Who Is "Hand-Picking" Whom?

Two months ago we expressed the opinion in this corner that Beverly Lake was impossible as a gubernatorial candidate, that Dan Moore would make North Carolina a good Governor, that Richardson Preyer would make our state a great Governor.

In the light of recent events, we have had to revise our opinion about Mr. Moore. We no longer believe he would make North Carolina a good Governor.

It seems to us that both Lake and Moore are taking the low road in this gubernatorial campaign. They seem to be occupied more with sniping at Preyer than with projecting their plan for a better North Carolina.

First, they thought they had Preyer nailed to the mast with the Scales and communist angle. Their supporters pulled out all the stops on this one, probably hoping to stall the growing and spontaneous support for Preyer springing up all over the state. When all the facts were in, the bag was so empty that the metropolitan press in the state, even a paper here and there for Moore, advised them to shut up.

As these lines are being written, Mr. Moore is still trying to get his balloon off the ground by sniping at Preyer around the state as being the "hand-picked" candidate of the Sanford administration. Mr. Moore hints of significant secret meetings between Preyer and some of the characters in the Sanford regime. Characters, incidentally, who have helped wage an all-out campaign for better schools, against poverty, and who have contributed to giving North Carolina the finest four years it has enjoyed in this century.

Look who's talking!

Moore is the great white hope of an element in the Democratic party that dropped from favor under the Luther Hodges administration and has remained there under Governor Sanford.

These are the boys who "hand-picked" Dan Moore to make the run for the roses against Preyer. They tell you not of the back-alley deal they tried to make with the Beverly Lake crowd in Raleigh prior to the announcement of Moore's candidacy.

Moore had no sooner got the words out of his mouth than the identity of those who pushed him out there became crystal clear. Senator Sam Ervin knocked precedent into a cocked hat by hurriedly endorsing him from his office in Washington. Congressman Lennon, ex-congressman Woodrow Jones, former state representative Joe Hunt, all got into the act within hours.

And Moore talks about Preyer being "hand-picked." God help us!

Actually, Richardson Preyer has never been close to the Sanford administration or any other administration. He has never been a practicing politician, and his contacts with any political faction in the state have been more casual than otherwise. He was, for instance, far closer to Luther Hodges than he has been to anybody in the Sanford administration.

Preyer simply wants to serve the people of his native state as Governor. He quit a $35,000 a year lifetime job to offer his candidacy. Moore and his supporters will get no further with this "hand-picked" gag than they did with the Scales incident.

There were around 170 tickets sold to the breakfast for Preyer in Statesville last Tuesday morning. Jimmy Johnson took a nose-to-nose inventory of the group later and found that not half of the group supported Sanford in 1960. Even Preyer's campaign manager in Iredell, Billy Johnson, was an anti-Sanford man in 1960. But Jay Huskins, our colleague and neighbor in Statesville, liked it with a straight face as a Sanford outing.

The truth of the matter is that Moore's supporters are getting desperate. In their frantic efforts to get Moore into a second primary, they are sniping at Preyer like gnats around a thoroughbred's head. And with about the same results.

In the meantime, Preyer the dedicated thoroughbred that he is, takes the high road as he travels about the state telling the people his hopes, plans and dreams for a better North Carolina.

In Statesville, for instance — and here we quote at length from Cousin Jay's newspaper — Preyer said he was going to discuss exactly how to get things done in the state in his campaign. He said the state has had good government since 1900 and he intends to try to maintain that tradition.

Specifically he said that North Carolina has less bureaucracy than any other state except one and he wants to keep it that way; that there is a declining prison population in the state; that North Carolina is among the bottom five states in taxes and debts and he wants to keep it that way. He emphasized that he believes in fiscal conservatism.

Preyer said that the way to meet the challenges that lie ahead is to raise the individual income level of the people and cited statistics to show that great improvement has been made in the state since 1940.

He suggested that he would try to get more industry into the state and that industry would be invited to come in as neighbors willing to bear their share of the burden of citizenship and "live in the state — not off the state." More industry, better education and agricultural development are the keys to

First National Stock Brings $65 Per Share

E. F. Belk purchased the 28 shares of The First National Bank of Mooreville stock when they were sold at public auction to the highest bidder last Saturday.

The 28 shares of stock became available when the institution's stockholders passed a resolution authorizing the officers to combine all the fractional shares of stocks to which stockholders were entitled by virtue of the 50 per cent stock dividend.

This dividend also was authorized.

Plumbing And Heating Bids To Be Opened

Bids on the heating and plumbing work on the Dunbar School plant will be received in the office of Dr. Roland Morgan, superintendent of the Mooreville City Schools, until 2 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon.

The bids will be opened at this time at a public bid-opening and contracts are expected to be awarded to the low bidders within the coming week.

Two contracts for work on the addition already have been awarded. P. S. West Construction Company of Statesville, with a low bid of $45,000, was awarded the general contract, and the electrical contract went to E. F. Belk and Sons of Mooreville. The Belk firm was low bidder on the electrical work with a bid of $6,740.

The addition will include four classrooms, a home economics department, an industrial arts department, and two rest rooms.

The structure, to be located to the rear of the present high school section of the Dunbar School plant, will be two stories high of brick and concrete block construction, with a built-up roof.

Each classroom will be 25 feet by 30 feet, while the home economics department will be 30 feet by 51 feet, and the industrial arts department will be 30 feet by 51 feet.

The industrial arts department, two classrooms, and one rest room will be on the ground floor, while the home economics department will be on the second floor.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

The fellows at the country store Saturday night was discussing churches and religion. For the most part, they knew about as much on them subjects as a hog knows about Sunday.

We had a fellow out here a few years back named Pat Barnwell that claimed he was a authority on these matters. He was always telling somebody how to get to Heaven. He was so ignorant he spelled Jesus with a little "g" but he was a expert on how to get to Paradise and afore long they give him the nickname of "Paradise Pat." But ignorance ain't never been no drawback to conversation when the fellows convene at the country store.

Saturday night, for instance, Ed Doolie told me that he had a long time ago they ain't but one thing worse than being on the wrong side of an argument and that is getting caught in the Round Church. When it comes to arguing about churches and preachers, I'm like the fellow that said he belonged to the Round Church. He didn't let none of them git him cornered.

How the so ever, I will have to say they ain't no finer calling in life than being a rural preacher. I recollect reading once this statement made by William Jennings Bryan: "Doubtless God Almighty could make something better than a country preacher, but doubtless he never did."

Yours truly, Uncle Dan

Area United Fund Leaders Selected

Simpson Is President; Jones Accepts Key Post As Director Of '64 Appeal

The Mooreville-South Iredell United Fund can't be accused of resting on its laurels. Still basking in the glow of the most successful appeal in the history of UF in this area, officials of the organization this week began preparing for this fall's campaign.

Groundwork for the next drive was laid Tuesday morning during the annual meeting of the area United Fund. The 8 o'clock breakfast at the War Memorial drew about 30 persons, nearly all of whom were active leaders or workers in the 1963 campaign.

