Iredell May Be Declared Agriculture Disaster Area

A recommendation, which appears likely to be approved, that Iredell County be declared a disaster area because of the loss of crops due to the summer drought has been sent to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Iredell County was included in the 18 counties recently so designated by the State Disaster Committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Gov. Terry Sanford also concurred in the designation and recommended that these counties be made eligible for federal aid.

If the county is declared an agriculture disaster area it will mean that farmers who have dairy herds adn beef herds and are in danger of losing them because of a low supply of feed will be helped by the Federal Government.

This help will come primarily in the opportunity to obtain feed at reduced prices and to use land for grazing that has been placed in the soil bank. If soil bank land is used for grazing, however, the payments the farmer ordinarily would receive will be reduced.

The other counties included in the disaster area recommendation are Alexander, Anson, Ashe, Cleveland, Davidson, Davie, Durham, Forsyth, Gaston, Hertford, Johnson, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Randolph, Wake, Wilkes and Yadkin.

"Many reports of extreme drought conditions in these counties have come to my attention," said Sanford. "Also, I have reviewed information from the crop reporting service and find that crop conditions especially relating to pastures and other livestock feed are deplorable."

The simple, but difficult, key to contentment is to realize that life in its entirety is a gift, and not a right.

QUESTION BOX

Is it true that on becoming a Catholic one takes a new name?

It is customary at Baptism that Christian people choose for themselves and their little ones a Christian name, i.e., the name of some holy person called a saint. Other names may be retained, but because we all need a hero or heroine to imitate we affix a saint's name to ours to recall more easily their virtues and holiness.

Many of them suffered as do we; they struggled with the same temptations with which we are subjected. Frequently in life, we ask their sympathy and help in interceding for us before our Father in heaven.

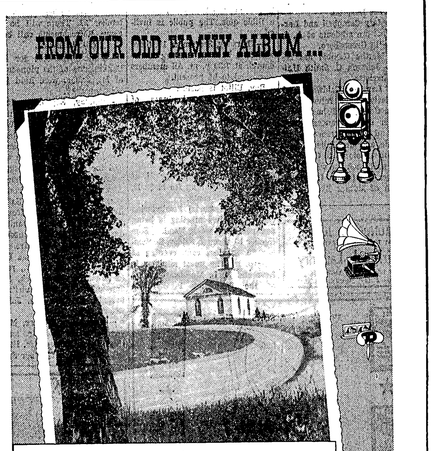
FROM OUR OLD FAMILY ALBUM...



What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "flivver," picking up the Parson on the way.

Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference."

But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness.

Now I worship in a big city church. You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close.

You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are conscientious people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church—big or little—is home.

Nurse Kilmer's Vow by Virginia Westland. Captain Jeb had gone off to war convinced that Hallie, whom he loved, did not reciprocate his affection. He was wrong, but Hallie married someone else anyway, when Jeb was reported killed in action. Now their paths were to cross again.

She Fell Among Thieves by Gretchen Travis. When the winner of a national contest comes to New York, she is involved in a million-dollar robbery—and narrowly escapes being the most widely publicized murder victim in the history of TV.

Full Circle by Bruce Ariss. Science-fiction story of a world in which the white man has disappeared, and an ancient prophecy says that his successors will come from the Land of the Dead.

Forests Of The Night by Jon Cleary. Dr. David Breton is a successful English plastic surgeon, who at the time of the story has just lost a malpractice suit, and been rejected by his current mistress. Needing a respite to take stock of himself, he journeys to Burma to visit his father, who is dying of cancer, and there becomes involved with a dedicated missionary priest and doctor, and with a young revolutionary who is terrorizing the countryside.
