We Are Happy To Be Back

A family feud was precipitated at our house last week while I was convalescing from a hernia operation.

I was badly in need of a haircut when I entered the hospital. Ten days later I was as bushy as a fox's tail in December.

Actually, this thing starts about four years ago when we acquire Nina, a French poodle. There are more styles for trimming a French poodle than there are for arranging a teenager's hairdo. But trim 'em you must.

Marie gets the dog catalogue out and orders all the necessary paraphernalia. Electric clippers, scissors, combs, wire hairbrush and all that business. In short order she becomes an expert at it. Nina is the most stylishly trimmed poodle west of the Pecos and east of Fourth Creek.

I make the dog mistake last week of complaining about the need for a haircut. The gleam in Marie's eyes is unmistakable. She hauls out the electric clippers, scissors, even the wire hairbrush, bless God.

Marie is the intrepid, adventurous type. Always an explorer. Had she lived in the days of Daniel Boone she probably would've been riding shotgun in the second wagon.

But not on my noggin. I would have none of it. Cathy puts in her two bits worth. "Mommy could do a better job on you than Nina because you'll hold still."

I'm not about to hold still for this deal. And I say so. And all week this portable dog barber shop lies conspicuously and conspicuously on the kitchen table. The atmosphere gets so tense you can cut it with a knife. I limp through the kitchen in my pajamas and out the corner of my eye catch Marie and Cathy watching my shaggy dome like a cat watching a bird in a chinaberry bush.

Dorothy drives up from Charlotte one afternoon and gets into the act. "Plenty of wives," she says, "cut their husbands' hair."

"Name one, just one," I say, "and don't give me any fictitious stuff."

She couldn't produce.

The pressure builds up until I resort to reminding them of the story about Sampson, how he was the strongest man in the world until he was tricked by this Philistine woman named Delilah who cut his hair. Overnight he became weak and sticky.

"We've been reading about those things in school," says Cathy, "and they are just make believe."

Make believe! How do you like that? And all the time this kid has supposed to have been getting educated.

But I held out to the bitter end and on Saturday finally managed to get to the barber shop.

I'm still master of my household. Theoretically, that is.

Incidentally, the fact that it carried Ireddell by 13 votes was a sort of political accident. The boys up in Concord township got mousetrapped into making an early commitment in favor of the amendment. By the time they had seen the error of their ways, it was too late to switch. I am proud of the whole Tribune family that makes these awards possible from year to year.

In an overall critique dealing with news coverage, editorials, features, photography, makeup, and reproduction quality of newspapers in general, the judges had to say, "The Mooreville Tribune is a strong newspaper." Then went on to say that a newspaper photo by Philip Parker on the opening of the football season in the September 5 issue was one of the best they had ever seen.

I don't care how good or sensational a newspaper might be, the whole history of journalism proves that its circulation can only be built slowly through the years. The circulation of the Tribune is now over the 5,000 mark. One of my ambitions in life is to live long enough to see it hit 6,000, a feat of no small dimensions in a non-county seat town.

John Glenn has been my favorite among the astronauts from the beginning. He is a great credit to his state and to the nation. And he has every right to run for the U. S. Senate. But he'll get clobbered in the primary by Senator Stephen Young.

Senator Young is one of the most able, conscientious and honest men in the U. S. Senate. He has a tremendously fine record in Washington, furthermore has a solid organization behind him.

Town Manager Will Enforce Housing Code

On the night of February 6, 1961, the Town Board adopted the first minimum housing ordinance in Mooreville's history. The commissioners ruled that the law would become effective three years from the date of its adoption.

When the minimum housing code comes alive February 6, it is likely to get the attention of a great many homeowners and landlords who have ignored it during its three years of dormancy.

City Manager Cy Brooks will be charged with the enforcement of the law, and he said "this week that he fully intends to do just that. Brooks sees a lot of quick changes in the attitude occupants."

Town Blue Law Not Bothered By High Court

The outlawing of the latest state "blue law" will have virtually no effect on the observance of the Sabbath in Mooreville.

The State Supreme Court last week knocked down the year-old ordinance that prohibited the sale of certain merchandise on Sunday in about three-fourths of North Carolina's counties.

City Manager Cy Brooks explained following the court ruling that Mooreville's existing Sunday closing ordinance is more stringent than the now-buried state regulation, so the state bill never was applicable here at all.

Brooks said "blue laws" specified what types of merchandise could not be sold on Sunday. Mooreville's law spells out what types of businesses can operate on Sunday. Brooks said the town's Sunday closing law more than covers the requirements of the state statute.

The Supreme Court did not touch Mooreville's ordinance.

Preyer Cites Pattern For Progress

Richardson Preyer, a former federal judge who would like to be governor of North Carolina, scored in Ireddell Tuesday.

The Greensboro candidate for the Democratic nomination ripped a sharp double hit first time up, before some 200 supporters at a 6 o'clock breakfast in a Statesville hotel. He advanced to third place after a hit by his wife, by Judge Preyer's appearances Tuesday were limited to the county seat, but his campaign manager, Billy Johnston.