The top order of business was the change in administrations. The group unanimously adopted the state of officers recommended by the nomination committee. The committee's report was presented by its chairman, Mitchell Mack.

These are the leaders picked to direct the 1964 Mooreville area United Fund drive: John Simpson, last year's campaign chairman, was chosen president of the organization.

Jim Rosser, who retired as president, was seated as vice president, a newly-created position.

The all-important responsibility of heading the fund-raising effort this fall was accepted by Dave Jones, who stepped up from chairman of the industrial division to director of the overall appeal.

Mrs. Joe Thompson was re-elected UF secretary.

Veteran UF Treasurer Ralph Millsaps agreed to remain in that position. Len Sullivan again will serve as public relations chairman.

Charlie Gates again will serve as chairman of the budget committee. A second position was created, establishing T. C. Homesley as budget committee vice chairman. The group felt the task of preparing the UF budget is second only to raising money to meet it, and that a sharing of the load in this committee was in order.

A special guest for the breakfast was Bob Beardon, representative of Carolina United, the agency that coordinates the efforts of community fund-raising organizations. Beardon invited the officers after speaking briefly on what he termed the "tremendous spirit and cooperation" Mooreville displayed last fall.

Describing United Fund as "people helping people," Beardon said citizens of the Mooreville area demonstrated last fall they interpreted "U.F." as "us folks doing what we oughta."

The treasurer's report explained how well "us folks" did in the drive last year. UF had $2,685 on Millsaps said UF had $2,685 on October 1 of last year, before the drive began. Total cash available at the start of the year was $23,986. The UF office now has made 50 per cent payments to the seven local agencies it serves and it has paid full commitments totaling $2,303 to the area, state and national organizations that benefit through United Fund.

These first two courses will be taught by local Red Cross instructors. See FIRST AID—Page 2

LBJ Defeats Barry, 3 To 1, In Mooreville Tribune Poll

Mooreville area voters favor President Lyndon B. Johnson more than three to one in a presidential match with Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Of the 50 voters responding, 31 said they would prefer Johnson. To would vote for Goldwater, and nine couldn't decide which one they liked.

In addition to stating their preference, quite a few of the persons polled had interesting comments.

"I'd hate to see Goldwater as president," stated one of those polled. "He's too radical and is too to make statements before studying the matter at hand and before he has all the facts," commented another voter.

"Goldwater's too loud mouthed and he's a Republican too," commented another man.

"I haven't decided yet, but I'll know in another few weeks," declared a younger voter.

A woman said: "I don't like Lady Bird, but I put me down in the Johnson corner."

"Goldwater, by all means," said another voter.

A representative of the paper conducted the poll, asking persons at random the question as he met them on the street, in barber shops, and other local business firms.

People's Opinions On Tax Differ

Do You Favor A Supplementary Tax For Recreation?

THE PEOPLE SPEAK:

The town board, in session earlier this month, adopted a resolution calling for a referendum on the tax-for-recreation question, and it now has been announced that the referendum will be held on Tuesday, April 28.

This is the question that will be put to the voters at that time:

"Shall the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Mooreville be empowered to levy an annual tax of not less than three cents nor more than 10 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation of the taxable property within the Town of Mooreville for providing, conducting and maintaining a supervised recreation program?"

Therefore, in view of the forthcoming referendum, the Mooreville Tribune's roving reporter asked the following question this week as he went about the task of preparing one of the paper's weekly features, The People Speak:

Do you favor a supplementary tax for recreation?

The answers of the four on-the-streets questioned were as follows:

BILL HARWELL, loan firm manager, route 1: "I'd be in favor of a small supplementary tax in order to have a good recreational program. However, I'd want the tax to come as a last resort."

RUFUS THOMPSON, Mooreville Mills, 49 McNeely (Cascades): "Yes, I think I would be in favor of a supplementary tax for recreation. A good recreation program will keep the boys and girls interested... off the streets... and out of trouble."

JIMMY STEWART, Mooreville Mills, route 3: "You might not want my answer since I live out of town. However, I think Mooreville needs a better recreational program than it has at the present time. I would favor a supplementary tax for recreation—it would be money well spent."

MRS. ROY CHURCH, homemaker, 223 East Statesville avenue: "It would be hard for me to say whether I would favor a supplementary tax for recreation. Right now, I believe I would be against such a tax. I think parking meters should be put in the public parking lots. This would bring in quite a bit of money that could be put in the recreational fund."

was traveling 70 and 75 miles per hour in the 35-mile zone.

The car's lights then came on again, and the convertible went to the right side of the road where it struck and knocked down a mailbox and jumped a roadside ditch. The car then came back on the highway, spun around and proceeded east on Middle Creek Road, Barger reported.

He said that he was still chasing the vehicle when the driver apparently lost control of the car. The car ran off the left side of the road, hit an embankment, and overturned three times.

Barger then radioed for an ambulance and the Mooreville Rescue Squad.

The investigating officers said that the vehicle skidded 50 feet on the road before running off the right side of the road where it traveled 500 feet down the shoulder of the road.

The vehicle then crossed the road, sliding sideways for 111 feet and went off the left side of the road for 22 feet before it struck an embankment and overturned for an additional 50 feet. The car came to rest right side up on its wheels.

A drive of Mecklenburg county, Gibby was a son of Mack Gibby of Sweetwater, Tenn., and Mrs. Fannie Mae Gibby of Mooreville.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include four brothers, Howard, Roy Jr., Bobby James and Robert Gibby, all of Cornelius, and two half brothers, Willie C. Garrett of Fort Smith, Ark., and Harvey Garrett of Cornelius.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Calvin Central Chapel in Hatterasville, with the Rev. S. K. Clanton, pastor of the Cornelius Tabernacle, in charge, assisted by the Rev. B. L. Hixson, pastor of the Cornelius Church of God.

Spirity Chapter Has Program On Home Furnishings

Mrs. Gene Whitson was the hostess to the members of the Spirity Chapter, Beta Sigma Psi, on Tuesday evening, January 28. Seven members were present.

An interesting program on home furnishings was presented by Mrs. Clyde Morrow and color contrast was emphasized by the showing of slides.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to the following: Mrs. James Richard Barber, Kenneth Morrow, Clyde Morrow, George McCarter, Joyce Sherrill, Mack Gibson, Steve Jamba, Bill Koury, Joe Knox, Buck Noel, John Wate, Frank Loftin, Roy Church, and Libby Brawley.

higher per capita income, he said.

Preyer said that it has been 15 years since any major work has been done on roads and he suggested a bond issue of from $200 to $300 million, without an increase in taxes. Money now being used for the Spott road program would be used for this purpose, he said.

The candidate said he favors the right-to-work law and would resist its repeal and said that he would soon announce a program dealing with the conservation of the state's natural resources.

