QUESTION BOX

May people worship the Mother of Jesus?

There is a widespread impression that some churches worship Mary as a goddess. Many rightly oppose such a practice. But actually no religious group does this.

Catholics honor her because God honored her, because her Divine Son, Jesus Christ, revered and obeyed her, and because of her holiness.

Protestants will launch a special appeal for $500,000 during the Thanksgiving season to finance the 1964 Share Our Substance Program, through which more than 10 million of the world's hungry will receive life-sustaining U. S. food stocks.

The goal for the 1964 SOS appeal was announced by Canon Almon R. Pepper, chairman of the executive committee of Church World Service, National Council of Churches, which sponsors the program on behalf of major American Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

Canon Pepper also explained the change in the designation of the SOS appeal this year to "Share Our Substance" from the former "Share Our Surplus."

"The change reflects a desire to better express the spirit of sharing between the American Christian community and our friends abroad," said Canon Pepper.

Scheduled for distribution in 1964 are 446,504,000 pounds of SOS foods destined for the needy in Africa, Asia, Latin America, Europe and the Middle East. Value of the foods is approximately $25 million.

The foodstuffs include wheat, rolled wheat, flour, bulgur (a processed wheat derivative), beans, chowder, butter, oil, ghee (a semi-solid butter), corn meal, powdered milk and cooking oils.

These foods used in the overseas program of the churches are made available from U. S. Government commodities in excess of amounts first set aside to relieve need in the United States.

During the past year over 400,000,000 pounds of government donated and other foods were distributed through the SOS program to millions of hungry men, women, and children in 35 areas of acute human need.

Since 1952, SOS foods sent overseas by the churches have been given to disaster victims, used in supplemental feeding programs for orphans, widows and school children, hospital patients and the aged, and distributed to refugees and others in distress.

More recently, certain types of commodities are also being used as partial payment to workers in communist countries.

Only from the carefree heart of a child could come such joy.

Or could it? Is it necessary to lose childhood's happy laughter? Must we feel depressed and burdened with the yoke of adult cares?

Certainly not! The God-given gifts of joy and happiness are possessions we can and must retain throughout all our years. But how can we keep this wonderful spirit?

Here is a formula that is very simple: attend the church of your choice regularly. In God's house you will learn to accept life's burdens — and soon they will be ever so much lighter. His Peace will fill your heart. Here, in fellowship with others, you will receive the needed peace and understanding to reclaim and sustain the merry heart.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL! ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend every service regularly and read every Bible daily.

Iredell County Rural Housing Program Grows

By W. H. BLAND

Work Unit Conservationist

Iredell county rural housing program took another major step forward during 1963 when the Farmers Home Administration made 21 housing loans valued at $219,650.00, reports Maynard L. Self, acting county supervisor.

This represents 13 more loans than were made the previous year and an increase of $153,850.00 in funds obligated.

"Farmers Home Administration's rural housing program is truly proving to be an important factor in stimulating the renewal of rural areas throughout the State," Self said. "Not only do the more than 21 families receiving loans benefit by having the means for better housing, but the impact of an active housing construction program extends throughout local areas."

There was an increase this fiscal year in the number and amount of loans to rural areas. The program farm tracts over those living on farms. The increase reflected the broadening of the program by the Housing Act of 1961, Rural Housing loan requirements also continued at a high level. Borrowers, as of December 31, 1962, had paid 100 per cent of the amount due.

There have been no foreclosures, voluntary conveyances, or losses on rural housing loans since the inception of the program.

Funds loaned during fiscal 1963 made possible the construction of 20 new dwellings compared to 8 when done a little at a time according to the plan. That is why it is so important for a landowner to have a conservation plan for his land. This service is free and all any land-owner needs is to ask for assistance. Someone is always in the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture ready to help. The office is located in room 314 of the Stateville Post Office Building.

J. B. Simpson, Soil Conservation Technician, spends most of his time in the field. He and his assistants apply their conservation practices according to their conservation plans that they have already developed with assistance from the Work Unit Conservationist.

During August he assisted the following with the staking out of strip cropland, terraces, diversions, grassed waterways, the drainage of drainage ditches, or farm ponds: J. E. Sherrill, George McNeely, Boyce H. Simson, Clyde Perry, and R. S. Godfrey.

Other conservation practices being used by farmers are: strip cropping, contour farming, cover crops, grasses and legumes in rotation, crop rotation, field border planting, pasture and hayland planting, woodland natural seeding, tree planting, woodland intermediate cut, woodland weeding, woodland grazing, and woodland thinning. Fishpond stocking, wildlife habitat development, hedgerow planting, critical area planting, and irrigation systems.

Approved by the ASC county committee is required for each farm before diverted acreage can be grazed or hayed. In addition, where the county committee approves having or grazing, downward adjustments will be made in payments to farmers where these lands are grazed or hayed.

The 18 counties approved for federal aid last week were: Alexander, Anson, Ashe, Cleveland, Davidson, Durham, Forsyth, Gaston, Guilford, Iredell, Johnston, Lincoln, Mecklenburg, Randolph, Wake, Wilkes, and Yadkin.

Under this designation Iredell farmers may apply at the Iredell ASC office in Statesville and obtain permission for grazing and having of land retired from production under USDA programs. Farmers may also apply for the purchase of surplus CCC corn at 75 per cent of market value.

Conservation is a key to the future of the county. It is the only way to insure that the land is available for the future. It is the only way to insure that the land is available for the future. It is the only way to insure that the land is available for the future.

The regular meeting of the Tom Swann Post No. 1072, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held at the Post Home on the Mount at Highway 31 (Thursday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

All members of the service organization are urged to attend the meeting.

Commander W. B. Curtis will preside.