R. J. Alander Speaks At C-C Banquet Event

Mooreville's progress during the past decade is the envy of its neighboring metropolis of Charlotte, a Queen City newspaper advertising executive declared here Tuesday night.

Annual Session Of United Fund Slated Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Mooreville-South Ireddell United Fund will be held Tuesday, January 28, at 7 o'clock.

Introduced by John Alfred, newly elected vice president of the local Chamber, Alander said "Mooreville is an envied city."

Illustrating his statement, the speaker said:

"Mooreville is more than just a city. It is more than just a lot of houses concentrated in one area. It is a city that brags first and foremost about its main asset—people. How well I know this from having visited in your community over so many times. I know of no single asset that is quite as valuable as the human product."

Alander, who only last week presented one of advertising's highest awards, built his address around the subject: "A Field Of Diamonds."

Other important business matters slated for discussion include a report by a study committee on possibly updating of the local U.F. constitution. Emmett Morrow, chairman of the See UNITED FUND—Page 2

April 28 Now Definite Date For Tax Vote

April 28, a Tuesday, no longer is the tentative date for the re-election tax referendum. It is the definite date.

When the Town Board decided early this month to call a vote on the tax-for-recreation question, April 28 was first choice as the time for the election.

But City Manager raised the question whether local elections are restricted by statute as to how close to state votes, in this case the primaries coming up in May, they can be held. The board asked its attorney, Bill Pope, to make sure April 28 was in keeping with the requirements of other election laws.

Uncle Dan From Doobie Says:

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

The fellows at the country store Saturday night was in a state of confusion over the political situation. Most of the fellows was gitting as confused as the battle lines in Vietnam and the Congo.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw in the papers where candidate Rockefeller says he's running again the "Four-D Formation—debt, disaster, deceit, and Deceit." Now the to ever, and at the same time, Zeke said, Rockefeller allowed as how he ain't promising no miracles if he gits to Washington.

After the miracle we've had in Washington for the last 12 year, like Billy Sol Estes and Bobby Baker, for instance, I hope whoever wins will give us a few small ones to taper off on so's to keep us from breaking up and gitting the heebie-jeebies.

It's hard, Mister Editor, to figger out them politicians. A Republican candidate will git up on the stump and say the country is sagging when it ought to be, zigging, and the Democrat candidate will allow as how the Democrats has been busy for four years trying to git the sag out of the sig from Ike's eight year in Washington. A heap of the candidates ain't got the answers to nothing, but I never knowed one that didn't keep a big stock of replies on hand.

Furthermore, it has got so the candidates at national level is using a heap of now words that was confusing to the voters. For instance, one fellow running for Congress says we need more "groupmanship" amongst our allies abroad. I reckon this is a first cousin to that "togetherness" business we been hearing about.

I may be gitting old and set in my ways but it's hard for me to see what "groupmanship" has got to do with our books being $315 billion in the red and $8 billion out of balance for the year. While the Government is fixing us up with fall-out shelters again what might come from Russia, they ought to give us oxygen tents for what we know is coming from Washington.

Even Ed Doobittle, that is, a authority on politics, special the Republican brand, says he can't tell up from down or front from back about the political double talk now going on amongst the candidates. Ed says it makes him reelieeet about the feller in the cafe, complaining to the waiter the water was muddy. The waiter jumped all over the feller, claimd he couldn't see 'wood, said they wasn't nothing the matter with the water, the glass was just dirty.

Zeke was of the opinion both sides would have to set up some of them Markus of Quenberry rules or the water was going to git too muddy or the glass too dirty for the voters to tell from nothing what it's all about.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Tribune Honored By Press Association

The Tribune was honored recently during the annual convention of the N. C. Press Association in Chapel Hill. These members of the news staff were especially pleased to receive, for the third year in a row, the first place plaque for the best news coverage of any weekly in the state. Behind Juanita (Mrs. Lewis) Davis are, from left, Philip Parker, Everett Jones and Len Sullivan. The Tribune also won second place awards in the photography and editorial divisions of the statewide contest. Gov. Terry Sanford made the presentations.

The Tribune's 10 View Their Responsibilities

There are 10 of us in the Tribune family. To each of us equally, this newspaper is a very personal product. Our lives are geared to its weekly appearance; we rejoice at its health, we weep at its failings. Somebody once observed that putting out a newspaper is easy—all you have to do is open a vein and bleed. True, there is something about this business that becomes imbedded in all who come in contact with it. The newspaper trade is different from most in that it is forever on public display. In fact, the degree of its public display determines the extent of its public service.

Among its colleagues, the Tribune enjoys some measure of respect, even admiration. It often has been referred to by people in high places as the most influential non-daily newspaper in the state. Be that as it may, the paper usually is a source of pride for the 10 persons who produce it. Last week, the North Carolina Press Association threw more bouquets our way. We received the first place award in news coverage for the third year in a row. We were presented second place awards in photography and—surprise—editorials. We can't help but be pleased with this kind of recognition. We don't feel we're being overly brazen to tell you about the attention we got from other Tar Heel newspapers.

