Freedom An Accomplish-In "Legal" Crime

There is this about free enterprise: it's equally free to the honest and the dishonest. Law in a free society protects uniformly the scrupulous and the unscrupulous. And because this freedom is such a two-way privilege, it is all the more dangerous to twist it into an accomplice in "legal" crime. The human family, like the proverbial apple barrel, is made up largely of good fruit. Most people believe in and practice the Golden Rule. But one human parasite, like the one bad apple, is enough to turn the stomach.

There are those, unfortunately, who have made it their business to prove that suckers really are born every minute. Just this week we got a letter from the Winston-Salem Better Business Bureau, warning of a door-to-door peddler selling a "miracle wax" that cleans, polishes and exterminates all kinds of insects. Housewives who bought the guy's spiel and his wares found that his all-purpose wonder wax is a mixture of linseed oil, beeswax and shoe polish that is greasy it never dries and has to be removed from the floor with soap and water.

So a 75-cent bottle of wax is small potatoes, you say. True, and the peddler also is guilty under the law, of false advertising. But, what about an $8,100 flimflam that is completely within the law, although just barely? At least two Mooreville families have fallen prey recently to the fast lip and "I and a deed" come-on of shady shell home builders—and builders is not really the word. By playing on the egos of illiterate lot owners, by pumping up dreams, by warping pride in home ownership, these shysters have been able to use the letter-of-the-law to negotiate contracts that demand grossly excessive payments on "homes" that don't come near meeting Mooreville sanitation standards, not to mention the minimum housing code that goes into effect early next month.

Let's take a look at two cases. Bear in mind that in both instances, the builder (a Charlotte outfit) has conformed to the letter of the contract.

The contract in case No. 1 is validated by the "X" of the aged head of a family that was burned out of its shanty. He is to pay $5,800 for a 20-by-36 foot shell, and shell is the word. His new home has no method of heating (no chimney, for that matter, and this is an oversight that the contractor must correct), no plumbing whatever, no water supply, no interior doors or finish work of any kind on the inside. It is, in short, four walls and a roof resting shakily on concrete blocks.

The town's building inspector was called to make the routine final inspection of the shanty dwelling. Without water and without provisions for sewage disposal, the structure was ruled unfit for human habitation. The owner of the "X" on the contract was asked by the inspector how much his new home cost. The old man knew only that he must pay so much each month. For how long? The disillusioned homeowner could only answer: "It'll be paid for."

Heartache On Steep Monthly Payments

The house in case No. 2 is more elaborate, and it should be—it cost $8,100. It is smaller, 20-by-28 feet, but it has a bathroom, no other fixtures in the bathroom or elsewhere, just a tub resting on wood blocks. It has a chimney, too, but no heating system. As prescribed in the contract, this dwelling has sewer lines and water lines running five feet from the house. The lines are just there, they aren't connected to anything at either end. A functional illiterate wanted to build a home for his mother, who is old and a semiliterate. What he got for his years of monthly payments was heartache and more expense.

Both new "homes" are in town, and both are within reach of water and sewer lines. At the very least, it will cost the owner of the $8,100 house $65 for a water lateral line and installation of a water. He will have to lay a sewer line from the house to the town's line and this probably will cost $300. Both have to put in commodes, water lines, faucets and such just to be able to live in the places legally. There is no need to go into the expense they face to make their homes livable.

These fast operators come to town with a contractor's license. They apply for a building permit and the town has no recourse but to issue the permit. Armed with a legally binding contract, the shysters do their dirty work and leave—leaving the proud new homeowner with steep payments on a throw-together dwelling he'd be far better off without. Meeting the requirements of the town's building code is the responsibility of the owner. The embittered victim blames a few payments, so an official of the company comes to check. He explains the "fantastic expense" of a good house, he assures the homeowner that his complaints are being looked into, and he promises to overlook the missing payments—provided they are caught up. This goes on for months, maybe years, until the still unhappy homeowner has a stable investment in the place. Perhaps he has fixed it up into a fairly decent home. Then those missing payments take on sudden importance. The homeowner gets a couple of payments behind, and, whammo, the patent, long-suffering contractor reappears.