In closing, Preyer noted that "the state cannot right every wrong nor provide a solution to every problem" but the people should have the courage to work for the best North Carolina they have ever known.

And while Preyer is taking the high road around the state, discussing his ideas of good government for North Carolina, what are some of the boys on the opposite side of the fence doing?

Well, for instance, telling the people of Wake county that they will revive the Dixie Basketball Classic. This despite the judgment of the Chancellor at Chapel Hill, the Chancellor at State College, and President Bill Friday of the Consolidated-University, and the vast majority of the Board of Trustees that such a move would not be in the best interests of the state institutions involved.

And why are they telling this to the people of Wake county? Simply as a cheap move to get votes. The merchants of Raleigh are clamoring for the business this event brings into their coffers.

No, dear hearts and gentle people, you had better stick with Richardson Preyer, a brilliant and dedicated man whose entire public career has been free from any sort of political prejudice or political shenanigans. He will move North Carolina forward in its campaign for better schools, in its war against poverty, in its journey toward a better tomorrow for every man, woman and child in the state. And he will do it without any peanut politicians calling the shots from the basement. He is unskilled and inexperienced in politics, but by the same token he wears the collar of no faction or group and is dedicated to the proposition that North Carolina should have a state government second to none in honesty, integrity, and service to its people.

two classrooms, the home economics department, and one room will be on the second floor. This addition, it was pointed out, will release classroom space in the present high school building which is needed for a half share of stock classes. It also will provide space for an industrial arts department—a department which is now housed in basement rooms of the present plant.

Funds for the structure have been approved by the Irredell County Board of Commissioners.

Steadman-Krashinski Vows Pledged In Pennsylvania

Miss Dolores Marie Krashinski of Philadelphia, Pa., became the bride of Charles Michael Steadman of Statesville, on January 11.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karl Krashinski of Zoller Drive, Phoenixville, Pa., and Mr. Steadman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Steadman, 420 Oakhurst Road, Statesville. The Steadmans are former residents of Mooreville.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. The dress featured a portrait neckline with Alencon lace bodice studded in seed pearls. The sleeves were long and tapered. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of roses and seed pearls and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lily.

Miss Patricia Ann Lysony of Phoenixville was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Doris Lewandowsky of Conshohocken, Pa., and Miss Alice Poremsky of West Chester, Pa.

Charles O. Glenn of Philadelphia was best man for Mr. Steadman and ushers were James Steadman and Paul C. Steadman, brothers of the bridegroom, both of Statesville.

The bride's mother wore mauve lace and silk with contrasting accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Steadman, mother of the bridegroom, chose an olive green velvet dress with matching accessories and her corsage also was a white orchid.

A reception which followed the ceremony was held at Phoenixville Country Club and a full course dinner was served. Pink and white roses were used in table decorations.

For her wedding trip to New York City, Mrs. Steadman changed to a sea green knit suit accented with black and wore a corsage of white roses.

BAND BOOSTERS — The Dunbar School Parent-Teacher Association has launched a fund-raising campaign aimed at getting the school band back in tune. The band has not been active this school term because of a lack of instruments. One project to raise money to pay for new instruments is a concession stand at basketball games. Hot dogs went like hot cakes last week while the Trojans were doing battle with Chavis High teams. Mrs. Joe Byers, left, and student Erma Phifer were among the band boosters who prepared and served the food. Mrs. Byers is chairman of the PTA fund-raising project.

Dunbar PTA Launches Fund-Raising Project To Reactivate School Band

During Mooresville's Christmas parade last December, the Dunbar High band, always a favorite at these events, was conspicuous in its absence.

It was not in its usual place of march for the most obvious reason—it no longer exists.

The Dunbar student musicians are inactive this year for the most obvious reason—they don't have musical instruments.

Recently, the school Parent-Teacher Association bought—on credit—$2,500 worth of instruments, including the all-important and expensive bass drum. Now the PTA is conducting a fund-raising campaign to pay for the instruments.

Mrs. Joe Byers is serving as chairman of the fund-raising drive. She said the PTA already has contributed $250 toward the debt. There are a number of projects planned to raise money for the band. The PTA is operating a concession stand at athletic events. A baby contest is underway, and 10 youngsters currently are in the competition. Votes are cast in the form of contributions to the rescue-the-band fund.

N. F. Woods, principal of Dunbar, said the real problem with the band is lack of a feeder program. There are no instruments with which to train the younger students for later participation in the band.

"Previously, some students rented instruments, some parents bought instruments," he said, "but just about every student who owned his own instrument now has graduated. We don't have enough instruments to have a band, and we have no way of conducting a training program."

The school owns the new instruments the PTA now is trying to pay for. Once enough instruments are acquired for a band, the band will be self-perpetuating, that is, the instruments will be passed along from student to student.

In the meantime, all efforts are geared toward re-establishing the school band. Miss Norma Hooker, the band director, is busy organizing practices, utilizing the instruments the school has.

Mrs. Byers said the PTA is determined to continue its fund-raising project until the debt is paid off. She also announced the school welcomes secondhand instruments.

Clubs Asked To Support Breath Test

Some 20,000 North Carolina club members are being asked to help officials obtain chemical testing programs for drunk drivers in communities throughout the state.

Mrs. James M. Harper, Jr., of Southport, president of the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs, has written more than 300 local presidents.

Her letter suggests these steps:

- 1) Combine with all women's clubs in the community to learn about North Carolina's chemical testing law.
- 2) As a united front investigate the local officials' plans to initiate a testing program.
- 3) If local governments cannot afford the cost of machine or of sending personnel for free training, raise the necessary funds.
- 4) Voice support for testing so the program will be applied consistently.

The State Highway Patrol has announced it will offer the test to persons accused of driving under the influence only where the test is available from local law enforcement units.

Mrs. Peggie Sharpe, Women's Traffic Representative of the N. C. Traffic Safety Council, said that about one half of the nation's drivers killed in accidents had been drinking.

A new North Carolina law passed by the 1963 General Assembly states that a person is presumed to be under the influence when the alcohol in his blood reaches 10 per cent.

The law specifies that breath testing devices must complete 48 hours of instruction. The training is being conducted at Industrial Educational Centers without charge. Local governments would pay only for the travel, food and lodging of personnel during the week-long course. Mrs. Sharpe said.

Mrs. Harper's letter comes in the wake of the first statewide women's traffic safety seminar held in Raleigh Wednesday.

More than 300 women civic leaders met in conjunction with the Third Annual Meeting of the N. C. Traffic Safety Council. Chemical testing was one of the areas emphasized during the presentation of North Carolina's plan to reduce accidents, Mrs. Sharpe said.

Annual World Day Of Prayer Scheduled In Mooresville

February 14, as the children exchange Valentine's tokens of sincere friendship, the women of Mooresville will unite with hundreds of thousands throughout the world in prayerful kinship in observance of the 78th World Day Of Prayer.

This service will be held at Mooresville's First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m., and the public is invited and urged to attend.

