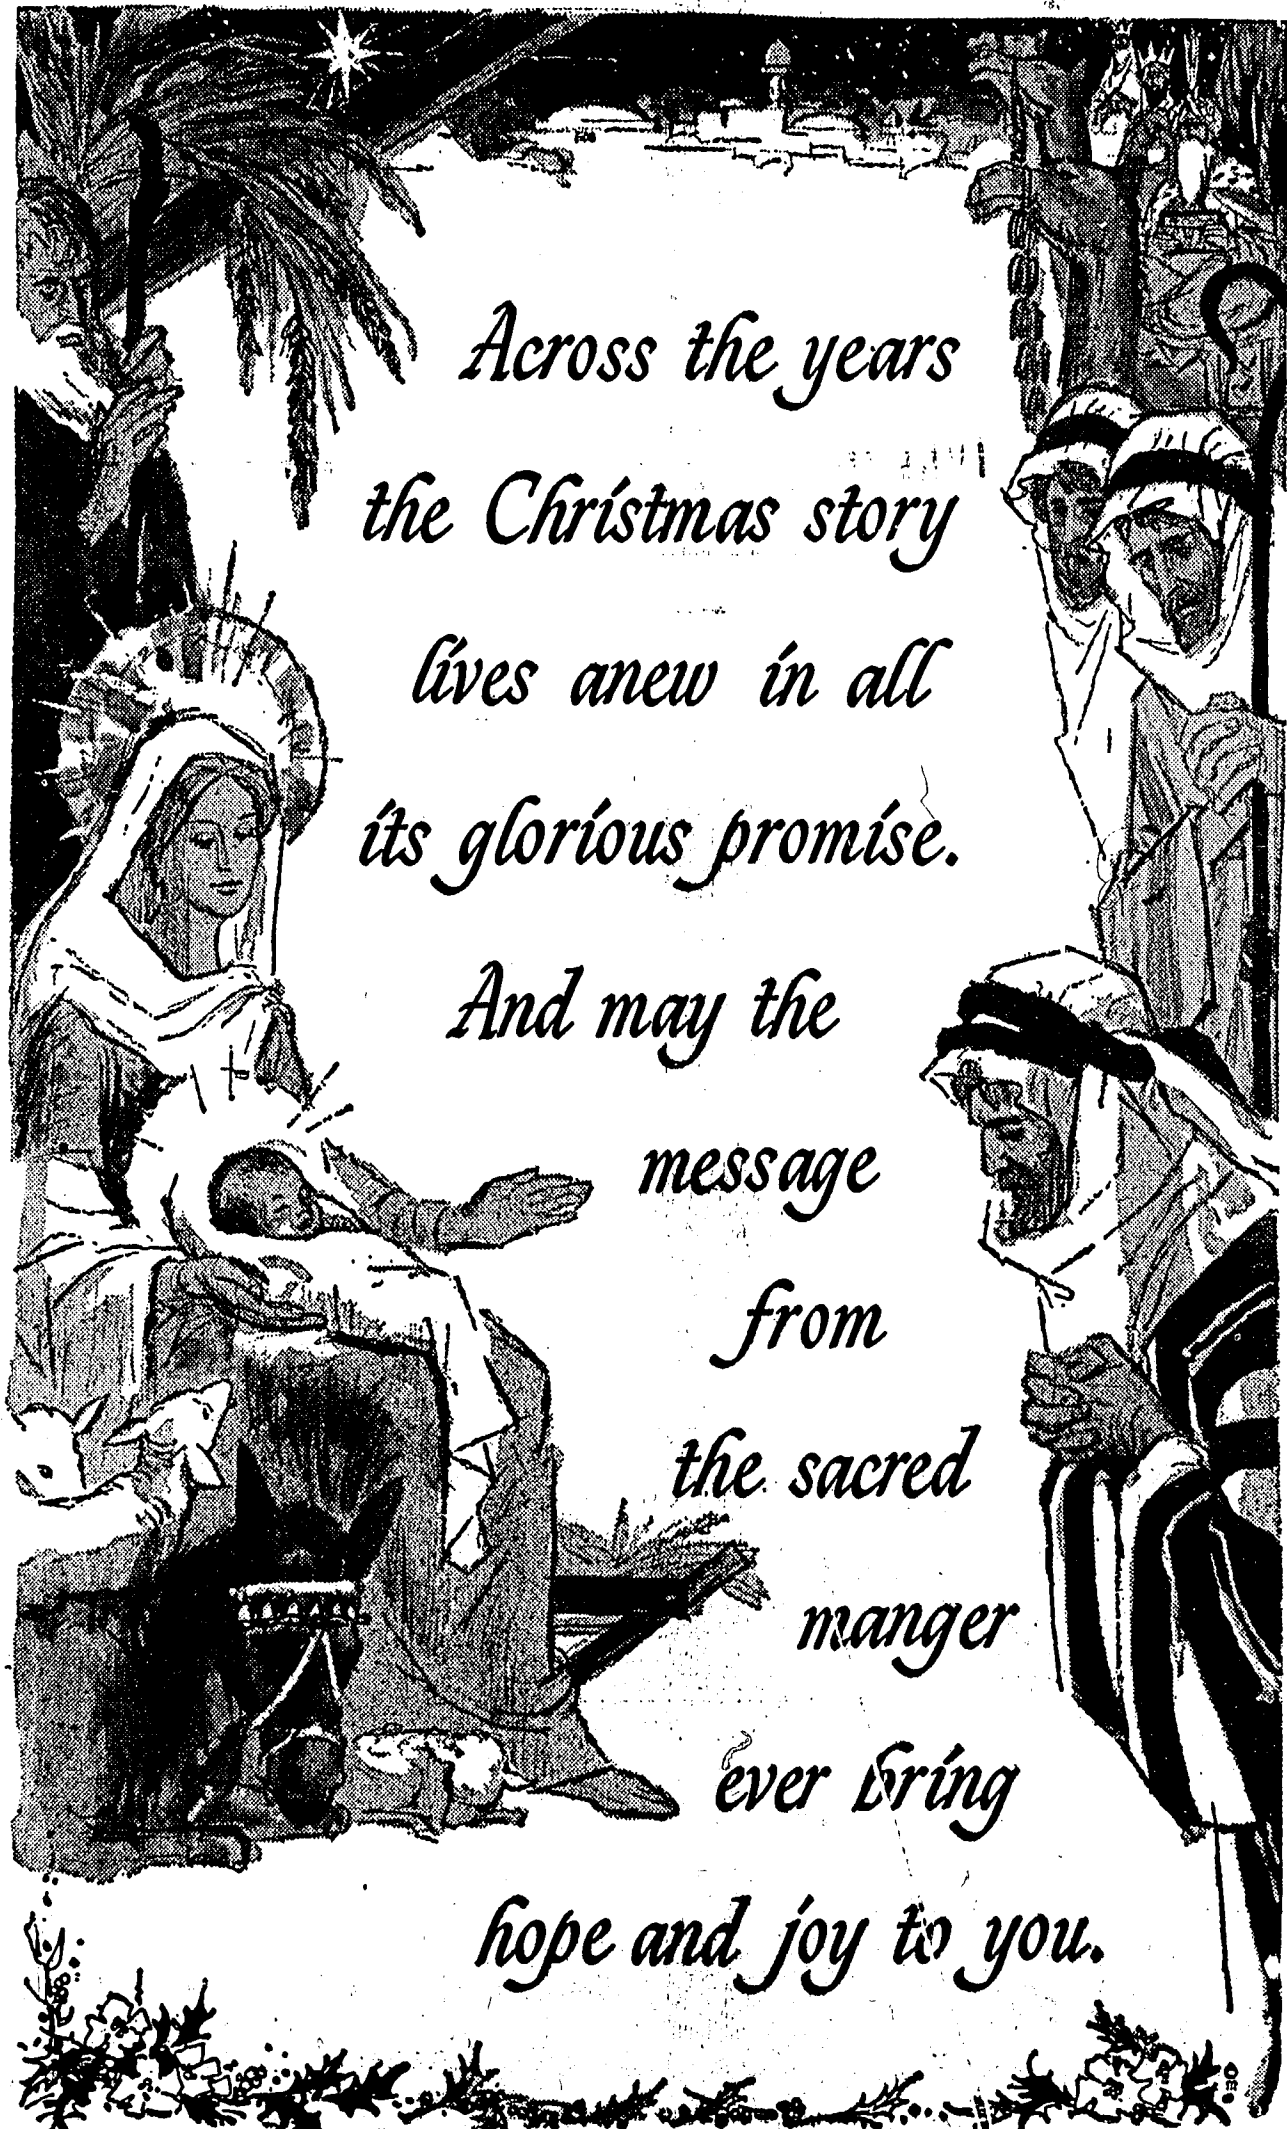

The Vatican Council, the first in nearly a century, is expected to continue another five years. The bishops know they have a lot to do, because there is so much they want to do. That Paul will be the first Pope to go to the Holy Land is still another sign that "modernization" within the Catholic Church also means dramatic changes in the attitude and approach of Catholics toward non-Catholics.

Protestants, too, have a great deal of work to do, within their own ranks as well as in their relations with the rest of the world. The world has grown small; it is no longer enough, Catholics and Protestants know, to live and let live.

At this Christmastime, more than ever before, Catholic and Protestant are joined in the realization they have a common message for the world—and they know they can spread this joyful word better together.

Story Of The Christmas Card Recounted By Local Postmaster

The Mooreville post office will year than ever before, Postmaster Ben S. Houston predicted today.

"Home Of Quality Furniture For Less Money"
BLACKWELDER'S
Phone 663-5661 S. Main St. Mooreville, N. C.

while reflecting on the history of the Yule greeting card.

The local post office can not maintain a count on Christmas cards because there is no way of telling which letter envelopes contain cards, but the greeting card industry estimates several billion will be mailed this year during the holiday season.

Based on research by the National Greeting Card Association, the Postmaster gave this account of the background and development of the cards:

"Today, the greeting card industry estimates six billion greeting cards for all occasions are mailed annually in the United States. Statistically, this is estimated at about 110 Christmas cards per family on the average each year."

"We often think of the custom of sending cards as modern, but the origins of the greeting card can be traced back thousands of years."

"The earliest known holiday greeting was printed from a crude woodcut about 1450 in Germany. It shows the Christ Child standing in the bow of an ancient galley manned by angels, with the Holy Mother seated by the mast."

"History reveals people have always had a desire to communicate on a sentimental and emotional basis. For example, the ancient Egyptians conveyed greetings with papyrus scrolls."

"In the Dark Ages, the exchange of symbols — gloves, garters and bows — was regarded as a form of sentimental communication."

"The modern custom of sending greeting cards can be traced back through the centuries to the Chinese who celebrated the advent of the New Year with messages of good will."

"The first-known published Christmas card made its appearance in London, England in 1843. It was designed by John Calcott Horsley, British painter and illustrator of the period."

"In 1860, one thousand copies were lithographed, hand-colored and sold by an art shop."

"It is surprising how similar this first card more than a century ago was to many today. Small panels to the left and right show the charitable acts of 'clothing the poor' and 'feeding the hungry,' always connected with the Christmas season."

"The date of the first American Christmas card is not known, but an American authority on greeting cards, Ernest Dudley Chase of Boston, found what he believed to be the first."

"Authorities say there can be no question but that his discovery — a card which outside is 'A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year' from 'Pease's Great Variety Store' — is a very early card. Mr. Chase believes it to be the earliest known American card."

"Noting that he occasionally hears complaints that Christmas cards are just a 'troublesome new-fangled custom,' the Postmaster added, 'We can see that sending cards is a very old and honored tradition.'"

"Actually, I believe most of the complaining comes largely from those who wait until the last minute to get the cards and then try to remember the names and addresses of those to whom they should send them. Sending cards can be a pleasure after a little preparation — having a good mailing list and mailing promptly with the code on every card."

IN IREDELL COUNTY 2 Cars At Every Third House

Traffic's getting heavier every day, you muse as you drive around in Iredell.

Everybody and his brother must have a car . . . or two, maybe, you think as you try to make your way from one place to another on the crowded highways.

Well, you aren't too far wrong. Figures show that there are two cars at every third house in Iredell county.

Thus, the automobile-buying spree the public has been on during the last two years is becoming visible.

It is to be seen in the rise in the local automobile population and in the number of shiny late-model cars on the roads.

Latest published figures show that there are now more cars in operation in the county, per 100 families, than there are in most sections of the United States.

As of the beginning of this year, with 22,490 passenger cars registered in Iredell county, there were 130 of them for every 100 families. This compares favorably with the ratio in the rest of the United States, where the number of cars per 100 families is 113. In the State of North Carolina it is 119 per 100.

The figures are based on a consumer markets study, taking in every part of the country, made by the Standard Rate and Data Service.

The upsurge in Iredell county has resulted in a two-year rise of 7 per cent in the number of passenger cars in use. The total has climbed from 21,940 in 1951 to approximately 22,490 at the start of this year, according to the SHDS figures.

The difference represents the net increase in the number of cars, after allowing for the number that were scrapped. The scrapage has been high lately. The industry reports nearly five million cars have been junked in the United States in the past year alone.

This has been an important factor in the present auto boom. Another has been the trend, in more and more families, to two-car ownership.

The figures indicate that there are now 12 million families in the country with more than one car. That is eight times as many multiple-car owners as in 1949.

What has caused this rise? A number of things have contributed to it. Among them have been the growth of the suburbs, bringing the need for more transportation, the sharp rise in the number of car-hungry teenagers, easier financing and larger incomes.

Too much of the milk of human kindness is kept in a frozen state.

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger." May the glorious Christmas story lift up your hearts and may its message bring to you enduring comfort and joy.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

Christmas is just around the corner.

And in anticipation of a busy season, Santa Claus and all of his helpers have been busy in Santa's workshop at the North Pole, getting gifts lined up for good little boys and girls.

In order to help Santa in his annual task of finding gifts most wanted by boys and girls, the Mooresville Tribune's roving reporter contacted four youngsters as he went about the task of preparing one of the newspaper's weekly features, The People Speak.

The reporter asked the four the following question:
What do you want Santa Claus to bring you?

Some were a little shy, but after a little urging on the part of the reporter all four reported what they most wanted from Santa.

The answers of the four, in full, were as follows:

MICHAEL CHATHAM, 6 years old, Water street: "An armor tank with turret guns and cowboy boots."

DEBORAH ANN LENTZ, 3 years old, Mount, Ulla: "A rocking horse and a baby doll—a big baby doll."