Local loaning institutions are all too familiar with the methods of these shysters who pounce on the ignorant and the poor. One official of a local home loans firm said his staff is called on often to appraise these shell homes for loans. He said that invariably, the people owe more on the houses than the houses are worth.

For contrast, records in the town office show that a local contractor recently completed a turn-key job on a 24-by-32 foot home. The dwelling, completely finished inside and out, water and sewer connections made, heating unit installed, cost $4,500.

Local Schools Re-Accredited By Association

The five local schools have been re-accredited for the 1963-64 school year by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, according to information received here from officials of the association.

The Mooreville Senior High School has been a member of the association since 1920 and the Dunbar School has been a member since 1922.

Mooreville's Postal Receipts Show Increase

Mooreville's postal receipts, a good index of the economic life of the community, showed an increase of 19.3 per cent during the last 10 months.

Then the Congress, lamented by Hookum, don't pass nothing but "temporary taxes" when the folks back home know all taxes are permanent.

Congressman Grubb reported that the beginning of the "domestic war" calling a thing by its right name. If they was any truth in that proverb, we got the most unwise Government on earth.

Yours truly, Uncle Dan

The Beauty Of Winter's Icy Breath

Sunday night's sleet and snow brought treacherous traveling and soaring fuel bills, kept kids home and underfoot, curtailed business and generally played havoc with standard operating procedure. But there is a beautiful side to winter's icy breath, as witness the serenity of the antebellum home of the John Bradfords on West Wilson Avenue.

SCHOOL ADDITION

West Low Bidder On Dunbar Job

At a public bid-opening here Tuesday afternoon, a Statesville construction firm was low bidder on the general contract for the Dunbar School addition.

One of seven firms competing for the job, P. S. West Construction Company entered a bid of $44,674.

W. P. Bell and Sons of Mooreville, with a bid of $56,440, was low bidder of the general contract for the addition.

Only two bids each were submitted on the heating and plumbing contracts. The law requires that at least three bids be submitted on any contract at the first letting. Therefore a new call for bids on these two contracts has been issued. According to the new call, bids on these two contracts will be received on Thursday, January 22, at 2 p. m. in the office of Dr. Roland Morgan, superintendent of the Mooreville City Schools.

In addition to P. S. West Construction Company, other firms bidding on the Dunbar School addition were: John V. Barger & Company of Mooreville, $47,124; Barger Construction Company of Mooreville, $47,800; Cabarrus Construction Company of Concord, $45,126; C. C. Morrison of Shelby, $50,000; A. A. Ramsey of Shelby, $52,000; and T. C. Strickland of Shelby, $47,400.

Firms bidding on the electrical contract, in addition to E. P. Bell and Sons, were: Caldwell Electric Company of Newton, $7,197; Elam Electric Company of Charlotte, $5,500; O'Connell Electric Company of Mooreville, route 4, $8,666; and George B. Stevens of Mooreville, $7,400.

The Mooreville School Board, it was pointed out, will meet at an early date to consider the bids, and successful contractors will be notified immediately thereafter.

Uncle Dan From Doobie Says

The feller at the country store Saturday night come up with a important discovery. The Congress of the United States and the people of the United States ain't speaking in the same language. And when Congressmen talk in one tongue and the people in another they are bound to be chaos in the land.

This discovery was made at what you might call a meeting at the Summit and all the best minds of the community was present, including Zeke Grubb's preacher. It ought to go down in history alongside such items as Columbus discovering the New World and Democrats discovering the New Frontier.

First, off, Ed Doobie told about how the Congress passed a "debt ceiling" bill ever session. In the language of the folks back home, you hit the top when you hit the ceiling and they ain't no more. But the Congress has ratted the "debt ceiling" 3 times in the last 10 months.

Principals Unanimously Endorse Ist Proposal

Iredell now has gone through a painful struggle for better school reorganization proposals county Board of Education.

The new plan under consideration resembles the Peabody Plan offered a few years back as Iredell's first serious approach to school consolidation. The study is by all counts, a definitive examination of rural education in this county.

Basically, the report agrees with Peabody experts that two consolidated senior high schools best solve the problem of molding county schools into a uniform educational system.