The theme for the 1964 service is "Let Us Pray" and the service was prepared by Dr. Madeleine Bar, executive secretary of the Department of the Cooperation of Men and Women in Church, Family and Society of the World Council of Churches, Geneva, Switzerland.

In using passages from the Old and New Testaments, Dr. Bar will unite the countless number of Christian people who participate in the service in a new experience in prayer as "a struggle — an act of faith and repentance — and a commitment to service."

In continuation of past efforts in the mission of the Church, the gifts collected as an essential part of the observance will go toward sustaining 12 Christian colleges for women in Asia and Africa.

The gifts will make possible the translation, printing, and distribution of Christian literature to women and children in many parts of the world.

They will lend assistance to the present program among Indian Americans and the support of the migrant ministry, providing day care centers, recreational centers, and programs of assistance toward responsible citizenship.

They will be used to extend hospitality to the more than 60,000 students coming to this country from all over the world, giving them the opportunity to know America through home life, as a part of an American family. This year said.

Mrs. Harper's letter comes in the wake of the first statewide women's traffic safety seminar held in Raleigh Wednesday.

More than 300 women civic leaders met in conjunction with the Third Annual Meeting of the N. C. Traffic Safety Council. Chemical testing was one of the areas emphasized during the presentation of North Carolina's plan to reduce accidents, Mrs. Sharpe said.

Southside Will Ordain New Deacons

Southside Baptist Church will ordain two new deacons — George Proctor, Jr. and Bill Pender — in a special ordination service on Sunday morning, February 2, at 11 o'clock.

The ordination sermon will be delivered by Dr. E. L. Spivey, Secretary of Missions, Baptist State Convention, Dr. Spivey is a former pastor of the First Baptist Church, in Mooresville.

Valiant won't let you down

First off, tell your friends and neighbors about Valiant's stunning good looks, Valiant's miserly economy, Valiant's handling ease, Valiant's low, low price. Then launch into a discussion on Valiant's tremendous reliability and how it's built to keep running and running and running.

At this point, if they start to look skeptical, wave around Valiant's 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* on the parts that keep you going. Then step aside as they rush to their nearest Plymouth Dealer.

*HERE'S HOW VALIANT'S STRONG 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation warrants for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and pistons, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 5 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, and the car is driven under normal conditions. The warranty is void if the car is used for racing, is involved in an accident, or is damaged by fire, flood, or other cause. The warranty is void if the car is not properly maintained. The dealer is to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) that the car is then current mileage.

Mooreville Girl Selected As May Queen's Attendant

Elizabeth Ann Hedrick, a senior English major from Lexington, has been selected as May Queen at Catawba College in Salisbury by her fellow students in a campus-wide election.

A student from Mooreville, Faye Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Kerr of 147 West Stewart avenue, has been selected as Miss Hedrick's maid of honor, and fellow seniors Susan Hunter of China Grove, Sue Musselman of Salisbury, and Sally Phipps of Lancaster, Pa., will be members of the May Court.

Miss Hedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Hedrick of Lexington, route 6, will be the "maiden of the fair" in May as she reigns over the court of 13 young ladies also selected for their various roles in the May Day festivities by the student election.

Junior class members of the May Court include Sue Fink of Faith, Kathy Reinhold of Allentown, Pa., and Elaine Gentry of Mattitohy.

The sophomore class is represented by Jan Ross of Burlington; Nancy Jo Higgins, also of Burlington; and Margie Hoke of Wakefield.

May Court freshmen include Doris Pyrtle of Rural Hall, Mary Wynn of Selma, Ala., and Peggy Kunkelton of Arlington, Va.

"While May Day with all of its color and warmth seem to be far in the future amid winter's chill, selection of the various beauty queens and superlatives at Catawba College is well under way."

The church invited the public to attend the 10 a. m. program.

Public Library Notes

The Concubine by Norah Loftis. A biographical novel about Anne Boleyn, which follows her through her childhood and her marriage to Henry VIII, to her ultimate execution. Historically accurate and emotionally convincing, the story is told in a series of detailed scenes in the historical chain of events, etching the recreation of well-known facts and concentrating on illuminating characters and capturing the sound of voices—the quiet dignity of Catherine of Aragon, Henry's boisterous laughter, Anne's sweet voice, turning shrill in despair. By the author of The Silver Nymphs, Bless This House.

No For Glory by Rachel Cosgrove. Faye Vicars was happy in her research job with Apex Films, until she was told that she was to be in an unusual manner—then Faye proved that she was as good an amateur sleuth as she was a researcher.

Just Sally by Frances Dean Hancock. Young Sally Muller knew little of the world outside the Amish community where her family lived—and cared little, until a boy she knew announced that he

11 Senior High Band Members Participate In State Clinic

Eleven members of the Mooresville Senior High School Band and the band's director, Robert O. Klepfer, spent the week end in Boone, attending the 14th consecutive annual Northwest North Carolina High School Band Clinic at Appalachian State Teachers College.

The 11 local students, who earned the right to attend the clinic as a result of competitive auditions at Lenoir and Salisbury, were as follows:

Susan Reading, clarinet; Carey MacBrayer and Pat Vickers, bassoon; Becky Brown, oboe; Marcia Gilladette and Tina Hager, bass clarinet; Ann Brannon, alto clarinet; Elaine Sherrill, David Chamberlain, and Hugh Sykes, drum; and David Munday, sousaphone. The clinic was divided into two complete bands, the first made up of those scoring highest in the auditions, and the second made up of those scoring next highest. Hugh Sykes and David Munday were members of the top band. Charles Delaney, professor of flute at the University of Illinois and assistant director of the Illinois

SOMETHING TO SMILE ABOUT—These 11 members of the Mooresville Senior High School Band and Band Director Robert O. Klepfer have something to smile about. They were selected to participate in the 14th consecutive annual Northwest North Carolina High School Band Clinic, held at Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone last week.

Prospect Community News Briefs

By MRS. BRUCE CARRIGAN

A joint meeting of the Men and Women of Prospect Church was held in the Fellowship Hall last Tuesday night with approximately a hundred people present. The men served barbecue with the trimmings and the women provided the desserts.

Mrs. Sam Edmonson, president of the women, welcomed those present. Mrs. Horace Clinegar gave a timely devotional. Rev. Wilkes Macaulay introduced the speaker, layman George Sivori of Albemarle, who entertained the group and then in a serious mood he challenged the group to greater things for their church and Christ's Kingdom.

Mr. Dr. W. Miller has been a patient at the Davis Hospital in Statesville since last Tuesday, where he is receiving treatment and undergoing tests.

SWITCHED to Electric Comfort Heating

Highway 27 Locust, N.C.

Duke Power Company 1225 N. Main St. Salisbury, North Carolina

Gentlemen: Since installing electric heat in our home a year ago our family has been entirely pleased. We find this draft-free heat maintains a constant, even temperature of our selection in each room. Due to the fact that the temperature is so constant and even, we were able to eliminate the water heater for our tropical fish and they are doing excellent.