KAREN LOWE, 2 years old, Summer street: "A baby doll."

JOHNNY LAFOY, 3 years old, 61 Cascade street: "A 'mighty Mo' battleship, a gun set, and a shotgun."

Yule Activities Underway At First Baptist

The congregation of the First Baptist Church is well into the Christmas season's activities, following the annual church-wide Christmas caroling to the shut-in church members, hospitals and the Nursing Homes last night, (Wednesday) December 18.

On Sunday evening, December 22, at 7:30 o'clock, a pageant will be presented on "The Story of Christmas." After the pageant there will be a presentation of gifts, in the form of canned goods and fruits, which will be distributed to those in our community who are less fortunate than we.

These gifts, if possible, should be wrapped in white tissue paper, and brought to the morning worship service or the evening service, and placed in marked boxes at the main entrance.

There will be no planned services for Wednesday, December 25, but the sanctuary will be open for personal meditation and prayer from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Student Night At Christmas is planned for the evening worship service on Sunday, December 29, and the college students will be in charge. All college students are asked to sit in the reserved section behind the deacons. Following the service a church-wide sing-along and fellowship will be held in the Blue Room.

On Thursday, December 31, the annual Watch Night service will be held from 8 p. m. until 12 midnight. An opening devotion will be presented and a filmstrip, fellowship and refreshments will be served. At midnight a short closing devotion for the New Year will be conducted.

No church activities are planned for Wednesday, January 1, New Year's Day.

Pays City $100 For Nap In Park

Walking into the city parks and recreation department in Los Angeles, Charles Murray laid a check for $100 on the counter and explained he wished to pay for a nap he took 15 years ago in a park.

Officials explained to Murray that he had done no wrong and owed no fee, but he insisted that the money be accepted. The city will use the money to install a new drinking fountain in the park.

Laugh AND Learn

Four-year-old Betty was in the nursery for the night when her little brother wanted to come in but found the door locked.

"You can't turn in, Jimmy," the girl called, "cause I'm in my nightie an' I'm sure says little boys shouldn't see little girls in their nighties."

The boy was puzzling this over, when Betty called out again, "It's aw right Jimmy, you can turn in now, I took my nightie off."

Jack was wheeling his infant twins down the street when a woman stopped and gushed over them. "Are they twins?" she asked.

"Oh, no," said Jack, "I've got two wives."

After hours and hours of trudging through dense brush it became apparent to the members of the hunting party that they were hopelessly lost. Angrily, they turned to their guide.

"You told us you were the best guide in Maine," one of the hunters snapped.

"That's right," protested the guide, "but I'm pretty sure we're in Canada now."

Smith, whose legal expenses had been quite high, met his lawyer on the street. "Nice day, isn't it?" he said. Then, on second thought, he added quickly, "I'm telling you, not asking you."

Anytime you discover neither your friends nor your enemies are criticizing you, it's time to get scared.

"Doc," said the old mountaineer, leading a gangling youth into the presence of the village medico, "I want you should fix up my son-in-law. I shot him in the leg yesterday and lamed him up a mile."

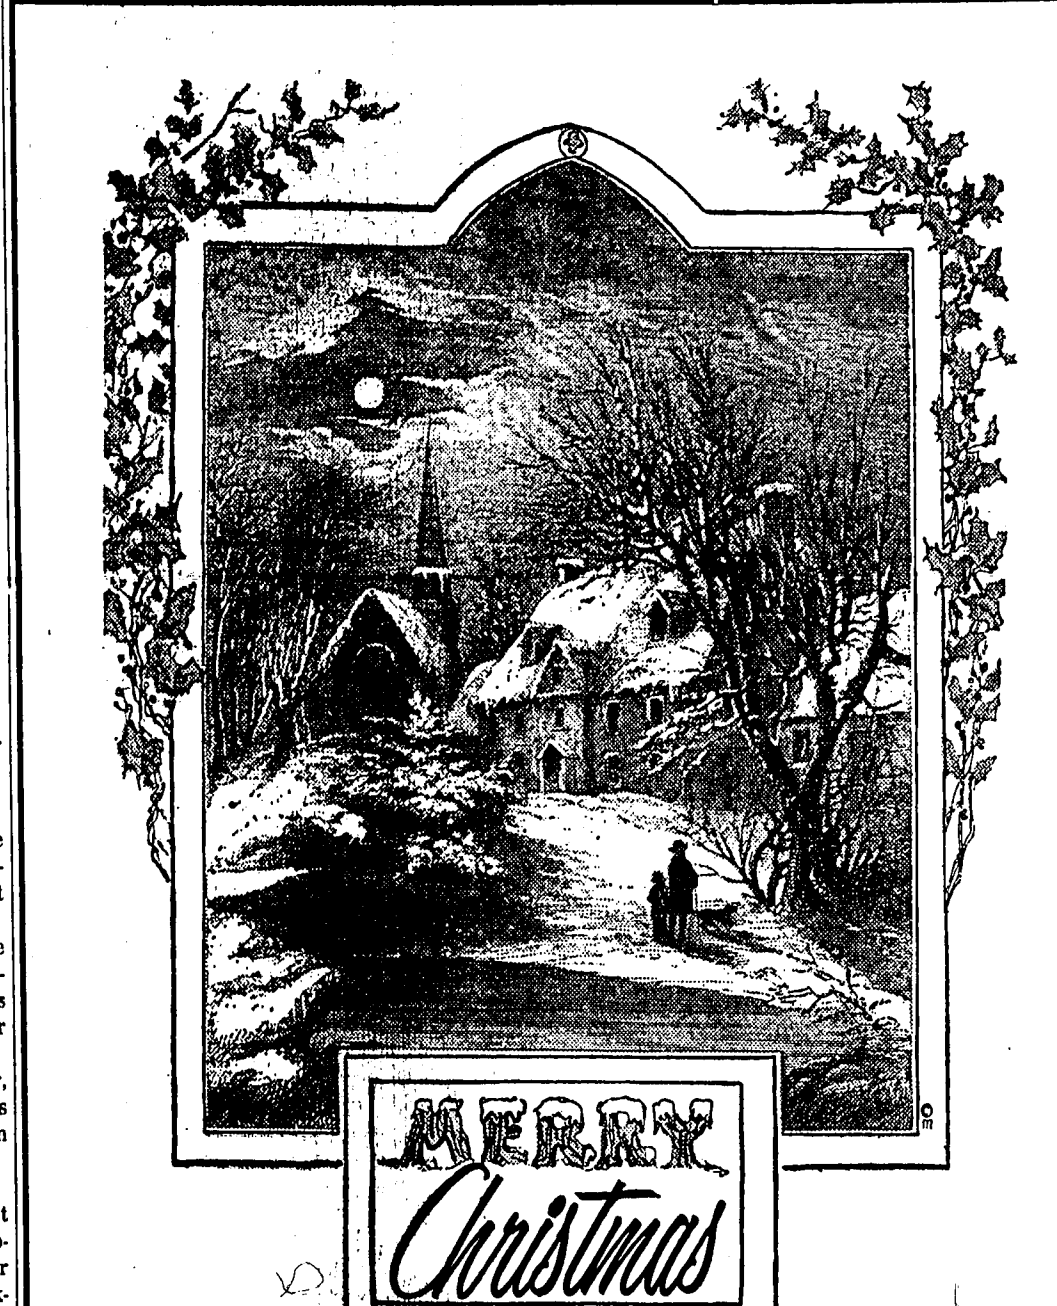

"Shame on you, shooting your own son-in-law!" scolded the doctor.

"Wal, doc," rejoined the mountaineer, "he warn't my son-in-law when I shot him."

WINS MIAMI TRIP—Cecil Cook, left, won first place in a watch-selling contest conducted among the six stores in the Leonard Jewelers organization. The Mooresville salesman is congratulated by Kenneth Wooten, manager of the local Leonard's. Mrs. Cook is just as happy as her husband, and for good reason. Top prize in the event was an all expense paid, three-day trip to sunny Miami—for two. Cook also won a $100 watch. Cook won the top individual prize in the contest that ran for two months, and the Mooresville store led the field in collective sales, a feat that earned a bonus for every employee in the local store. The Cooks haven't decided when they'll go south, but they say it probably will be when Mooresville has its first snow of the winter.

We welcome the glad Christmas season and all the heartfelt joys it brings.

We welcome, too, the opportunity to pause in the midst of our daily occupations to recall anew how fortunate we are to have the favors and friendship of our valued customers. To all of you, we offer our real appreciation and our best wishes for your holiday enjoyment.

Pagan Feasts Are Sources Of Customs

Most of the customs now associated with Christmas were originally pagan or non-Christian, according to The Encyclopedia Americana. Saturnalia, a Roman feast celebrated in mid-December, provided the model for many of the merry-making customs of Christmas. From this celebration, for example, were derived the elaborate feasting, the giving of gifts and the burning of candles.

Lights also played an important part in most winter solstice festivals. An obscure figure in the early mythologies of the East emerged as a sun god. From the 1st century B.C. this figure, Mithras, was adopted by an increasing number of Roman soldiers and others. Mithras' greatest festival was that of the winter solstice, the time when the god began to return to his worshippers.

In the 5th century the Western church ordered a feast celebrating the birth of the Savior to be observed on the day of the Mithraic rites of the birth of the sun and at the close of the Saturnalia.

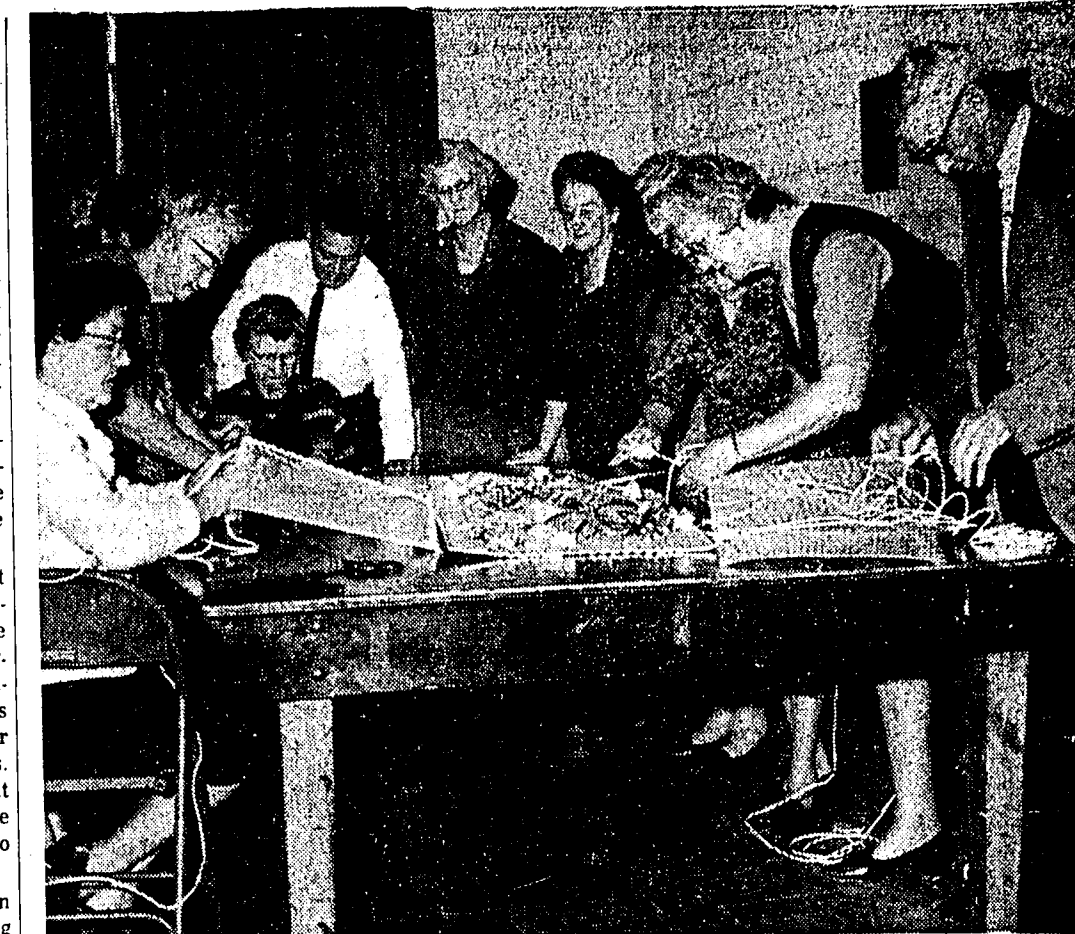

Among the German and Celtic tribes the winter solstice was considered an important point of the year and to commemorate the return of the sun they held their chief festival of Yule, which, like other pagan celebrations, became adapted to Christmas.

The Teutonic Yule feast also provided customs for the Christmas festivities, such as the Yule log and wassail bowl.

Service Men Get College Degrees

Off-duty studies each year bring college degrees for 700 to 800 army officers and enlisted men. At the same time about 42,000 men qualify for college diplomas, and about 600,000 men take refresher courses in a wide variety of subjects.

The study is done through 305 educational centers the United States Army maintains at installations throughout the world, with 300 civilians employed to direct the program.

DO-IT-YOURSELFERS—During their regular weekly meeting last Wednesday, members of the Mooresville Senior Citizens Club held a do-it-yourself Christmas decorations workshop. ## SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION

By W. M. BLAND
Work Unit Conservationist

Bobby G. Brock of the local Soil Conservation Service office has just returned to duty after four weeks of training at the SCS Training Center in Athens, Georgia.

Located on the campus of the University of Georgia, the center is one of five in the United States. It serves nine Southeastern states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Jackson Bennett, Supervisor, and Warren Turcott, Assistant Supervisor, are the directors of the center.

The Athens Training Center was established in 1954 to provide training to 608 employees to better equip them for giving service to Soil and Water Conservation Districts. This is accomplished by instructing SCS employees in the latest and best methods in soil and water conservation fields of study.

Eighteen employees, including Mr. Brock, were in the group which attended the training center from October 14 to November 8. They came from North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, and Georgia.

Instruction was given in public speaking, cartography, agronomy, biology, weather and climate, engineering, farm conservation planning, plant materials, public relations, woodland conservation, waterways, safety, and research. Not all instruction was in the classroom. Field instruction was given in such subjects as engineering surveys, soils, woodland conservation, research, agronomy, erosion control, and conservation planning.

