IMPS IN PRINT

CINDY JACOBS AND MARY WALTON

Our ninth grade English teacher, Mrs. Peiffer, is back with us following the death of her husband, Donald H. Peiffer, principal of Senior High School. Even at Junior High this loss is felt because many Junior High students attended Park View School when Mr. Peiffer was principal there. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Peiffer and young Donald.

Saturday night, our Imps played Oakwood and were defeated 45 to 6. Oakwood was a tough team and our boys played hard. Better luck next time, Imps!

We would like to introduce to our readers our new News Bits Editor, "Ylis." "Ylis" sees all, hears all, and tells all. Be on your guard!

"Ylis" was traveling around the first floor during 7th grade lunch and he heard some juicy little pieces of gossip. If you are interested, just ask Janet Mayhew, Ann DeVane, or B. J. Harrington.

Mr. Woody's class has organized the first and only "O" club in MJHS. The honorary member and president is Miss Honeycutt, our librarian.

MJHS has two casualties from Midget football, Danny Beaver, who suffered a broken arm, and Kelly Compton, who has serious injuries of the jaw and is in a Charlotte hospital. We hope these fellows will mend quickly.

C. J. met a boy at Lenoir Rhyne. Guess who?

The Social Committee has announced that the Student Council will sponsor a dance on the fifteenth of November. The admission will be 25c for couples and 35c for stags. As you can tell, it will be cheaper to come as a couple.

"Ylis" has plans for a certain "student." This "student" drives a wine-colored car with a white top. All we can say is, "Beware!"

This week "Ylis" asked the students what they thought about fads. A fad is said to be a short-lived fashion, usually carried to the extreme. At MJHS fads are "in" one day, and "out" the next. Sometimes however, they turn into real fashion.

Marsha Deaton — Fipe, for people who can afford them.

Wayne Ervin — They're stupid.

Vickie Kennerly — I think they are O. K.

B. J. Harrington — I think fads are a. k., but sometimes they are carried to the extreme.

Lefty — Ratted hairdos make me sick.

Clyde Millsaps — I don't dig 'em.

Playwriting Housewives Will Take Part In Theatre Seminar

Mooresville's trio of amateur playwrights have been invited to take part in a theatre workshop in Chapel Hill late this month.

At least two of the three will participate in a panel discussion on "Writing the Musical Play." The one-day workshop, scheduled Saturday, October 26, is being held by the Carolina Dramatic Association. The session will be held in the Playmakers Theatre on the University of North Carolina campus.

John W. Parker, executive secretary of the Carolina Dramatic Association, asked the three housewives to take part in the workshop. Mrs. Bill Neel and Mrs. Gene Johnston already have agreed to serve on the panel that will discuss musical plays.

The third member of the team that wrote the award-winning "Listen to Your Heart," Mrs. Phin Horton, is not certain at this time whether she will be able to attend. Mrs. Horton, who lived in Mooresville during the two years the play was being written, now lives in Shelby.

The panel discussion will begin at 11:20 a. m. Among the other participants will be Leah Levin of Mt. Gilead, Elizabeth Smith of Danville, Va., and William MacIlwinen of Chapel Hill. Wilton Mason of the UNC drama department will moderate the discussion.

The panel program is part of a workshop that begins with a coffee hour at 9 a. m. and runs through the presentation of the musical "Little Mary Sunshine" at 8:30 p. m. A number of seminars on the writing and staging of musicals will be held during the day.

The three local ladies submitted their play in the annual State Drama Festival competition early this year. The festival is held by the Carolina Dramatic Association. "Listen to Your Heart" was selected as the best original play in the event. It was chosen for presentation during the 1964 festival in April.

TRIBUNE PHOTO

SLIGHT OVERSIGHT — Everything went beautifully Monday afternoon. For the giant crane, lifting the steeple to its resting place atop the new St. Mark's Lutheran Church under construction off Fieldstone Road was no sweat. After the delicate job was completed, and the steeple was towering its full 105 feet, the job foreman noted, to his dismay, a slight oversight—the cross at the tip-top was facing the wrong way. He said he could rig up a way to turn the cross from inside. The steeple was moved from its gantry at left.

That's all right. That's O. K. We CAN still be conference champs if we try just a little bit harder. The boys really played a fine game. At the half, the score was 0 to 0 even though King's Mountain seored in the third and fourth quarters.

Congratulations to David Oliphant who was selected the best player in the Monroe game.

Mooresville Senior High School is very proud to have Mr. Max Nanney as principal. We all know that he will do everything he can for the improvement of our school. All he needs is the co-operation of every student in our school. Let's try to do the very best we can also.