Best of all is the low cost of heating with Electric Comfort Heating. Our total electric bill for a full year was only $277.00 for all appliances, light, and heating. This was less than we had been paying previously for electricity and heating.

Two of the outstanding features of Electric Comfort Heating that we have enjoyed, in addition to temperature control in each room, are space savings and the cleanliness of our drapes, walls and ceilings which stay cleaner and free from grime.

After using electric heat we would not be happy or satisfied using any other kind.

Weekly Report To The Folks Back Home

Dear Mama:

The family enjoyed your letter. It surprised us, though, because we had no idea you were worried. Of course we're all still alive, never better. We've had a spell taking turns with the measles, nothing serious. Really, mama, four months isn't a long time between letters when you think how time flies these days. Yes, I know I should write more often, and I'm sorry. That's really why I sent you last week's paper with my picture in it, so you could see for yourself that I'm okay.

Well, I did have my eyes examined about a month back. The doctor looked my lookers over good, and he says I am not cockeyed. He says they just seem to be looking in different directions because they're too close together—and he says he can't do anything about that.

My checks aren't hollow, and I'm eating very well. Lou is a good cook. Just because she still refuses to fix corned herring in no reason to assume her meals aren't balanced. She won't fry those fish, you know, on account of the smell. She has given permission for me to cook 'em outside on the grill, but somehow the idea of charcoaled corned herring hits me sideways.

I'm sorry you worry about us, really. You know I've never been a great one for writing home, and I know that when I use that excuse you always remind me that I always seemed to find time to write when I was in school and broke. Tell you what: we'll keep sending you the paper every week. If anything out of the ordinary happens to any of us, you can read about it in the paper. That'll be sort of like getting a letter from us every week, won't it?

Give our love to daddy and everybody. You didn't have to mention about my disappearing hairline. I'm real sensitive about that. I think a lot, maybe that's why my hair is going fast.

Love, Your Secondborn

Honesty Would Be The Ruination Of Us

We want to harp on this anti-tobacco kick some more. The Federal Trade Commission bit off a bigger chew than it can chew when it suggested a health warning be required on cigarette packages. Putting the skull and crossbones on tag packs would usher in a slew of demands in the interstate public health. If we go in for ultra-honesty in labeling cancer sticks as such, we will have to extend this service to other fields. Such as:

Manufacturers of 400-horsepower cars may have to say something like "Kills Instantly at High Speeds" in their ads, and perhaps across the back of the hood.

We can see the farmer now, wearily stamping each egg: "Warning: High Cholesterol Content Damaging to Blood Vessels."

And the liquor bottles, with their labels stamped "Excessive Use Will Promote Insanity, Heart Disease, Divorce. Can Definitely Kill."

And the Bayer ads: "An Aspirin an Aspirin is an Aspirin, but We Have the Most Attractive Box in the Business."

Needless to say, this kind of unbridled honesty could be the ruination of us. Perhaps the real test of the perils of honesty will come when the nervous halfback eyes the snarling, mammoth opposing line, is handed the ball and then sees, emblazoned under the trademark: "Carriers Risk Serious Personal Injury."

A Chance For Boys To Test Themselves

We are personally indebted to Mr. Hugh Sloop, but so are a great many other Mooresville parents. Our six-year-old was a quiet, withdrawn chap—until he followed his older brother into the Optimist Boys Choir. Associating with other youngsters, traveling with them in cookouts and generally getting a kick out of the choir's activities opened a new dimension for Larry. Now, he is the first to start and the last to quit in family harmonizing (!) at home.

That he has his own rendition of hymns in church is by no means embarrassing; we couldn't be more pleased. He now is active rather than passive. He has learned to test his own abilities, and he has found the challenge fun. This new aggressiveness carries over in all phases of his busy young life.

Muchly our youngsters by several dozens and you get something of the impact Mr. Hugh and the choir he directs have had on Mooresville boys. As a bonus, the choir, now in its sixth year, has provided immeasurable entertainment and inspiration through its performances. Mooresville Optimists were first the state to start a choir, today several other clubs have followed their example. Jim Cruse, who now lives in Charlotte, was president of the local club when Mr. Hugh suggested such a youth project be started. Mabel (Mrs. Ed) Robinson has served as pianist since the founding of the choir.

Mr. Hugh has been feeling poorly of late. He even missed a couple of choir practices, something only sickness could force him to do. Last week, he was up and about, arranging rehearsals and performances, such as the choir's scheduled appearance during the state Optimist convention in Hickory.

Our Optimist Boys Choir is not a singing group in the usual sense. There are no auditions, voice quality is of no particular significance. The idea is to help the boy find himself. That a great many youngsters have found challenge and purpose in the choir, and that the group has made beautiful music is a double monument to all who have made the choir possible—and most especially to Hugh L. Sloop. We join all past and present choir members—they're all "my boys," he says—in expressing the community's appreciation to this man who has given so much of himself.

Tip From The Mechanical Fortune Teller

Dan Johnson ordered dinner in a local restaurant. While he waited for the food, he decided to invest a penny in the mechanical fortune teller. Gears whirled, and out came the card predicting his future. The card read: "Your life is incomplete; you should devote more time to church activities."

Dan is minister of music at First Baptist Church, and he devotes practically all his waking hours to his work.

An Announcement In The Public Interest

This plea from Pete Pender, Mooresville fire inspector: When you turn in a fire alarm, please remain in the vicinity of the alarm box. The firemen are directed by the location of the box. Often, they dash to the rescue, then have considerable trouble locating the fire after they reach the area from whence the alarm came. Also, many people are negligent in not getting permission (usually a formal letter) to burn trash or brush and such about town. A small, intentional yard fire got out of hand last week and a lady suffered a painful burn because the fire department had not been warned that the homeowner was burning debris.

Willie Cook Laid To Rest At Vanderburg

Willie Thomas Cook, 88-year-old resident of Troutman, route 1, died last Tuesday at the Memorial Hospital at Statesville at 4:45 a. m. Monday.

A native of Iredell county, Mr. Cook was born on May 27, 1885, a son of the late James Hugh and Nancy Isabelle Jones Cook. At the time of his death, he was employed by Miller Bros. Produce Company at Oatwell.

The survivors include: one sister, Mrs. Roy Denny of Mooresville; and seven brothers, Eazy and R. D. Cook, both of Mooresville, route 4, Rock, Jay, and Ted Cook, all of Troutman, route 1, Glen Cook of Mooresville, route 2, and Ben Cook of Mooresville, route 3.

Funeral services were conducted at 4 p. m. Tuesday at the Cavin Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Frank Oatwell, pastor of the Beulah Heights Wesleyan Methodist Church at Oatwell, in charge. Burial was in the Vanderburg Methodist Church cemetery at Shepherd.

2-Automobile Crash Causes $350 Damage

On last Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, two cars collided on North Church street at the driveway into the municipal building's parking lot, causing damages estimated at $350.