The new reorganization plan was explained to the county school board during a two-hour special session in Statesville Tuesday afternoon. Principals and committee members of the county's 19 schools all were briefed on the report in a round of conferences Tuesday. The study, like others before it, is a blueprint for school consolidation. It is the product of six months of research by county school Superintendent V. Ray Gibbs and his staff of professional administrators.

The plan, packed into 28 pages, covers present conditions of each school, suggests sweeping changes in the makeup of the school system and touches on the all-important financial side of the entire program.

The main features of the Gibbs Plan is a senior high in the north, on Jennings Road in Olin Township, and another in the south, on Old Mountain Road near Troutman. Each of the new plans would be built on sites yet to be chosen, although site selection committees are at work. Unity High School for Negroes would be greatly enlarged in order for it to continue serving the entire county.

All other schools in the county system would be maintained as modified elementary schools. Gibbs wants to install junior-high programs offering departmental instruction to seventh and eighth graders in all existing units, except Unity, in which enrollment would justify a separate junior high curriculum.

"The first step in this long-range program is the construction of the two senior high schools," Gibbs says. See GIBBS—Page 5

Coddle Creek Bombs 'Little Fed,' 7 To 1

Coddle Creek Township's citizens joined a three-to-two majority of 740 votes Tuesday in rejecting the "Little Federal" plan for changing the makeup of the General Assembly.

Countywide, however, Iredell favored the plan by a narrow margin—18 votes.

The structure, to be located in the rear of the present high school section of the Dunbar School plant, will be two stories high, of brick and concrete block construction, with a built-up roof.

Each classroom will be 25 feet by 30 feet, while the home economics department will be 30 feet by 31 feet, and the industrial arts department will be 30 feet by 51 feet.

Iredell County Superior Court Jurors Selected

Jurors, who will serve during the February term of Iredell Superior Court, have been selected by the county commissioners.

The first week of the two-term term will convene on February 3, while the second week will get underway February 10. A new grand jury will be selected from the persons appearing for duty the first week.

Those selected are as follows: James W. Daniels, 422 W. S. Kitchings, 810 North Center Street, Statesville; E. H. Critz of Hamptonville, route 1; Walter Marsh of Statesville, route 7; Grover Haynes of Harmony, route 2; W. E. Griggs, Jr., 1964.

It was pointed out that 50 stockholders owned an odd number of shares, but the stock dividend was declared. Therefore, each of the 50 was entitled to one-half share, making a total of 26 full shares to be offered for sale at public auction.

Prior to recommending the stock dividend increase, directors of the First National Bank of Mooreville Tuesday night authorized a 50 per cent stock dividend for all stockholders of record on December 31, 1963.

Taken at the annual meeting of the stockholders, held in the bank building on North Main Street, this action increased the bank's capital stock account $25,500—from $125,500 to $151,000.

A resolution also was offered and passed whereby the officers of the bank were directed to continue all the fractional shares of stock to which stockholders were entitled by virtue of the stock dividend. These fractional shares, after they have been combined, will be offered for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in the bank's main lobby at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, January 25, 1964.

Youths Confess Rash Of Thefts And Break-Ins

Last Friday afternoon, Mooreville Policeman Andy Strain picked up three local youths for questioning in connection with the theft of a car. The officer's interrogation triggered one of the most bizarre cases local police ever have handled.

The routine questioning led to the arrest of four Mooreville teenagers who admitted a series of thefts, break-ins and unusual incidents that has plagued police for weeks. A total of 41 charges were filed against the four boys and two girls.

The gang's confession cleared up a "car theft," the theft of a truck and a long list of break-ins and larcenies committed in Mooreville since Christmas.

These are the youths who say they are responsible for the rash of crime: James Thomas Nichols, 19, apparently the leader of the group; James' brother, Morris C. Nichols, 16; William Roy Carter, 18, whose home is in Baltimore, Md., but who has been visiting for some time in the Nichols home at 228 Southside Avenue; Clarence Howard McDaniels, 16; his sister, Virginia Juanita McDaniels, 16; and Linda Canipe, 18, who lives in the McDaniels home at 331-Messick street.