Since the training center has been in operation, more than 1,500 employees have received "post graduate" instruction at the center. Instruction is provided on-ly by Mr. Bennett and Mr. Turcott, but also by University of Georgia Professors, by SCS Specialists and administrators, and by qualified people outside the Soil Conservation Service.

The American farmer is the most successful farmer in the world. One reason is that he is always ready to capture new markets for his products. The door to another new market has now been opened to him — perhaps the most lucrative of all.

City people who don't have room to play, hike, swim, or camp are looking for outdoor fun and are willing to pay for it.

If you are a landowner or operator and want to know more about this coming business boom, you should ask the local representative of the Soil Conservation Service, or the local office of other agencies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for a copy of AIB 277, "Rural Recreation Enterprises for Profit."

Just off the press, this publication lists and describes the many ways you can get started in the recreation business and takes advantage of the increasing demand for fun in the sun.

The publication points out the opportunities for income from vacation farms and ranches, picnic camps, shooting preserves, and the like. It discusses legal angles and financing, what to charge, how to advertise, and how to deal with customers. And it tells of the assistance available from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and other public agencies.

This is one of the ways we can strengthen Rural America. Local landowners and operators can put idle land to work and turn it into an entirely new business in their community.

Season's 'First's' Are Traced

Shepherds watched, angels sang and wise men traveled far to hold the miracle of the first Christmas.

Since that holy night a multitude of legends and customs, both religious and secular, have developed as part of the holiday. Each legend was once told, each custom once observed for the first time, and though origins of many are now lost in time, other Christmas "firsts" have been recorded for posterity.

There are historical Christmas "firsts," attested by church records and by scientific research as well as "firsts" of later history and "firsts" that blend fact with myth.

Setting The Date

December 25 was first assigned as the date for the celebration of the Nativity in about the year 320 A.D. Since the New Testament was written as religious instruction rather than history, the exact date of Christ's birth is not known.

The present day was selected as a means of unifying the observance of Christmas, "the mass of Christ."

Hanging Stockings

Story of the first Christmas stocking is associated with the real St. Nicholas, a fourth century bishop known for his many kind deeds. Wishing to present an anonymous gift to help the daughter of an impoverished merchant, he threw a bag of gold down the chimney, where it fell into a stocking hung up to dry.

The legend is reflected in today's custom of tucking "gold" — an orange or tangerine — into the toe of a Christmas stocking.

Trimming Trees

Trimmed Christmas trees first appeared in the United States probably during the American Revolution. Hessian soldiers with the British forces started the practice to relieve their nostalgia for their homeland.

An early diary, written at Fort Dearborn, Ill., in 1804 relates the practice of trimming the Christmas tree with ornaments of the time.

At The White House

First National Community Christmas Tree in the U. S. was placed on the White House lawn in 1923, while Calvin Coolidge was President. The tree was a spruce from Coolidge's native state, Vermont.

In the following year Coolidge presided at a ceremony under the sponsorship of the American Forestry association, to urge the use of living Christmas trees.

At The Round Table

Traditionally, the first Christmas feast in England was held at the Round Table of King Arthur. While the specific date is undetermined, references to the famous king in medieval legends have been traced back to as early as 600 A. D.

Christmas Rose
Famed In Legend

Blooming in the heart of winter and sometimes even in the snow, the Christmas rose is a plant famed in legend.

According to an old story, a poor little shepherdess had no gift to offer the Christ Child, and so she wept. When her tears touched the ground, flowers sprouted. Delighted, she plucked an armful and hastened to the infant. The caress of his fingers turned the petals pink.

Botanists class the Christmas rose as a member of the buttercup family. Native to Southern Europe and western Asia, it has leathery, dark green leaves and large, saucer-shaped flowers with white or rose-tinted sepals, according to The Encyclopedia Americana.

Robber Snoozes,
Lands In Prison

For falling asleep on the job — and for sleeping in church — John Smith, Jr., landed in a jail cell in Washington.

Police said Smith got tucked out while trying to open a safe in Bethany Baptist Church during the night. He dozed off, woke in daylight, resumed his work — and was caught by a church trustee.

He was held on a charge of attempted burglary.

Iredell County FHA Farm
Family Of Year Selected

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Massey have been selected as the Iredell County FHA Farm Family Of The Year. Mr. and Mrs. Massey own and operate a 128 acre dairy and beef cattle farm in the Central School section of Iredell county.

This is an award made annually by the Farmers Home Administration to borrowers having made substantial progress in their farming operations.

During 1963 the Masseys have seeded several acres of permanent pasture and have worked closely with Soil Conservation Service in an effort to combat soil erosion. Strip cropping and the use of grass water ways have been effectively used on this farm.

Through a Farmers Home Administration loan Mr. and Mrs. Massey have moved from part owners to co-owners of the old home place. Since purchasing the other heirs' interest in the home place, the family has constructed a modern dwelling on the property and made various other improvements.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING

The Status Of Pool Is Rising

Socially speaking, the status of pool is rising. This is good.

Pool is an excellent game of skill, but for years it was publicly ostracized because of the environment in which billiards was often played. The image of the billiard hall was that of a hangout for drinkers, smokers, loafers, and gamblers.

The "presence of a pool table in your community" no longer has "the caliber of disaster," as Meredith Wilson's Music Man says.

In fact, the pool table appears to be taking a place beside the ping-pong table or chess board so far as wholesome recreation is concerned.

Wise parents and youth leaders recognize that pool appeals to young people, that it will draw many of them regardless of the surroundings. As an outlet for youthful energy and the competitive urge, it certainly ranks with bowling and claims as honorable an ancestry. George Washington used to shoot with Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson.

This way that pool shooting, in the proper environment, as the fun-type game it is. Civic and school officials and parents should press for this change wherever local pool halls fail to face-lift.

In recent years more and more pool halls fail to face-lift.

The possible result: Junior could, instead of slipping off to shoot pool, say with pride and honesty to his parents: "My date and I are going to the pocket billiard salon tonight. We're going to put into practice some of the geometry and physics we've been learning about in school."

Christmas Holy Meaning
Expressed In Church

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

Like the shepherds who left their flocks to seek the Babe of Bethlehem, men, women and children of this community will put aside not only their everyday concerns but the more immediate interest in tree-trimming and package-wrapping and go to find once again the holy meaning of Christmas, in special services held by local churches.

Catholic churches will proclaim the birth of the King of Christmas by solemn midnight masses. To commemorate the Nativity, Protestant churches will hold candle-light and communion services and children's programs.

The custom of saying mass at midnight derives from an old belief that Christ was born at that hour. Actually, mass may be said at any hour during the night before Christmas, and in some countries the first Christmas mass is said at four or five in the morning.

According to early Roman regulations, Christmas mass was celebrated "when the cock crows" — about three o'clock in the morning. Spanish-speaking people still call midnight mass "Misa de Gallo," while the Portuguese term is "Misa do Galo" — in both cases, "mass of the cock."

Candlelight services held in Protestant churches symbolize Christ as the light of the world, and the shining beams of the candles call to mind the Star that shone to guide the Wise Men.

Exemplifying the spiritual side of Christmas are programs which include special sermons, reading the Christmas story, prayers, carols and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

A 16-year-old Sioux Falls youth qualified for the first shaved-head sentence when he was convicted of stealing a car.

The boy also was placed on probation for 2 years.

FOR CHRISTMAS ENJOYMENT
President Sought 'Good Old Days'

At Christmas time, nostalgia for "the good old days" is as prevalent as turkey and trimmings, decorations and gifts.

Everybody had more fun — or so the feeling goes — during those good old-fashioned Christmases when life was simpler and, according to tradition, the snow drifts were always piled high, the food for feasting was always home-grown and home-cooked, the gifts and decoration always lovingly hand-made and the tree always chopped down by the head of the house on a personal foray.

Christmas nostalgia has even been known to affect heads of state — to be specific, a President of the United States. It was every-one's duty, the President felt, to make Christmas merry. He and his family, he declared, were going to have an "old-fashioned" Christmas tree.

A search through recent newspapers, or even through recent history, would provide no details, however, about this resolve. For the President was Benjamin Harrison, who, on December 22 in 1891, announced to reporters his plan for a "good old-fashioned Christmas."

Most people today whose thoughts turn to Christmases of yore would certainly settle for a date much later than 1891 as the time when the "good old-fashioned Christmas" had ceased to exist. But if the spirit of an old-fashioned Christmas didn't vanish as early as President Harrison feared it had, when did it go? Or has it really disappeared forever?

Most of all, an "old-fashioned" Christmas is made up of traditions. Even in northern climates, only hope, luck and the weatherman can say, each year, whether the traditional snow drifts will be forth-coming. Other traditions, however, may not necessarily belong only to the past.

Preparing foods for feasting was doubtless fun — and hard work — in the good old days. But not all Christmas cookies, candies and fruit cakes today are "store bought." Many a family cherishes the tradition of having the children "help" Mother as the holiday goodies are concocted.

Even the ready-prepared foods have their traditions. For instance, some families deliver gift packages of cakes or candies to friends when they make Christmas calls; others set forth a table of treats in the home, ready to share with callers.

The same is true of that "good old days" habit of making gifts. In this "new day" of increasing interest in sewing, many lovingly home-crafted gifts are found under Christmas trees — and yesterday's Mom would no doubt have been glad to trade her treadle sewing machine for one of today's electric models.

While Dad may not be able to chop down a tree for the family conservationists of our "good old forests" wouldn't approve, a look at any place where trees are sold in the days before Christmas reveals that choosing the tree is still a personal, all-family matter, involving plenty of old-fashioned fun.

Almost every nostalgic dream of Christmas long ago seems to have its counterpart in the present. And all the while new traditions are budding up, as each family, each community creates and treasures its customs.

In another 70 years, perhaps, some public figure may say, "It's time to get back to the good old ways of celebrating Christmas."

So have an old-fashioned Christmas, now!

Tiny Teacher Keeps Pupils Right In Line

When Miss Frieda Groenveld takes her first-grade pupils to look at her, they can stare her straight in the eye. That's because Miss Groenveld is only 4 feet tall. But being the same size as her students does not disturb her in the least.

"Children need an answer," she said. "When you give it to them, that's all they need."

Miss Groenveld is a new teacher beginning her career in Darrington, Wash., where she grew up. She admits she was jittery her first day of class, but the youngsters liked her immediately.

When Miss Groenveld wishes complete attention, she gets up on a kitchen stool. She calls it her throne.

"I can really say that I've never wished that I were tall," she said, adding that her parents always told her to make her way without having people feeling sorry for her.

After being graduated from Seattle Pacific College, Miss Groenveld returned to Darrington to teach.

Youth's Pet Owl Helps Hunt Crows

Hunting crows is easy if you have a live pet owl, Gary Maedke, 16, of Forestville, Wis., has discovered. The owl serves as a lure to get the noisy black bird within shooting range.

The two birds are natural enemies, and crows take particular delight in pecking at an owl. So young Maedke takes his tame owl along when he goes crow-hunting, places it in a tree, sounds his call, and the crows swoop down at the owl. They're greeted by a barrage of gunshots.

Maedke found the owl one day while he was out hunting crows. The black birds were raiding a great horned owl's nest, and after the young hunter had chased them away, he found one young owl still alive. He took it home, fed it, and it became an ideal pet. The owl, which measures 23 inches from beak to tail, has its wings clipped so it won't fly away, and it has never tried to escape when taken into the woods on a hunting trip.

Student Project Shows True Christmas Spirit

"These children are going to take our places, you know, and this is the finest way I know to instill responsibility into these young people who are tomorrow's leaders,"

Miss Cora Freeze was describing her approach to CARE, an international relief and development organization. She spoke after Mooresville students were recognized last week for their outstanding contributions through the voluntary agency.

Bee H. Brown, field director of CARE, came here from his Atlanta office to present certificates of appreciation to Miss Cora personally, and to each of the participating schools.

Brown said Mooresville's interest in CARE is unique in that it has the only school system that unanimously supports CARE.

"We have a great many school systems in which one or two schools support our agency," Brown said, "but Mooresville is the only town anywhere in which the entire school system backs our program."

The big reason for the unusual interest here, though she would deny it, is Miss Cora Freeze. Since CARE was introduced to Mooresville eight years ago, the veteran Junior High teacher has served as coordinator of the annual campaign. She believes in what she does.

"This is the one thing we can do that really promotes peace," she said, "we can talk all we please about helping others, but this is a way we can show less fortunate people that we care about them."

The system-wide drive this year collected more than $700 for CARE. Brown praised the students for "their concern for others, and for renewing hope for the children of two Korean orphanages and Panamanian school children."

Local schools can make specific requests for the use of the money they give — and they do. Miss Cora (after more than 40 years in it) won't fly away, and it has never tried to escape when taken into the woods on a hunting trip.

students have received letters from children overseas who have been helped through CARE.

The children don't just ask their parents for contributions to CARE. They earn their donations in sundry ways.

"We have any number of children who have denied themselves for a week. He cooked supper for the family while his mother, Mrs. Bill Lowrance, caught up her sewing. Mrs. Lowrance said his food was good "and he kept the kitchen clean."

One youngster, Jeff Lowrance, hired himself out as family cook for a week. He cooked supper for the family while his mother, Mrs. Bill Lowrance, caught up her sewing. Mrs. Lowrance said his food was good "and he kept the kitchen clean."

The CARE fund drive here is endorsed by the superintendent of schools, and it is supported by the faculties of the separate schools. The campaign is sponsored by the international relations committee of the local unit of the North Carolina Education Association.

This year, as in past years, students of Mooresville schools have demonstrated, in the true spirit of Christmas, their compassion for others.

Traveling Poodle Goes 7,000 Miles With Its Master

A not-so-sophisticated French poodle is taking the ride of its life bumpily-bumping on a 7,000-mile journey aboard a motor scooter.

Both Nikki and her master, Steve Brown, of Reno, have the travel bug. They headed south from their home city and expect to visit Phoenix, Arizona, and Mexico, then turn eastward.

Brown, a jack-of-all-trades, carries equipment for a special home-made trailer pulled by the scooter. Nikki breezes along in a dog-type rumble seat Brown fashioned over the scooter's front fender.

And, if a motor scooter isn't enough, Brown plans to get a job in St. Petersburg, Fla., and build a sailboat so he and Nikki can go to the Virgin Islands.

C-C HEAD ISSUES STATEMENT

Public Warned On Christmas Gyps

The Mooresville Chamber of Commerce today warned the public to be on guard against the fraudulent and misleading sales and promotional schemes that flourish during the Christmas season.

