is, it is not strange that his support crosses all factional lines in the Democratic party. Preyer supporters, Moore supporters, Lake supporters, all are found in his camp. In his native county of Moore, for instance, State Senator Bill Saunders of Southern Pines is leading the fight for Moore. He is also leading the forces for Cliff Blue. A good mashie shot away in the same county, over in Pinehurst, Preyer's brother-in-law, Ben Harris, is leading the fight for Preyer, also the forces for Cliff Blue. And so it goes all over North Carolina.

Here are a few excerpts from Cliff's formal announcement made last week:

"After having served as a member of the House of Representatives from Moore County for nine terms —the ninth as Speaker of the House, I can fully appreciate the responsibilities and opportunities for service that go with the office of Lieutenant Governor.

"I regard the office as a position of great importance and responsibility.

"My services as a member of the House, and as Speaker, will give you an idea of my conception of government and how I would approach my responsibilities if nominated and elected Lieutenant Governor.

"I will seek the support of all people and groups who would like to be dealt with fairly and on top of the table.

"In committee appointments, if elected, I will strive for fair representation of the Senate membership and for the best welfare of the State as a whole.

"My sole desire in government has been to serve the people fairly and honestly, and it is with this continuing desire that I become a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

"There are many programs underway and in the offing in North Carolina which I am greatly interested in.

"For more than a year I have been saying that the time was near when North Carolina should embark on another major road building program. That time has arrived, and I will support a bond issue of $200,000,000.00 or more that would bring our road-building program up-to-date, but not to exceed an amount that can be paid for without increasing the present state gasoline tax.

"Among the duties of the Lieutenant Governor is serving as a member of the State Board of Education. Here I would do my utmost to see that our public schools and community colleges meet the ever-increasing challenges of this day and age for quality education.

"I had the opportunity and privilege of serving as a member of the Governor's Commission on Education Beyond the High School which recommended senior four-year colleges for Wilmington, Charlotte and Asheville, and a system of comprehensive community colleges throughout North Carolina.

"I hope that the day will come in the foreseeable future when there will be within commuting distance, an institution of higher learning, public if not private, for every boy and girl within the State unable to leave home to attend a dormitory college.

"Our Industrial Education Centers and the new system of Comprehensive Community Colleges can mean a new day for untold thousands of deserving boys and girls, and also men and women anxious for more adult education.

"In 1961 our State moved forward in providing to a limited degree for the educable and the trainable mentally retarded children. This program was continued and bolstered by the 1963 General Assembly. We should not permit these young boys and girls to be brought up to manhood and womanhood in the closets and dark corners of our homes.

"As I go into the campaign, I expect to discuss in straightforward manner and simple language the issues and problems facing our progressive and growing state.

"There is the public utility issue. The REA has had a large and favorable impact on the development of this State and it should have the right to continue to serve the people. It has made obsolete the lantern and the kerosene lamp in hundreds and thousands of homes. There are the vital, privately owned public utility companies, serving well and paying taxes. There should be, and I am sure there can be common ground on which both can serve our people.

"We live in a great State where good government has become a habit. I am proud to have had a small part in our state government during the past 18 years. Everything has not been perfect, but generally it has been progressive, forward-looking and wholesome.

"I look forward to a broader discussion of the issues and problems facing our state in the weeks and months ahead.

"If nominated and elected, I also look forward to working with our new governor, whoever the people may nominate and elect, towards building a still greater North Carolina."

replacement is selected.

Sherrill, 61, will retire effective February 29, but he has agreed to serve the water and sewer departments in an advisory capacity until his successor becomes familiar with the work. Sherrill is married to the former Elizabeth Goodrum. The couple lives at 121 East Catawba Avenue.

Retirement plans? He says he hasn't looked too far ahead, but he does figure on plenty of fishing on Lake Norman in the years ahead.

Brooks said applications for the position of public utilities director now are being accepted and processed. He said a new director will be named before the end of the current fiscal year, probably within 60 to 90 days.