At the annual press awards banquet, the brotherhood of North Carolina journalism becomes something of a mutual admiration society. We tend to look for what we like about each other, rather than point out our dislikes as we do about most everything else the rest of the year. But, still, the fact that others saw considerable things like in us is delightful. As newspapers go, the Tribune is no great shakes, size-wise. With something like 5,000 circulation, it stands in awe of the dailies with their fleets of trucks and distributions that run in the hundreds of thousands. We know only too well that we can't compete in the same league with these giants, so we don't even think in terms of comparing our product with theirs. But our value, as we see it, and our responsibility are clearly drawn by the very fact that we are comparatively small. We can perform a service no other news media now in existence can perform. We can devote energy and space to the people of Mooreville and its environs. The more the newspaper giants grow, the more insignificant becomes the local news. To us, the new officers of a church's ruling body are news; a football game is a major event. We try to be very careful about the spelling of names; we cringe at the thought of leaving out mention of somebody's new baby.

The Tribune is growing steadily, but its mission remains unchanged. The ultimate test of its usefulness is right now, when you read it. It is a privately-operated community service, and its owner knows only too well that it must put that service above all else. Its rank in your eyes will determine precisely its future—and its prestige among other newspapers.

The Tribune 10 pledge their best efforts toward maintaining this rank. And we thank you for allowing us this opportunity to tell you we do.

This 'Month' Makes A Lot Of Sense

Even in the face of a myriad of "weeks" and "months" we already observe, we think the President and the Reader's Digest have started a good thing.

At the request of the magazine, President Johnson proclaimed January "This Nation Under God Month." The proposal was made after Reader's Digest and all major media for dissemination of information received outpourings of the nation's emotions in the form of thousands of letters, telegrams, phone calls and personal visits. No doubt triggered by Black Friday, November 22, there has welled up in the hearts of Americans a common and spontaneous urge for rededication of their country to the principles and the piety of its founders.

The President had this to say about "This Nation Under God Month": "The founding fathers of our nation were men of courage and faith. In a world where neither history nor precedent gave them any assurance that democracy would survive, they courageously set our young country on its course. Their confidence grew out of their deep faith—the faith that Americans would always live by the moral tenets upon which true greatness rests. There has come a sudden realization that we need to rededicate ourselves to lives of moral strength and purpose. I ask my fellow citizens to join in reaffirming the basic moral convictions which have carried our nation through many dark and troubled waters."

We, even here in little Mooreville, have seen local evidence of this shift in values. We dare not think, not yet, that the trend might possibly be a permanent one. We pray that it shall.

In the meantime, we couldn't agree more with the President's words. Let's observe "This Nation Under God Month" every month in our individual lives.

In The Night, A Lamp Of Compassion

In a time when most of us think of business ethics as making a buck whenever and however we can this side of the law, an occasional development comes as a lamp in the night. Such a ray of light was the recent report of a cooperative program to protect rheumatic fever victims against renewed attacks of the killer.

The proper dosage for rheumatic fever victims, the Heart Associations buy the drug and supply the local pharmacist. The pharmacist, in turn, supplies the rheumatic fever patient.

There is no profit anywhere along the line. There is only a desire to alleviate human suffering. This is the kind of island of compassion in a sea of materialism that makes the heart sing.

Incidentally, the Heart Association's annual fund drive is coming up in February. Why not show your appreciation with a contribution? Your money makes you a soldier in the never-ending war against heart disease.

WORDS OF WISDOM
Anybody who ever had to plow through rulings or opinions written by federal regulatory agencies should give a loud cheer for Supreme Court Justice Black. After trying to comprehend an Interstate Commerce Commission report, Mr. Black observed: "I am compelled to say that the Commission could have informed me just as well if it had written 'Xs to tell findings in ancient Sanskrit.'" —Wall Street Journal.

Thus far, labor's only basic remedy for unemployment is the synthetic one of a 35-hour work week to be established through federal legislation. Such a cut in work schedules would merely drive up costs and thus make it harder for American goods to compete in domestic and world markets. Moreover, it is a retreat from the fuller use of our material, manpower and productive facilities when poverty remains a crucial challenge in large sections of our own country and even larger sections of Asia, Africa and Latin America. —New York Times.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

I'm in hot water again. No, my cold water spigot ain't busted loose—its members. Rude, blawdy, and I did set up a chain resister. Now everybody mad. According to Ellis Nicklesinger I committed the unpardonable sin last Lord's Day. I couldn't remember a fellow's name.

After my fine sermon was over and everybody was coming out the door to shake hands a fellow walked up to me and said, "Remember me!" I said, "Nopes, don't believe I do." Well, sir, he was mad as a setlin hen, and stomped out that he wasn't coming back anymore. I felt a little better, but I couldn't remember the name of the fellow. By the time everybody got through shaking me out I was trembling to my toes. I thought maybe I was losing my mind, cause I couldn't remember ever seeing that fellow before. I went back and looked in my record book and there it was. It was a fellow named Jones. (You see, if a fellow came to me on the books he is a genuine member.)

According to the record he had come to Church on Sunday six years ago. Looks like I'm gonna have to go and apologize to this fellow and tell him that my mind goes to the bad. A thing like this could tear the church all to pieces.

