DR. E. L. SPIVEY
Ordination Service Speaker

Southside Will Ordain New Deacons

Southside Baptist Church will ordain two new deacons — George Proctor, Jr. and Bill Pender — in a special ordination service on Sunday morning, February 2, at 11 o'clock.

The ordination sermon will be delivered by Dr. E. L. Spivey, Secretary of Missions, Baptist State Convention. Dr. Spivey is a former pastor of the First Baptist Church, in Mooresville.

Both of the new deacons are active in the work of the church. Proctor is a teacher in the Young People's Department and a committee chairman of the Brotherhood. Pender also is a teacher in the Young People's Department, a member of the Lord's Supper committee, and a committee chairman of the Brotherhood.

Clubs Asked To Support Breath Test

Some 20,000 North Carolina clubwomen are being asked to help officials obtain chemical testing programs for drunk drivers in communities throughout the state.

Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr. of Southport, president of the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs, has written more than 300 local presidents.

Her letter suggests these steps:

1) Combine with all women's clubs in the community to learn about North Carolina's chemical testing law.

2) As a united front investigate the local officials' plans to initiate a testing program.

3) If local governments cannot afford the cost of machine or of sending personnel for free training, raise the necessary funds.

4) Voice support for testing so the program will be applied consistently.

The State Highway Patrol has announced it will offer the test to persons accused of driving under the influence only where the test is available from local law enforcement units.

Mrs. Peggie Sharpe, Women's Field Representative of the N. C. Traffic Safety Council, said that about one half of the nation's drivers killed in accidents had been drinking.

A new North Carolina law passed by the 1963 General Assembly states that a person is presumed to be under the influence when the alcohol in his blood reaches 10 per cent.

The law specifies that breath testing devices must complete 44 hours of instruction. The training is being conducted at Industrial Educational Centers without charge. Local governments would pay only for the travel, food and lodging of personnel during the week-long course, Mrs. Sharpe said.

Mrs. Harper's letter comes in the wake of the first statewide women's traffic safety seminar held in Raleigh Wednesday.

More than 300 women civic leaders met in conjunction with the Third Annual Meeting of the N. C. Traffic Safety Council. Chemical testing was one of the areas emphasized during the presentation of North Carolina's plan to reduce accidents, Mrs. Sharpe said.

Annual World Day Of Prayer Scheduled In Mooresville

February 14, as the children exchange Valentines in tokens of sincere friendship, the women of Mooresville will unite with hundreds of thousands throughout the world in prayerful kinship in observance of the 76th World Day Of Prayer.

This service will be held at Mooresville's First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. and the public is invited and urged to attend.

The theme for the 1964 service is "Let Us Pray" and the service was prepared by Dr. Madeleine Baroti, executive secretary of the Department on the Cooperation of Men and Women in Church, Family and Society of the World Council of Churches, Geneva, Switzerland.

In using passages from the Old and the New Testaments, Dr. Baroti will unite the countless number of Christian people who participate in the service in a new experience in prayer as "a struggle — an act of faith and repentance — and a commitment to service."

In continuation of past efforts in the mission of the Church, the gifts collected as an essential part of the observance will go toward sustaining 12 Christian colleges for women in Asia and Africa.

The gifts will make possible the translation, printing, and distribution of Christian literature to women and children in many parts of the world.

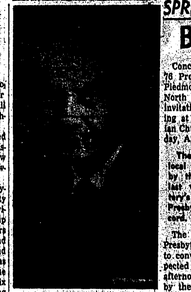
They will lend assistance to the present program among Indian-Americans and the support of the migrant ministry, providing day care centers, recreational centers, and programs of assistance toward responsible citizenship.

They will be used to extend hospitality to the more than 60,000 students coming to this country from all over the world, giving them the opportunity to know America through home life, as a part of an American family. This year

Until Year 2000

What is believed by officials to be the longest enlistment extension in the history of the Wyoming National Guard was made recently by Sgt. John A. Brutlag, of Sheridan.

Sgt. Brutlag extended his enlistment 37 years, or until Nov. 27, 2000, when he will reach the mandatory retirement age of 60.



MARVIN M. RAYNER
Presbytery's Moderator

SPRING SESSION

Back Creek To Host Presbytery

Concord Presbytery, embracing 76 Presbyterian churches in the Piedmont and Western part of North Carolina, has accepted an invitation to hold its spring meeting at the Back Creek Presbyterian Church at Mount Ulla on Tuesday, April 21.

The invitation to meet at the local area church was accepted by the church governing body last week during the presbytery's winter meeting at the First Presbyterian Church in Concord.

The meeting at the Back Creek Presbyterian Church is scheduled to convene at 9 a. m. and is expected to be in session until late afternoon. Dinner will be served by the host church at the noon hour.

At the winter session at Concord's First Presbyterian Church last week, Marvin W. (Pete) Rayner of Statesville, a ruling elder of the Concord Presbyterian Church at Loray, was elected moderator of the presbytery.

The Rev. A. D. Moran of Statesville, the retiring moderator, presided at the opening of the meeting and delivered the sermon, using as his topic: "Feed My Sheep."

Members of the presbytery were welcomed by the Rev. J. Malcolm Murchison and W. D. Ratchford, Jr., minister and clerk of the session, respectively, of the host church.