The man who will take over as acting director has spent all of his 22 years with the town in the utilities department. Parker, 52, holds both water and sewer plant operator's certificates earned in the North Carolina Water Works Operators' School.

Parker is married to the former Beatrice Shoemaker of Mooresville, they live at 133 North Sherrill street with their daughters, Sylvia, Jane and Faye.

Brooks said a formal retirement ceremony for Sherrill will be held at the end of the month.

ations for use in their charity work.

Lowrance Hospital of Mooresville will receive $1,297, and Iredell Memorial Hospital at Statesville will get $3,783. Barium Springs Home For Children at Barium Springs will receive $11,423.20.

The funds, based on charity care in the fiscal year which ended September 30, 1963, are being distributed to 143 hospitals and 43 child care institutions in the two states. Hospitals receive $992,921 of the total and child care institutions $450,281.80. The 105 North Carolina hospitals get $658,783 and 38 in South Carolina $334,138. Twenty six North Carolina child care institutions get $238,451.62 and 17 in South Carolina, $163,-949.74. The total for North Carolina is $897,234.62, and South Carolina $488,087.74.

Figures released by Thomas L. Perkins, chairman of The Endowment, show that these appropriations bring to $36,814,170.36 the contributions made in 39 consecutive years to assist hospitals and child care institutions of the two states in their charity services. Additional funds will be allocated at the February meeting of the trustees when hospital applications completed since the current appropriations were made will be considered.

Explaining that hospitals are assisted in the basis of $1 a day with each free day of care, Marshall I. Pickens, Endowment secretary and trustee and executive director of the Hospital and Orphan Sections, said the 890,821 free days of care reported were 20.2 per cent of the 4,391,126 days of care given by these institutions as compared with free days amounting to 19.4 per cent in the previous year.

Housing Board Gets Power To Acquire Sites

The Mooresville Housing Authority now has the power to condemn and acquire property needed in the development of its public housing project.

The local housing board has been granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity by the State Utilities Commission. The certificate and existing statutes give the board the right of eminent-domain in connection with the completion of site acquisition for the 76 units of low-rent, federally-supported public housing.

Members of the Housing Authority and other city officials appeared before the Utilities Commission February 6 and explained the need for the public housing development here.

The commission took Mooresville's position under study, and Monday it issued the certificate.

'Beatle' Haircuts May Prove Costly

Mooresville barbers have already started getting requests for "Beatle-type" haircuts.

But, as of Wednesday morning, no such haircut had been "performed" locally. Some barbers said that while many Mooresville youths were their hair long, they would have to let their hair grow, probably for weeks, before the "Beatle" mop could be accomplished.

Most of the barbers said they were going to dodge the "Beatle" hair style as long as possible.

Barbers in one shop said that if they were forced to cut hair "Beatle-style" the customer would pay dearly for the service. One barber suggested a fee of $12.27.

"That might sound like a ridiculous price, but it is no more ridiculous than that hair style," the barber stated.

Hot Bridges Beat Winter

Hot bridges cancel out the perils of winter ice and snow in Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Tex.

Built-in electric conduits warm the bridge roadways to 8 few degrees above freezing. One hour's maximum output of the systems could heat an ordinary home for 5 months.

The heated pavement is on one lane of an expressway in Amarillo and on a river bridge in Wichita Falls. Traffic keeps moving over these sections even under the worst blizzard conditions.

Miss Cynthia Alexander And Paul C. Steadman Nuptials Spoken At Prospect Church Saturday

In a ceremony of beauty on Saturday, Fberuary 8, at seven o'clock in the evening in the Prospect Presbyterian Church, Miss Cynthia Anne Alexander became the bride of Paul Colin Steadman. The bride's pastor, the Rev. Wilkes Dendy Macaulay, officiated.

The couple exchanged their vows in a traditional setting of greenery with spiral and seven-branched candelabra holding lighted tapers. Silver urns held arrangements of white chrysanthemums. Pews for the families and guests were marked with standards holding white candles.