Each year thousands of hurried and unwary Christmas shoppers are victimized by sharp operators who step up their activities during the holiday season, said Dr. Boyce Brawley, president of the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated through membership, these seasonal swindlers drain millions of dollars annually from consumers and business men throughout the U. S. They capitalize on the Christmas rush and the fact that people tend to be more generous, more trusting and less likely to turn down a request at that time of the year.

Dr. Brawley said holiday shoppers can protect themselves by avoiding fly-by-night operators and by making Christmas purchases from dealers of known reliability. Based on past experience, he said, the following schemes can be expected to make their appearance again this year:

—Mail-order bargain offers quoting toys, watches, jewelry and other items allegedly at a fraction of the retail price. When the gift arrives it may be a cheap imitation of the item thought to have been ordered.

Man Wins $250,000 Estate To Home City

A self-employed painter who built a small fortune by investments in stocks and real estate has willed $250,000 to the city of Norwalk, Conn.

Frank L. Chase, 82, who died without relatives, made the bequest in his will. He appointed 3 executors to advise the city on how to spend the money.

—Mail and phone appeals for donations from unknown charitable organizations.

—Attempts to collect on C.O.D. packages supposedly for your neighbor who, the deliverer says, "is not home." The packages may contain unneeded merchandise or merely paper or cotton wadding.

—Mail-order schemes in which you get a claim stub telling you that the shipper is holding a package which will be sent on return of the stub and a small amount. If you send the money you get a cheap pen-and-pencil set or something similar which you never ordered.

—Unordered merchandise appeals by unknown charitable organizations with requests for donations for the goods shipped.

—Personal appeals by mail from self-described needy individuals seeking clothing, food, fuel and funds.

—Distribution of courtesy cards for purchasing gifts at discounts from fictitious prices.

Dr. Brawley said various perfume hoaxes were prevalent in past years and have already reappeared in some areas in one form or another. Prime targets are executives who buy gifts in quantity at Christmas. Sales may be attempted in offices, at factory gates, on the street, door-to-door or in some offices.

The most widespread perfume scheme involves the sale of well-known brands of colognes and toilet water re-bottled in small, purse size containers by companies having no connection with the original manufacturers, said Dr. Brawley. The purse size containers are generally similar in size and appearance to those used to sell small quantities of genuine perfumes.

The public is fooled into believing that it is buying expensive perfume at a bargain price, Dr. Brawley said. Actually, cologne and toilet water is being sold at several times the regular retail price of the product packaged by the manufacturer himself.

Other perfume hoaxes involve the use of counterfeit labels of well-known brands on cheap imitations, phony pricing and the sales of spray containers labeled with the initials of nationally known fragrances. The sprays are concocted to simulate those fragrances.

Dr. Brawley made these additional points:

—Consumers who receive unordered merchandise through the mails generally are not obligated to return it or pay for it, unless it is used. They are required to surrender it if the shippers or their agents call for it within a "reasonable" time.

—Consumers ordering Christmas gifts from mail-order firms should generally allow 3 or 4 weeks for delivery.

—Sales may be final. As certain conditions of sales and obtain guarantees in writing.

—Examine purchases before Christmas. Don't expect transient vendors to be around after the holiday to listen to complaints.

BRAND NEW SIX-YEAR-OLD — It's a great feeling to be six. You're now eligible for "real school," you might even get to ride your bike out of mom's sight. The whole world is waiting for you, and you're ready for it. Those may have been some of the thoughts racing through young Jeffery Baker's mind recently when he celebrated his sixth birthday with a party at Pine Room Nursery. Jeffery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baker of Mooresville, Route 2.

AROUND THE WORLD

Santa Busy, But He Has Plenty Of Help

Even though Santa is sometimes pictured as traveling by rocket or by jet plane, his favorite mode of transportation still seems to be the famous reindeer-drawn sleigh. The only wonder is that he can remain as jolly as he traditionally is, when he has to cover the world in one night, delivering gifts by the billions.

Perhaps the explanation may be found in the number of helpers he has, and also in the fact that Christmas Eve is not his only day for delivering gifts.

St. Nicholas, a real bishop, was the first "Santa." Many legends grew up around his name, and many centuries after his death on December 6, about 342 A.D., he was honored as a friend to the young. December 6 became "Children's Day," and St. Nicholas, traveling by horse, brought gifts to reward children for good behavior.

Although Santa has to a large extent replaced St. Nicholas, in some European countries children still await the arrival of the bishop on the night of December 6, and set out shoes filled with hay and carrots for his horse.

In Scandinavian and some other countries, Santa gets an assist from St. Lucy, who is responsible for the distribution of gifts on her day, December 13.

Christmas comes after Christmas in many homes in France and French Canada, where the old tradition of giving gifts to children on New Year's day is observed. There's a resemblance to Christmas in the placing of gifts beside the tree, often in stockings.

Even then, the Santa season isn't finished. Many Spanish children expect the Three Kings to bring them gifts on Epiphany, January 6. They, too, set out shoes filled with straw and grain for the horses the Kings ride.

Whatever the gift-giving date, Santa has a host of helpers to lighten his load. In addition to St. Lucy, Scandinavian countries have the Tomtar, little gray-bearded men who are said to hide gifts for boys and girls on Christmas Eve. The Christ Child or Krist-kind brings the gifts in many countries.

In Italy the traditional gift-giver is Befana, sometimes described as a benevolent fairy and sometimes as a witch. Legend says that she misdirected the Magi or that she refused shelter to the holy family. Now she goes around the world, in repentance, seeking the Christ Child and doing good to children on Christmas Eve.

Shoeshine Parlor Takes To Wheels

Even the shoeshine business has been put on wheels in Cleveland by William C. Gant, who converted an old school bus into a shoeshine parlor.

The parlor has seats for 11 customers plus beds in the rear for Gant, his son, and another helper.

A Couple 1964 Predictions

As the hectic year of 1963 passes over the horizon, we would like to make some political predictions for 1964. We know, of course, that this country is far transcending his license to meddle with such conjectures. He also knows that his predictions will have no effect on the tote board in the county, state or nation.

Richard Nixon will be the Republican candidate for President of the United States. We note in our Insider's Newsletter, compiled by the editors of Look magazine, that Barry Goldwater has told his political associates that he will definitely not run for President and that he will support Nixon.

Michigan Governor George Romney has told the Mormon elders that he will not be a candidate. Romney, a devout Mormon, has had strong pressure brought to bear on him by the Mormon church not to run. Their prophecy is that he cannot win in 1964.

New York newspapers are becoming more emphatic every day in their prophecy that Nelson Rockefeller cannot get the nomination and couldn't beat Johnson if he did get the Republican nod.

So, it will be a Johnson-Nixon battle in November and you can play your political cards accordingly.

And we'd like to take a long shot and predict that U.S. Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota will be Johnson's running mate as the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

Johnson is generally tagged as a conservative, McCarthy a liberal. Johnson is from the South, McCarthy from a key state in the North. Johnson is roughhewn and smart, McCarthy an intellectual and a wit. He is also a Catholic. Add to these factors the one that Johnson and McCarthy are close personal and political friends and you have something going for this combination. Don't forget that you saw it first in this country journal.

Bids Sought On Addition For Dunbar

The Mooreville School Board, in special session last week, set January 14 as the date for receiving bids on the Dunbar School addition — an addition which is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $70,000.

This action on the part of the school board was taken following final approval of the addition plans by the Division of School Planning, Raleigh.

According to the call for bids, published in full elsewhere in this issue of the Mooreville Tribune, the bids will be received until 2 p. m. January 14 in the office of Dr. Roland Morgan, superintendent of the Mooreville City Schools. They will be opened at this time at a public meeting in the superintendent's office.

If the bids are acceptable, it is expected that actual work on the project will begin in early February.

Winners In Yule Lighting Are Announced

First place in the residential Christmas decorating contest, sponsored by the Mooreville Garden Council, was won by Harry Smith of 604 North Main street.

Second place was won by Mrs. L. B. Sken of 812 North Main street, and Eugene Hobbs, a resident of 156 Manor Circle, took third place honors.

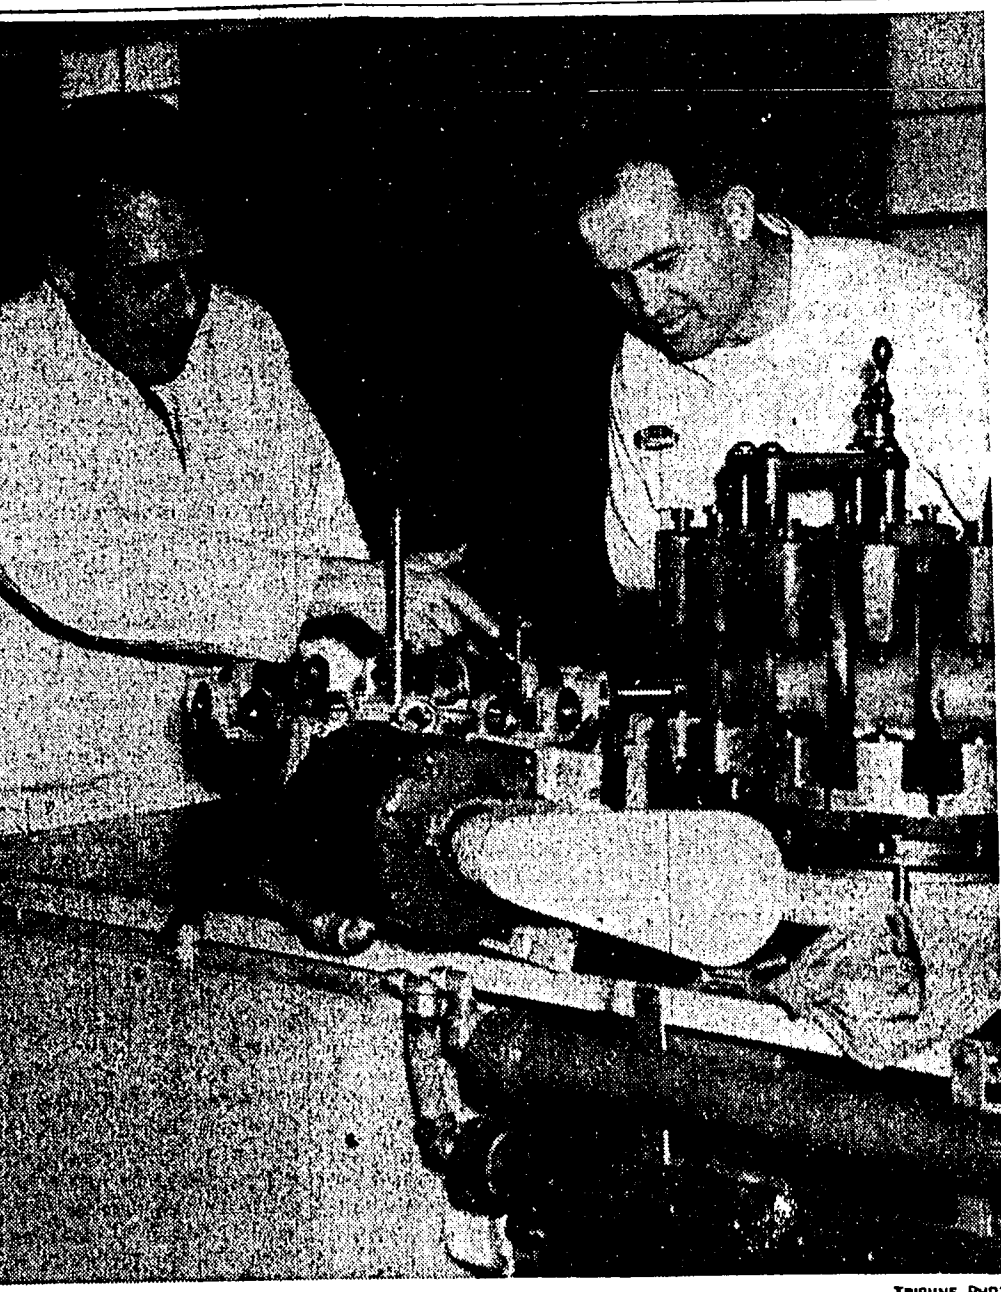

Honorable mention went to Pete Coleman, 438 Fieldstone; Johnny Miller, 683 Turner street; Gene Starnes, 240 East Park; and Mrs. Jerry Ramey, 1313 North Main.

As first place winner, Smith won a portable electric mixer, while the second place prize was a kitchen wall clock. Third place award was a patio server.

Contest judges were Mrs. Bill McCall of Cornelius, Mrs. Johnston of Davidson, and W. G. Goode of Salisbury.

The contest, which was judged last Thursday, was promoted to spread the spirit of Christmas by means of decoration with lights.

Following the judging, a social hour for the judges was sponsored by the HANDS committee of the two garden clubs at the home of Mrs. W. W. Rader. HANDS — Home and Neighborhood Development — See WINNERS—Page 2

Continental Device Setting Up Shop

Dave Baldwin, left, manager of the Continental Device plant here, looks over production equipment with Garland Lambert, chief machinist for the new Mooreville industry. The electronics concern is located in a 6,650-square-foot remodeled building at the corner of Statesville and Iredell avenues. The plant will launch production early in January, according to the plant manager. A training program already is underway, and pilot production operations have been conducted.

TRAINING PROGRAM UNDERWAY New Industry Ready For Production

Continental Device Corporation, by in '64, Dave Baldwin, plant manager of Mooreville's newest industry, said his staff now is completing the installation of the major pieces of production equipment. He said all tooling, machinery already has been set up in the renovated building that, until mid-summer, housed Mooreville Laundry.

The plant manager said Continental Device has started an extensive training program, and that the firm will begin hiring production workers about the first of the year.

The plant, which will manufacture electronic devices for the military and civilian market, came to Mooreville in late October. Continental Device has headquarters in Hawthorne, Calif. The branch plant here marks the firm's first operation on the East Coast.

Wesley Carter, an electronics engineer and an administrative official of Continental Device, came here in October to supervise the establishment of the plant here. After Baldwin came to take over the management of the new operation, Carter returned to the firm's headquarters in Hawthorne.

Military personnel, owning property in Iredell county, must have it listed for taxation, Mr. Smith said.

Real property must be listed in the township in which it is located of the county courthouse at Statesville, Smith announced today.

Listings, named by county commissioners earlier this month, will be furnished with detailed instructions for listing property as well as schedules of prices at which the county and livestock will be placed on the books.

The school will begin at 8:30 a. m.