Strain picked up Carter and the Nichols boys for questioning in connection with the theft of a car owned by Bob Crawford. When the questions uncovered additional charges, Strain picked up the two girls. See BREAK-INS—Page 2

Devil Basketballers Out To Whip North Rowan Cagers There Friday

ACE FORWARD TIM ROACH IN A SQUEEZE
Still Gets Off Two-Pointer For Blue Devils

Hoping to add more honor to the 1964 conference season, the local Blue Devil basketball teams will travel to North Rowan for their third conference game of the season Friday night. Game time is set for 7 p. m. for the girls game, with the boys contest to follow.

The Mooreville team played at Children's Home Tuesday night and the outcome of these tilts can be found elsewhere in this issue. Should their opening contest against West Rowan last Friday night be an indication of the thrills in store for Mooreville fans during the conference season, their attendance will be richly rewarded.

Against West, both the girls and boys came through with victories. The girls took a 31-29 late-second thriller, and the local boys came through in the second half to stop the Falcon five, 45-39.

The largest attendance in the history of Senior High basketball, estimated at 2,000, thanks to the fine efforts of the Elks Club in selling tickets and the support of the local cage fans, saw the season was kicked off to a resounding success, both financially and on the win side of the ledger for the teams.

Coch Roy Boyles of the Devil basketball team, who has led the team to a first win in seven games. He gave the entire team credit for the victory over a fine West Rowan six.

Rene Gibson and Sandy Torrence, both top scorers of the team, combined for 23 points, 10 by Gibson and 13 by Torrence, to win the winning effort. Sherrill, playing perhaps her finest game of the year, came through with six points. Defensively, Dreanna Walters, Susan Cooke and Marlene Poore were the starlets. Mooreville held a narrow 10-18 halftime lead and used defense to hold the West scorers to a total of 10 points the final two quarters in moving their conference mark to 1-0.

The Devil five had its hands full with fast-breaking and fast-paced West Rowan five. Only a determined effort in the last half gave the locals the league victory.

Trailing 21-18 at intermission, Tommy Deal and Tim Roach caught fire under the basket and passed the locals to 27 points in the final two quarters of play in gaining a hard-fought 45-39 decision.

Wonders' home mat. Only hope for a local victory came in the final contest when Association Champ Dewitt Hinson of the Blue Devils needed a pin over Kannapolis' Keats Dellinger. Hinson took the match on a decision good for three points, just one point short of a tie and one point short of a victory.

Earlier in the season the two teams had battled to a tie, and from all indications the chips will really be on the line when they collide in the Association tournament the last of February.

Only thoughts for Pearson and his charges now are for a victory over Albemarle tomorrow night in a match slated for the locals' home mat. The first match of the contest is slated to begin at 7:30 p. m.

The local fourth match of the season had been taking on West Rowan here this past Tuesday night and the outcome of that match can be found elsewhere in today's paper.

Complete rundown of the Kannapolis match is: 97-David Stowe (K) decisioned Tim Preese, 2-1.

102-Terry Moss (K) decisioned William Kelly, 2-1.

122-Bobby Helms (M) decisioned Jimmy Kerley, 4-0.

135-Roger Barber (K) decisioned Mike Couch, 4-1.

140-Dave Olliphant (M) decisioned Harry Hancock, 2-1.

147-Terry Baucum (K) draw with David Curtis.

156-Bobby Ingram (M) pinned Randy Steele.

167-Larry Dyson (M) pinned Pat Patterson.

182-Wesley Eidson (K) decisioned Jimmy Carter, 6-2.

Heavyweight - Dewitt Hinson (M) decisioned Keats Dellinger, 2-0.

DETERMINED RENE GIBSON MAKES HER MOVE
She Poured In 13 Points To Pace Win Over West Rowan

The Mooreville-West Rowan basketball games last Friday night were a pleasure, anyway you look at it.

In the first place, the local Blue Devil boys and girls won. That was a delight to players and coaches.

But even more significant to the community as a whole was attendance at the games. An estimated 1,200 fans jammed the Senior High gym to witness the twin battle. Everybody says that was a record for turnouts at local basketball games.

The attendance was a special pleasure to Mooreville Elks, who sponsored the games. Members of the "fraternal order" promoted the "all sports offered by our schools."

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Plans Made

Mooreville Neighborhood Girl Scouts already are laying strategy for their cookie sale coming up in late February.