Police Sgt. Marvin Barlow, the investigating officer, reported that Wanda Darnell Sherrill, 17, of Sherrill's Ford was turning west off North Church street onto the driveway when she collided with the car of Mrs. Wanda Darnell Sherrill, a resident of 607 Turner street, was turning off the driveway onto North Church street.

Miss Sherrill was quoted as saying she was "blinded" by her car and that she did not see the Rathbone car until it was too late to avoid hitting it.

The left front of Miss Sherrill's car was damaged in the neighborhood of $200, while the left rear of the Rathbone car was damaged approximately $150.

No charges were lodged.

Farm Consigns Bulls

Will-Via Hereford Farm of Mooresville, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Willis L. Teeter, is selling five hereford bulls in the Raleigh Bull Sale, February 8.

The Raleigh sale is the largest sale of hereford bulls in the East. For the past few years, cattlemen from all over North Carolina and adjoining states have been coming to this sale to purchase bulls for their herds, whether it be purebred or commercial herds. Many of the top breeders in the East will be selling bulls in this sale this year, with some 100 bulls being consigned.

Linker Cited For Military Record

Neel Linker of Mooresville was named by Air Force Reserve as one of the top 100 military leaders selected for recognition following completion of the fall quarter of study at East Carolina College.

Linker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linker of Mooresville, route 3, was cited for his outstanding achievements in the academic and military phases of his ROTC training.

The select group of ROTC men was honored at the annual formal dinner of the college AFROTC unit in Greenville.

"Although I Disagree With Everything You Say I Will Defend Unto Death Your Right To Say It"

VOL. XXX MOORESVILLE, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY, 30, 1964 No. 50

Mooresville's Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1072 will conduct its "Lite-A-Bike" safety project Saturday, February 1.

Members of the organization have urged all bike owners in town to take advantage of the opportunity to add an extra measure of protection to their bicycles. The post will attach reflection tape to the front, rear and handlebars of the bikes.

There is no cost to the bike owners. All they have to do is bring their two-wheeled to the parking lot behind Joe's Hobby Shop, 265 North Main Street, between 9 a. m. and noon Saturday. Members of the post will fasten the tape to the bikes.

The tape is of the type used on road signs and bridge abutments. Car lights will pick up the glow from the tape in plenty of time to alert the motorist to the bike rider. Sort of an early warning system, as it were.

While the post members invited all bike owners, particularly the youngsters, to bring their bikes around for the tape, they were emphatic in explaining that the tape is not a substitute for the proper use of the brakes, proper use of the rear reflectors required on bikes on streets after dark. The strips of glowing materials are of-fered as an additional guard against accidents.

The 3M Company provides the reflection tape to groups for the safety project. W. B. Curtis, commander of the local VFW unit, by attaching reflection tape at the prescribed places on several bikes. Two of the early customers were Ronnie and Randa Rathbone, children of the post officer.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE — Members of the local VFW unit will hold their "Lite-A-Bike" safety campaign Saturday. Early this week, the post commander, W. B. Curtis, right, and Tracey Rathbone, post senior vice commander, practiced for the February 1 project by attaching reflection tape at the prescribed places on several bikes. Two of the early customers were Ronnie and Randa Rathbone, children of the post officer.

Politics Is More Than Knocking A Good Thing

North Carolina's Democratic candidates for governor are having a hard time stirring up basic arguments with each other. We've had the expected States petition business and the equally anticipated campaign by one to be another to the present administration. It may be assumed that the one sees the Judas kiss technique in tagging the other as Governor Sanford's heir apparent.

But just how dangerous is it to be identified with the political philosophy of Terry Sanford? Never as we are in matters political, we cannot help but feel the Sanford label would be something less harsh than instant political death. Aside from personal distaste, the Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls show a marked tendency to shy away from cries for drastic changes in our state's governmental structure. There has been much rehashing of sundry state programs, but all we have heard suggests the candidates generally are in favor of more of the same. This approach hardly could be interpreted as an affront to Mr. Sanford's record.

In Statesville last week, Richardson Preyer said he is preparing a far-reaching program aimed at conserving the state's natural resources. He wants a bond issue to further improve the roads of Tarheelia. He feels very strongly about "replacing this cycle of poverty with a cycle of hope." While his proposals are on solid ground, they are not original in themselves.

Also last week, Dan Moore outlined before a Graham audience a 12-point program "designed to accelerate North Carolina's industrial growth." He said the governor should pay more attention to industrial development in order to "bring all North Carolinians nearer the abundant life that is theirs as a birthright." There is a question in that quote. It is a lesson in semantics, to be sure. The implication is that all North Carolinians who aren't well-to-do are being deprived of their rights. This, of course, is preposterous. If you're born the 12th son of a Negro tenant farmer in Northampton County, the "abundant life" is hardly yours "as a birthright."

But it is pointless to quibble over Mr. Moore's choice of words. He meant basically the same thing Mr. Preyer meant when he said, with a bit more rhetoric perhaps, that we must work to replace "this cycle of poverty with a cycle of hope." Our basic disagreement with Mr. Moore's statement is his implication that Governor Sanford has ignored the need for industrial expansion. This is not true.

During 1963, as we discussed here last week, North Carolina broke all records for industrial growth, capital investment in industry and jobs created through industrial expansion. That is a clear fact, and if we can post that kind of record by turning our back on industry, the whole country best face the opposite direction.

Terry Sanford has been the national pace-setter in the race against poverty that now rages on the national level. If Mr. Moore and Mr. Preyer have borrowed a page from the Sanford book, it is to their credit.

We agree at one point with both of these able men who would like to succeed Terry Sanford. Poverty is a crushing burden. It is the responsibility of everyone in a position to help to do so.

The per capita income figures released last week by the North Carolina Department of Tax Research leave no question about the need for continuing our efforts to aid the very poor.

The worst move we can make is to claim what already has been done. We do not have to deny that progress has been made to make a case for more advances. It may be expedient politics to some, but it is fundamentally unfair to claim those who are in are bad, and those who would like to get in are good.

Government By The People—A New Look

In the long history of this republic, only a comparative handful of people have voted for the President and Vice President of the United States. The rest of the electorate has voted for groups of men and women who, for the most part, are totally unknown to them.

This, of course, is the electoral college system which, after much debate and compromise, was firmly embodied in Article II of the Constitution. Ever since, scores of proposals have been made to fundamentally change it, none successful. This year, no doubt, another effort will be made for the change.

Under the existing system, each state has as many electors as it has senators and Representatives combined. This is of obvious advantage to the smaller states, in that they have these two additional votes, represented by their senators, regardless of population. Thus, to some extent, a state's mere size is minimized.

It can also be said of the electoral college system that it has worked. At the same time, it has produced distortion in the appearance of results for the reason that the candidates who carry a state, no matter how tiny their majority, receive 100 per cent of that state's electoral votes. This was exemplified in 1960. The late President Kennedy ran up a substantial electoral college majority. Yet his popular vote margin over Mr. Nixon was next to invisible.