Ain't it peculiar, Mr. Publisher, how folks get upset when you can't remember their names. I met Ellis Nicklesinger's grandpa four years ago at a hog auction. I didn't actually talk to him, I just heard him and one or two others, and at the time I didn't know whether it was him or the hogs. Anyhow, two weeks ago I saw him again over at Ellis and I didn't recognize him. I saw he was mad, but I truned everything out by telling him that I didn't recognize him without the hogs. This pleased him awful well, cause he loves pigs.

Lotus times when I go to a strange church to preach I learn a site a new folks. They come out the front door like a bound dog chasing a rabbit, and either grunt or whisper their names. You can imagine how many a fellow comes after the first time they meet you. By course they still expect you to remember em when they meet you in Goose Holler ten years later. They get mad if you don't.

Mr. Publisher, I got to wondering why folks is so upset when you can't remember their names and if it got me to thinking to me. (There ain't nothing like a fellow's name in a kind of like status symbol. They make folks feel like big shots, and when you can't even remember em it like like the air out of a inner tube. Don't nobody like a flat tire.)

Well, Mr. Publisher, I gotta go. There is one request I got. When you're putting my name on your paper at least get the spelling right so folks will know who it is. O.K.?

Yours Truly,

Parson Jones

And extension agents have until April 1 to get their selections into the hands of The Observer. Executives of Queens, Davidson and Charlotte colleges, and officials of the N. C. THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK

Politics is crooked — stay away from it! This is the philosophy of some well-meaning people. But it isn't Christian.

I have little patience with people who know all about the Bible and nothing about what's going on in the world. I am just as aggravated by those who know all about the world and nothing about the Bible. Either group is in danger of sinking the ship of human freedom.

The Christian is never justified to hide in a holy hole somewhere and let the rest of the world go by. Rather, he must wade out into the main stream of life and use his Christian influence to help make the Kingdom of our Lord. Not by just quoting Scriptures, but by intelligently applying the principles and spirit of Christ to the here and now.

A Christian is obligated to his Lord to be involved in the affairs of State. Jesus says, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." (Matthew 22:21)

Take the Bible in one hand, the newspaper in the other and go to work in the ballbox and the marketplace.

Rebounding Junior High Teams Thrill Cage Fans

You can talk about the political situation, and you can talk about the basketball situation, but when you talk about the Junior High basketball, you had better have good things to say. The youngsters at the local educational institution are really proud of the fine job their teams are doing.

To date, both the girls and boys have won two of their three contests and those youngsters really hope and yell when their teams are on the court.