Just how Girl Scout cookies will cover South Raleigh like the proverbial dew was discussed recently during a meeting of the Catawba Valley Girl Scout Council executive committee in Hickory.

Mr. Charles Gata will direct the fund-raising project in the Mooreville Neighborhood. She will coordinate the work of troop leaders in conducting the sale.

The sale each year is vital to the Girl Scouts' camping program. Each troop retains a portion of the sale proceeds for the year's camping expenses.

The cookie sale is scheduled to begin February 27 and continue through March 8, Mrs. Gata said.

WORLD NEEDS OPTIMISM'S POWER

The winner of the Mooreville Optimist Club's annual oratorical contest held recently was William Poston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Poston of Mooreville, Route 4.

William, a 10th grader at West Rowan High, won a trophy for his winning way with words. He also won the right to compete in Zone eliminations, the next level in the contest that leads to an international finals and a $1,000 scholarship and other awards.

Young Poston now is busy polishing his delivery for the next match in which he will compete with youngsters representing eight other Optimist Clubs.

This is the speech the local winner prepared and presented:

"P" is for patriotism. This is the stimulus that drives men toward goals that would be considered impossible to attain under any other circumstances. This is the element that holds a nation together in time of war. Without this important part of a nation's attitude, it would be impossible to sustain freedom. The need for this attitude was exemplified by the late President when he said: "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

Along with the great decisions rendered by the top officials of the free world, comes a great amount of thought for this reason: we should let "I" stand for thought.

Just try to imagine what disastrous results would come from a thoughtless comment or action by one of these high officials. By considering these consequences, we can see how important careful thought is toward their actions.

"I" stands for intelligence. During the past few decades, some of the most intelligent leaders of the free world have come to power. Their wise decisions are greatly responsible for our being here today.

Without the intelligence and ability to work out differences between nations, war would be inevitable.

The free countries of the world have never shown any aggressive acts unless they were brought on by some provocation and then they have shown no restraint in their response. This is why we should let "I" stand for meekness. This should not imply that we fear other powers, but that we make an effort to get along with them.

All of the people in the free world would like to say that integrity plays a part in our freedom and for that reason, we should let "I" stand for integrity. The American people, along with the others of the free world, do not need to practice honesty and uprightness.

We should let "I" stand for integrity. When we make all these pledges to other countries, there is very little doubt whether they respect us just as we respect them. This is because they know that our countries come from the keeping of commitments.

We could correctly represent the American people by saying that we respect them just as they respect us and for that reason it can see its own mistakes and shortcomings. This helps keep them straight with a sufficient amount of integrity.

During the Korean War, the enemy treated prisoners with very little regard. The guards urged the prisoners to be friendly and cooperative. Whenever one or two of the prisoners tried to organize, they were sent off to a heavily guarded camp.

All of these peculiar treatments were just ways to dominate the prisoner's ego. The enemy broke down all traces of optimism in the camp; therefore, there were no attempts to escape.

This is a classic example of the effect of optimism toward a desire for freedom and freedom itself.

"Combine 'O' for open-mindedness, a willingness to listen to others and benefit from their opinions."

"P" for patriotism, the element needed to unite people for a common cause.

"I" for intelligence, a resource tapped to release his knowledge for the good of man.

"M" for meekness, a non-aggressive attitude vital for peace.

"I" for integrity, a major part of a nation's personality.

Troop Reborn At Broad St. Meth. Church

Mooreville Boy Scout Troop 353 is back among the living.

The reorganized unit held its first meeting this week, and interest shown by adult leaders and scouts indicated the troop has come back in a strong way.

Troop 353 was among some 10 scout units that lost their charters during 1963. It also is among several that have been reborn through the concentrated efforts of men who conducted "operation rescue," a crash program to boost scouting in the county.

W. B. (Bud) Hartman, a veteran scout leader, is serving as scoutmaster for the reorganized unit that is sponsored by the Methodist Men of Broad Street Methodist Church. Marvin Reading is assistant scoutmaster.

Hartman said application for charter renewal has been submitted, and that the charter will be received by the County Scout Council on or before the 22nd day of January, 1964. The unit will hold morning services after all the administrative work is completed.