Various methods of reform of the system are always under consideration. Probably the simplest is that the President and Vice President shall be elected by direct popular vote. The arguments in favor of this are many, the principal one being that, if the President is to be the man of the people, he ought to be elected directly by the people. Another is that every citizen's vote would count equally. Still another is that political activity would be distributed through all parts of the nation and the two-party system invigorated.

Opponents of the direct popular vote method argue that it would be unfair to smaller states; lead to national election laws at the expense of state sovereignty in this area; and encourage the major parties to concentrate their campaigns in the heavily-populated cities, at the expense of the interests of rural areas and small communities. As a practical matter, it is also said that such a constitutional change could never be ratified because of the opposition of small states—some two thirds of them would lose relative political influence.

Another proposed change is the direct method, whereby the unit represented by each elector would be switched from the state to a district within a state and there is support for the proportional method, which would provide that each candidate would receive the proportion of the electoral vote as his share of the state's popular vote. All have their advocates, all their opponents.

Reform of the electoral college is a highly complex subject that needs confrontation by the best minds in the Senate and outside. The electoral college is not just a technical electoral procedure. It is steeped in politics—it affects the balance of parties, the power of interest groups, the strength of ideologies, the fate of politicians. Reform has proved impossible because politicians have feared that it might upset or threaten political arrangements that they have found congenial, or at least predictable and dependable.

WORDS OF WISDOM

The Santa Claus legend persists in America. We're not talking about the children's Santa who distributes gifts to good boys and girls at Christmas time; we're talking about Uncle Sam... who distributes gifts and grants and loans to 'good' communities throughout the year... We have said it before and we say it again: There is nothing magic about giving our money a trip to Washington, then having part of it returned to us on the basis of political as well as economic considerations. Uncle Sam is no Santa Claus. —Port Huron (Mich.) Times Herald.

Let us resolve to remain steadfast in our faith, and to remain true to the ideal of American patriotism, which is the conviction that our country is a Christian nation, a constitutional republic with a free enterprise, capitalist economy, the only hope for preserving individual liberty and maintaining peace and justice in the world. —Del Mar (Calif.) Sun.

Parson Jones' Pulpit

DEAR MR. PUBLISHER:

I reckon you saw in the paper where the government took a poke at smoking. I hope the news didn't make it to the Sunday school lessons since that time has been smoking, chewing, and dipping. We even skipped our annual kicking-lesson last Sunday to carry on our tobacco crusade.

I been getting in on the act too. I done preached two sermons on the subject. The first sermon I preached on the subject, "The Young Adult. Following the lead of the Sunday school lessons, I give 'em both barrels on the topic. 'Don't you ever peek for a smoke!'"

They was right moving sermons my wife said. I couldn't find a particular text in the Good Book to cover these subjects so I just preached on the Bible in general. Instead of quoting the Lord so much I kept telling 'em what the government said. Folks ain't at liberty to talk back to the government any more are they, Lord. Anyhow, Mr. Publisher, they was both wonderful sermons. I wrote 'em up so I could save 'em for posterity.

The fine thing about this tobacco crusade is that it's producing results. We done organized a Tobacco Anonymous Club, and had 23 folks at the first meeting. First off, they got together and decided it was a sickness that comes from sucking the bottle too long as a baby. We give 'em all a twenty penny nail to carry in their pocket, and a chicken bone to chew on when they get too nervous. Course, you have to realize that breaking the habit can't be done overnight. If of the club members quit during the meeting to have a smoke, I mailed it on their breath when they come back in. None of 'em wouldn't own up to it though.

Mr. Publisher, we're having a few other problems too. A bunch of the younguns has gone to smoking since all this has come up. I caught Marshall's 14 year old boy out behind the church puffing on a cigarette last Sunday. When I caught him how come he didn't tell me he was like to do anything illegal. He said he bought 'em from Ben Twist who had opened up a cigarette bootlegging business.

Well, I hope it all works out. Washington shore oughta know what it's talking about when it says that tobacco is harming our folks, cause they got the worse liver problem in the United States. It takes a problem to know a problem.

Seems like I read somewhere in the Good Book that the blind don't see a very good job a leading the blind. I shore hope we don't all fall in the ditch. If the government can just find little white harming the minds and souls of our people it might throw a little light on the whole subject.

Well, Mr. Publisher, I gotta go for now. I've got to stop by and get me some breath sweetener before I go to a church meeting.

Yours truly,

Parson Jones

Iredell Republicans in a county-wide convention at Statesville last Friday failed to nominate a full slate of candidates for the November election, but will attempt to do so at another meeting on April 9. It has been revealed by A. Z. Goforth of Statesville, chairman.

Mr. Goforth is quoted as saying: "We thought we had everything lined up for a big meeting. However, it looks as if those who are real interested in running didn't come."

During the nominations, only two agreed to seek seats on the county board of commissioners. The group also agreed on a state senatorial candidate and a man to run for sheriff.

Mr. Goforth said that the names of the nominated candidates would not be released for publication until the full slate is available. Mooreville's four-day Industrial Show opened yesterday (Wed.) under the sponsorship of the Merchants Association and with the full cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce.

The show is housed in the North Main Street building formerly occupied by Alf's Grill, and although the exhibit hall's doors had been opened only a few hours, scores of people had already visited the exhibit hall by noon Wednesday.

There will be a run-off primary in Iredell county on Saturday, June 20 between Harry B. Moore and Vance Wagner for the fifth place on the 5-man county commission board. Moore, who finished sixth, 46 votes behind Wagner, filed his official request for the run-off with the Iredell Board of Elections last Saturday.

Herman Compton has purchased W. J. German's interest in German-Compton Motors, Inc., and effective immediately the firm will be known as Compton Motors, Inc.

Located on East Iredell Avenue on the corner of Iredell and North Church street, the firm is the authorized dealer in the Mooreville area for Chrysler and Plymouth cars. The concern also operates a used-car lot and modern service department.

Miss Alice McNeely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McNeely of North Main Street, Mooreville, graduated, with honors, from Salem College, Winston-Salem, at the 10th annual commencement.

Mrs. Carrie Murdoch Troutman, aged 68 years, wife of Charles A. Troutman, Sr., died at her home on North Main Street at 6:10 o'clock last Thursday morning. Although she had been a long-time invalid, she was suffering a stroke of paralysis in 1941, her death was quite unexpected.

Chief of Police Clayton Dyson and local photographer, Cliff Ingram, attended a short course in press photography conducted at Carolina Inn, Chapel Hill, last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Match Of The Year" Pits Devils Against Statesville Here Tonight

What could well be billed as the "Match Of The Year" will be staged in Mooreville tonight (Thursday) when the charges of Coach Perry Pearson take on the unbeaten team from Statesville.

Statesville, the defending Western North Carolina High School Activities Association champion, is unbeaten in this year. The local Blue Devils have one loss and one tie to go along with six wins during the year.