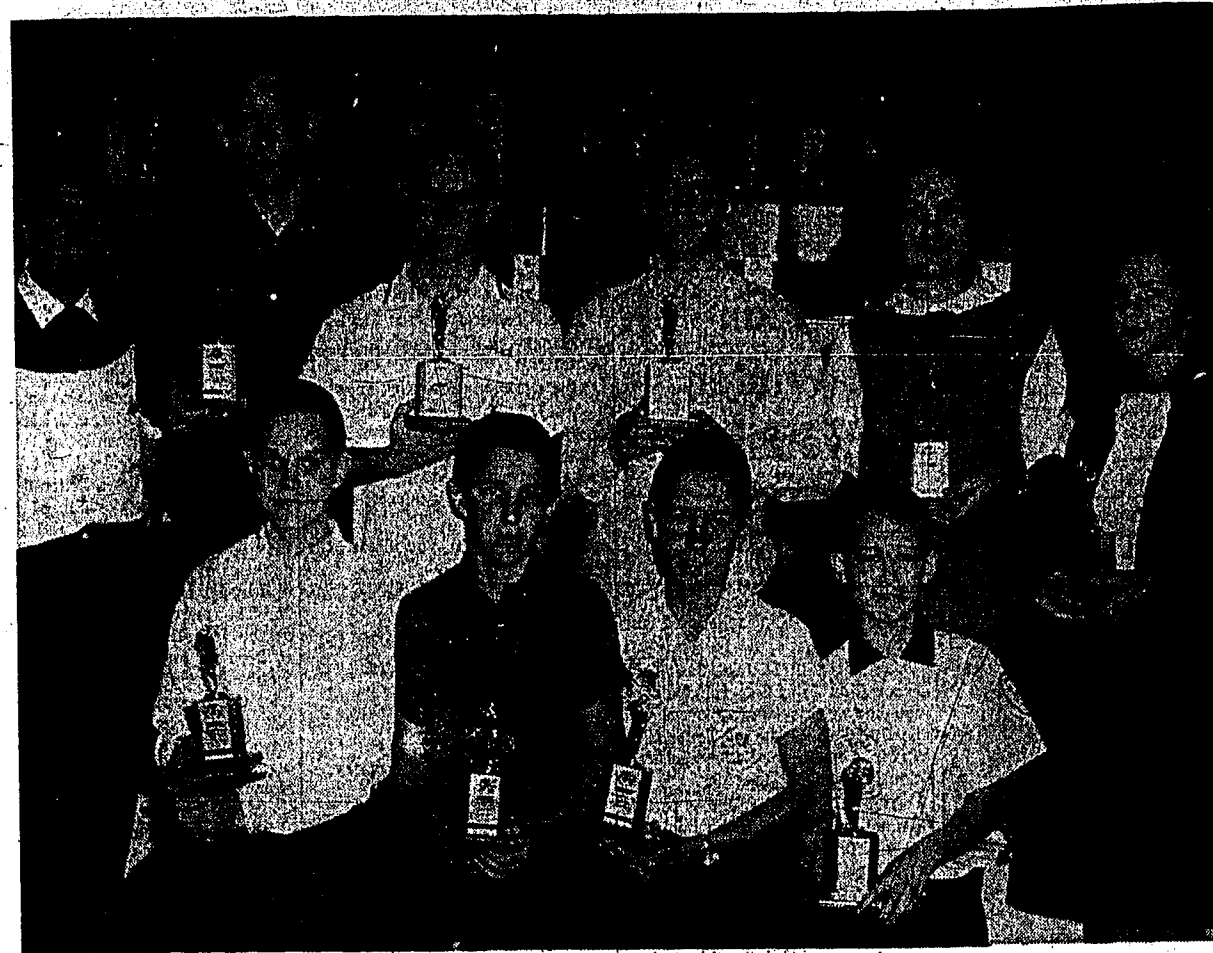

In their games, the teams have played a brand of ball not seen at the Junior High in quite a while. The students have taken to the center spot and collected seven points for the afternoon. John Verbis, another player who has shown considerable improvement, closed out the scoring for the Imps with six points.

In the final stages of the contest, Richardson cleared his bench, giving his entire team an opportunity to see action. Ricky Moore, Joe Benson, Mitchell Coggins, John Goodrum and James Benfield all saw game duty.

The schedule for the remainder of the season is:

Jan. 27—Taylorsville, there.
Jan. 30—Oakwood, there.
Feb. 7—Landis, there.
Feb. 10—Matt, here.
Feb. 17—Trotman, here.
Feb. 20—Oakwood, here.

All games will begin at 4 p. m. with the exception of the Landis tilt, a night affair slated to begin at 7 p. m.

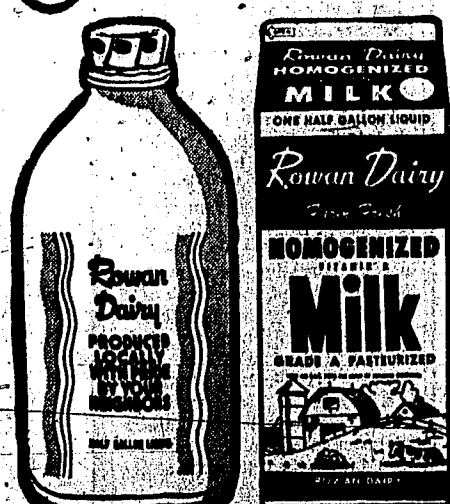

THE WINNERS — These youngsters were at the top of their class at the conclusion of the Christmas bowling tournament held at Moor Lanes during the holidays. Of an estimated 50 bowlers, these were the best. They were awarded trophies for their high scores posted in the tournament which was rolled under the sponsorship of the American

Recreation Cage Battles In Full Swing

Member teams of the Church Basketball League are going at their "games" full blast following time off for the holidays. In recent games of the league have been engaged in real thrillers.

Three of the games played last week went into overtime. While the Prospect girls have the inside track of the ladies title, the men's division appears to be an open affair.

Only men's games were played last week. The ladies game slated Monday night and the men's game of the same night were victims of the bad weather.

Prospect, Southside, St. Luke's, St. Mark's and First Baptist all saw game action.

Trouper started off the action last week with a 67-56 decision over the Southsiders with Oscar Goodman paying the way to victory with 28 points. Richard Bentley contributed 13, Mike Brewer had 12 and C. Joyner six for the winners. Bill Goddard was high for the losers with 14. Teddy Fowell and Everett Goodman each with 13 for the losers.

St. Luke's clobbered the men of Berea by a 19-24 margin with Joe Cobbings leading the scoring with 23 points. Vernon Clodfelter topped the losers with 13 points.

In a close one, St. Mark's edged out the Prospect team 44-40 as Larry Beaver dumped in 25 points for the winners and Oscar Goodman was high for Prospect with 13.

Frank Meadows and Graham Barnhardt each scored 13 points as First Baptist defeated Berea 45-38. Again, Vernon Clodfelter was top man for Berea with 13 points.

St. Luke's took the measure of Southside by a 16-24 score and with that win the men of St. Luke's now hold top spot in the league standings. Corriher again topped the Luthers with 20 points while Ronnie Wilson's 22 points was biggest output for Southside.