Tax Listing Begins In Iredell County On Thursday, Jan. 2

Tax listing will get under way in Smith, county tax supervisor. Listing will continue through February 1.

The tax listing office here will be open each day, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. and on Saturday, from 8:30 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon.

The office here, which will serve Coddle Creek Township, will be located on the second floor of the Municipal Building.

All property on hand as of January 1, 1964, whether real or personal, is subject to taxation, and must be listed. This listing must be done during the month of January. Male persons between the ages of 21 and 50 will be required to list for poll tax.

During January, Mr. Smith said, the tax lists will open books in each of the townships in Iredell county.

Uncle Sam From Doolie Says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Money matters is going mighty bad along the Potomac these days. First off, I see by the papers where the taxpayers didn't have no luck in getting that $14 billion item for research cut down in the Congress. The place I was reading claimed $2 billion of it was pure hogwash and was money thrown down the drain.

For instant, Congressman Alben Smith of California listed 11 items that was taken official from the records as a example of how they was wasting tax money in this research program. I copied these items down, Mister Editor, and I could post 'em at the country store Saturday night. I'm going to give you the items here just like Congressman Smith took it down from the records. I don't know what half of the words means and I shore couldn't spell 'em without copying 'em letter for letter.

(1) $15,000 to examine the Social Structure of Madagascar.

(2) $17,000 to revise the Classification of Earthworms.

(3) $29,000 to study the Mammal Fauna of the Chercher Highlands of Ethiopia.

(4) $11,000 to study the Abenaki Dialects.

(5) $50,000 to study the Correlates of Persuasibility.

(6) $2,100 to study the Behavior Patterns of the Barren-ground Caribou.

(7) $18,000 to study the Social Behavior Among Termites.

(8) $17,500 to study the Modification of Alcohol Preference of Rats.

(9) $7,000 to make a Psycholinguistic Analysis of Consistent Clusters.

(10) $65,000 to study the Behavior and Ecology of the Wandering Albatross.

(11) $1 million to continue the Study of the Affectional Relationship between a Monkey and his Mother.

All this, the piece stated, was just for 1964, and they was dozens of items in the official list that was as bad or worse than the ones named by Congressman Smith.

It looks to me like, Mister Editor, we got a heap of folks in the Congress that is more worried about termites, rats, earthworms, and monkeys than they was about the taxpayers.

I'm giving a letter off to my Congressman today requesting he add one more item to the list. It like to git $25,000 put in there someplace for a Study on the Relationship Between Research and the Pocketbook.

And, in case the voters wasn't looking, Congressman Gosse of Iowa, that was fighting agin that $12 million extra appropriation for junkets and things, got beat. They added $600 a year to ever Congressman's "stationary allowance," making it $2,400 a year, and adjourned for the day to have cocktails.

Yours truly,
Uncle Sam

Merchants Realize Yule Business Gain

Heartening Increases Of From Three To 10 Per Cent Realized By Stores

Mooreville merchants enjoyed a heartening increase in Christmas business this year, a survey conducted by the Mooreville Tribune revealed.

Some of the local business houses reported as much as a 10 per cent increase in Yule business over last year, while others said that their increase was in the 2 or 3 per cent range.

Mrs. Jack Duffy, secretary of the Mooreville Merchants Association, reported that she had received numerous reports from the local merchants of excellent business during the Christmas shopping season.

Spokesmen for the local banks reported that traffic at their institutions was good during the Christmas season.

"Exceptionally good... an all-time high," were the exact words of a top official of one of the banks. He went on to say that he based his statement on the traffic in the bank and the deposits.

A spokesman for one of the town's leading department stores reported that Christmas business at his store was some three per cent greater than last year.

"I'm sure the increase will be three per cent, perhaps a little more," were his exact words.

The manager of a jewelry store said that business at the store was up 10 per cent over last year. He went on to say that people bought more expensive merchandise this year and that cash purchases were greater this year than in past years.

"The people bought better and nicer... it's," were his words.

A spokesman for a variety (5-10-25 cent) store said his business was up two per cent over 1962.

Such numbers, it was pointed out, are not even known to the operator.

"There's good and bad points for it," Suther pointed out.

"If you are being bothered by nuisance calls it eliminates them. But if an emergency arises the operator cannot give out the number."

Many of the local nonpublished numbers are for people who have separated and want privacy, it was stated.

But there are several other reasons, too.

"Some are bothered by nuisance calls and then some just want people to call them who have their number," Suther said.

He stated that some stores have private or nonpublished numbers so the phone will not be tied up during rush periods.

Suther further stated that he had found that "mostly businesses" have the nonlisted and nonpublished numbers.

Each lunchroom has been inspected recently by the Iredell County Health Department, and the ratings of the several lunchrooms are as follows:

Senior High — "A", 98 per cent; Junior High — "A", 95.5 per cent; Park View — "A", 97 per cent; South — "A", 96.5 per cent; Dunbar — "A", 97 per cent.

The school lunchrooms are operated for the convenience of the students, teachers, and other school employees. Adults, who eat in the lunchrooms, pay 5c more per plate than do the student. At present, the students pay 25c per meal in all schools except Senior High where the student charge is 42c or 50 per cent.

In Dunbar, only 203 or 46 per cent avail themselves of a hot meal.

81 Per Cent Of Students Use School Lunchroom Program

Mooreville City Schools' lunchroom program is providing a balanced diet for 1,914 of the 2,356 students now enrolled in the five schools — Senior High, Junior High, Park View, South, and Dunbar.

This is 81 per cent of the schools' total enrollment.

Latest reports show that 385 or 83 per cent of the Mooreville Senior High School students are participating in the lunch program.

In the Junior High School, 435 or 90 per cent are eating a hot lunch daily.

Park View has 469 or 94 per cent eating daily.

South School's participation is 412 or 89 per cent.

In Dunbar, only 203 or 46 per cent avail themselves of a hot meal.

Chamber Year-End Report

A Summary Of Mooreville Milestones

Near the close of each year, The State, the famous every-two-weeks magazine devoted entirely to doings in North Carolina, puts out its eagerly awaited "100 milestone edition." This annual feature, appearing in the current issue, offers a thumbnail sketch of happenings in each of Tarheel's 100 counties.

For the most part, the magazine collects information for the milestone edition through county offices and Chambers of Commerce. Mooreville's share of the North Carolina story for 1963 was prepared and submitted to The State this year, as in past years, by W. J. Haselden, executive secretary of the Mooreville Chamber of Commerce. Naturally, Haselden's report covers activities connected directly or indirectly with Chamber activities.

The secretary does not call his compilation a complete recap of Mooreville's year. He submitted it only as a brief resume of happenings that his office had some part in during the year.

With those qualifications in mind, we present Mooreville's contribution to the state-wide roundup, as prepared by Haselden:

Moore Mills Expansion

Mooreville Mills, division of Burlington Industries, added 25,000 square feet to its one million square foot plant. The addition is air conditioned. Air conditioning was installed in an additional 35,000 square feet of the modern plant during the year.

county districts. Such a redistricting bill could give districts with 38 per cent of the population control of the Senate.

Thoughtful people will not be impressed by the argument that control of the whole population by 10 per cent of the people is "as it should be" in the words of Senator Humber.

Historical Highway Marker Program Is Re-Activated

The familiar roadside plaques along North Carolina's highways began going up in 1935 as an index to State history. In cooperation with the State Highway Commission, the history department has erected more than 900 markers.

On the Outer Banks in Dare county, Brigadier General Billy Mitchell's landing field, from where he took off to demonstrate air power by bombing battleships in 1923, is marked. So is the birthplace of Whistler's Mother, Anna McNeill Whistler, in Wilmington. The tomb of Walter Hines Page, noted journalist and World War I ambassador to Great Britain, is marked in Aberdeen. The 1893 settlement of Yadkin by Walden, a religious group dated back to the Middle Ages, is marked in Burke county.

The grave of Janakula, Cherokee Indian chief who fought with Andrew Jackson at Horse Shoe Bend in the Creek War in 1814, is marked in Robeson county. Graham county, where De Soto's Spaniards crossed the Little Tennessee in 1540, is marked in Macon county.

Miss Archer Laid To Rest Tuesday At 11

Miss Rosa Lee Archer, 53, died suddenly at her home at 803 North Main street, at 2 a. m. Sunday.

A native of Cabarrus county, she was born on July 13, 1910, a daughter of the late James Samuel and Mary Virginia Johnson Archer. She had lived in Mooreville a number of years and at the time of her death was employed by Bulk Brothers in Charlotte.

She was a member of the Mooreville Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church.

The survivors include: three brothers, C. N. John, P. and James W. Archer, all of Mooreville; and one sister, Mrs. Fred Smith of Mooreville.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a. m. Tuesday at the Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. W. P. Grier, pastor of the Mooreville Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, in charge. Burial was in the Greenwood Presbyterian Church cemetery in Cabarrus county.

Growers Urged To Divert Grain Acres

The 1964 feed grain program can furnish the answer to some farm operators' questions about what to do with their land next year, according to A. P. Hassell, Jr., executive director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee.

If the farm has a feed grain base, the farm operator will be eligible to participate in the 1964 feed grain program, thus earning diversion payments by leaving land out of unneeded feed grain production and shifting it to conservation uses.

"We're encouraging feed grain farmers to look into the program to be gained by taking part in the 1964 feed grain program," Hassell declared. "There are definite advantages to farm owners and operators in putting their land into conserving uses under the feed grain program instead of turning out crop production which only results in building up extra supplies."

"We've made good progress in the past few years in trying to cut back production of the feed grains so that our stocks will be in better balance with demand, but we're not in the clear yet. That's why Congress authorized continuation of the feed grain diversion program for 1964 and 1965."

"While the slogan will not be held until early next year, the main provisions of the 1964 program have already been announced. A farm operator can participate by diverting from 20 to 50 percent of his farm's feed grain base, with higher rates of payment for diversion greater than the minimum. And, of course, eligibility for price support on corn, grain sorghum, and barley depends on participation in the feed grain program."

Hassell suggests that farmers become fully familiar with advantages of the 1964 feed grain program before completing their crop plans for next year.

Joseph O'Flaherty, president of the corporation, told the stockholders meeting that earnings per common share would be in the 16-17 cent range for the last three months of this year, compared with the 12-cent scale earned during the last quarter of 1962.

The plant manager explained that manufacturing processes already have started in the operation here, but on a pilot production basis.

"We have turned out products that have been sent back to Hawthorne for tests," he said, "but we hope to start production on a regular basis early in January."

Even as Continental Device was preparing full-scale production in its first East Coast plant, the firm announced in Los Angeles that a 35 per cent increase in corporation earnings has been forecast for the quarter ending December 31, over the last quarter of 1962.

"From the busiest corner in the modern city to the windblown country fields, human livelihood is a product of the land," Morris E. Fonda, "The Lord's Land."

dies' ready-to-wear, also reported good sales during the Yuletide season. While he wouldn't state his store's increase percentage-wise, a spokesman for one of the town's leading drug stores said business during the 1963 Yuletide season showed a substantial gain over 1962.

Lunchrooms

In addition to the regular meal which is served at lunch, any student may purchase an extra 1/4 pint of milk for 3c. Milk may be purchased for 3c even though the student does not eat a regular meal.

The overall school facilities also were inspected by the Fredell County Health Department. The ratings received in each building are as follows: Senior High — 94 per cent; Junior High — 94 per cent; Park View — 97 per cent; South — 95.5 per cent; and Dunbar — 97 per cent.

The ratings received by the lunchroom and the building facilities are a result of the combined efforts of the lunchroom managers, the students, the teachers, the principals, and the custodians.

The difference in the ratings of the lunchrooms and buildings can be attributed to a great extent to the age of the building, the location, and the general state of the physical plant and equipment in each lunchroom.

central offices in Hawthorne. Two new men have been employed by Continental Device to direct phases of the operation here. Max Mayhew of Mooreville has accepted a position as manager of building maintenance.

Garland Lambert of Statesville is employed as chief machinist.

"We are making every effort to fill every possible position in our plant with Mooreville area personnel," Baldwin explained, "we feel we have an exciting and different type of industry that will attract qualified employees with persons who are interested in joining other established industries here."

The plant manager said Continental Device was grateful for the acceptance of its operation in Mooreville.

"Just everything has gone out of his way to make us feel at home and to help us get settled in this community," Baldwin said, "we have found a wonderful town with a wonderful attitude, and we're not in the clear yet. That's why Congress authorized continuation of the feed grain diversion program for 1964 and 1965."

Continental Device is the supplier of semi-conductors for the Minuteman, Gemini, Polaris and Apollo rockets. The plant will begin production about mid-January.

Public Housing

Early in December, the Mooreville Public Housing Authority said $170,000 in temporary notes to repay a government loan and to complete acquisitions of sites for 70 units of low-rent housing.

Early in the year, the Authority purchased a four-acre building site in Keokauk. Sixteen units of housing will be constructed on this site. The Authority now is in the process of buying another site in the West End, where 60 units of housing will be built.

The Authority said that if all goes well, construction of the project, which will include a recreation center, will be completed by the end of 1964.

Private Construction Mooreville Elks Lodge 1911 moved into its new $150,000 home. The modern-attempted lodge contains a public restaurant with a serving capacity of nearly 200 diners.

St. Mark's Lutheran Church was nearing completion of its major new addition, a two-story church, located in a growing residential area, will cost about $250,000.

The Mooreville Plan for downtown beautification, at the close of the year, was rejuvenated and moving along with a full head of steam. A number of Main Street businesses, including Wise Florist, Del's Variety Store, Ray's Department Store and Miller Drug Company, have added the famous Mooreville Plan canopy during the year.

The Education Mooreville Board of Education about mid-year announced that a $70,000 addition to Dunbar School would be constructed.

In October, Mooreville's school system was the most modern of 2,000 educators who gathered here for a district meeting of the North Carolina Education Association.

The big name in Mooreville recreation is Lake Norman. The giant Duke Power dam at Cowan's Ford was completed and the 33,000-acre lake filled early in the year. Power made available 2,800 lease lots in Iredell County, most within the Mooreville area. In fact, 1,500 lots on the lake are within 10 minutes' drive of the town. Duke Power's $20 million Plant Marshall steam plant still is under construction, with a completion date set early in 1965.

The new Duke Power State Park in South Iredell will be opened to the public in summer of 1964. Everyone predicts the park will immediately become a recreational mecca of the Piedmont.

