THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

The town board, in session earlier this month, adopted a resolution calling for a referendum on the tax-for-recreation question, and it now has been announced that the referendum will be held on Tuesday, April 28.

This is the question that will be put to the voters at that time: "Shall the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Mooreville be empowered to levy an annual tax of not less than three cents nor more than 10 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation of the taxable property within the Town of Mooreville for providing, conducting and maintaining a supervised recreation program?"

Therefore, in view of the forthcoming referendum, the Mooreville Tribune's roving reporter asked the following question this week as he went about the task of preparing one of the paper's weekly features, The People Speak:

Do you favor a supplementary tax for recreation?
The answers of the four on-the-streets questioned were as follows:

BILL HARWELL, loan firm manager, route 1: "I'd be in favor of a small supplementary tax in order to have a good recreational program. However, I'd want the tax to come as a last resort."

RUFUS THOMPSON, Mooreville Mills, 49 McNeely (Cascades): "Yes, I think I would be in favor of a supplementary tax for recreation. A good recreation program will keep the boys and girls interested... off the streets... and out of trouble."

JIMMY STEWART, Mooreville Mills, route 3: "You might not want my answer since I live out of town. However, I think Mooreville needs a better recreational program than it has at the present time. I would favor a supplementary tax for recreation—it would be money well spent."

MRS. ROY CHURCH, homemaker, 223 East Statesville avenue: "It would be hard for me to say whether I would favor a supplementary tax for recreation. Right now, I believe I would be against such a tax. I think parking meters should be put in the public parking lots. This would bring in quite a bit of money that could be put in the recreational fund."

was traveling 70 and 75 miles per hour in the 35-mile zone. The car's lights then came on again, and the convertible went to the right side of the road where it struck and knocked down a mailbox and jumped a roadside ditch. The car then came back on the highway, spun around and proceeded east on Middle Creek Road, Barger reported.

He said that he was still chasing the vehicle when the driver apparently lost control of the car. The car ran off the left side of the road, hit an embankment, and overturned three times.

Barger then radiocoded for an ambulance and the Mooreville Rescue Squad.

The investigating officers said that the vehicle skidded 50 feet on the road before running off the right side of the road where it traveled 500 feet down the shoulder of the road.

The vehicle then crossed the road, sliding sideways for 111 feet and went off the left side of the road for 22 feet before it struck an embankment and overturned for an additional 50 feet. The car came to rest right side up on its wheels.

A native of Mecklenburg county, Gibby was a son of Mack Gibby of Sweetwater, Tenn., and Mrs. Fannie Mae Gibby of Mooreville.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include four brothers, How, Roy, Jr., Bobby James and Robert Gibby, all of Cornelius, and two half brothers, Willie C. Garrett of Fort Smith, Ark., and Harvey Garrett of Cornelius.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Calvin Funeral Chapel in Huntersville with the Rev. S. K. Clanton, pastor of the Cornelius Tabernacle, in charge, assisted by the Rev. B. L. Hinkle, pastor of the Cornelius Church of God.

Spority Chapter Has Program On Home Furnishings

Mrs. Gene Whitworth was hostess to the members of the Delta-Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, on Tuesday evening, January 28. Seven members were present. An interesting program on home furnishings was presented by Mrs. Clyde Morrow and color contrast was emphasized by the showing of slides.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to the following: Mrs. James Richard Barber, Kenneth Morrow, Clyde Morrow, George McCarter, Joyce Sherrill, Mack Gibson, Steve Jamba, Bill Koury, Joe Knox, Buck Noel, John Wate, Frank Loftin, Roy Church, and Libby Brawley.

first of five scheduled this year, will be April.

A special certificate of appreciation was presented by Homesley to Ray Nesbit, Nesbit, the director said, "really was the spark plug in the blood program" in his post as head of donor recruitment among industrial employees. Nesbit will be replaced in this key position by Ray Knox.

Another special award was presented by Jimmy Morrow by the chapter chairman, Morrow, head of first aid and water safety within the chapter, was honored by the National Red Cross office for his outstanding work in his field. Morrow has served Red Cross more than 10 years, but the award cited his voluntary contributions.

Involvement involving more than 300 hours, during a recent three-year period.

Mrs. John Fobrink, chairman of the chapter's disaster aid services, called for a study of current preparedness for disasters. She proposed that the directors arrange a discussion with the mayor, the hospital administrator, the county Civil Defense director and communication media to coordinate defensive efforts in the event of attack or natural disasters.

The directors adopted her suggestion, and she will arrange the meeting.

It was pointed out that on a few occasions during recent winters, Mooreville has had minor emergencies that warranted the attention of the Red Cross unit. Key roads have stranded workers who have been unable to get home from their jobs. Employees have been quartered overnight in public buildings, such as the city center, because they were unable to get home from work. The chapter directors voted to offer the unit's services in accordance with persons under these conditions.