The new unit has a full slate of active commissioners. Nearly 20 men are working with the unit. Mitchell Mack of Mooreville, chairman of the Iredell Scout District, joined all county scout officials this week in extending congratulations to the men of Broad Street Church for their interest and work in reorganizing the troop.

On Tuesday at 9:45 a. m. there was a general meeting at Cleveland Baptist Church, Statesville, with emphasis on home missions. Rev. L. E. McRae of Miami, Fla., was chairman for the session and was assisted by other speakers.

On Friday at First Street Baptist Church, Statesville, there will be a program with special emphasis on foreign missions. Rev. George Cowart, who has been serving in Brazil, will be chairman.

Other foreign missionaries who will participate in the special sessions are Miss Theresa Anderson of the Philippines, Miss Jennie Green of Malaysia, Rev. J. E. Humphrey of Nigeria, Rev. and Mrs. Patterson Johnson of East Pakistan, Miss Aris Pender of Malaysia, and Miss Mary Jo Ransom of Japan.

Duke Power Co. Earns Safety Award

For completing 1,116,380 man-hours of work without a disabling injury, Duke Power Company and its more than 6,000 employees have just received a safety achievement award from the Edison Electric Institute.

The citation was for "outstanding performance in accident prevention" during October, 1963, by employees over Duke Power's entire system in North Carolina and South Carolina.

MOOSE OFFICERS — Last week was a busy one for members of Mooreville Moose Lodge 1012. The fraternal order selected a new slate of officers and moved into new quarters. The Moose left the building formerly used by the Midway Lake recreation center, and moved into quarters formerly occupied by the Oasis Restaurant at 533 Patterson Avenue. During their final lodge meeting at Midway Lake, members of the two-year-old lodge installed these men as club officers. Seated, from left, are Leonard Houston, treasurer; J. W. Neill (he's not asleep, he just blinked at the worst possible time), junior governor; Jack Elliott, governor; Boyd James, prelate; and Bill Troutman, Jr., secretary, club manager and membership director. Standing, from left, are Vince Peterson, installing officer; Billy Fish, sergeant-at-arms; J. B. Smith, three-year trustee; Bob Royer, two-year trustee; Lawrence Dishman, one year trustee; and W. A. Moon, state director.

Letter to the Occasional Church-goer

Dear Sir: I am writing you because you are an occasional church-goer. You are not a member, but you are interested in the church. You are not a member, but you are interested in the church. You are not a member, but you are interested in the church.

By TOM MCNIGHT

A family feud was precipitated at our house last week while I was convalescing from a hernia operation.

I was badly in need of a haircut when I entered the hospital. Ten days later I was as bushy as a fox's tail in December.

Actually, this thing starts about four years ago when we acquire Nina, a French poodle. There are more styles for trimming a French poodle than there are for arranging a teenager's hairdo. But trim 'em you must.

Marie, gets the dog catalogue out and orders all the necessary paraphernalia. Electric clippers, scissors, snippers, wire hairbrush and all that business. In short order she becomes an expert at it. Nina is the most stylishly trimmed poodle west of the Pecos and east of Fourth Creek.

I make the sad mistake last week of complaining about the need for a haircut. The gleam in Marie's eyes is unmistakable. She hauls out the electric clippers, scissors, even the wire hairbrush, bless God.

Marie is the intrepid, adventurous type. Always an explorer. Had she lived in the days of Daniel Boone she probably would've been riding shotgun in the second wagon.

But not on my noggin. I would have none of it. Cathy puts in her two bits worth. "Mommy could do a better job on you than Nina because you'll hold still."

"I'm not about to hold still for this deal. And I say so. And all week this portable dog barber shop lies ominously and conspicuously on the kitchen table. The atmosphere gets so tense you can cut it with a knife. I limp through the kitchen in my pajamas and out the corner of my eye catch Marie and Cathy watching my shaggy dome like a cat watching a bird in a chinaberry bush.

Dorothy drives up from Charlotte one afternoon and gets into the act. "Plenty of wives," she says, "cut their husbands' hair."

"Name one, just one," I say, "and don't give me any fictitious stuff."

She couldn't produce.

