

New Executive Named By Boy Scout Council

Eugene C. Bowden has been named scout executive of the Piedmont Council, Boy Scouts of America, to succeed Eugene Jones, who has been transferred to Florence, South Carolina.

He will report to council headquarters in Gastonia to assume his new responsibilities on October 21. He has been serving on the national staff of Boy Scouts of America as assistant director of volunteer training working in region five and six, the nine southern states, for the past six and a half years. This summer he directed the volunteer training at Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, New Mexico.

Bowden is a native of Forman, Arkansas. His Boy Scouting started in 1936 at Little Rock, Arkansas, where he attained the Eagle rank with the silver-gold palm. As a Scout he held all the Junior Leader posts in the Boy Scouts and was a crew leader in the Sea Scouts.

As a volunteer leader he served in several capacities including Scoutmaster and Sea Scout First Mate before becoming a professional leader in the Boy Scout movement.

Bowden served for three years in the United States Navy and was commissioned a first lieutenant. He attended Little Rock Junior College and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. In September, 1946, he graduated from the 118th National Training School for professional leaders in Scouting conducted at the Schill Scout Reservation, Mendham, New Jersey.

Bowden became a field Scout executive at Jacksonville, Florida, in 1946 and three years later joined the local council at Atlanta, Georgia, as district Scout executive.

In February, 1954, he was selected as Scout Executive at Suffolk, Virginia, where he remained until he joined the national staff as assistant director of the volunteer training service, educational division, Boy Scouts of America, in February, 1957.

Charles Karriker Attends Seminar At USAF Academy

Two Catawba College commerce students attended a two-day seminar on textiles and the textile industry in Greensboro last week. James Davault of Kannapolis and Charles Karriker of Mooresville, both commerce majors at Catawba, and Millard Wilson, head of the college commerce department, attended the seminar sponsored by Walter F. Fancourt Company, manufacturers of textile chemicals.

The purpose of the seminar was to provide students who are considering a future in textiles with the opportunity of hearing industry leaders discuss various aspects of the business and the future it holds for young people. Twelve colleges were represented at the seminar.

Moore Participates In Sea Maneuvers

Robert A. Moore, boilerman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore of 413 Dinger avenue, Mooresville, is serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Oak Hill, participated in extensive amphibious maneuvers conducted September 16 through 27 off the coast of Southern California.

INDUSTRIAL DIVISION, CHAIRMAN CONGRATULATED Drive Director John Simpson, Left, To Dave Jones: 'Well Done'

Community Chaff
BY TBM MCKNIGHT
A Little Here & There

It seems to me the rank and file American citizen is becoming a detached, cynical individual who cares less and less about the whole thing.

Last week the members of our House of Representatives, Democratic and Republican, upped their allowance from $1,800 to $2,400 at the government stationery store. They buy such items as pocket flasks, souvenir trinkets, Christmas cards and, I hope, a little stationery in this store at wholesale or below prices. Whatever they have left over from this allowance they keep for other purposes—perhaps a trip to the Maryland race tracks.

It created a ripple among the electorate back home. The average citizen simply shrugs off such shenanigans anymore as part of the price he must pay for living in a democracy. Just as the mule, without pride of ancestry or hope of progeny, plods his weary way, so does citizen Joe Blow stumble ever onward, caring little about where he is going and less about how he gets there.

Or so it seems to me.

Talked to a college president the other day who was envying George Randall's job as head of the prison system—no bothersome alumni. Last Thursday afternoon I was talking with George Randall, who was envying the job of a college president—no security nightmares to haunt him through the night.

By the same route, I reckon Superintendent of Mooresville Schools Roland Morgan envies Barium Orphanage Superintendent Albert McClure—no pesky parents on his neck all the time.

The grass was always greener over yonder.

Got to get in my two bits worth about Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu. This little spitfire with the fetching smile and neatly-stacked torso is giving us a rough time.

She is not a Communist, therefore doesn't come under the unfortunate gag law passed by the last General Assembly. I am glad to help welcome her to speak on the campus of North Carolina State College of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

There isn't a mother's son or daughter at that fine institution who doesn't see through that little poppin' like she was made of glass.

The name of Nhu rhymes so neatly with zoo that I think her last American appearance should be before the animals at the N. Y. Central Park Zoo.