The directors voted to hold regular quarterly meetings at 12:30 p. m. on the last Tuesday of the three-month period.

In other policy matters, the directors adopted a document that explains personnel policies and practices for chapter employees. A full state of directors was adopted by the board. The board membership began its duties July 1, 1963, but the length of terms had not been decided by the board. A full state of directors was adopted by the board. higher per capita income, he said. Preyer said that it has been 15 years since any major work has been done on roads and he suggested a bond issue of from $200 to $300 million, without an increase in taxes. Money now being used for the Spott roads program would be used for this purpose, he said.

The candidate said he favors the right-to-work law and would resist its repeal and said that he would soon announce a program dealing with the conservation of the state's natural resources.

In closing, Preyer noted that "the state cannot right every wrong nor provide a solution to every problem" but the people should have the courage to work for the best North Carolina they have ever known.

And while Preyer is taking the high road around the state, discussing his ideas of good government for North Carolina, what are some of the boys on the opposite side of the fence doing?

Well, for instance, telling the people of Wake county that they will revive the Dixie Basketball Classic. This despite the judgment of the Chancellor at Chapel Hill, the Chancellor at State College, and President Bill Friday of the Consolidated-University, and the vast majority of the Board of Trustees that such a move would not be in the best interests of the state institutions involved.

And why are they telling this to the people of Wake county? Simply as a cheap move to get votes. The merchants of Raleigh are clamoring for the business this event brings into their coffers.

No, dear hearts and gentle people, you had better stick with Richardson Preyer, a brilliant and dedicated man whose entire public career has been free from any sort of political prejudice or political shenanigans. He will move North Carolina forward in its campaign for better schools, in its war against poverty, in its journey toward a better tomorrow for every man, woman and child in the state. And he will do it without any peanut politicians calling the shots from the basement. He is unskilled and inexperienced in politics, but by the same token he wears the collar of no faction or group and is dedicated to the proposition that North Carolina should have a state government second to none in honesty, integrity, and service to its people.

Steadman-Krashinski Vows Pledged In Pennsylvania

Miss Dolores Marie Krashinski of Philadelphia, Pa., became the bride of Charles Michael Steadman of Statesville, on January 11. Father James Fogarty performed the ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Church of St. Ann. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karl Krashinski of Zoller Drive, Phoenixville, Pa., and Mr. Steadman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Steadman, 420 Oakhurst Road, Statesville. The Steadmans are former residents of Mooreville.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. The dress featured a portrait neckline with Alencon lace bodice studded in seed pearls. The sleeves were long and tapered. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of roses and seed pearls and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lily.

Miss Patricia Ann Lysony of Phoenixville was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Doris Lewandowsky of Conshohocken, Pa., and Miss Alice Poremsky of West Chester, Pa.

Charles O. Glenn of Philadelphia was best man for Mr. Steadman and ushers were James Steadman and Paul C. Steadman, brothers of the bridegroom, both of Statesville.

The bride's mother wore mauve lace and silk with contrasting accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Steadman, mother of the bridegroom, chose an olive green velvet dress with matching accessories and her corsage also was a white orchid.

A reception which followed the ceremony was held at Phoenixville Country Club and a full course dinner was served. Pink and white roses were used in table decorations.

For her wedding trip to New York City, Mrs. Steadman changed to a sea green knit suit accented with black and wore a corsage of white roses.

MR. AND MRS. CARL B. WALTERS

Golden Wedding Anniversary Observed By Mr. and Mrs. Walters Saturday Afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Walters observed their fifth wedding anniversary Saturday, January 25, and were honored at a tea Saturday afternoon given by their children at the Walters home on North Broad street.

The refreshment table was covered with a white Madeira cloth. A center arrangement of yellow roses and gold candles was flanked by a tiered wedding cake, iced in white with yellow roses. A crystal punch server at the opposite end of the table completed the table appointments.

The three sons and their wives and a daughter who were present for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walters and Mrs. Tom McCall. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, of Covington, Virginia, were unable to attend.

The family party also included sixteen grandchildren.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

Mrs. Bill (Boots) Stutts, employee of Miller Drug Company, entered the Lowrance Hospital Tuesday morning where she underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Creamer and daughters spent the past week in Anderson, S. C., visiting relatives.

C. Ray Hutchinson spent Friday in Norfolk, Virginia, where he attended the funeral services for Joe Weatherly, sports car driver who was killed in a racing accident.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Starrett, of Lenoir, and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Coone, Jr., and children, of Harrogate, were visitors in the home of Mrs. J. P. Cavin last Sunday. Mr. Starrett is Mrs. Cavin's brother and Mr. Coone is her nephew.

Miss Katherine Giles, a former teacher in the Mooreville Public Schools and now Physical Education teacher at Brevard College, spent Saturday night with Miss Verne Howard. She also attended the Wofford-Davidson basketball game on Saturday night.