Prior to and during the ceremony, a selection of Bach Chorales were rendered by Miss Catherine Moore, organist. Miss Shirley Bosta, of Greensboro, sang "My Heart Ever Faithful" and "Sheep May Safely Graze," both by Bach and for the benediction "Lord Jesus Christ With Us Abide."

For the processional, Miss Moore played "Air" for G String by Purcell and "Trumpet Voluntary" was used for the recessional.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander of Mooresville, route 3, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of white velvet designed with a detachable train of peau de sole and velvet. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a high neck and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. A belt of matching material, trimmed with pearls from the wedding dress of her maternal grandmother, accented the waistline of the gown. Her lace mantilla was attached to a pearl pillbox. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, phalaenopsis orchid, white grapes and English ivy. Her only ornament was a Cameo, a family heirloom which now belongs to her sister, Miss Beth Alexander.

The bride's sister, Miss Beth Alexander, was maid-of-honor and bridesmaids were Miss Lynda Joy Carrigan of Mooresville, all cousins of the bride.

Little Miss Melanie Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Alexander of Charlotte, and cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

All of the attendants were full length dresses of electric blue velveteen, fashioned similar to the bride's. Their headpiece was a matching velvet tiered pillbox accented with 4 fabric rose. They carried cascade bouquets of white roses, snowdrift chrysanthemums, green grapes and English ivy.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Steadman of 420 Oakhurst Road, Statesville, had his daughter, West Point, Tobers were: Pete Futrell of Statesville, cousin of the bridegroom; Henry Sharpe of Atlanta, Georgia; Henry Beveridge of Gastonia; Albert Steadman of Goodwater, Alabama, uncle of the bridegroom; and Michael and Jim Steadman, both of Statesville and brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Alexander chose for her daughter's wedding, a two-piece dress of blue silk fashioned with a scooped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her accessories were matching and she wore a corsage of pink camellias.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Steadman, wore a dress of green velvet designed with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore matching accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bruce Carrigan, grandmother of the bride, chose a blue two-piece dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink camellias. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. C. C. Jurney of Statesville, wore a teal blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Steadman is a graduate of Mooresville High School and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Her husband, a graduate of Mooresville High School and Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, is a senior at Emory University School of Dentistry, Atlanta, Georgia.

After a wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 651 Timm Valley Road, Atlanta, Georgia. For traveling, the bride wore an off-white crepe sheath with a black coat and accessories. She lifted the roses from her bridal bouquet for a corsage.

Bride's Parents Entertain At Reception

Immediately following the wedding of Miss Cynthia Alexander and Paul C. Steadman on Saturday, February 8, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander were host at a reception in the Fellowship Hall of Prospect Presbyterian Church.

A lovely and delicate color note of pink and white was used most attractively in the decor of the hall. Pink snapdragons and snowdrift chrysauthemums were of special interest on the mantel.

A four-tiered wedding cake, decorated in pink, white and green, and topped with wedding bells and lily-of-the-valley, was placed on a table laid with a white network linen cloth.

The punch table was appointed with a handsome candelabra arrangement of pink snapdragons and snowdrift chrysanthemums. Compotes held fondant mints and nuts.

Mrs. and Mrs. James Linker greeted the guests and presented to the receiving line composed of the bride's couple, their parents, attendants and grandparents.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first-slice of wedding cake, Mrs. L. W. Lowrance completed the serving of the cake. Mrs. Frank Futrell, of Statesville, presided at the silver punch service.

Assisting with the serving and entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander, Mrs. Grady Alexander, Miss Susan Linker, Miss Gail Lowrance, Mrs. Robert Linker, Mrs. Willis Cook and Mrs. Russell Thompson.

The guest register was kept by Mrs. Virginia Hedrick and Mrs. Melvin Crouch of Oxon Hill, Maryland.