The presbytery received the Rev. James N. Biggers, formerly minister of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church at Hickory Grove, S. C., in order that he might begin a call to New Salem Presbyterian Church, near Stony Point, and Clio Presbyterian Church, Statesville.

Two candidates for the ministry were accepted. They are Robert Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnston of Statesville and a member of First Presbyterian Church, Statesville, and Eric Faust of Salisbury, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Milton B. Faust. Johnston is a junior at Columbia Theological Seminary at Decatur, Ga., and Faust is a junior at Union Theological Seminary at Richmond, Va.

In other action, the presbytery:

—Heard reports from its treasurer and eight agencies.

—Heard an address by Dr. James M. Dabbs of Mayesville, S. C., who spoke on race relations, and a talk by Miss Dean Williams of Spencer, who told of her experiences with other young people on a caravan to Mexico under auspices of the Presbyterian Church, U. C.

—Raised the salaries of ministers related to its church extension program.

—Appointed a commission to organize a new church in northeast Hickory.

—Adopted a 1964 budget for benevolences in the amount of $333,550.

Raymer, the newly-elected moderator of the presbytery, is manager of the Nicholson Funeral Home in Statesville. A past president of the Men of the Church of Concord Presbytery, he is now serving as vice president of the Men of the Synod of North Carolina.

He long has been very active in the Concord Presbyterian Church at Loray and Concord Presbytery in their stewardship efforts and in other realms.

Mrs. Raymer is the former Loyse Shuford of Statesville, and the couple has two children, Tod Lynn, 16, and Joseph, 10.

Navy Uses 'Ear' To Detect Subs

Research experts of the United States Navy are experimenting with an underwater "ear" to detect enemy subs that may come near an American coast.

The "ear" is about 5 stories high and uses the electrical energy needed by a city of 50,000 persons to detect the approach of enemy submarines by sending out underwater sound waves — or sonar — which bounces back when colliding with unseen vessels.

Our Mightiest Hour

Rockets have a certain thrust — and no more. Nuclear bombs have a certain explosive force — and no more. Every powerful device on which man depends for military defense or scientific advance is limited in its energy.

But FAITH has no limits. It turns with trusting eyes to the Almighty, whose power is infinite, whose love is everlasting. It is constantly confident and courageous — because its resources cannot be exhausted.

In perilous times a great nation always finds its might in spiritual resources. And today, significantly, one of the essential elements of survival in which our stockpile dwarfs the Russians is FAITH. Khrushchev has no secret installation to match the thrust and force generated in the souls of our people by our hundreds of thousands of churches.

Think on these things as we worship together next Sunday morning . . . our mightiest hour!

Community Sing Set For Sunday

A community sing is scheduled to be held at the Community Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, February 2, at 2:30 o'clock.

There'll be lots of old-time gospel singing by different groups, according to announcement made earlier this week.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mooresville Girl Selected As May Queen's Attendant

Elizabeth Ann Hedrick, a senior English major from Lexington, has been selected as May Queen at Catawba College in Salisbury by her fellow students in a campus-wide election.

A student from Mooresville—Faye Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Kerr of 127 West Stewart avenue—has been selected as Miss Hedrick's maid of honor, and fellow seniors Susan Hunter of China Grove, Sue Musselman of Salisbury, and Sally Fritz of Lancaster, Penn., will be members of the May Court.

Miss Hedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Hedrick of Lexington, route 6, will be the "fairest of the fair" in May as she reigns over the court of 13 young ladies also selected for their various roles in the May Day festivities by the student election.

Junior class members of the May Court include Jane Fink of Faith, Kathy Reinbold of Allentown, Pa., and Elaine Gentry of Maxton.

The sophomore class is represented by Jan Ross of Burlington; Nancy Jo Higgins, also of Burlington; and Margie Hoke of Walkertown, Md.

May Court freshmen include Doris Pyrtle of Rural Hall, Mary Vaughn of Selma, Ala.; and Peggy Crumbleton of Arlington, Va.

While May Day with all of its color and warmth seem to be far in the future amid winter's chill, selection of the various beauty queens and superlatives at Catawba are selected early in the year so that photos can be taken for use in the college yearbook.

Dr. William Hight Will Teach Class At Local Church

A member of the Davidson College faculty will teach a Sunday school class at Broad Street Methodist Church February 1.

The special guest for the church school will be Dr. William Hight, Jr., associate professor of education and director of student counseling at Davidson.

The church invited the public to attend the 10 a.m. program.

Dr. Hight is a native of Henderson. He received his doctorate in education at the University of North Carolina in 1962. Prior to earning his doctor's degree, the teacher served in the Burlington school system, spent a year overseas studying under a Ford Foundation grant and found time to write a book of short stories.

Laugh AND Learn

A carpenter stood gazing silently and wonderingly at the crib where his firstborn lay gurgling.

After watching the tender scene for a moment, his wife tiptoed over and put her arm through his.

A penny for your thoughts, dear," she whispered.

"I can't get over it," answered the carpenter softly. "How the devil can they turn out a crib like this for only $20."

After examining his new patient for the first time, the doctor said: "Mr. Jones, you are in fine shape. You should live to be 80."

"But I am 80," replied Mr. Jones.

"See?" said the doctor. "What did I tell you?"

○

Tom: "Did you give your wife that lecture on economy you were talking about?"

Bill: "Yes."

"Any results?"

"Yeah, she's not going to give up smoking."