There were several highlights in Mooreville recreation. Perhaps most significant was the installation of 98 lights at the Liberty Park playground. The $3,000 required for this project was raised privately. The lights proved a boon to local sports, making possible the most successful Biddy and Midget baseball program in the town's history. Also, private clubs, businesses, industries and individuals cooperated to create a Midget football program that was very popular.

The plant manager explained that manufacturing processes already have started in the operation here, but on a pilot production basis.

"We have turned out products that have been sent back to Hawthorne for tests," he said, "but we hope to start production on a regular basis early in January."

Even as Continental Device was preparing full-scale production in its first East Coast plant, the firm announced in Los Angeles that a 35 per cent increase in corporation earnings has been forecast for the quarter ending December 31, over the last quarter of 1962.

Joseph O'Flaherty, president of the corporation, told the stockholders meeting that earnings per common share would be in the 16-17 cent range for the last three months of this year, compared with the 12-cent scale earned during the last quarter of 1962.

In Controlling Children, Basic Principles Of Discipline Vital

Before co-eds graduate from Appalachian State Teachers College, they must undergo three months of student teaching under the wing of veteran teachers in Tar Heel public schools. The big worry confronting most of the students at the outset is discipline—"Can I control the children?"

"Trial and error" is probably the best way to learn orderly and constructive pupil control. This is why our colleagues are required to teach three months under the supervision of "pros" before taking over classrooms of their own.

Errors in control can be reduced, however, if the student follows certain time-tested principles of maintaining constructive discipline. The rules apply not only in school but also at home where parents must control their children's behavior.

1. Establish a firm and consistent rule. 2. Try to find causes for misbehavior rather than punish blindly. 3. Don't punish others for the offenses of one child. 4. Remove distracting influences that tempt misbehavior, such as seating a girl with pigtails next to a spirited boy.

5. With punishment is necessary, make it a natural outcome of the wrongdoing. If Junior is misbehaving while watching T.V., remove his privilege of viewing the big eye. 6. Try to provide interesting, worthwhile learning experiences for your children.

7. Look upon children as people with emotions, goals, interests, and problems of their own. Try to understand why they misbehave. For instance, does Junior carry it out because he is jealous of the praise his sister receives for her academic achievements? If so, find something that he does well and shift a little glory his way.

8. Issue as few commands as possible. Try to get children to do things on the basis of good reasoning rather than because you told them so. 9. Even permit the kids to participate in setting up standards for their own behavior. 10. Respect the personality of each youngster and help him gain respect among other children. 11. View youngsters' misbehavior at least partly as evidence of poor direction on your part, but not as a personal affront. 12. Exhibit a positive attitude toward children. Try to build up each individual rather than tear down. 13. Try to provide interesting, worthwhile learning experiences for your children.

Miss Ann Brawley Wears Gown Designed By Her Mother In Lovely Saturday Afternoon Wedding

Charm and beauty marked the wedding of Miss Ann Brawley and Larry Wayne Brown on Saturday, December 21, at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Central Methodist Church. The Reverend Thad L. McDonald officiated at the impressive ceremony.

Miss Brawley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Brawley of 732 North Main street, Mooresville and the bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Upright of 487 West Center avenue, Mooresville.

Prior to and during the ceremony a program of wedding music was rendered by Miss Catherine Moore, organist and Miss Ann Wylie, of Greensboro, soloist. Miss Moore's selections included: "Meditation," "Thine," Massenet; "Jesu, Joy Of Man's Desiring," Bach; "Liebestraum," Liszt; "Where Have You Walked," Handel; "A Rose Breaks Into Bloom," Praetorius; and during the ceremony "To A Wild Rose" by McDowell was played softly. "Trumpet Voluntary" by Major W. Clark was played for the procession of the bride and groom.

The bride wore a gown designed by her mother, Mrs. W. K. Brawley, and the bridegroom wore a suit designed by his father, Mr. W. K. Brawley. The bride's gown was a white tulle affair with a long train and a full skirt. The bridegroom's suit was a dark gray suit with a white shirt and a dark tie.

The wedding was a lovely affair with a full reception. The bride and groom were surrounded by their families and friends. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

MRS. JOHN RAY VANPELT

Vanpelt-Patterson Vows Spoken In Beautiful Ceremony At Coddle Creek ARP Church

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Christina Patterson, of Mooresville and John Ray Vanpelt, of Kannapolis and Raleigh, was solemnized on Saturday, December 21, at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Coddle Creek Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church. The pretty double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. W. A. Kennedy, Jr., pastor of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. Parks Patterson of Mooresville, route 1, and the late Mr. Patterson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Vanpelt of Kannapolis, route 3.

The wedding vows were spoken in a lovely setting of palms interspersed with numerous spiral candelabra holding lighted tapers. The altar was enhanced with an open Bible and spiral candelabra. Red poinsettias were placed on two marble top pedestals and white satin bows marked the pews for the families and guests and comforted the wedding scene.

Given in marriage by her uncle, S. Brown Patterson of Mooresville, the bride made and designed her full length gown of Chantilly lace and satin panel de side. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves which ended in points over the hands. Self covered buttons accented the sleeve and bodice closings. The bouffant skirt of unpressed pleats ended in a chapel train. The bride's mother held her bouffant veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white satin bow marked the pews for the families and guests and comforted the wedding scene.

The bride's mother, Mrs. S. Brown Patterson, of Mooresville, was a matron of honor. She wore a dress of red tulle with a white collar and a white belt. The bridegroom wore a dark suit with a white shirt and a dark tie.

Duke Power Area Reports Gain Of 3,726 Jobs In Two Months

A two-month gain of 3,726 jobs due to new and expanded industry has been reported for the Duke Power service area of 50 counties in the Piedmont and Western Carolinas.

These figures, Duke Power officials explained, were compiled prior to the announcement last week that a fiber plant with a potential employment of 1,000 would be located in Rowan County.

Cred F. Gilley, Duke Power's manager of industrial development, said the manufacturing and distribution growth during October and November brought the total to 23,902 jobs added during the first 11 months this year.

A total of 358 new firms and expansions involved an investment of $270 million and an annual payroll of more than $864 million for the nearly 24,000 additional employees, Gilley said.

Duke's power service area includes 38 counties in North Carolina and 14 counties in South Carolina.

In the North Carolina area, a total of 131 new manufacturers or distributors began operating during the 11 months ended Nov. 30. There were 159 expansions of existing firms.

These new and expanded operations in North Carolina included an investment of $124.3 million and an annual payroll of $27.3 million for 7,276 workers.

The South Carolina figures included an investment of $100 million and an annual payroll of $20 million for 2,450 employees. These figures were compiled through the end of November.

VOL. XXX, MOORESVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1963 No. 45

'I'M READY'—With spoon at the ready, two-year-old Gregory McEwen is all set for the cake-cutting. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George McEwen celebrated his birthday recently with a party at Mrs. H. C. Jarvis' nursery school.

SHUCKS and NUBBINS

A Note On Notes And Year-End Rituals

There is some kind of urge, instinct perhaps, that drives a man to try and start the year fresh with some semblance of order. To this end at the tail end of December, we always find ourselves washing the layers of paste off the top of the desk, struggling to put on a new typewriter ribbon, going through the 12-month collection of half-used note pads, reminders to ourselves and assorted correspondence we didn't know what to do with then, and we know less about now.

The typewriter ribbon is simpler; we yell for help. Aside from turning the floor into a quagmire, we get through the desk-clearing ritual as well as could be expected. It's the self-mail that throws us every year. We find laundry claim checks on laundries now out of business; we usually run across at least one bill we have never paid. But these we can handle. There are two problems we are incapable of solving—those notes to ourselves and—oh, Lord—those telephone numbers.

One sample we found on the back of a note pad. A few of the entries were "cannon 410," "hold the better blue one," "check with Cy Brooks on this," "separate the colored clothes" and "local angle on Emerald Inn." Now, the first two items give us no hint whatever to us. We fear the third one was a news story possibility that never materialized. The next one is easy. We were sent to the washerette and instructed to wash the white and colored clothes separately. The reason we remember is that we got fussed at because we didn't. The final sample item has to do with a feature story suggestion. We know this because in another drawer we found we had written "W. and Mary Overcash of Mooresville run Emerald Inn at Chimney Rock." Another classic that never saw the light of print. And on that same crumpled sheet we noted that a cousin (we had written brother, but it had been marked through) of K. K. Sherrill had been to Cuba. That date this document back when things really were warming up in Castroland and we had this notion to localize international events by interviewing somebody with some connection to Cuba. This didn't get done either.

There's Madness In A Maze Of Numbers

But these telephone numbers. On second thought, some of 'em probably are Social Security numbers. They might open a whole new world for us, if only we dared dial them. This particular phase of our annual put-the-house-in-order drive is completely hopeless, so we merely discard all note with numbers. We do the same with the reams of indecipherable notes.

Sanity, or some degree of it, is restored, though, by the vivid reminders of everyday life. We find assorted references to shoes—"pick up boys' shoes, Lynn's shoes, return Lou's shoes"—and all kinds of tips about clothes, haircuts. There is one about buying a kitchen clock. This brings back pleasant memories because we remembered to do it. We regain our composure, realizing that it was not for naught. The shoes and clothes got bigger as the year moved along, which means the boys grow and still are growing.

We vow to try and spend more time with the boys, and we make a note not to write so darn many ridiculous notes. One will be about as hard to abide by as the other.

Entries Stolen From The Public Forum

Dear Mooresville:
We were overwhelmed by your acceptance of our Christmas tree sale this year. Our original shipment of trees was exhausted immediately, and we sold two additional shipments. We are pleased that we were able to provide you with a variety of trees. Your patronage tells us you not only liked our trees, but that you support the work we hope to finance with earnings from the tree sale.

Sincerely yours,
Mooresville Optimists

Dear Mooresville:
What can we say but a sincere thank you. From the very beginning of the rejuvenated blood program in February through the fifth visit by the bloodmobile last week, you have illustrated in a most dramatic way that you believe in the blood program and the medical benefits it makes possible. Through your splendid cooperation, assistance and willingness to roll up your sleeve and give, you have shown once again that what you call "the spirit of Mooresville" is a vibrant movement of mutual concern and respect for one another. We salute you.

Gratefully yours,
The South Iredell Red Cross Chapter

How To Get Rich While Losing Weight

The gals here at the office have a New Year's resolution. At this writing, they are yet to clear it with Tom, but what they have in mind is a reducing plan (we aren't saying they need it, mind you) they noted in some industrial magazine. It seems some firm tried it and came up with a lighter, more efficient staff and something like a 15 per cent increase in production and sales.

What our ladies have in mind is this: As added incentive to lose weight, they propose their employer agree to pay them $20 for the first 10 pounds they melt away, and $50 for each pound they lose thereafter.

Nothing definite, we'll keep you posted.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK...

REV. FLOYD TUCKER

"I would just as soon commit adultery as skip church." These words came from the lips of a devout Christian. Maybe the case is strongly stated but I would agree with the idea in mind. Adultery is in violation of God's law, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." AWOL from Divine Worship is in violation of God's law, "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it Holy." To break either one of these Divine Commands is to open the door to the devil.

But, the true wickedness of skipping worship can be seen in another light. Jesus says, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name there am I in the midst of them." (Matthew 18:20)

According to Christ, He is present at Divine worship—truly, not symbolically. To miss worship when one is able to attend therefore is to choose something else above Christ. Remember this come Sunday.

Area Wide Morehead Awards District VII Interviews Scheduled For Mid-January

Twenty-four high school male seniors, nominated from counties in this area for consideration for Morehead Awards to the University of North Carolina, will be interviewed by the Morehead District VII Selection Committee at the Wilkes Hotel, North Wilkesboro, January 17.

The 24 nominees from District VII are being interviewed in statewide competition with 157 boys from the other six Morehead Districts in the state.

Morehead Awards provide a four-year all-expense-paid undergraduate college education to recipients. They were established in 1931 by John Montford Morehead, UNC graduate and native North Carolinian who lives in Rye, N. Y.

The 83-year-old Mr. Morehead is chairman of the John Montford Morehead Foundation.

Morehead District VII is composed of the following 12 counties: Alexander, Alleghany, Ashe, Burke, Caldwell, Catawba, Davidson, Davie, Iredell, Rowan, Watauga and Wilkes.

Nominees for district interviews are: Claude C. Armfield, Jr., Isaac T. Avery, Statenville; B. O. Huffman, Morganton; the Johnsons, Jefferson; Alex A. Shuford, Hickory.

Each of the seven Morehead District Selection Committees will nominate six candidates who will be interviewed in Chapel Hill by the Central Morehead Selection Committee along with 32 nominees from 16 private preparatory schools on the Morehead Foundation's selected list. Those chosen as Award candidates by the Central Committee will then be interviewed by the Board of Trustees of the Morehead Foundation which makes the final selections.

Also, Gurney David Beck, Thomas Wright Eshenhardt, and John Terry Richardson of Thomasville, Davidson County; Cecil Ellis Leagans Jr., of Mocksville, Davie County; Ronald James Bear and William Hill Guy of Statesville, Iredell County; George David Rame of East Spencer, Michael Wayne Bernhardt of Salisbury, Mecklenburg County; and John Edward Stout of North Wilkesboro, Wilkes County.

VARSITY TROJANS — This is the current edition of the Dunbar Trojans. The team is the defending conference champion, and it has advanced to the state tournament the past two years. Through games of December 17, this varsity team had compiled a record of five wins and one loss. The Trojans were tripped up by Torrence Lytle High of

Senior High 'Drops Pair To Statesville Cagers

Mooreville dropped both ends of a basketball twin-bill to Statesville here this week, but even the Statesville fans praised the effort put forth by the Blue Devils boys and girls.

The visiting Greyhound girls whipped the local lassies 37-30, and the county seat boys fought off a determined drive by the smaller Devil boys to post a 63-56 victory.

Early in the season, Statesville had swept a two-game event from the Mooreville teams.

Tommy Deal and Tim Roach shared scoring honors for the Blue Devils. Each accounted for 16 points. Mike Robinson and Johnny Cade each chalked up 11 points.

Johnny Barrier hit one field goal. Coach Harlan Bowman naturally was disappointed at the failure of his Mooreville boys to get revenge for the earlier loss at Statesville. He was, however, proud of the gallant fight put up by his boys. He said Cade played the best game of his career. Cade is a junior center who repeatedly kept the Devils within striking distance by his fine offensive play.

The boys contest was evenly played the first quarter, each team firing 19 points. The local boys never went out of reach of the visitors until the final minutes of play when mistakes gave the Greyhounds a couple of easy baskets.