And speaking of Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, we've recently entertained another distinguished visitor from abroad. His official title is Elect of God, King of Kings, King of Zion, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Branch of the Tree of Solomon and Impement of the Holy Trinity. We call him Haile Selassie for short.

This little runt owns four gold-plated palaces in Ethiopia, filled with priceless furniture and art, which contrast with the extreme poverty of his people.

He has been the recipient of millions and millions of dollars in U. S. foreign aid. In 1950 he laid the cornerstone for a university. As of last week, only the gate has been built.

In 1959, he ordered work on a municipal stadium, and a giant American crane was set up on the grounds. As of last week, the crane was still standing there, rusty and unused.

But the Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah

Last Mile Toughest United Fund Drive Soars To $23,505

"I can't believe it. I must have added wrong and picked up four or five thousand somewhere."

That's what Jim Rosser said last week after he totaled the United Fund contributions reported by the six UF division chairmen. Rosser, who is president of the Mooresville-South Iredell United Fund, double-checked his figures.

He got the same happy results—$23,505 of the $27,815 UF goal assured.

The division reports were received last Thursday during the first two luncheons scheduled for the purpose of discussing progress of the UF campaign that began September 30.

The second report meeting is slated Friday, tomorrow, at 12:30 p.m. at Elks Restaurant. John Simpson, UF campaign chairman, has asked that all division chairmen attend this important session.

The highlight of the meeting last week was announcement by Dave Jones that his industrial division was racing along, already 102 per cent over its division target of $17,257. The $17,884 contributed by area industries and industrial employees through last Thursday noon is $427 over the goal. Industries were assigned 61 per cent of the entire UF budget.

Jones would accept no personal compliments.

"I haven't done any work, really," he said, "all I've done is a little bookkeeping. The people in the plants and those in the plant offices deserve all the credit."

Jones singled out Templeton-Chempun for sparking the drive that is, by far, the most successful in the industrial division's

$500 Robbery At Mt. Mourne Store, P. O.

The Iredell Sheriff's Department today continued its intensive investigation into a Tuesday night armed robbery at the Caldwell General Store and post office in Mount Mourne.

John William Caldwell, owner-operator of the business and the Mount Mourne postmaster, was beaten and robbed of about $500 at 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, according to Sheriff Charles Rumble. The officer said half the money belonged to the store, the rest was government funds taken from the post office safe.

This is the story pieced together by the sheriff after talking at length with Caldwell.

The merchant postmaster had closed his store and was inside working on his books when the two men knocked at the front door of the store. He admitted them, and they said they wanted to buy cigarettes. When Caldwell turned to walk behind the counter, he was slugged. He fell, stunned, but apparently he was not hurt seriously. He had been working in the post office books, and he had the safe open. The post office is in an enclosure inside the store. The robbers rifled the post office safe, and took another $250 in store money that Caldwell was carrying.

The men cut about 30 feet of rope from a roll and bound their victim. Caldwell held officers he

Coddle Creek ARP Hosts Meeting Of First Presbyterian

The Coddle Creek Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church will be host Sunday, October 20, to approximately 300 visitors and delegates from 32 North Carolina ARP churches.

The occasion will be the 56th annual meeting of the First Presbyterian Union of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. T. Lewis Howie of Kings Mountain, outgoing president of the church women's organization, will preside during the session at the historic area church. Special soloist will be Mrs. W. L. Murphy of Davidson. She will be accompanied by organist G. H. Gashorn.

The traditional memorial service will be conducted by Mrs. H. B. McNeill of Charlotte.

During the business portion of the session, new officers will be installed for one-year terms.

Electronics Manufacturing Firm Comes To Mooresville

Operation Will Get Underway In Two Weeks

Mooresville's "right kind of people" have attracted another industry. An electronics manufacturing concern will begin operations here about the first of November, according to a joint announcement today by officials of the firm and the local Chamber of Commerce.

The highly-specialized industry now centers its operations on the West Coast, hothbed of the fast-growing electronics field. It has sales offices throughout the nation, but its plant here will mark the beginning of its manufacturing operations on this coast.

Speaking for the Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Boyce Brawley welcomed "this fine addition to our community." Dr. Brawley, who is president of the Chamber, stressed the fact that, since electronics is new to Mooresville, "this plant will be able to move into a new labor market and it will add to the diversity of our industrial life."