The pressure builds up until I resort to reminding them of the story about Sampson, how he was the strongest man in the world until he was tricked by this Philistine woman named Delilah who cut his hair. Overnight he became weak and sickly.

"We've been reading about those things in school," says Cathy, "and they are just make believe."

Make believe! How do you like that? And all the time this kid has supposed to have been getting educated.

But I held out to the bitter end and on Saturday finally managed to get to the barber shop.

I'm still master of my household. Theoretically, that is.

Incidentally, the fact that it carried Iredele by 13 votes was a sort of political accident. The boys up in Concord township got mousetrapped into making an early commitment in favor of the amendment. By the time they had seen the error of their ways, it was too late to switch. It carried in that township by several hundred votes. A flip of the switch would have made a difference of around 500 votes the other way, defeating the amendment in the county.

For the third consecutive year the Mooresville Tribune has been awarded first prize by the N. C. Press Association for having furnished its community the best local news coverage of any weekly in the state. No other paper has duplicated this feat in the state in modern times. I am proud of the whole Tribune family that makes these awards possible from year to year.

In an overall critique dealing with news coverage, editorials, features, photography, makeup, and reproduction quality of newspapers in general, the judges had this to say: "The Mooresville Tribune is a strong newspaper." Then went on to say that a newspaper photo by Philip Parker on the opening of the football season in the September 5 issue was one of the best they had ever seen.

John Glenn has been my favorite among the astronauts from the beginning. He is a great credit to his state and to the nation. And he has every right to run for the U. S. Senate. But he'll get clobbered in the primary by Senator Stephen Young.

Senator Young is one of the most able, conscientious and honest men in the U. S. Senate. He has a tremendously fine record in Washington. Furthermore, he is a "killed organization" behind him.

Mooresville's Recent Progress Lauded By Queen City Advertising Executive

Town Manager Will Enforce Housing Code

On the night of February 6, 1964, the Town Board adopted the first minimum housing ordinance in Mooresville's history. The commissioners ruled that the law would become effective three years from the date of its adoption.

When the minimum housing code comes alive February 6, it is likely to get the attention of a great many homeowners and landlords who have ignored it during its three years of dormancy.

City Manager Cy Brooks will be charged with the enforcement of the law, and he said "this week that he fully intends to do just that. Brooks sees a lot of quick changes in the attitude occupants

Town Blue Law Not Bothered By High Court

The outlaws of the latest state blue law will have virtually no effect on the observance of the Sabbath in Mooresville.

The State Supreme Court last week knocked down the year-old ordinance that prohibited the sale of certain merchandise on Sunday in about three-fourths of North Carolina's counties.

City Manager Cy Brooks explained following the court ruling that Mooresville's existing Sunday closing ordinance is more stringent than the now-buried state regulation, so the state bill never was applicable here at all.

The state supreme court specified what types of merchandise could not be sold on Sunday. Mooresville's law spells out what types of businesses can operate on Sunday, paying law more than covered the requirements of the state statute.

The Supreme Court did not touch the local law because it was more stringent than the state law.

C-C Officers Greet Banquet Speaker

Preyer Cites Pattern For Progress

Richardson Preyer, a former federal judge who scored the run as special guest at a mid-morning ladies' coffee hour and as presiding officer during a noon meeting of his county campaign committee.

Judge Preyer's appearance Tuesday were limited to the county seat, but he remained in town for the night.

More than 20 Mooresville political figures attended the breakfast, and many of them remained in town for the night.

Piedmont Bank And Trust Co. Reports Excellent '63 Year

Piedmont Bank and Trust Company enjoyed the best year in its history during 1963, according to reports released at the annual meeting of the institution's stockholders.

J. V. Lore, president of the bank, reported that the bank's total resources at the close of business on December 31, 1963, were $8,020,511.40. He also reported that the institution's deposits increased more than nine per cent during the year just ended, the capital increased more than eight per cent, and the per share value of stock increased $1.36. Total investments, loans and bonds averaged more than $6 million.