Without a doubt both teams will be all out for a victory in this all-important recognition match between the two Fredell County teams, each of which is rated one of the best in the association.

Mooreville warmed up for the important Statesville encounter with two victories during the past week, a 32-16 decision over West Rowan.

In the victory over Lenoir, Coach Pearson and his charges have been pointing for the match with Statesville since the start of the season and from indications the locals will be at a high pitch for the encounter with the Greyhounds.

Pearson also reports that he, along with the team, is well aware of the fine support the fans have given the team during the year. It is a known fact that a large delegation of Mooreville fans could well root the locals to a victory in this top notch match.

Devils' continued unbeaten as he planned his opponent in 58 seconds of the second period. Larry Dyson, another unbeaten member of the team, also scored a pin over his competitor.

Also adding pins for the locals was Mike Couch and Bobby Ham while David Oliphant, David Curtis, Bobby Ingram and Jimmy Carter won their contests by the decision route.

Tim Fries dropped a close 9-7 decision to his man while Tony Bentley was pinned by Lenoir's Towans and the locals gave the losers five more points with a forfeit in the 14th class.

Devil Cage Teams Here In Double-Bill Friday

The last eight minutes of play were the real game as far as the cage was concerned. With only three minutes remaining in the game, East tied the score at 46-46. Bowman called time out and recharged his group who immediately took the floor and pulled the game out of the fire.

Tommy Deal was the key in the final minutes of the game as he led the locals in the lead. Deal scored 27 points in the contest, of which 15 came from the charity stripe in 16 attempts.

Coach Bowman was high in praise of his team for their fine comeback in the second half and he gave much of the credit for the victory to forward Johnny Barrier and center Johnny Cabe for their fine jobs under the boards.

Staging is one of the more important phases in preparing for a flower show. Mrs. Jack Curtis, right, chairman of the properties committee, is shown with Mrs. S. H. Price, Jr., a member of the staging committee, as they prepare to draw one of the tables to be used in the forthcoming show at the War Memorial. The material, which is monk's cloth, was donated for the annual event by Mrs. W. W. Rader.

Rules, Deadlines, And Awards Announced For Annual Flower Show At War Memorial

SHEARER OPEN HOUSE — Members of Shearer Presbyterian Church have invited the public to look over their new educational and fellowship building during open house Sunday, February 2, from 3 p. m. until 5 p. m. The new facility, which cost about $60,000, contains 8,000 square feet of floor space. It was dedicated December 22, and it has been in use since. The lower part of the structure, which joins the main church building, contains classrooms. The right portion of the building is the fellowship hall. The growing church is located on Shearer's Chapel Road five miles from Mooreville.

Funeral Rites Conducted For Mrs. McNeely

Funeral services for Mrs. Carle McNeely, 71, resident of Faith Road, Salisbury, were conducted at 3 p. m. Monday at Salisbury Memorial Baptist Church in Salisbury and burial was in Rowan Memorial Park cemetery in Salisbury.

The widow of John W. McNeely, she died at her home Friday night of a heart attack.

Born in Ireland county, Mrs. McNeely was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cashion, and she has quite a few relatives living here.

Surviving are three sons, Marvin J. McNeely of Salisbury, Jim J. McNeely of Spartanburg, S. C., and John W. McNeely, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga.; two daughters, Mrs. Eazy Klatts of Baden and Mrs. Gladys Eddy of Granite Quarry; two brothers, A. B. and J. W. Cashion, both of Kannapolis; two half-brothers, Jack and Burns Cashion, both of Mooreville; one sister, Mrs. P. S. Compton of Mooreville; one half-sister, Mrs. Clyde Smith of Mooreville; 17 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Blue Devils Split With Troutman

Mooreville's Senior High basketball team split two games at Troutman Tuesday night. The local girls lost their second conference game of the year by a 29-18 margin.

Coach Harlan Bowman's five players held Troutman to a hard won 42-31 decision over the hustling Bobcats. The Devils used a fast break and a pressing defense to break the game open in the final minutes after playing the homesters on almost even terms the first three periods.

The score was knotted 15-15 at halftime with defense telling the tale for both teams. Mooreville shot into a 29-21 lead early in the final quarter and at this point Troutman elected to go into a press of their own in an attempt to pull closer.

With guard Tommy Deal at the controls the locals took command and extended the margin to 39-21 at which point Bowman pulled his starters and let the reserves finish up the contest.

Deal paced the scorers with 13 points while Mike Robinson lobbed in 11, mostly from way out side. Johnny Cane in one of his better nights, both offensively and defensively, contributed seven points with his fine rebounding.

Hustling Tim Roach tallied nine points and the team's defense a tremendous game under the boards. The local defense was superb in the final minutes of the game.

Scoring ability, the lack of, was the downfall for Coach Roy Boyles and his bunch of runners. After a close first half which saw the locals trailing 8-6, the Troutman sextet put the game out of reach by scoring eight big points in the third chapter while Mooreville only got two.

Sandy Torrence with eight points was high for the locals while Patty Sherrill of the winners tallied 12. Drena Walters, Donna Helms, Maudie Poore, Susan Cooke and Sherry Sherrill saw the greater part of the action for the Devils' losses.

Tomorrow night the locals will be on the home court with the teams of Monroe providing the opposition.

Study Will Seek Better Methods Teach Reading

One of America's most serious educational problems — the teaching of reading — will be studied next year in a massive government-sponsored program of research.

Dr. Francis Ianni, director of the United States Office of Education's co-operative research branch, said $1,000,000 may be spent during the year to study the teaching of reading.

"There have been hundreds of projects to determine the best method, or combination of methods, of teaching children to read," Ianni said, "but there has never been such a large-scale attack on the problem as the one now planned."

Teachers generally concede that reading is the most important single skill that can be taught to a child. Poor development of reading abilities is the major cause of scholastic dropouts, experts have determined.

Drop-outs, in turn, often lead to crime, unemployment, and the need for dependence on expensive welfare and rehabilitation programs.

Dr. Ianni said that the forthcoming studies of teaching methods will cover large city, small town, and rural schools and that the experience and opinions of teachers will receive major attention.

Preyer Returns To Iredell On Feb. 5

A string band will greet Richardson Preyer, Democratic candidate for Governor, when he visits Statesville Wednesday, February 5, on his 100-county tour of North Carolina.

"This kind of project represents hard work by the whole community," Simpson said, "and congratulations are in order for all who were a part of it."

Simpson awarded a special certificate of appreciation to Rufus Dalton, head of the Chemsun-Templon plants that went over their 50th anniversary two hours after the campaign opened. Piques commending them for their role in the drive went to each division chairman and to Rosser.

In retiring as president, Rosser told the group his part in the campaign had brought "a feeling of being-ness, association with fine people and a sense of mutual accomplishment."

James Rosser presented a report from the committee that reviewed the local UF constitution. The members accepted the new document for study. It will come up for adoption at the next annual meeting.