It was, in fact, prospects of a good labor market that figured strongly in the organization's decision to locate in Mooresville. See ELECTRONICS—Page 2

Miss Babson Finalist In State Event

Leverly Babson, a senior in the Lawrence Hospital School of Nursing, is one of four finalists in the Miss North Carolina Student Nurse Contest.

Miss Babson was notified this week she has been selected from the dozens of entrants to compete in the state finals during the annual meeting October 25-26 of the Student Nurse Association of North Carolina. The statewide session will be held in Raleigh.

With the announcement of Miss Babson's position in the contest was a congratulatory letter from Sylvia Vincent, chairman of the State Nurses Association.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where Senator Symington has popped a question to the Defense Department that calls for a answer. I ain't expecting him to get no answer and I reckon he didn't figure on getting no answer.

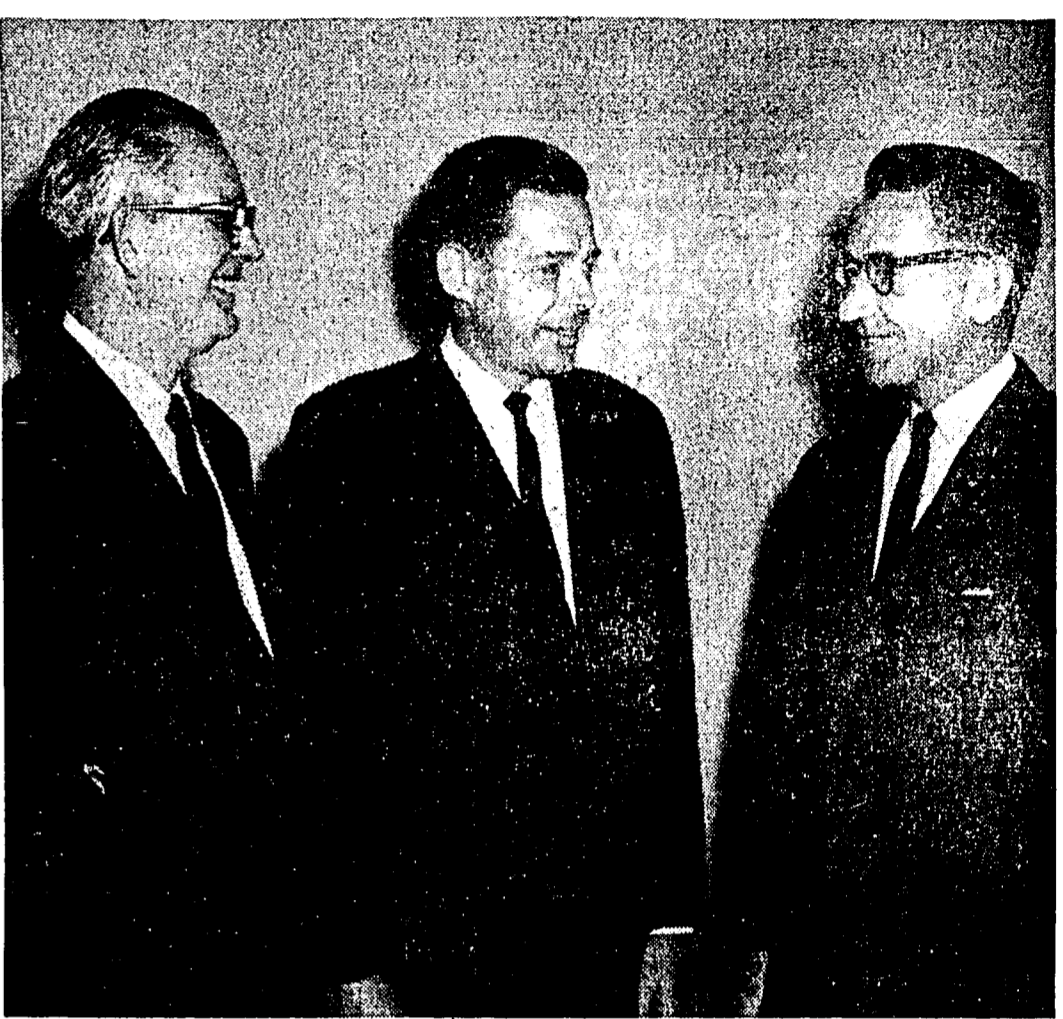

But it's mighty comforting for the taxpayers back home to know a U. S. Senator can still inquire about such matters without somebody throwing him out of the meeting.