According to Lore, profits before taxes amounted to $138,891.94, while federal income and N. C. excise taxes amounted to $52,640.83, resulting in a net profit of $86,251.11. This represents a profit gain of 4.24 per cent over 1962. Stockholders were paid $32,000 in dividends and the undivided

Uncle Dan From Doobie Says:

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

The fellow at the county store Saturday night was in a state of confusion over the political situation. Most of the fellow was agreed the political front was gitting as confused as the battle lines in Vietnam and the Congo.

Zeko Grubb reported he had saw in the papers where candidate Rockefeller says he's running again the "Four-D Formation—debt, disaster, deceit, and Democrats." How the so-called and at the same time, Zeko said, Rockefeller allowed as how he ain't promising no miracles if he gets to Washington.

After the miracles we've had in Washington for the last 12 years, like Billy Sol Estes and Bobby Baker, for instance, I hope whoever wins will give us a few small ones to taper off on so's to keep us from breaking up and gitting the heebie-jeebies.

It's hard, Mister Editor, to figure out them politicians. A Republican candidate will git up on the stump and say the country is sagging when it ought to be zigging, and the Democrat candidate will allow as how the Democrats has been busy for four years trying to git the sag out of the rig from Ike's eight year in Washington. A heap of the candidates ain't got the answers to nothing, but I never knows one that didn't keep a big stock of replies on hand.

Furthermore, it has got so the candidates at national level is

'63 Best Year In History Of Federal S & L

The year just ended was the best in the history of the Mooresville Federal Savings and Loan Association, reports released by officials of the financial house last Wednesday afternoon revealed.

The occasion was the 27th annual meeting of the stockholders of the institution, held in the restored room of the association building on North Main street.

During 1963, the association's assets increased $901,101.61, to an all-time high of $11,697,857.57. The greatest one-year increase in the history of the firm.

Mooresville, Federal, during 1963, paid its owners $25,947.00 in dividends.

R. J. Alander Speaks At C-C Banquet Event

Mooresville's progress during the past decade is the envy of its neighboring metropolises of Charlotte, a Queen City newspaper advertising executive declared here Tuesday night.

Robert J. Alander, advertising manager for The Charlotte Observer and The Charlotte News, paid this community the high compliment during an address before some 400 persons, gathered for the annual banquet meeting of the Mooresville Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was held in the National Guard Armory, getting underway at 7 o'clock.

Introduced by John Allred, newly elected vice president of the local Chamber, Alander said "Mooresville is an envied city."

Illustrating his statement, the speaker said:

"Mooresville is more than just a city. It is more than just a lot of houses concentrated in one area. It is a city that brags first and foremost about its main asset—people. How well I know this from having visited in your community ever so many times. I know of no single asset that is quite as valuable as the human product."

Alander, who only last week was presented one of advertising's highest awards, built his address around the subject: "A Field Of Diamonds."

Annual Session Of United Fund Stated Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Mooresville-South Iredele United Fund will be held Tuesday, January 28, Jim Rosser, I.F. president, reminded this week.

A highlight of the 8 o'clock Dutch breakfast at the War Memorial will be the election of officers for 1964. Bob Beardon, area representative for Carolina United, will be on hand to conduct installation ceremonies for the new-licensure leaders. Carolina United is the coordinating agency for United Fund.

Other important business matters calendared for discussion include a report by a study committee on possibly updating of the local UP constitution. Emmett Morrow, chairman of the See UNITED FUND—Page 2

April 28 Now Definite Date For Tax Vote

April 28, a Tuesday, no longer is the tentative date for the referendum. It is the definite date.

When the Town Board decided early this month to call a vote on the tax-for-recreation question, April 28 was first-choice as the time for the election.

But City Manager raised the question whether local elections are restricted by statute as to how close to state votes, in this case the primaries coming up in May, they can be held. The board asked its attorney, Bill Pope, to make sure April 28 was in keeping with the requirements of other election laws.

Tribune Honored By Press Association

The Tribune was honored recently during the annual convention of the N. C. Press Association in Chapel Hill. These members-of-the-news staff were especially pleased to receive, for the third year in a row, the first place plaque for the best news coverage of any weekly in the state. Behind Juana Otero, Lewis Davis are, from left, Philip Parker, Everett Jones and Len Sullivan. The Tribune also won second place awards in the photography and editorial divisions of the statewide contest. Gov. Terry Sanford made the presentation.