The well-balanced Statesville team had all five starters hitting in double figures.

Grapplers Unbeaten In Three

Coach Perry Pearson and his wrestling charges of Senior High went home for the holidays last week sporting an unbeaten mark in their first three matches of the season.

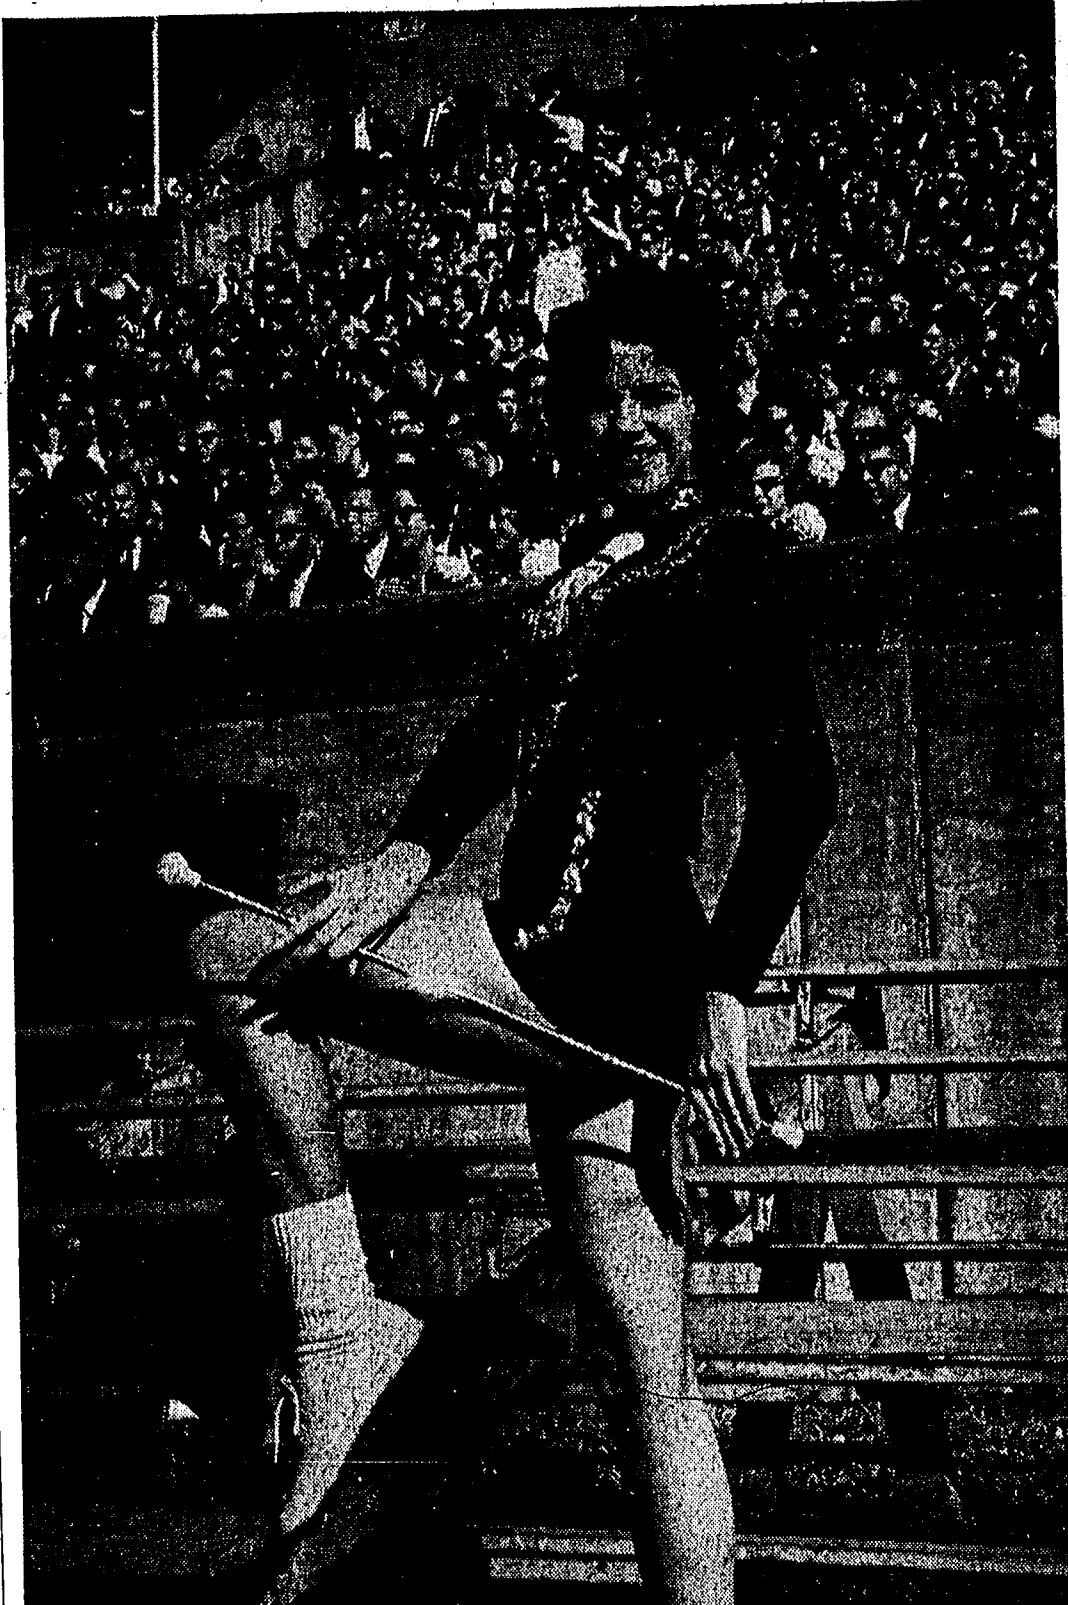

The locals have come out winners in two of the matches. The Blue Devils had to settle for a draw with Kannapolis. Pearson reports the draw with Kannapolis was the real heart-stopper. In the final seconds of the final match unlimited Dewitt Hinson had his opponent's shoulders close to the mat and should the match have lasted four more seconds, the Blue Devils would have won by a 24-22 score, whereas, the final tally showed each team with 22 points.

The closing match of the pre-Christmas schedule saw Pearson's boys rolling to a 29-18 decision over tough Asheboro. Early in the year, Mooreville defeated South Mecklenburg 38-14 in its opening match.

Since that time the Blue Devils have had trouble making the weights in their individual matches. This factor has cost the locals heavily in points as they have had to forfeit at least one match in their last two outings.

Against Kannapolis, Bobby Ingram and Larry Dyson won their matches by the pin route, while Mike Couch, David Oliphant, David Curtis and Hinson gained victories by decision.

In the victory over Asheboro, Tim Fries racked up his first victory of the year in winning his match by a decision. Fries grapples in the 85-lb. bracket.

WAKE FOREST MAJORETTE — The Wake Forest College football team lost a lot of games this fall but one of the nicer aspects of the season was the corps of majorettes. One of the majorettes is Phyllis Josephine (Jo) Honeycutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned B. Honeycutt of 134 East Stewart street, Mooreville. (Photo by Irvin Grigg)

Good Morning!
Man Who Once "Doubted"
Now Enjoys Real Health

Every day, I hear one of my patients exclaim, "I would never have believed it, if I had not had it happen to me personally. I never would have known what a wonderful thing Chiropractic is, but I have been made well, and I know it!" It's not hard to understand their point-of-view, especially if they have spent years, and thousands of dollars in an effort to regain lost health. It is almost unbelievable to see the hundreds of patients enter our Chiropractic Clinic each year as "doubting Thomas" and leave us as happy, healthy people.

Why not join our family of satisfied patients? Call Dr. Howard J. Baker today at 663-2181, for an appointment. You will be glad you did!

Draymore Pleased with Rowan Center Training

Draymore Manufacturing Company is sold on the Rowan Industrial Education Center. Arthur Alper, general manager of the high textile operation, said he is delighted with the quality of training offered more than 40 Draymore supervisors by the center in Salisbury. The employees recently were honored upon completing 32 hours of instruction given by Frank Efrid, a member of the Industrial Education Center staff.

"We found the training stimulated our interest in our work and in our community," Alper explained, "and we're certain the course will serve to motivate our employees to do even better jobs."

The employees who successfully completed the course were presented certificates during an awards banquet last week. Alper made the presentations. The training was offered in weekly two-hour evening sessions at Draymore. Enrollment

CERTIFICATES AWARDED — Draymore Manufacturing Company recently honored more than 40 supervisors who completed a special volunteer training program offered through the Rowan Industrial Education Center. The 32 hours of instruction were designed to keep the supervisors abreast of advances in their field. Arthur Alper, seated, general manager of the local textile firm, presented certificates of achievement to each supervisor during an awards banquet. Beside him is Mrs. Jean Farrell, Draymore personnel director. Standing, from left, are Arnold Hardwick, Frank Efrid, the instructor for the course, and Ted Gillespie. Hardwick and Gillespie were among the Draymore employees who received the certificates.

New Year's Day Offers A Time To Take Stock

On the front page of this issue, you probably noticed W. J. Haselden's concise report on Mooreville's doings during 1963. The review by the Chamber of Commerce executive secretary is by no means complete, nor does it claim to be. W. J. set down a rough sketch of highlights during the Chamber's year, thus, the happenings he mentions are those relating directly or indirectly to functions of the Chamber of Commerce.

The recap makes interesting reading, spotlighting as it does another year of solid progress for our community. But the report is history, and we cannot stand still long enough to delve too deeply into history. There is a great deal yet to do. By our nature, we do a great deal of soul-searching and inventory-taking at Christmas. Since this holiday period falls near the close of the year, we naturally are beginning to take stock of our material possessions. But worldly goods are merely a by-product of what we are, and at Christmas we tend to examine the insides of ourselves.

Christmas now is past. Ahead is what we celebrate as the New Year. If left to its quiet work, the first day of the year will dawn no different than millions upon millions of days before it. It is man who calls it New Year's Day, and observes it as somehow different and more meaningful. It is only as different as we make it. What kind of year will next Wednesday usher in for us, individually and collectively?

Already, we have received a lengthy letter to the editor that takes issue with practically everything planned by our community, county, state and nation for 1964.

It was shot full of inaccuracies and we were unable to bring it to print, but the point was made. There is nothing we can do as a community that would be unanimously supported. We must steer the course we regard as beneficial to most of us.

These are sure to be big items in '64: annexation, recreation and public housing. All three have their proponents and opponents. By the end of next year, the Public Housing Authority expects to have most, if not all, construction completed. The annexation is about as sure as the prediction of a government action can be. Community recreation, it would appear now, is less likely to succeed.

But water recreation holds exciting prospects for the Mooreville area. This past summer, we finally came to realize just what a tremendous change Lake Norman will make in our lives. That Duke Power State Park will open next summer re-emphasizes the importance of outdoor recreation in general and state parks in particular. The new park, just up the road from us and within easy driving distance of half a million people, will immediately be among the state's most popular recreational facilities. Ever since the lake filled, fishing, boating, water skiing and camping have drawn a constant throng to the "Inland Sea."

All in all, it looks like another exciting year in store for Mooreville. There will be work aplenty to do; but we will have time and place to play and relax. Now is the time to gear ourselves for both.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

Somebody told me you were writing a book on "How to Keep From Getting Under Your Fingernails." I hope its so cause it shore sounds exciting. Ain't there a site a book being wrote these days? I saw where some farmer was writing a volume entitled "You Don't Want Milk To Sour, Leave It In The Cow." I like practical books of this nature. I been thinking about writing a book myself. I'm gonna call it, "How To Go To Hell In Style." I may change it to "Red Hot Status Symbol." I figure it oughta sell like hotcakes.

That reminds me, Mr. Publisher, the other day I was reading the Bible and I run across something I think you oughta know. Over there in the New Testament it told about the Lamb's Book of Life. The way I understand it, this here book belongs to God, and its got a buncha names in it. Fact is, it says that only them that's got their names in this book will go to Heaven.

Now Mr. Publisher, I don't know how I'm gonna break this news to my congregation. They got the idea that as long as their names is on the Church roll, they're going to Heaven. When I tell 'em that they gotta have it in this Lamb's Book some of my folks is gonna go into a dither.

Our people out here at the Little Church with the Big Steeple put a heap of confidence in the Church roll. You take ole Heskiah for instance. Last year his uncle died. Well sir, that man hadn't been in Church since he was a little kid. First thing they done when he died was to call and ask me to look on the Church roll and see if his uncle's name was there. Shore nuff there it was. It was put down when he was 5 years old, and he stopped going when he was 6. I called Heskiah and told him I found his uncle's name. He hollered right loud thank God he was a Christian. Mr. Publisher, you can see how Heskiah is gonna be upset when he hears this Lamb's Book in Heaven.

Sir, I've wondered how many folks on my Church roll is in that Lamb's Book. Rufus' brother joined the Church last year, come to Church two Sundays and I ain't seen him since. We've got five folks over fifty that ain't been in Church in 45 years. A hole buncha my members-won't raise a dime for the Church, but they'll raise Cain if you let 'em take their names off the roll.

Let's face it Mr. Publisher, there is some fringe benefits to having your name on the Church roll even if it won't get you to Heaven. By having your name on a Church book you don't have to list yourself as a heathen. Another thing, other denominations will leave you alone if you're "earmarked." I reckon the chief benefit is having a decent burial—with preacher and all the trimmings.

Well, Mr. Publisher, I gotta close now 'n' work a little more on my book, "How To Go To Hell In Style." I'm getting a lotta ideas from the Church roll.

Yours Truly,

Parson Jones

9 YEARS AGO

IN OTHER YEARS

The town commissioners, in monthly session Monday night, tentatively approved a plan to make Main and Broad streets one-way streets, from Iredell avenue southward to Doster avenue. North bound traffic will be permitted on Main street while Broad street will cater to southbound traffic.

Special treatment will also be given to all streets connecting Main and Broad, from Iredell avenue southward to Doster avenue.

This one-way traffic plan for the town's two principal thoroughfares was devised by Charles Davis, recently employed traffic engineer. Mr. Davis, in meeting with the board Monday night, pointed out that the plan would increase the capacity of the streets to handle the traffic and would reduce the conflicts of cross traffic, thus tending to reduce the number of accidents.