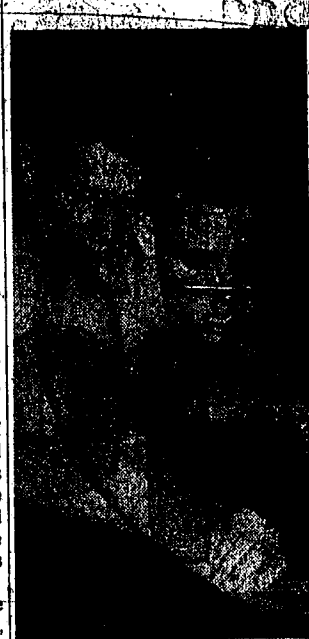

League games are played on the Civic Center court on Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights with the general public invited to come out and see the teams in action.

Glory Hunting Wrestlers Travel To Lenoir In Big Bout Tonight At 7:30

STOUT BOBBY HAM Guides Opponent

Captain Perry Pearson and his hand of glory-hunting wrestlers take to the road in their next two matches. Tonight (Thursday) the local delegation will motor to Lenoir in quest of a victory over a highly talented Lenoir team.

On Tuesday evening, the group will jump over to West Rowan for an encounter against the Falcon outfit. This year's team has rolled up a 3-1 record in their five matches to date and from all indications are headed for a banner season.

Returning veterans have made the squad one of the best at the school in recent years. Coach Pearson is high in praise of his team and expects it to make a good showing against the strong Lenoir team tonight.

The outing against Albemarle last Friday night proved the best of the season for the Blue Devil team, which took the match by a 4-0 score. Only a forfeit in the 114-lb. bracket allowed the Bulldogs to reach the scoreboard.

Every member of the Devil team who took the mat earlier won by a pin or decision.

Tim Fries, Tony Bentley, Allen Brawley, Bobby Tam, David Curtis and Dewitt Hinson all won by the pin route while Mike Couch, David Oliphant, Larry Dyson and Jimmy Carter mastered their opponents by a decision.

In all, it was the greatest victory ever recorded by a Mooresville team. To the surprise of the coach the boys in the lower weight brackets showed vast improvement.

The lower weight classes, plagued by forfeits, have been the difficulty of the team in most of the earlier matches. Pearson just hopes the boys are beginning to show the improvement needed to make the squad a real top-notch outfit.

According to Pearson the regular season matches don't mean much, the one which really counts is the Association tournament which decides the association team champion as well as the individual wrestling champions in the schools of the Western North Carolina High School Activities Association.

The association tournament is slated to be held in Kannapolis February 28-29. In the tournament last year, the locals had three champions with only one, Dewitt Hinson, on this year's team.

To date, the locals rate as one of the top teams in the association and should they continue to improve they could well have a chance for the association team title this year. Their only loss, to Kannapolis, was a tie with the team that was the only blemish on the squad's record with the season reaching the halfway mark.

Following the contest at West Rowan Tuesday night, the locals will next be on the home mat against Statesville Thursday night, January 30.

The schedule for the remainder of the year is:

Jan. 23—At Lenoir.
Jan. 28—At West Rowan.
Jan. 30—Statesville, here.
Feb. 6—At Marion.
Feb. 11—At Albemarle.
Feb. 14—Ashboro, here.

Bowman did not substitute during the entire contest, with the starting unit of Robinson, Deal, Tim Roach, Johnny Barrier and Johnny Cane going all the way. Roach and Cane added six points each to the effort while Barrier got one foul shot, good for one point.

Judging from the number of fans who turned out for the first two home conference games, another large delegation will be on hand for the contest tomorrow night.

Boyles cleared the bench with subs playing the greater part of the second half. In this time the local girls also managed to outscore the home-standing Cavalier sextet. Sandy Sharpe got one tally, Becky Wylie two, J. Brown one, and Judy French one.

Oliphant, Lee, Cashion and Sholar also saw action for the winning Blue Devil sextet. Boyles charges held a 17-15 halftime advantage and widened the mark in the last two quarters, outscoring the losers, 17-0.

Coach Bowman's team, although winning 37-31, had to fight off a last period rush by the Cavaliers.

Unbeaten Devil Cagers, East Rowan Collide In Mooresville Friday Night

Mooresville's basketball squads, unbeaten in league play, take to the home court against East Rowan tomorrow night in an important North Piedmont Conference game. The girls tilt is slated to begin at 7 p. m. with the boys contest to follow the ladies' tilt.

The boys, as expected, fielded a very representative team in the conference while Coach Roy Boyles' six have been the real surprise for local fans. After losing all their pre-season practice games, the local girls' have come through with victories in their first two conference tilts and now rank as a real threat for the league title.

Coach Marian Bowman's five went through the early season games, losing only two contests, both to a very strong Statesville squad. Thus far in conference warfare, the boys have scored wins over West Rowan and North Rowan, the girls gaining their victories over the same schools.

In all, the local teams will play a total of 14 conference games.

Boyles cleared the bench with subs playing the greater part of the second half. In this time the local girls also managed to outscore the home-standing Cavalier sextet. Sandy Sharpe got one tally, Becky Wylie two, J. Brown one, and Judy French one.

Oliphant, Lee, Cashion and Sholar also saw action for the winning Blue Devil sextet. Boyles charges held a 17-15 halftime advantage and widened the mark in the last two quarters, outscoring the losers, 17-0.

