BAND BOOSTERS — The Dunbar School Parent-Teacher Association has launched a fund-raising campaign aimed at getting the school band back in tune. The band has not been active this school term because of a lack of instruments. One project to raise money to pay for new instruments is a concession stand at basketball games. Hot dogs went like hot cakes last week while the Trojans were doing battle with Chavis High teams. Mrs. Joe Byers, left, and student Erma Phifer were among the band boosters who prepared and served the food. Mrs. Byers is chairman of the PTA fund-raising project.

Dunbar PTA Launches Fund-Raising Project To Reactivate School Band

During Mooresville's Christmas parade last December, the Dunbar High band, always a favorite at these events, was conspicuous in its absence.

It was not in its usual place of march for the most obvious reason—it no longer exists.

The Dunbar student musicians are inactive this year for the most obvious reason—they don't have musical instruments.

Recently, the school Parent-Teacher Association bought—on credit—$2,500 worth of instruments, including the all-important and expensive bass drum. Now the PTA is conducting a fund-raising campaign to pay for the instruments.

Mrs. Joe Byers is serving as chairman of the fund-raising drive. She said the PTA already has contributed $250 toward the debt. There are a number of projects planned to raise money for the band. The PTA is operating a concession stand at athletic events. A baby contest is underway, and 10 youngsters currently are in the competition. Votes are cast in the form of contributions to the rescue-the-band fund.

N. F. Woods, principal of Dunbar, said the real problem with the band is lack of a feeder program. There are no instruments with which to train the younger students for later participation in the band.

"Previously, some students rented instruments, some parents bought instruments," he said, "but just about every student who owned his own instrument now has graduated. We don't have enough instruments to have a band, and we have no way of conducting a training program."

The school owns the new instruments the PTA now is trying to pay for. Once enough instruments are acquired for a band, the band will be self-perpetuating, that is, the instruments will be passed along from student to student.

In the meantime, all efforts are geared toward re-establishing the school band. Miss Norma Hooker, the band director, is busy organizing practices, utilizing the instruments the school has.

Mrs. Byers said the PTA is determined to continue its fund-raising project until the debt is paid off. She also announced the school welcomes secondhand instruments.

Mooresville Cited In Fire Safety Contest

W. J. Haselden, executive secretary of the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce, has been informed that Mooresville is one of five North Carolina towns to be cited by the National Fire Protection Association in international competition during the association's 1963 fire prevention contest.

Mooresville, the local Chamber official reported, along with Clinton, won honorable mention in the contest.

High Point took first place in the contest, followed by Monroe, second place, and Fayetteville, third place.

All five of the North Carolina municipalities competed in the United States municipal division, Wausau, Wisc., was the grand award winner in the nation.

The association's fire prevention contest is the international competition to provide recognition for excellence in the field of fire safety, education and performance.

Quite a bit of work went into preparing Mooresville's entry in the contest, Haselden pointed out, and he praised the work Howard E. Pender, local fire inspector, in helping the Chamber prepare its entry.

"Pender was most helpful," Haselden reported, "and the Chamber is most appreciative."

Police Busy With Rash Of Road Mishaps

In addition to the highway fatality reported elsewhere in this issue, Mooresville police and state troopers investigated a rash of less serious traffic accidents during the week end. The road mishaps caused heavy property damage, and seven personal injuries.

Donald Sloan, 69, of Charlotte and Clyde Jetton Jr., 31, of Mooresville were hurt Saturday night when the vehicles they were operating collided on U. S. 21 near Mooresville.

Sloan, brother of Dr. Allen Sloan of Mooresville, was critically injured. He suffered severe head injuries and several broken ribs. Jetton suffered a broken shoulder and cuts.

Highway Patrolman H. D. Coley said Sloan was driving south in a sedan and Jetton was driving north in a pickup when the head-on crash occurred. Jetton, according to the officer, swerved into Sloan's lane where the wreck occurred. Both men were taken to Lowrance Hospital, but Sloan later was transferred to a Charlotte hospital.

Five persons were hurt, none seriously, at 12:05 a. m. Sunday in a three-car crash-up on West McLelland Avenue. Victims of the wreck, all of whom were treated at the local hospital and released, were Mayhew Turner, 36; Herman Carpenter, 22; Thelma Shuford, 34; Robert Shuford, 36; and Robert Stewart, 17. All are of the Mooresville area except Carpenter, who lives at Cleveland, Route 2.

According to Mooresville officer Lloyd Hudspeth, Turner was driving east and Carpenter attempted to pass him. The auto operated by Carpenter struck a west-bound car operated by Thelma Shuford and careened into the rear of Turner's auto. Carpenter was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road.

Eldrew Graham, 26, of Davidson, Route 1, apparently fell asleep at the wheel on the Shinnville Road. He lost control of his car, which crashed down an embankment. The motorist was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road.

Richard Garrett, 18, of Greensboro was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road following a two-car crash on West Wilson Avenue Saturday night. Patrolman G. W. Beaver said Garrett crossed into the wrong lane and struck a car being operated by Leonard Freese, 52, of Mooresville, Route 2.
