Cobbler's Dream by Monica Dickens. An appealing novel about an old man who maintained a farm as a haven for old and mistreated horses. Among the characters are the Captain, who runs the farm, and whose kindness extends to the boys and girls who find security and accomplishment in caring for unfortunate animals; Ronnie Styles, an ex-jockey turned fighter who can no longer ride; Callie, a young girl who has run away from home; and Paul, the engaging young hero of the story, who saves his horse, Cobbler's Dream, from brutal mistreatment.

A Day In The "New Life" by Fyodor Abramov. Another candid glimpse of everyday life in today's Russia, this recounts the trials of the Prospekt, the chairman of a collective farm, who is beset by troubles—with the weather, with the farm workers, and with officialdom. Faced with the problem of saving his crop, he combats the village for people to work the next day. Sunday, meets evasions and excuses on all sides, and finally finds a solution to his problem—but one which will mean his political ruin.

A Call From Austria by Martha Albrand. A suspenseful novel of love and international intrigue. A desperate telephone appeal brings Robert Brissom from New York to search for his missing brother in Austria—a search that leads to a hidden Nazi treasure being used to finance a new and dangerous political party.

Every Day A Labor Day

Man And The Land — A Powerful Team

Some disenchanted city dweller once got the notion that farming is a part-time pleasure, that men who live off the land harvest their crops, bed down their fields each fall and, straight through to spring, do nothing but hunt and bask by the fireside. Harold Cashion of Mooresville, Route 2, is one of many South Iredell farmers who are busy these fall days exploding that little myth. Silhouetted against an early morning sky, Cashion catches his breath before heaving 200 pounds of fertilizer into the tractor-drawn drill on R. C. Mill's farm. He was preparing to plant red clover and winter oats where hay recently was harvested. Today, the soil and the men who work it are year-around partners.

The '64s from Ford are here: The Year of the Test Drive starts today!

Ford cars have changed. Only a test drive can tell you how much. Races and rallies, economy runs, braking and acceleration tests have bred into our 1964 models the kind of total performance you just can't create on the test track alone. They are hard-muscled, fast-moving, sure-footed. Open competition helped make them that way. They offer you substantially more car than anything at their price. You don't have to take our word for it. We're willing to rest our case on our cars.

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK...

REV. FLOYD TRELLER

"Well, there's another week shot," said a man upon receiving his pay check.

Nothing could be farther from the truth.

Both work and money are miracles! A man gives a week of his life in some kind of service, for which in turn he gets paid. He then has the opportunity to live that week all over again through his money.

This is the reason Jesus placed so much emphasis upon the proper use of money. In reality it's what you do with your life! The acid test of true religion is not how you respond to the altar call, but how you respond to the offering plate!

Next time you draw your pay check take a good look at it—it's a part of your life. You must make a decision as to how you will spend it.

Hear the words of Christ: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven—for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." (Matthew 6:25, 21).

VA Office Issues A Reminder About Dependency Status

Dependent parents of deceased servicemen receiving death compensation were reminded by the Iredell County veterans service officer, J. Pierce VanHoy, that the special dependency questionnaire received with their VA check on September 1 must be completed and returned to the VA before October 31.

At the time parents were placed on the compensation rolls, they were definitely determined to be dependent. The purpose of the questionnaire is to establish the fact that they have continued to be dependent and are still eligible for payment, according to VanHoy.

Assistance in completing the questionnaires may be obtained from the Iredell County veterans service officer located in the Municipal Building, Mooresville.