SHARPSHOOTER JUDY KISTLER EYES THE TARGET Her 11 Points Paced Imps To Victory

The lastest contest saw the girls coming back from a halftime deficit of 19-9 and scoring 11 points in the third period while holding the Groves to a single point. Setet Coaches Barbara Dennis and Dan Woody appraised this game as the best girls contest at Junior High in over three years. Spirit and hustle provided the girls with the victory.

Judy Kistler was the big gun on the scoring side of the ledger, getting 11 points. Lisa Alexander, a demon on defense and a charger on offense, totaled eight points for the winners. Judy Robinson tallied three and Jeanne Talbert collected one.

Both coaches were very pleased with the fine comeback staged by their squad and they look for them to make a real good showing against a strong Taylorsville team Monday afternoon. This will be the next contest for both the girls and boys.

Jane Kelly and Jane Church also drew the praises of the coaches for a job well done.

Coch Dave Richardson of the Imps five was highly elated with the fine effort of his boys in racking up their second win of the year. Big John Beam proved the hero of the contest, both in scoring and for his fine work under the defensive boards.

Junior-Senior Class Play- Cast Selected

The cast for "Dear And Glorious Physician," this year's selection as junior-senior play at the Mooreville Senior High School, was chosen last week. Tim Roach, who will be remembered for his portrayal of George in "Our Town" last year, heads the cast in the role of Luke. The cast is made up of twenty-eight students, not including the extras.

"Dear And Glorious Physician," an adaptation of the best-selling novel by Taylor Caldwell, is a fictionalized account of the Biblical Luke. In both setting and character, the production is unusual for high school presentation.

The play is scheduled to be presented at the Roland R. Morgan auditorium on March 20 and 21.

Doctors Restore Leg To Normal Length

The stunted leg of a little girl has been stimulated by a Chicago medical team to grow until it is the same length as her other leg. The girl was 8 years old when an operation was performed at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago, creating a half-inch connection between an artery and a vein in her leg. About 4 1/2 years later, the connection between the 2 blood vessels was closed. The technique, pioneered in the 1950's at the Mayo Clinic, is based on an observation made early in 1953 that increasing the circulation in a limb promotes its growth.

An operation of this type is potentially hazardous, the doctors said, because after the initial operation the heart's output is necessarily increased and the heart enlarged to some degree to compensate. After the second operation, when the connection between the girl's blood pressure and heart rate became normal.

Personal Incomes Of Iredell Folks Well Above State's Average

Residents of Iredell county have personal incomes well above that of the average North Carolinian, according to a report by Gov. Terry Sanford from the State Department of Tax Research.

For the year 1962, the latest year for which figures are available, Iredell ranked 12th in the state in per capita income—$1,637 annually per person.

The state's average annual income per person was $1,732.

The highest ranking county in the state in this respect was Mecklenburg, at $2,481. Next in order came the state's largest counties—Forsyth $2,372, Guilford $2,315, Durham $2,228, Wake $2,155. In sixth place was Alamance $2,081.

At the bottom of the list was Clay with $788.

Five other counties had per capita incomes of less than $1,000 annually. Three of these, like Clay, are mountain areas. They are Yancey $591, Madison $585, and $549. The others are the coastal counties of Tyrrell $932 and Jones $902.

Seventy-seven counties were below the state average of $1,732, leading Gov. Sanford to say that the report is "further proof, if any were needed, that we must redouble our efforts to bring North Carolina up to the level of the other states and all citizens."

"While these figures show an improvement over previous years," Sanford said, "they show, at the same time, the long distance we have yet to go."

"There are many historical reasons why North Carolina's per capita income is low. But future historians will not excuse us of this generation if we fail to take the steps necessary to raise that per capita income. These figures on per capita income point up the need for a continuing effort to improve our educational system. They show also the need for yet greater efforts in our campaign for new industry which set a new record in 1963."

"And these figures point up the challenge inherent in programs like the North Carolina Fund and our general assault on poverty."

"North Carolina has, in this century, pulled itself up by its bootstraps. We need to pull even higher. We can. We will."

The study of personal income was made by the Dept. of Tax Research at Gov. Sanford's request. Director H. C. Stansbury, in his letter of transmittal, said that "persons using the county per capita income estimates are urged to read the report carefully in order to recognize the limitations of the data presented."

In developing the statistics the department took the personal income data published in the Survey of Current Business by the Office of Business Economics, U. S. Dept. of Commerce. In considering personal income, it included not only current monetary income but also "non-monetary" income. Non-monetary income covers certain "payments in kind," such as food, clothing and lodging furnished by employers.

The population figures used, Stansbury explained, refer to the "resident population." By this is meant "physical" residence as opposed to "legal" residence. Military personnel on active duty stationed in North Carolina are included, for instance, although they may have their legal residences elsewhere. Students are included in the populations of the communities in which they are actually residing while attending college, but monetary gifts from parents to their children in school are not considered personal income by the recipients.

The personal income of residents of the various counties was determined by allocating to the counties the U. S. Dept. of Commerce state totals of various income items. Forty-five different types of income were allocated separately, or in groups, to the 100 counties. These include 15 different sources of wages and salaries, 11 different types of proprietor's income and 10 types of other income, including welfare payments, social security benefits, retirement benefits, veterans' benefits, unemployment compensation, dividends, interest, rents, etc.