One of the biggest selling points of the plan was the picking up of 38 additional parking spaces on Main street, in the business section of town. Eight parking spaces will be lost on Broad street and Center avenue. Thus the plan will give the business district of the municipality 30 additional parking spaces.

No date was set by the commissioners for the inauguration of the one-way traffic plan. The consensus of opinion among the commissioners is that it will be some time, perhaps two months, before the plan can be put into effect.

Further details of the one-way traffic plan will be forthcoming next week, the Tribune has been informed.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Neel, route two, Mooreville, went by plane Monday to Sarasota, Florida, to spend some time with Mrs. Neel's son, R. Don Harris, and Mrs. Harris. The trip was made from Charlotte in about three hours, and both passengers have reported they enjoyed the new mode of travel.

Sheriff Rumble and his men put a dent into the pocketbook of Wilkes county bootleggers last Thursday when they came up with the stash pictured to the left and above. The haul netted 701 gallons of corn liquor and a 1949 Dodge truck, all of it amounting to a loss of approximately $5,000 to the bootleggers.

Mooreville is getting ready to wage war on disease-bearing insects, thanks to the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the United Fund.

Last week the Jaycees gave the town a Dyna-Fog spray machine which is guaranteed to make life miserable for flies and mosquitoes. Its jet engine operates on a mixture of fuel oil and DDT, and throws a smoky mist of insect-killer from 300 to 400 feet.

It cost about $1,200. It was bought not with Jaycees funds but with money that had been donated to the police agency through Mooreville's United Community Fund during its first drive here in 1952-53.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goodman of route 2, had as dinner guests last Thursday, Mrs. G. H. Mauldin of Kaniela, Md. and Mrs. Johnnie Varner and children, Basil and Brenda, of Kensington, Md. Mrs. Mauldin and Mrs. Varner are mother and sister, respectively, of Mrs. Goodman.

Pvt. Gotthard Overcash, Jr., will return to his Army post at Fort Jackson, S. C., today (Thursday) after spending a 14-day furlough here with his parents, residents of South Main street.

Mrs. Mattie Greene returned to her home in Lancaster, S. C., Saturday after having spent a month here with her sister, Mrs. Lillie Worthington, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Worthington, of Mooreville, route 1.

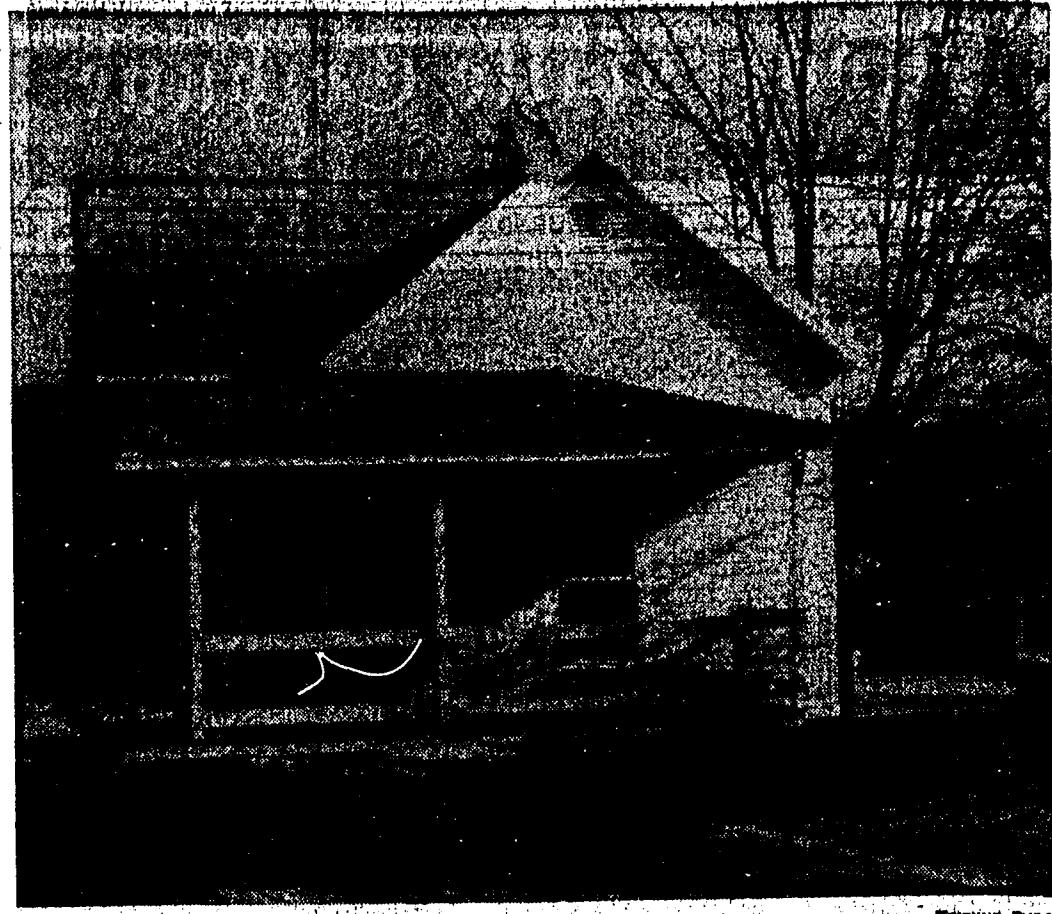

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Stonestreet, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Stonestreet and children spent Sunday in Elkin, visiting O. C. Stonestreet's mother, Mrs. J. H. Stonestreet.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Spears, Sr., of Union, S. C., were week end visitors in the home of their son, Dr. W. E. Spears, Jr., and Mrs. Spears.

Mrs. Louise Wineberry, of Weldon, spent the Easter holidays here, visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyte Whitlow and Mr. and Mrs. Worth J. Brown.

Ruby Todd, of Washington, D. C., was a guest of his sister, Mrs. Gray Mills, and Mr. Mills during the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ginter and little daughter, Lynn, of Salisbury, spent Sunday with Mrs. Ginter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gray Mills, at their home on East McNeely avenue. Mr. Ginter is a student at Catawba College in Salisbury.

SOME MOBILE HOME! — Residents along Cabarrus Avenue came out to watch one afternoon last week as this "mobile" home passed. It was a road-filler, all right. Mooreville Mills had the house moved off its lot at the corner of Church Street and Templeton Avenue. The large frame dwelling was hauled to its new location on Cabarrus Avenue. The home was occupied for many years by the M. F. Jenkins family, but it had been vacant several weeks.

A REMINDER

One of the charms of being young, is the ability to forget. That is, to forget quickly, what might appear to be a hurt, a wrong, a slight, an injury. Then, as we grow older, there is a tendency to brood over hurts, and wrongs, and injuries — real or imaginary — and sometimes we lose that beautiful mental balance, between forgetting and remembering.

There is a place to take all your hurts, your memories, your injuries of spirit; that place is your church. There you will find peace and contentment. Tie a string around your finger, now! Remember church this Sunday!

Mayhew Trains At Fort Jackson

Pvt. Donald N. Mayhew, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Mayhew of Mooreville has begun his basic combat training at Fort Jackson, S. C., where he has been assigned to Company B, 11th Battalion, 5th Training Regiment of the U. S. Army Training Center, Infantry.

This is the first phase of his six months active duty training with the Army and a part of the obligation he incurred upon enlistment in the Army National Guard.

During his basic training he will be introduced to a wide variety of infantry skills, along with intensive physical conditioning. He will attend classes in the traditions of the service, character guidance, and the role of the Army in the world today. Many of his instructors are combat veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict.

Fort Jackson uses the U. S. Army's TRAINFIRE method of teaching rifle marksmanship. Simulating actual battle conditions, TRAINFIRE enables the soldier to become a better rifleman in less time. Under the program, the trainees fire at pop-up targets at unknown distances on terrain which duplicates combat areas.

Other highlights of his intensive basic training schedule include squad tactics, bayonet drill, hand-to-hand combat, and a night program against an "aggressor force." He will also crawl the infiltration course while live machine-gun fire pops overhead.

Basic training is climaxed by a graduation review before the commanding general of Fort Jackson. Outstanding performances are recognized in a ceremony open to parents and invited guests.

During the evening the boys and girls enjoyed playing games under the direction of Mrs. Mickey Lefler, adult leader. Later gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. Thad Blackwelder, hostess in charge, served cookies, potato chips, pickles, and punch to around thirty members and their friends.

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ballard had its Christmas get-together at the church last Sunday, December 15. Members enjoyed a bountiful dinner and a very pleasant social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Balk and family moved Friday into their new house on the Centenary Church Road.

'COULDN'T HAVE BEEN BETTER'

Bloodmobile Completes First Year

"We can't imagine any way the bloodmobile could have been more successful during 1963!"

That was the way T. C. Humesley, director of the South Carolina Red Cross Chapter's blood service program, described the operation of the bloodmobile here during the year. He spoke following the bloodmobile's fifth and final visit of the year here Friday.

Humesley said 150 pints of blood were contributed during the Friday project. The collection pushed the total for 1963 to 1,000 pints. In excess of the 625-pint annual quota for this area.

"We've been saying this after each visit by the bloodmobile," Humesley said, "but we feel we should say it again. All persons connected with Red Cross, and particularly those involved in the blood service program, are deeply grateful for the assistance and cooperation we have received from the general public in this work."

Other donors were Jack Duffy, Frank Sherrill, Harold Fleming, Lalla Gibson, Ruby Dunlap, Leonard Graham, Mary Wilhelm, Dottie Tubert, Vivian Howell, Wanda Smith, Margie Bradshaw, Lorene Coley, Ruth Gryder, Charles Moore, Clyde Millsaps, Aligned Alexander, Helen Justice, Marvin Barlow, Joan Chester, S. D. Hilderbrand, Farris Ervin, Donnie Hendrix, John Anderson, Jr., Hazel McKay, R. L. Deaton, Robert McKee, C. C. Goodrum, W. W. Stuts, B. C. Thompson, J. L. Thompson, John Kiser, Jr., P. S. Gibson, Ode Westmoreland, C. C. Kerr, Lee Robert Hendren, Willie Thompson, F. S. Bumgarner, Neal Linker, Elsie Sherrill and Jean Davis.

Humesley said the turnout for the Friday project was especially gratifying in view of the Christmas rush.

"By showing up in such numbers in such a busy time," he said, "Mooreville citizens proved they appreciate the humane and medical values of this blood program."

These persons gave blood Friday:

Mrs. Madie Elford, Mrs. Pauline Sinclair, Mrs. Merle Deaton, Shirley Robinson, Connie Billings, Mrs. Barbara Carpenter, Donald Freeze, Billy Stuts, Mrs. Lucille Christie, Mrs. Faye Faust, Mrs. Bessie Wayne, Joy Ervin, Donald Neel, Clyde A. ## Prospect Community News

By MRS. BRUCE CARRIGAN

—Miss Virginia Blackwell is convalescing at her home after being dismissed from the Lowrance Hospital last Tuesday.

On Sunday night, December 21, the Pioneer Fellowship with their adult advisers, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Staley, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brown, were caroling to the shut-ins of the church and returned to the manse where Rev. and Mrs. Wilkes Macaulay served refreshments to the group.

—Miss Grace Edmonson is a patient at her home where she is suffering from torn ligaments and sprain of her leg which she received in a fall.

—The Men of the Church met for their monthly meeting last Tuesday night, with forty men present. The men prepared and served their own oyster stew. Rev. Wilkes Macaulay gave the devotion. Miss Lorena Kelly, a missionary from Raleigh, N.C., showed her slides and told of the work being done in the mission field.

—Misses Pam Brown, Dianne Boyd, Virginia Lowrance, Mrs. J. H. Davis, Sr. of Maryland arrived at a Christmas party Thursday evening. The hostesses were Mrs. Edith Chapell and Mrs. Henry Brawley. The children played games and enjoyed delicious refreshments.

—Eric Teeter and Robert McLaughlin, students at State College, arrived home Thursday night for the Christmas holidays with their parents.

—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bosman were to the following friends at the Fellowship Hall last Sunday evening with a supper. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Johnson of the Gilwood community, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shank and daughter, Nina, of Kannapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Melchor and daughter, Bonnie, of China Grove and Rev. and Mrs. Wilkes Macaulay and children, Pat, Lib, Joan, Clay and Lucy.

—Mr. John Teeter, Miss Estelle Shinn, Mrs. Gene McNeely and Mrs. R. G. Neel attended a miscellaneous group honoring Mrs. Dale Moretz, bride-elect, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Honeycutt of Landis, Saturday night, Dec. 21.

—The Senior High Fellowship had their adult advisers, Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison, Mrs. Bill McElroy and Rev. Wilkes Macaulay caroled last Friday night. They presented and put up a decorated Christmas tree to Mrs. L. P. Shinn, one of our senior members. They assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene McNeely where Mrs. John Teeter and Mrs. McNeely served delicious refreshments.

—Cynthia Alexander, student at U.N.C.G., Greensboro, arrived home Friday to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander.

—Santa Claus paid his annual visit to the children of the Prospect Church last Thursday night at the Fellowship Hall. Christmas carols were sung and a "Woody Woodpecker" film was shown after which Santa appeared. Cecil Howie was in charge of the program.

—The Executive Board of the Women of the Church met at the church last Thursday night with Mrs. Sam Edmonson, chairman, presiding and with twelve members present.

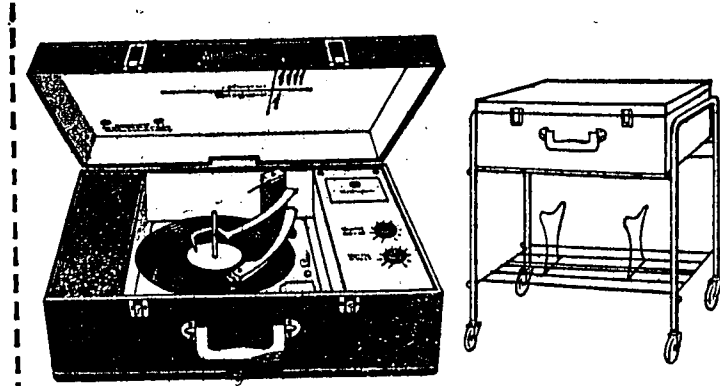

—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rutherford and children of Atlanta, Ga., arrived Friday night to spend the holidays with Mrs. Rutherford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stuts.

—Mrs. Dale Moretz left last Friday morning for Fort Benning or Georgia to spend the holidays with her husband who is stationed there.

—A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