It has been brought out that the United States has now got stockpiled what is equal to 5 tons of TNT for ever human being on earth. This comes to around 15 billion tons. Senator Symington says we got enough nuclear bombs stockpiled to wipe out 2,000 cities of 100,000 population and wipe out not only 125 times. He says we've got the bombs in storage to destroy every city of any size on earth 125 times.

Now what Senator Symington wants to know is why we keep spending $2 billion a year to stockpile more and more bombs. It has been hinted by some folks in Washington, brave enough to hint about such matters, that the big reason is the uranium mines has gone one of the most powerful lobby organizations ever to operate in the Congress.

As a general rule, Mister Editor, I don't go around with murder in my heart, but I might be willing to help pay for killing everybody on earth once, but I'm

Yours truly, Uncle Dan

C-C Officers Welcome New Industry

Wesley R. Carter, center, an electrical engineer and an official of an electronics manufacturing firm that has located in Mooresville, was in town this week to direct launching of the new operation. He and his industry got an official welcome from the local Chamber of Commerce. Carter chats with Chamber President Boyce Brawley, right, and W. J. Haselden, executive secretary of the Chamber.

MORE MOORESVILLE PLAN Raylass Building Getting Canopy

The Mooresville Plan, now fully awakened after months of dormancy, is fast making inroads in the 100-block of North Main Street.

Contracts were awarded this week for the construction of the attractive Mooresville Plan canopy along the 42-foot frontage of Rayless Department Store at 100-block of North Main.

Ray W. Troutman said John V. Barger & Co. will do the work. Troutman is president of Mooresville Manufacturing Corp., which owns the building in which Rayless is located.

The announcement that the canopy will be added at Rayless follows by seven months the completion of an extensive outdoor building. The remodeling that was finished in March included the installation of a new heating and air-conditioning system. Mooresville Manufacturing Corp. financed the earlier work, and it will pay the cost of the canopy.

During the work earlier this year, the store front was modernized. Troutman said the soon-to-begin project will not involve additional facelift of the structure.

Eisenhower Dinner Keynote Broyhill Will Address 200

Some 200 persons are expected to attend the $3-a-plate Eisenhower Dinner tomorrow night (Friday) at Elks Restaurant.

Keynote speaker for the gathering that will draw Republicans from throughout the county will be Ninth District Rep. James T. Broyhill. The program, sponsored by the South Iredell Republican Club, will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Rep. Broyhill will deliver the main address after spending a full day in South Iredell. Previously announced items on the freshman congressman's agenda include an appearance at a 10 a. m. bridge party in his honor at Fred Ward's home. This event will be sponsored by GOP women of the area.

Among county Republican Party leaders who will attend the affair are Ed Cunniff of Statesville, county chairman; and Jay Frank of Statesville, secretary-treasurer of the Iredell County Republican Club.

'Choo Choo' Justice Speaker For Midget Football Banquet

If you're out of your teens, you won't believe this. Grady Shoe excitedly announces to his young son: "I'm going to try and get Choo Choo to speak at our Midget Football banquet!"

Says the kid: "Who's he?"

To 99.4 per cent of us pre-war babies, Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice is no more familiar than, say, George Washington. In North Carolina, it borders on subversion to be unaware of what is wistfully called "The Justice Era"—the most exciting period Tar Heel (the state and the team) football has ever known.

Well, Grady did, and Justice will speak at the Midget Football banquet here next Tuesday night, that is, the October 22 supper affair at the War Memorial will get underway at 6:30 p. m. A story inside the paper gives details. Suffice it here to say only 300 persons can be accommodated—and tickets are first-come, first-served.

Justice, who was in charge of securing a speaker for the first annual Midget League Recognition Night, didn't quit when he got Justice as the principal speaker. He also got his old friend Crowell Little of Chapel Hill to come here and introduce Justice. Little, now a car dealer, was an outstanding player. In his own day at the University of North Carolina, he was UNC backfield coach during the Justice heyday—1946 through 1949.

"Choo Choo" now is an Asheville businessman. His name still has magic for all with a smattering of interest in football. He enrolled in the university following Navy service and subsequently led the Tar Heels to three post-season bowls. He was chosen an All-American tailback in 1946 and 1949.