Stansbury cautioned that per capita personal income estimates are never completely accurate. The 1962 estimates are more accurate, however, than those of 1959, he said, because of the availability of improved individual income tax data following inauguration of state "withholding" in 1960. Also helpful was economic data from the various counties included in the 1960 U. S. Census enumeration.

Caution should be employed in making comparisons of the 1962 and 1959 per capita income estimates. Stansbury said, "Increases are not necessarily attributable to economic growth within a county and inadequate commuting adjustments made in preparing the 1958 estimates resulted in underestimates of per capita income in several counties and overestimates in others."

For example, he said, Alexander, Lincoln, Stokes, Union, Wilkes and Yadkin have a significant part of their resident labor force commuting to other counties for employment. The date for these six counties, therefore, show substantial increases in per capita income and a correspondingly sharp change in rank.

The 1962 per capita income estimates exceeded the 1958 estimates for 95 of the 100 counties. The five counties that showed decreases were Chowan, Hoke, Jones, Martin and New Hanover. The percentages were small, however.

Plans For '64 Made By Mazeppa Club

The January 18 meeting of the Mazeppa Community 4-H Club started members, officers and leaders off on a full year of 4-H Club work. Anne Cooke presided at the meeting where plans were made for the new year. Community projects, 4-H projects and demonstrations were discussed.

Bobby Sherrill and Mary Lois Cooke led the pledge of allegiance and 4-H pledge.

Libby Cooke thanked the club for money appropriated for Anne and Libby's trip to the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association Convention held in Pittsburgh, Pa. in December.

The education feature for the night was a health demonstration on first aid presented by Kay Sloop. The boys program was presented on vegetable judging by Mr. Sloop and Anne Cooke. Libby Cooke, Junior leader of the club presented a Home Improvement demonstration entitled, "Balance the House." The speaker, Mrs. Sloop, also told the girls about her trip through the Merchandise Mart in Chicago while she was at National 4-H Club Congress.

Mrs. Sloop and Mrs. Sherrill helped the Junior girls with their corn meal muffin record books and gave the instructions for the muffin contest which is to be held sometime soon.

Recreational features of the night were led by Kay Sloop. She also led the group in a popular 4-H song, "Vive!-amour."

After refreshments the meeting was adjourned.

Ushers were James David and Johnny Lester. Cake, Jr. brothers of the bride; Larry Max Cooke, brother of the bridegroom; and William L. Hudspeth, Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, all of Mooresville.

Mrs. Cooke chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece pink and white suit with black and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations to her white cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's guardian and aunt, Mrs. C. W. Radford, wore a two-piece tan suit with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. James A. Penney, added a corsage of white carnations to her beige dress.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. James W. Penney, Mrs. Alice Penney, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamrick and daughters, Ann and Jane, and Master Jimmy Brown, all of Gastonia; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ball Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Bheat and daughter, Omsie Bheat; and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Love, Mrs. Harry Shoemaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Petel, all of Charlotte.

Following a wedding trip south, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke will live on Doster Street Mooresville. For traveling, the bride wore a sheath of blue wool with black accessories and she used the orchid from her prayerbook as a corsage.

On Friday evening, January 17, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lester Cake, entertained at a cake cutting in the church Rectory Hall, immediately following the wedding reception.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and appointed with a silver and crystal bowl of white snapdragons, carnations and pom-poms. Green and white decorations were used.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the traditional first-lice of wedding cake, Mrs. Alice Sigmond, cousin of the bridegroom, assisted by Miss Terry Talbert, completed the serving of the cake. Mrs. Johnny Swing served punch.

During the evening, the couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Mrs. Victoria A. Cooke, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was master of honor. She wore a street-length dress of orchid taffeta with matching accessories. A single rose formed a lovely headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchid spider chrysanthemums and pom-poms with multi-colored bow and foliage. As a gift from the bride, Mrs. Cooke wore a cultured pearl earring necklace set.

Governor Sanford Speaks To Federated Clubs' Board Meeting

At the Midwinter Board of Directors meeting of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs in Raleigh on January 9, Governor Terry Sanford joined the clubwomen for the luncheon session and spoke on the challenges that face the state. He stressed the fact that the broad program of the Federated clubs can provide clubwomen the opportunities to help in meeting the challenges, to serve as the state surges forward. "The Governor said, "We have a new spirit, a new optimism, a new belief in ourselves in North Carolina. In the next eight or ten years we can easily have the best educational system in the country—not just the south—we keep going as we are now."

Mr. Sanford complimented the Federation on its literacy program and said that one is being planned in N. C. which will serve as a pilot program. He requested the interest of the NCFWC leaders and members in promotion of the free enterprise system and economic growth of the state, to help get to the core of the problem of the group caught up in poverty, to help them have the chance to break out of the cycle of poverty. He said, "The scope of your interest virtually covers the whole scope of human endeavor and women bring idealism to the approach of a task. We in North Carolina need you. We have a task that needs to be done, so let's do it."
