Four Accept Posts In Area Heart Fund

Frank Burke, chairman of the upcoming Heart Fund drive in all of Iredell, this week announced the appointment of four Mooresville people to key positions in the campaign in this area.

Burke said Bill Smith will serve as co-chairman, in charge of directing the appeal in the Mooresville area.

Ray Nesbit will head the appeal among area industries.

Mrs. Rudy Setzer has accepted the job of directing all "heart Sunday" activities. This particular phase of the month-long drive for money to combat heart diseases is scheduled February 2.

Felton Burris will be in charge of all special events arranged as promotions for the Heart Association annual drive.

Each year, the American Heart Association and all its tributaries, including the Iredell Heart Association, designate February as "heart month" for the appeal.

PINAL PREPARATION—Optimist oratorical contestants this week-to-make final plans for the Optimists International Oratorical Contest that will be held tonight (Thursday) at Southside Baptist Church. Seated are, left, Bobby Liner, chairman of boys work for the Mooresville Optimist Club, and club President Frank Burke. Two of the contestants getting ready for the event are William Poston, left, and Jerry Howard.

NATIONAL WINNER GETS $1,000

Optimist Oratorical Event Tonight

Tonight (Thursday) an area youngster will talk himself over the first hurdle along the oratorical road that leads to fame and fortune.

The Mooresville Optimist Club will sponsor its annual oratorical contest tonight at Southside Baptist Church. The competition will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The event here is the first step in the national contest. The national winner receives a $1,000 scholarship.

Plans for the event were completed this week when Optimists directing the contest met with some of the contestants. Bobby Liner, chairman of boys work for the civic club, is directing the event. Other club members taking an active part in the project include Frank Burke, president of the organization.

The Optimist Club has invited the public to attend the speech making program. Each contestant will speak for five minutes on "Optimism — Forum For Peace." The event was open to all boys under 18 years of age. Each contestant was required to prepare his own speech, so, in effect, the three judges who will determine the winner will base their opinion on the youth's ability to write as well as speak publicly.

The contestants who met with club officials in preparation for the competition were William Poston and Jerry Howard, Poston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Poston of Mooresville, Route 4, is a 10th grader at West Rowan High School. Howard, who lives at 322 Dingler Street, is a Junior High eighth grader.

The event here will be the local elimination of the Optimist International Oratorical Contest. The local winner will compete in Optimist Zone 7 competition that will pit local winners from each of the eight Optimist clubs in the zone. A regional event will follow, and the winner on that level will become eligible for the national contest in Denver, Colo.

Mooresville Optimists are, understandably, optimistic about the caliber of young speakers entered in this year's program. They are hoping to send another winner to the contest finals. One Mooresville winner, C. C. (Buddy) Holcomb, advanced to the International eliminations in Canada several years back. Other local winners of recent years include Scotty Smith, Jimmy Deaton and Jimmy Brooks.

In addition to the $1,000 waiting for the nation's top young speechmaker, $500 will be presented to the first, second and third runners-up on the national level. Local, zone and regional winners are presented trophies, war bonds and other prizes.
